Yes, I support the use of violence. In fact, there is an entire website devoted to crticizing my support for the use of violence. I think that violence can be an effective tool of dissent and social change. I'm not about to adopt a tactical lifestyle code and then deny the fact that people around the world use violence all of the time to fight and struggle.

But this does not mean that I'm a violent person or think that violence is the only, or even chief, path of social change. My main point in criticizing contemporary American activism is twofold: 1) it lacks strategy and planning; and 2) privileged American activists are timid and won't even do mild things that are outside of our comfort zones. The lack of strategy can be seen in what groups like ANSWER have done. The same thing over and over again. The International Action Center, the parent of ANSWER, was long derided for its focus on protest for the sake of protest. UFPJ isn't much better and they are in ways worse because they took the trust of the movement and squandered it on ineffectual electoral politics.

What strategy and tactics would I recommend? The answers are lying all around us in terms of current struggles and activist history. My friend Jesse Walker wrote a very perceptive article today for Reason Online titled "The Other Insurrections."infoshop.org/inews/article.ph p?.. Two excerpts: "Latin America's outbreak of people power hasn't received as much stateside attention as its counterparts in Central Asia and the Middle East. This is presumably for the same reason media accounts of nonviolent Arab movements often ignore Palestinian resistance to Israel's "security barrier": The uprisings aren't aligned with U.S. interests. Official Washington has not been celebrating South America's turn to the left--three-quarters of the continent's people now live under left-wing governments--and popular protest is generally regarded as a part of that shift."

"Nonviolent resistance, Schock reminds us, is not the same thing as "passive resistance." It's a set of tactics, not a politically correct lifestyle; it's aimed not at persuading leaders to change their policies, but at making it impossible to enforce those policies. Gene Sharp has been cataloging those tactics for decades, listing 198 of them in 1973's three-volume study The Politics of Nonviolent Action and citing several more since then. They fall into three general categories: methods of protest and public persuasion (e.g., a march), of organized noncooperation (e.g., a tax strike), and of "nonviolent intervention" (e.g., a land occupation). Contrary to the conventional wisdom, such methods have frequently worked under repressive dictatorships as well as under relatively benign systems; many times they've succeeded where guerilla tactics have failed. In 23 of those 31 rebellions, from Bolivia to Bulgaria and from Mongolia to Mali, the uprising contributed directly to regime change."

In other words, we can just look at what our comrades are doing around the world for examples of what works. One thing that burns me up about the so-called peace movement is that some of its members are quick to criticize us "violent anarchists," but they can't even bother to use their numbers and resources to engage in civil disobedience campaigns. Yes, there has been some NVCD, but none of the main coalitions have attempted to coordinate CD campaigns in conjunction with mass protests and other tactics. Thus, we have seen no civil disobedience against the media or defense contractors led by ANSWER or UFPJ.

For example, the utter bankruptcy of ANSWER was illustrated during one cold January protest march in Washington, DC. They had mobilized thousands of people and had them walk by the Navy base in southeast D.C. ANSWER had made sure to organize a toll booth of volunteers on Pennsylvania Avenue to collect donations from protesters, but they didn't even bother to organize ANYTHING at the gates to the Navy base. Understandably, more than a few more radical people were shocked that thousands of people were merely walking by the base and they just stood there in shock.

We also know from activist history what works. Actions work. Direct action gets the goods. The labor movement grew a century ago because of strikes and direct action. The civil rights movement accomplished things through mass direct action. The anti-globalization movement became a force through direct action. And the anarchist movement wouldn't have grown in recent years if it hadn't been for direct action. Oh, and the FCC created LPFM because the pirate radio movement, more direct action, exploded during the mid 90s.

As far as I'm concerned, the answers to the anti-war movement's failure are right in front of our noses. If we fail to adopt these tactics and put together more effective strategies, it's because we want to be stubbornly ignorant or because we've decided that our comfort level is more important than 1600 American and hundreds of thousands of Iraqi and Afghani lives. You don't have to resort to violence or become a Plowshares nun, but standing around in the park is not dissent, resistance, or anything. ----------- Chuck

I'm really struck by how similar this is to what Michael Pug just posted: Choice quote from Stalin, taken from an early chapter on , "cadres and heretics, " from Lewin, which highlights Uncle Joe's early Orthodox seminary training. Pg. 33,"For us objective difficulties do not exist. The only problem is cadres. If things are not progressing, or if they go wrong, the cause is not to be sought in any objective conditions, it is the fault of the cadres." ---- Yeah, so Ward C smiles when Americans ask him the "what is to be done?" question. And Chomsky gets all impatient, and basically says, there's all kinds of stuff to be done, you know what needs to be done. Oh really? Maybe this is just another aspect of American exceptionalism, but we have an extremely powerful ruling class and an atomized and demobilized population. Direct actions in an environment where at least a significant minority of the pop is sympathetic is very different from when it's a handful of activists with almost no popular support. We're at Square One, man. Just Do It isn't going to get you far, unless you want to do 10 years in a federal prison. ----------Doug

From the desk of David Horowitz ---- More precisely, from the desk of David Horowitz to the website of NewsMax: Will you help me place the enclosed advertisement in college newspapers across America? It conveys an important message to all Americans: There are thousands of Ward Churchills indoctrinating students on college campuses from coast to coast!

Dec. 8 --- The Culture Wars of 2005
The conservative journal The New Criterion is the last place you'd expect to find any gratitude for Ward Churchill. But writing there this summer, Roger Kimball found a "bright side" to the controversial University of Colorado professor: He brought more scrutiny to higher education.

In an essay called "Retaking the University: A Battle Plan," Kimball writes that "one of the chief tasks for critics of what has happened to academic life in this country is to show the extent to which Ward Churchill" is not unusual, but is "the predictable result of institutions that have gradually abandoned their commitment to education for the sake of radical posturing."

The public revulsion to Churchill's statements — especially his comparison of those who died in the World Trade Center on 9/11 to "little Eichmanns" — is "good news," Kimball writes, in that it suggests that higher education "may be about to change."

Kimball isn't the only one who thinks that the battles in academe over the last year may add up to something far more significant than the question of whether Churchill can hang on to his tenure, whether a new course on intelligent design is ever offered at the University of Kansas, or whether universities hire more conservatives.

Deb's plaguers ('plaaggeesten') describe not a day in her court, nor her day in court but one of the days taken up by a type of defense she is forced into in a similar fashion to Ward Churchill ... I have always looked at them as akin somehow except that Deb takes on the bigger of the Eichmanns, Larry Summers for instance. My twinning is confirmed in the fact WC has his trial in april.

50 comment item about a few unattributed paragraphs of his that a member of Keith Hart's Ning thing posted. That site is running under the same name as max's wordpress writing and therefore proved capable of stirring thoughts about leadership, control, allegiance, reverence and flat out flattery and the reverse of that all too flatly feelings focused coin: plagiarism, right off the bet. Max is obviously incapable of regarding himself a composer/performer /songwriter. .... tan pi ... > 2009 September 28 Maximilian Forte --- I can see that Keith Hart is very seriously muddled by batches of theory that he has slapped together in a manner that severely obfuscates very simple issues. He seems to think — now pretending to be the radical — that intellectual honesty, attribution, and respect are principles of the capitalist publishing industry. ... Hart the faux Marxist theorist now argues in favour of alienating labour and of free expropriation. He discredits himself by leaps and bounds. It's easy to be generous with someone else's production: it's no loss to you, only gain. ... snip ... Once again, if it was meant to be a deliberate heist, I don't see how Hart & Co. could have done any better. These people must learn the value of something else: to go fuck themselves. Ooooooops, just lost a few hours worth of work, a 130K compilation ; I had stuck it in pulpculture222 instead of, as I thought erroneously, in pulpculture22; bloody chaos here in the cellar of the law faculty UvA today anyway; wednesday around noon is busiest at all faculties, students try pile in here on stampeedy waves (whereas about 3/4's worth of the opening hours long, these 30-odd computers run away uselessly, without users); then the software to help software skills malfunctions more often than not, is misleading and plain wrong, etc. Today a cute freshman law studentette came and heaved big sighs till I helped her as best I could (since the most rudimentary skills of library and computer use were foreign to her I had an easy job; the depth of her decolette made my head spin in quite other ways than K's verbal virtuosity though the subject was about the same, all of november 99 is full of gender raps); she showed some interested in my work in turn. However the bloody mayem causes one to break focus and do things undoublechecked sometimes.

The work may help explain why people cooperate in society. In an investment game with shared profits, players punish those who do not contribute to the group's good, despite the personal cost. The emotional satisfaction of dispensing justice seems to spur them on: "People say, 'I like to punish'," says Ernst Fehr of the University of Zurich.

> For instance, were someone to jump in and start castigating everyone for their leftist views, clearly indicating that they were hostile to them, many of us would have a grand ole time ripping the arguments of that person apart. (Recent example: Paul, a new member of this list, and his exchanges with Carrol, JAnnuzzi, and ??). We argue all the time, among ourselves. It seems like we agree on very little. But, when someone from "outside" criticizes us, the ritual of argument makes explicit what is often implicit about what binds the left together, in all its diversity. It also demands that we make those shared assumptions about "what is left" explicit. In this way, we question those assumptions. We ask ourselves and each other: "is this really left? Should this be the left? Why? Who does it benefit? Who does it hurt?" Etc. The process--ritual--builds social cohesion among a group. Take it too far, and it is punitively exclusionary. But all groups exclude. That's unavoidable. To say, I am an anarchist is to always implicitly say that someone else is not. The process is inevitable. The point is to build into our interactions ways in which we can proceed judiciously, equitably, etc. Furthermore, the argument is that all societies need "deviants", rebels, dissenters, etc. Societies cannot function without them. Examples of ethnographies that show how this process works are found in the work of Kai Ericson ---

My reply: Funny I should be thinking of this very subject too since it was made known that 99% of robberies downtown rotterdam (right near the fancy public library and most flashy glass-n-metal modulated subway entrance) are perped by marrocan youths. I have been going to this library cause for once I have access to unrestricted volume on a cd player and I am blasting some favorites; the latest: Maura O'connell does a song by Malcolm Holcombe which completely blows me away and I mean COMPLETELY DEVASTATES MYSTIFIES AND SOULSEARCHES ME.

> well, now i have to go get this CD and hear for myself!

do i dare splurge!? I could send you it on casette if you like.

> do you have enough time in a library to read lbo, make your web page, and the like?

opening hours for the 50$ a year(!) access to the UvA T1 terminals were taken advantage of most fully by myself over the last. ... well, 10 years really but that has come to an impass (discontinued 'external' subs) and all that's left is the 'easy everything' commercial 24 clock roundin' opening hours (I have strewn blurbs about them recently; the rotterdam operation has folded completely; the amsterdam one has been cut in half). I now don't fiddle with the page no more. I have a block about combustion engines or else I would take up travelling again (after the 10 year break) to once again try find soil to take root in; my native polderland is too windy though fat subsidy to the tune of over 90% are available for 'landscape enhancement (parklikelyhooding?), but augmentation from scratch is windy business and I haven't got the patience to deal with bureaucracies. --- When i used the library for internet access, there was only an hour per visit and if lots of others were waiting, then you might have less time. ---- This is now not only the semi-sad (since it is free) situation in Amsterdam but Rotterdam now has very few terminals with and they are commercial on top of that; as most other Dutch library outlets are (1$ per half hour). ------ Anyway, to come back to the punitive imperatives I was on about, I think a threat to cut the balls off of those who get caught for the slightest robbery, starting soon (like internetspeed soon) might stop me from a strong urge to emigrate cause the waffling of the christian middle and the right in this country is getting on my nerves too much although they all seem to finally agree on a rule and language acquisition to earn your right to be here (that is about 8000 year late as it is). --- > well, i'm not advocating punishment like that! i am not even advocating punishment at all. i was just elaborating the point of view of the sociologists who've advanced the claim that one of the ways solidarity is achieved is via the boundaries around a community and the ritual sanctioning of those who violate the norms. i happen to agree that there is no such thing as a world where no one will be punished--shunned, ignored, criticized, marginalized--if they break the norms that typify membership in a group. i don't think there can be. do i think there should be capital punishment, castration, imprisonment for more than 6 months? no. k

-- perhaps you live where few punishable acts are committed but if half of your family was afraid to go out, even to the most public places for some or most of the time, and if you knew that most trouble was caused by repeat offenders who laugh off and sabotage all soft approaches you too might come to the conclusion that barbarism calls for the only language they understand. Personally I would simply send 'm off to their roots that can't even be really considered a punishment by anybody. I don't really manage to peek at more than a tiny percentage of LBO contributions. -------- this is one of about 10 different articles by Israel Shamir in this 201K file (which I think is a good one to end my homepage building efforts with to go out with a bang so to speak):

> ---- Most people will acknowledge that masculinity has become somewhat of a favoured topic in the last ten years or so, but what about masculinity without men? There continues to be chapters in essay collections by the usual suspects -- Eve K. Sedgwick, Judith Butler, Marjorie Garber, for instance -- yet Judith Halberstam's Feminine masculinity is the first full-length study of masculine women. Halberstam is Associate Professor in the Department of Literature at the University of California, San Diego and is also the author of Skin shows: gothic horror and the technology of monsters. While queer discussion about masculinity is more likely to extend beyond the male body and not use the term as a synonym for men or maleness anyway, Female masculinity covers a vast amount of ground well beyond this. Halberstam scrutinizes the politics of butch/femme in lesbian communities, transsexuality among transgender dykes, as well as looking at Hollywood butches, drag kings and women and boxing. Halberstam details ways in which female masculinity has been ignored, and rather than conceptualising masculinity without men, she compiles the myths and fantasies about masculinity that make masculinity and maleness difficult to pry apart then offers examples, mostly queer and female, of alternative masculinities in fiction, film and lived experience. Halberstam's methods are interdisciplinary, using what she calls a queer methodology ("a scavenger methodology" or that which "betrays a certain disloyalty to conventional disciplinary methods.) The premise of book is that female masculinity "is a specific gender with its own cultural history rather than a derivative of male masculinity" and points out how psychoanalytic approaches that assume that female masculinity mimics male masculinity are not particularly helpful and certainly not insightful. The book begins with textual readings of two examples of female masculinity from 19th century literature, Anne Lister's diaries and Radclyffe Hall's The well of loneliness. Halberstam uses Lister's diaries to put together a same sex desire structured by "unequal desires, sexual and gender roles, ritualised class relations and an almost total rejection of sexual sameness' and then puts The well of loneliness forward to emphasise the ongoing construction of modern lesbian identity. Paraphrasing Eve K. Sedgwick, Halberstam asks what makes it so difficult not to presume an essential relationship between masculinities and men, and then proceeds to journey between male and female and within queer and straight space, but while "thinking in fractal terms and about gender geometries." --- Fasten your seat beats, you're in for a scenic but bumpy ride. When dealing with the stone butch, for example, Halberstam points out how very different identifications between sexuality, the body and gender emerge -- the sexually untouchable woman complicates the idea that all lesbians share sexual practices or even that women share female sexual desires. Halberstam also looks at the history of butch women in film and goes beyond the discourse of positive and negative images. She sees queer cinema "with its invitations to play through numerous identifications within a single sitting' as creating a place for the reinvention of ways of seeing. A consideration of Valerie Traub's proposition of using lesbian and heterosexual as adjectives rather than nouns is used as a challenge to the usual binary code of visual texts used by film theory. Halberstam points out that positive images can be no less stereotypical, in so far as they are not necessarily more realistic. She looks at a number of old "negative" images including The killing of sister George (1968) and The children's hour (1961) and then discusses the geneology of the butch in film history to show that negative images may also provide a history of representation of sexual minorities as well as access to the history of looking butch. The chapter on drag kings provides a foray into something which became something of a phenomenon in New York in the 1990s. The fact that in the theatre of mainstream gender roles, femininity is often presented as simply costume whereas masculinity manifests as realism or as a body, makes for interesting added value to Halberstam's thesis.

Indifference to feminine masculinity, Halberstam argues, has "ideological motivations and has sustained the complex social structures that wed masculinity to maleness and to power and domination.' In the texts covered, Halberstam has attempted to restore some of the complexity lost within the usual rigid binary definitions. She shows how certain identities tend to be exceedingly specific, and that it is important to recognise the many distinctive types of masculinity in women as well as, and to do so in place of using catch-all phrase of lesbianism. She steers herself admirably between the subtle and not so subtle interactions between the personal and the theoretical. It is important to do so, she argues, in order for an understanding of minority gender categories that incorporates rather than pathologises them. This study is well on the way to helping create such acceptance. ---

Mandel's SECOND sentence begins with a catalogue of and homage to precisely those conquests that have been arrested in North America during the quarter century since the source text, _Late Capitalism_, was translated into English: the shorter work week, the weekend, paid holidays, politically sacrosanct pension universality, affordable post secondary education. That same sentence concludes with the qualification, "to the extent to which they are not trivialized or deprived of their human content by capitalist commercialization." Pardon my slow, deliberate reading but trivialization is precisely what Jhally's comment referred to and what you, Doug, lampooned as puritanical crap. The anxiety isn't over pleasure and sensuality per se, but over the commodification of pleasure and sensuality -- a process that is no doubt so far advanced that it becomes hard to conceive of pleasure and sensuality in any other terms. Hard? Conceive? Ha ha. Perhaps I should have said something about penetration, too. It's an anxiety that you obviously share, Doug. Otherwise, how to account for the compulsive eroto-detective work, the discovery of "revealing" expressions (what one might decades ago have referred to as Freudian slips). Fear not, Doug, your anxiety is my own. I have no wish to renounce pleasure in the name of an abstract critical purity. But as for having little political appeal, consider that the unabashedly anti-pleasure fundamentalist right gets an incredible amount of political mileage out of the anxiety that, presumably, no one but affluent PC lefties and the voluntary poor share (not to mention you and I, Doug).Tom the sandwichman http://sandwichman.blogspot.com/ - - --

I get the impression that the promise in the title isn't born out in the book. It should include variants of the most pained promise in the known universe: 'focus'. All the way from beyond borderline shiatsu bruising pressure pointholding to the mere mental focus on points. Interlude: pleasure and pain are a bit like sunshine and rain; gotta have the latter for the former to 'work'. pointholding (a la body electronics; founder John Witman Ray [pain expert] died last year) variant found in the (book)trash recently (something by Kennedy with 'snake' in the title and as cartoon throughout the book). The Guardian guardian.co.uk/worldlatest/ story/0,1280,-1620935,00.html RAMALLAH, West Bank (AP) - Hundreds of pro-Palestinian foreigners arrived in this West Bank town Thursday, offering themselves as human shields for Palestinians anticipating a massive military response by Israel to a suicide bombing that killed 20 Passover diners. About 600 activists, most of them European members of the Public International Protection group, arrived in Ramallah for 10-day stays with local families. The town is Yasser Arafat's West Bank headquarters. "The Israeli government and our governments all know that we are in Ramallah. (Israeli Prime Minister Ariel) Sharon must understand that if he decides to bombard Ramallah he is going to bombard hundreds of foreigners." Sharon convened his ministers in Jerusalem into the small hours of Friday to discuss responding to Wednesday's suicide bombing by a Palestinian militant at a seafront hotel in Netanya. "I'm here to tell the Israeli government and to tell my government that the source of terror and violence is the Israeli government and racism," said group member Karrin Wheeler, of Pittsburgh. Another 200 other activists from Italy were turned back by Israeli troops at a road block at Kalandiya, just south of Ramallah. Meanwhile, United Nations officials in Ramallah said several foreign staffers, mainly families with young children, left the town. The officials, however, denied reports that the organization ordered an evacuation.

Dr. Paul Tacon, of the Australian Museum, and Dr. Colin Pardoe, an Adelaide bio-archaeologist, theorize that dogs may have sparked human interest in written symbols and taught us to hunt in packs. "Evidence suggests domestication of dogs was a two-way street," they tell _Nature Australia_. "That led to profound changes in the biological and behavioral evolution of both species." Humans began their relationship with dogs as long as 130,000 years ago, when wolves began sniffing around human campsites for food. People watched their new friends mark their territory by urinating on rocks, and adopted a similar habit. However, because humans had a less developed sense of smell, they chose visual means of marking territory, drawing symbols on stones. Watching dogs also taught humans to form intimate social ties with nonrelatives and people of the same sex. Chimpanzees, our closest relatives, do not socialize with nonkin and same-sex animals, but dogs do. Tacon expects his theory to arouse controversy. "There will be some opposition," he says. "The cat people won't like it."

To us, it never seemed that the real articulacy of the left academic elites was in any way superior to the modes of popular cultural expression which were either ignored or treated as raw material to be probed for a 'true' (ie ideological) meaning by white middle-class intellectuals. Ccru has tried to connect and cross-intensify with peripheral cultural processses (dark-side digital audio, cyberpunk, neolemurian sorcery, numbo-jumbo, afro-futurism, indo-futurism, sino-futurism ...). It seeks to think, theorize, and produce with rather than 'about' (or -even worse - 'for') them. We think everything interesting happens on the periphery, outside the standard modes of 'developed' existence. Ccru engages with peripheral cultures not because they are 'down-trodden' or oppressed, but because they include the most intense tendencies to social flatness, swarming, populating the future, and contagious positive innovation, hatching the decisive stimuli for the systematic mutation of global cybernetic culture.

Likewise, multiple meanings are claimed for the repetition of "ashes" at the beginning of the last line: A representation of the sneezing sounds of plague victims. > "A pocket full of posy": Posey was an aromatic mixture of herbs and flowers. It was thought to ward off the vapors that brought the Plague. Posies were often placed in the grave garments of the dead to chase away the disease. The aromatic qualities of the posey helped reduce the stench of plague-induced death. "Ashes, Ashes": During the Plague there were so many dead that coffins and burial plots were in short supply. Uncharacteristically in Christo-centric Europe, many corpses were cremated.

To Kelley (some months ago): disappointed in the fact that you never once in your spring 99 discussion of child support might allow and grant at least a few exceptional cases, even if only theoretically, that there are women to blame for not getting along, etc. That it's not for nothing a father movement sprung up, that the PAS (parental alienation syndrome) seems to defy court orders, etc. 40 % of dutch children from seperated parents lose sight of one, usually the father. So there, take that if you can. When I told the girl I sent you stuff about that I felt she was abusing her position and status in society the very same way that gets women black and blue when a man uses his equivalent 'superiority', namely physical force, I was asked to leave immediately; I managed to calm her down that time but meanwhile all visiting rights have ended. > from http://poetpiet.tripod.com/ESRaymond.htm The surrounding culture's taboo against visibly ego-driven behavior is so much intensified in the hacker (sub)culture that one must suspect it of having some sort of special adaptive function for hackers. Certainly the taboo is weaker (or nonexistent) among many other gift cultures, such as the peer cultures of theater people or the very wealthy! ------- 11. The Value of Humility Having established that prestige is central to the hacker culture's reward mechanisms, we now need to understand why it has seemed so important that this fact remain semi-covert and largely unadmitted. The contrast with the pirate culture is instructive. In that culture, status-seeking behavior is overt and even blatant. These crackers seek acclaim for releasing ``zero-day warez'' (cracked software redistributed on the day of the original uncracked version's release) but are closemouthed about how they do it. These magicians don't like to give away their tricks. And, as a result, the knowledge base of the cracker culture as a whole increases only slowly. In the hacker community, by contrast, one's work is one's statement. There's a very strict meritocracy (the best craftsmanship wins) and there's a strong ethos that quality should (indeed must) be left to speak for itself. The best brag is code that ``just works'', and that any competent programmer can see is good stuff. Thus, the hack er culture's knowledge base increases rapidly. The taboo against ego-driven posturing therefore increases productivity. But that's a second-order effect; what is being directly protected here is the quality of the information in the community's peer-evaluation system. That is, boasting or self-importance is suppressed because it behaves like noise tending to corrupt the vital signals from experiments in creative and cooperative behavior. For very similar reasons, attacking the author rather than the code is not done. There is an interesting subtlety here that reinforces the point; hackers feel very free to flame each other over ideological and personal differences, but it is unheard of for any hacker to publicly attack another's competence at technical work (even private criticism is unusual and tends to be muted in tone). Bug-hunting and criticism are always project-labeled, not person-labeled. Furthermore, past bugs are not automatically held against a developer; the fact that a bug h as been fixed is generally considered more important than the fact that one used to be there. --snip-- The hacker culture's medium of gifting is intangible, its communications channels are poor at expressing emotional nuance, and face-to-face contact among its members is the exception rather than the rule. This gives it a lower tolerance of noise than most other gift cultures, and goes a long way to explain the taboo against attacks on competence. Any significant incidence of flames over hackers' competence would intolerably disrupt the culture's reputation scoreboard. The same vulnerability to noise goes for to explain the example in public humility required of the hacker community's tribal elders. They must be seen to be free of boast and posturing so the taboo against dangerous noise will hold. [DCj Talking softly is also functional if one aspires to be a maintainer of a successful project; one must convince the community that one has good judgement, because most of the maintainer's job is going to be judging other people's code. Who would be inclined to contribute work to someone who clearly can't judge the quality of their own code, or whose behavior suggests they will attempt to unfairly hog the reputation return from the project? Potential contributors want project leaders with enough humility and class be able to to say, when objectively appropriate, "Yes, that does work better than my version, I'll use it" -- and to give credit where credit is due. Yet another reason for humble behavior is that in the open source world, you seldom want to give the impression that a project is 'done'. This might lead a potential contributor not to feel needed. The way to maximize your leverage is to be humble about the state of the program. If one does one's bragging through the code, and then says "Well shucks, it doesn't do x, y, and z, so it can't be that good", patches for x, y, and z will often swiftly follow. Finally, I have personally observed that the self-deprecating behavior of some leading hackers reflects a real (and not unjustified) fear of becoming th e object of a personality cult. Linus Torvalds and Larry Wall both provide clear and numerous examples of such avoidance behavior. Once, on a dinner expedition with Larry Wall, I joked "You're the alpha hacker here -- you get to pick the restaurant''. He flinched audibly. And rightly so; failing to distinguish their shared values from the personalities of their leaders has ruined a good many voluntary communities, a pattern of which Larry and Linus cannot fail to be fully aware. On the other hand, most hackers would love to have Larry's problem, if they could but bring themselves to admit it.

This is a weird time for me and all of holland due to the death of a controversial and potentially (alas, since he was killed last monday) powerful politician (elections next week, the dead man still stands to not only win the heads but gain landslidewise on hearts too); I'll see if I can scare up a pic showing the sea of flowers and condolences filing past (with queing hours of up to 4 day and night for 48 hours now).
--- He died shot from up close by a 32 y.o. animal liberator, who according to colleagues did legal work clumsily for the otherwise hugely succesful legal leg this movement stands on (they would take bribes from the bio-industry and buy up pollution rights with that money, a cute way of laundering money if you ask me, hilarious in fact as long as you overlook failings of officials and the bureaucratic sides of cynicism involved). The killer was withdrawn and fulltime 'serious' living in an unassuming little town with a 'girl-friend' and 3 month old baby. ---- ALERT: this murder may not be his first as I just read on a dutch google group. ---- Guilt and grief now rage, ravage and wreak havoc in Holland. Politicians and media are blamed for demonizing him who was as unwilling to keep personal grievances out of a conversation (which landed him on his ass a lot already; his reputation is to trail discord in his wake; coming all the way over to the right from marxist beginnings) as forfeiting his right to stereotype and generalize. His making light of insults and flaunting of sexual preferences was a breath of blessed air in this stinkpit of a country in which everybody would be unwell in no time if only our famous wind would fail us (conscience cleansingly up to snuff most of it . .. but . . soon as and while it does . . suanuf we get humbled = vernederd .. . by our own filth).
I wonder if this killer was hypnotized by the people (re)moving lobby; how lively the trade in human lives is here was made clear when a truckload of chinese foke suffocated in back of a truck less than a year ago; they were 'chartered' through rotterdam. The vital to mobile telephoney mineral from central africa (coltan), proceeds of which arm child soldiers to guard child workers? channeled through holland. The man of the hour Pim Fortuyn, luxury loving once marxist now right leaning populist (and I mean PROVING he knew what lives amongst/with/for people), was out to make a martyr of hissself (he refused protection, practically prophecied his demise).
If you ask me, he used sexual abstinence to fuel a sparkling publicity drive (an infectuous and theatrical enthusiasm infused with hardhitting cheek, joviality and style designed to inspire confidence, blend out and/or at least distract from the contradictions in his 'program' and personality) as much as his killer may have been frustrated and stuck(up) on the subject, this person is reputed to be overconscientious (even included fruitflies in his animal liberation harangues . .. or perhaps just went for a cheap way to inflate the number of sufferers).
I am not the only one to spot his messiah complex and that strenghtens me in my ability to forgive myself for not spotting the danger he was heading for and not offering to protect him (it occurs to me in hindsight I might have made myself more useful that way than on a previous attempt: I once sent the man a pile of papers with the same content one now finds in the guest appearances at my site but received no reply).

Pim rode a shotgun rise to prominence, promising to cure multicultural chaos (make nice little dutch boys and girls out of 'products' from a culture he despised [and probably hasn' t stopped to, even in death, the item he took off on involved the words of an imam comparing gays to pigs; Pim unleashed a voltairian volley: "Yeah he has a right to say that but a duty to adjust to our culture"]; he managed to make and put a good and civil face on formerly thought extreme right wing indecent and taboo sentiments).

I get these moods when I overestimate the sway I would have over people as much (as the blame I deserve for not exerting such) and my attempt to save him from his savious complex would have frustrated his fastlane fancy, his darkroomlike encounter with his partner and doom. As it is and for a while to come he is the darling of frustrated streetlevel sufferers from multiculturalism, neighbourhoodies and hoodesses (the veil is a stumbling block/thorn in dutch eyes but despite all the aggravation about it nobody but me says it is a simple pragmatism derived thing [but a simple dust guard turns into lust guard for some and shackle symbol for others] and only in the second place a proof of stubborn pride and defiance) too poor to escape the fraying and frictious edges of cultural encounters/clashes. He was, as about everything, extremely jovial AND adament (though not necessarily coherent), saying we should stop immigration in order to improve integration ("Holland is full" [full of itself and impenetrably butch?] made into a hilarious game derivative of traditional hunting skill ones where you stick a pin through a little hole hanging over the road from horseback this last past queen's day: a big slab o wood potrays Pim looking back and baring his ass where a big round hole awaits waterballoons at 50 cents a pop let fly from across the canal. And then there is the association with budgetholes etc).

Pim's trump is, sorry was, undoubtedly the immigrant question, at the moment even 3rd generation islamoids go get their more submissive and yet-unspoilt women in the land of origin and have been more or less subsidized to do this by the string of leftist (yet rightish) govts who did never have a sense of reality big enough to face facts about how cultures stack up together, not that Fortuyn had more than a hare brained/idealistic sense of what to do besides spelling out goals (we just about missed all onramps to sofar as a matter of course anyway). Anyway, he is celebrated as a taboo breaker but was so addicted to luxury and blind to green tint stuff not to mention morphable that there would have been no telling where he would 'lead', It's easy and cheap to say he was fooling whole hordes as much as himself he was gonna too. -------

I wish I could say I was kidding.

Scuse, but what does popa capin mean? for all my confident now nevermore to be put to the testable fancy that I might have been able to charm Pim (with a little more effort than sending the couple of hundred pages worth of pamphlets from the thirties pointing to a happily married pol + econ to him some handsfull of years ago; URL at that indyitem 179372 I just posted) I must admit I care not much for pets . ..specially in cities . .. seduced = sedated . .. - hi scott, I'm sending you this 'strait' and doubt you'll be getting two copies since rite after answering your query (you might look at indymedia.org/front.php3?article_id=179310 too by the way; it's by adam curry a dandy disc jocky with a jucky model for a wife, two very rich, obsessed [with cuteness and cosmetics] people, fokeswith 'saltcrutches', to try a take on south african terminology) I found myself unsubbed suggesting I try back after the hectic spell (why do they standardize personal stuff? Equality drive a la fears of fukuyama I guess).

JSF money: Last Sunday - May 5th 2002 - the American ambassador Mr. Sobel, some American "specialists" and Dutch generals contacted the now killed mr. Fortuyn concerning the deal. Since he was supposed to win in the upcoming elections his vote would be decisive. He told the US ambassador and the delegation he would probably need those billions - with a slowing down economy - for more urgent things in Dutch society. Like medicare, education, public transport etc. I'm trying to find a confirmation for this so don't believe it yet. dutch poly ticks

On thurs night, I saw Robin Hoek and Nurse Stimpy for the first time in years. I could sense a subliminal homoerotic feel between Ren and Stimpy that I didn't notice before, like at the end of the episode where Stimpy is dressed in drag, sleeping next to Ren in bed. But by the same token, nothing is established except that Ren and Stimpy just had another crazy, fun adventure.

According to John K, Stimpy is "madly in love with Ren." and "Ren would rather have a beautiful human woman if he could get away with it but Stimpy's easy." Even still, this is not what carried or escalated the plots of Ren and Stimpy during the Nickelodeon years.

The thing about the new episodes is that Ren and Stimpy are portrayed (at least in Onward and Upward) as a gay couple who make love right in front of the viewer. This just seems too in-your-face. Nothing is left up to the imagination anymore. There is nothing else that escalates the plots. I think that is the biggest problem with the new show, or at least Onward and Upward.

For those who have never heard of Ren & Stimpy, it is a cartoon show featuring an irritable, psychotic chihuahua named Ren Höek, and his best friend (and lover), the mentally retarded and extremely effeminate Stimpson J. Cat. Together, Ren and Stimpy get up to all sorts of wacky antics, from going into space to acting as door-to-door rubber nipples salesmen. Although it aired on a children's network, its main audience was college and university students, who quickly tapped into its subversive nature and excellent characterisation. Despite all this, most people still dismiss it as silly and disgusting, viewing only the surface and ignoring its deeper elements.

The creator of Ren & Stimpy is one John Kricfalusi (popularly known as John K), a Canadian animator who became incredibly fed up with the stagnant state of the animation industry, which in the 1950s had been taken over by bureaucrats and sitcom writers. Ren & Stimpy was designed from the outset as a show that would break all the taboos that had been enforced on the industry. John K's goal was simple: to make cartoons funny again. Rather than writing scripts, he returned to the technique used on almost all animation until the 1960s (and still used by Pixar, Spumco and some Cartoon Network shows today): developing the stories on storyboards, eliminating the scriptwriting process altogether. This was radical at the time, as such a practice had not been used for nearly 30 years (studio executives, according to those in the know, can't understand storyboards and don't like the amount of freedom it gives the cartoonists). It is this, more than anything, that gives Ren & Stimpy its sheer energy and fusion, and is the reason why almost all scripted animation is lifeless and sterile, with little or no cohesion between the writing, artwork and voice acting.

Northanger blog is most likely called that bycause she likes Jane Austen's book about an abbey called that; she's doing diary like entries these days

I go: What is it you smoke? how much? how much physical excercise do you get/take? As little as me is very very bad and enough to double depressions; step out of that world in your head stuffed with missed chances and mementos from the best of all possible worlds.
As I understand it you are working out some kind of ephemeris for asteroids but I can't figure out why/if, when they are indeed clumped in groups that resonate with different other planets, and wether the shelflife/regularity is making it worth your while, sometime in the future? Suppose somebody uses your specs to do some calculations, let's say a billionaire who wants to see what colour the cloud of dust will be when firing a nuke at his chosen target from his private rocket (oh the wonders of crapitalism), could you sue them?

If I could get you to trace terrestrial dust revolutions, cycles and momentae, better yet, get some it in gear down on one farm after the other, I'd keep you .. .. even in smokes but I have no hopes you see the urgency the way I do. I suspect we have the dubious pleasure of sharing a lack of interest in our work the second comment by the 'owner'/operator of http://pierrotsfolly.blogharbor.com/blog a better than average blog, likens being employed to being served up and eaten alive.

I go: eat and let eat aint it for all; you profess to be the eat or let eat type but merely think you are; a false supposition is never final.

Your calculation speaks of net losses and gains in personal terms but that is oxymoronic cause the term net implies collective; for instance, THE net is by definition a loss wether suffered for good or bad purposes, internet as a symptom of urban blight (terrorism by the way is the dopey attempt to disperse, thin out and counter the dilution of fellowman obstructed straight contact with Allah, terror [[as well intentioned evil means]] tries to bust up mass societies in the same duplicitous way arabs will generally approve of [[even/especially liberal]] bloodflow and certainly prefer it over the flow of semen).

sociality is sacrifice (when correctly trying to lower your standards and aiming at the dusty presentient levels yet getting stuck at that of say, people with birth defects); this is what comes as easy for a female as quick and dirty sex does for lots of males (arabs excepted, who stop short of all that and instead act out femininely. Tragically do they do so in the shallow ways that meddle with and fuck up the female aspects of their environment, ((a consequence of their long but no longer sustainable luxury of not having to dig in like the bleached monkeys further up north had to)), if you allow me to call the restraints that 'help' 'beperk' ((restrict)) themselves to bare essential imbalance shallow. Their mores ((aimed at power through numbers; progeny at all cost)) don't reach nor touch, much less 'catalactivate' the common denominator, for all their professed love and respect for dust ((i-mag link recently)) they don't manage to spread risk, cushion crisis, push back the desert ((hopelessness of which cause n loss is insighdoubted and reflected to make a projection of heaven; this done with the exact same degree of hot defense (((with course of life determining timetables rather than executable concepts that improve his lot and bring privilege back to equitable proportions so that they can be attained by more than all too very very few and by lots finer means too))) w as that sense of loss is intense; they run at perfect inversely proportionate ratios of each other)) through/after pragmatism yielding and penetrant understanding of it's role in life('s)cycles, rather, they seem to have choosen for and/or slid into a state where whichever way accomplishes imposition/domination goes/rules over proving likelyhood of hypothetical afterlifestage existing actually through good example ((the dim reflection of it seen in life closer to nature than nurture to the exclusion of the former believed practicable again and again, witness fabulous Adam, the monastic aspects of the middel ages, the (((communal))) utopian era, etcetera?)) but these differences are minor and mere matters of convention an detail in the strategically shifty face of what one monotheism does in comparison to another, in this case, the forms of violence are industrial strength peripheral ((christianity)) vs hands on low budget internalized ((islam)), jews manage to schizoically combine them and remain moves/way ahead of either descendant; on balance the footprint record of neither of the 'great' religions is that great; they all aim at the wrong size. Spreading small change and big risk at the same time ((Grand parent rock turned to grey dust blown in driving rain (((or spread as a spray in dry weather and locations with at least a likely enough chance of rain))), light show, musicscore and .. .roll!!!!)) help trivia thrive and drives burgeon- and 'blossomment' of diversity).

Islamists overvalue sperm, not over that just mentioned more inclusvie grey stuff as far as I know, at least not consciously (at mentioned link a little dust in compost and tasty produce plus robuster green could have given the needed pagan twist but hey, they hate the green west); their holy awe for it is hysterically high in fact and that's highly hysterical unless you can't see the joke in not only substituting but tabooing (mercifully I guess, in lieu of outright condemning) hi torque muddy waterspouts . .. ..

Reminds me of my hero, Julius Hensel, physiological chemist in the days a drugstore was full of natural materials behind brown glass, who's cosmological theories start with pressure on all sides -- kinda like that meatballs cutter, made about 30 at a go, with a big lever I learned to hang on age 10, slap them around in my hands to take the edges off and into the hot fat they went -- to create the 2 first elements, ta ta tadaaaa, prime-ordeal couple (2 male [[H]], 1 female [[O]] initiating gender division between them, soon to branch out into race and stack up onto class).

WARNING (insert by piet): this post deteriorates and gets very ugly .. it's the threat from/by the man of inexhaustible means and the sense of pride and justice he believes on his side. Seems to come 'naturally' to those who went around the world and survived, return home, pretend they are in a friendly relay race and ask their neighbours to move over a little not quite grasping the concept of staying put or at least much more so relatively speaking (big tragedy that, especially since the closest they can come is to strive for an impossible return) and find that in a conflict with former and once again neighbours they have vastly superior firepower at their disposal and can lay down the law if threatening with it don't help (the radicalized fringes and sympathizers of thus antagonized and outraged neighbours do succumb to the same tactic of anonymity which due to lower numbers and a consequently much weaker pr effort they can never ligitimate/legalize); I have news for you folks, justification only works (that is to say, really grows in a primordial sense) along vertical and radial grades.

As to seconds, I am listening to the best weekly history on the radio program right now, comparing england and france, it's tending toward favoring the angliberalism on the equality front although someone suggests that the ban-lieuers are entirely within national tradition (echoed by the fellow I read yesterday who sees the riots as a cry for attention rather than systematic sabotage ala al Qaida, which most vandalism is to a great extent).

My thoughts: what the french spend on support (spoiling the kids rotten) gets eaten up by the prison industry in the anglosphere).

> Proof that women enjoy sex more than men .. Stick your finger in your ear and wiggle it around. Which feels better?

I go: who else but a women could in their right mind assume sexual innuendo infused position anywhere near a bomb, let alone on top of it?

Find some attempts to solve this riddle here: bombshelllilac-part-2 18th of nov: This item can be seen (later today) in multicolour -- My beloved Netscape browser use has been frustrated since yesterday so direct transposition from Frontpage is now impossible (due to non-reciprocity by the likes of Bill Gates or worse I don't know, a re-install didn't help).

Last week's item 11/11/ riding the cresting wave of uncontainable discontent in http://indexterity.blogspot.com showing 'BombSheLilac' unworried, acting as if the bomb was exciting enough to look her best and she could reign run (and ruin) it even with some flimsy straps OK -- needs a little fleshing out.

Since then the Bitch has passed the 33 comments on one item of her own blog mark for the first time though she had to stoop to damn near dismemberment (luckily no worse than in the sense of singling out and the not literality of luxury).

She never directly referred nor responded to the item I had announced as written for her explicitly (she even offed an off-topic comment about an offed left winger - search seveke lieshout intel.web-log) but since 2 items later Butler and Shame serve for anchors I think I am going to remind her of what's been taken in consideration and has passed review too little so far. Here we go:

You turned back from the bomb to the biological fleshedent, a more lovable way to war with, wag instead of wage it, bonobo like right?

I in turn ought to search for the antecedents of the lass in rock, back far enough so the sheer weight of it, ancestral authority wise, even the raw materials for bomb stay scattered and buried within it, and besides not getting out of, let alone up off the ground, better choices might be found, the ones that abort bombboostics or at least stop them from rising to the heights of bias and betrayal, inadmissible selfloathing, etcetera, in the process of hi-jacking the whole goddess blessed evolutionary train chain trails and trials of glory.

Look at her again with evolution in mind. Where did she come from? Taking it in kind, unmediated, non 'sleazygoic' (clever, hot or deceptive? Survival of the 'fitchyest'? THe cleavage that cleaves the gap between rich and poor?).

Perhaps she ain't really riding traladida but bound, strapped, shackled and enslaved to it, about to be born to her demise perhaps even (shades of Gravity's Rainbow), . Purrhips she ain't pretty under a rubber skintight mask .. . and the sacrifices she (was made to) make to get the bomb that big .. . . with the height of salesmanship jumping around both of them .. .. it's enough to buckle under even before all ill will and 'roostreadying' release, unleashment and breaking*(news[[?]])*point (of sales[[c]]ale or s[[h]]ellingpoint) can generate at more and more distant destination (said to have provoked the turn of patriarchy's unloving arms from their default deterrent setup into last resort threat true making); the effects of which remain untold under tightestly closed fold and horrendous for generations to come!!!!!

All weak watery and kindly sharing per local race (always a different and lotsa little testy spectacle whizzing by), the chatter spatter and crunch of structured water ends up sacrificed by this bomb*(BL)*ast.

Pump my read
Assuming young pretty things have any choice in the matter of wether or not to get onboard shiny new things, the ones that do are somehow convinced sleazygoic rides are smart, selfmade, clever and their just deserts.

The 'buy me' (sell yourself) pitch pictures and implies if not reflects voluntary and mutual benefit between the bomb*(constructors)* and her. Love your bomb*(based way of life)* and get better girls. She: I bleed for a bomb so you bleed for a bomb if you wanna get next to me, can't buy (the likes of) me unless your bomb affords me a little elbowroom (note how they stick out). She doesn't mind being objectified along with other manipulables cause patriarchy is insurmountable nor dismantleable. What does she stand to lose going this route? Is this the most powerful position she can expect to achieve and assume?

Maskette of patriarchy triumphant.
Does that make islam (patriarchy par excellence and heir apparant) appear the more decent version of christianity? Yes, to the extent they denounce imperialism with proof positive: privatization of violence (dunno any islamic nations without armies though but I sure as hell believed Saddam when he said he had no weapons and complied with int. agreements), as undelegable as periodic bog visits. What to gain from a suicide mission? How is this a variant of love for greater good? How does the rocket manned by gay designer's lover in Gravity's Rainbow play along here? What about the use it and lose it selfdefeat of all collective rather than cool active emotion?

Every nice girl a georgeous bomb, all pretty ladies a blog, most a private bog, each one an intimate compostage licking flickturn trick lesson; all of them a beautiful farewell video:

'hello, I want you all to know, where I am .. things are just too slow, it's a sickening no go show, but I am sure my fortunes lie right where I'll be bound go'.

She makes (or is made to make .. .better yet: made TO LOOK LIKE she is making) her (unconstrainedly easy rider*) way with this righter of affairs affording her space to 'dominasticate' (cutting 3 words up short and pasting them into 1)

The male thing supremo is to pone the shortsighted, reactionary, fear, profit and cruelty driven parafernalia, in short, the bulk of all assorted products under the sun along a sliding scale just where he pleases, just where he thinks they belong, just as prime ordeal Adam starting putting and keeping things and beings in their place.

This state of affairs and affair of states is 'just' in his eyes since the enemy that is bold enough to shamelessly saddle him up with the bombfactoring burden has only himself to blame.

Some enemies are far away and they're gonna have to deal with the wreckages wrought by -- the seed that returns beyond the most wild of usurious (love making as Willy Shakes his Speare, I mean uses usury) dreams -- menacing stuff that is shiney, docile and as well behaved as a dildo (just as catatonic when no need arises to be unleashed).

Posts on Ward Churchill (lbo mostly)

At www.pulpculture.org .. a number of posts with Ward Churchill as topic follow each other in rapid succession during the 3rd week of may:

Ward links collected by me (forgot to mention at the top that i didn't bother preserving the hyperlinks, since they have meanwhile caught linkrot in most cases), used to have 2 more of these.
Listen to the man. He is a master in making long and involved sentence and can quote himself at length like nobody's business.
There is a Coloradan who usefully posts links to most stuff that comes out about him and tries to deride and tear it down before it hits the ground. Him and his buddies are quite clumsy though.The most blatant attempt is at once the most illuminating example. Namely, when they like to quote Ward saying he wants the US off the planet they're fighting off their biased belligerence to abuse some photoshopping skills in order to place Ward at some Cold War red button room rather than sticking up the pic where he holds a firearm. Of course Ward could defuse this skewage a little if he went into secession and such dissolvents a little more and better. The fact he doesn't is in fact the main reason the right can use and abuse him so fruitfully and hold him up as the seemingly smart cookie and say: see, this is the best the left can do: reaction. Violence condonement.

> Doug: .. . the story of white treatment of the Indians is horrible enough - why did Churchill have to invent, exaggerate, and plagiarize? It's a sad thing.

How do you know this? Take for example the charge that Churchill wrongly stated that the American governent deliberately infected natives with smallpox blankets. Obviously, this is a matter of some contention. What kind of records exist? If this is a subject of debate between academics, then why is Churchill guilty of stating his position on the issue? ---------- Chuck0

This is dealt with in the full report - which, by the way, reads like no right-wing hatchet job. It repeatedly acknowledges the horrors suffered by Indians, the racism of whites, the ambiguities of the historical record, and the validity of "different ways of knowing."
But, in a phrase, the claims made by Churchill on this issue just don't match the sources he cited, and it's not just a narrow miss. And that's when he cites sources at all.

And you can be damned sure that now whenever anyone brings up the genocide of the Indians, apologists will say, "Churchill made all that up."

By the way, Yoshie shows up on p. 77 of the report (p. 78 to a PDF reader):
>Professor Churchill then devoted several paragraphs of Submission B to a federal program announced in 1832 to vaccinate American Indians against smallpox and the orders issued by Lewis Cass, Secretary of War, concerning the implementation of that program. Professor Churchill described his source for that account as:

> "Extracts from Diane Pearson's 'Medical Diplomacy and the American Indian: Thomas Jefferson, the Lewis and Clark Expedition, and the Subsequent >Effects on American Indian Health and Public Policy' > (Wicazo Sa Review, Vol. 19, No. 1, 1994) > offered by Yoshie Furuhashi in 'Nothing but the Facts.'"

Furuhashi's "Nothing but the Facts" was an online posting no longer available at the time of our investigation.

> >Professor Churchill's citation of Pearson is incorrect in several respects, though it is not clear whether the problem originated with Furuhashi or him.
> ------Doug

What's amazing is how the Rightwing stalwarts of academic integrity and honesty can pass over the fact that almost every single assertion or piece of evidence presented by the US oiligarchy to justify the murder of 50,000+ Iraqis and 2,400+ US soldiers has been a shameless, contemptible >lie.

> All true. But some of us writers who are radical critics of the established order feel an obligation to be especially accurate, making it a little harder for apologists to dismiss the critique. ---
> Doug

Yoshie: What's noteworthy is that Ward Churchill's works investigated by the Investigative Committee of the Standing Committee on Research Misconduct at the University of Colorado at Boulder (cf. colorado.edu/.WardChurchillReport.pdf are those published by non-scholarly presses -- except Routledge -- and publications):

> ::::::: Ward Churchill, ed., Critical Issue in Native North America (Copenhagen: International Work Group on Indigenous Affairs, 1989)
> ::::::: "The Water Plot," Z Magazine, April 1993
> ::::::: Struggle for the Land: Indigenous Resistance to Genocide, Ecocide, and Expropriation in Contemporary North America (Monroe, ME: Common Courage Press, 1993).
> ::::::: Indians Are Us? Culture and Genocide in Native North America (Monroe, ME: Common Courage Press, 1994)
> ::::::: Since Predator Came: Notes from the Struggle for American Indian Liberation (Littleton, CO: Aigis Publications, 1995).
> ::::::: A Little Matter of Genocide: Holocaust and Denial in the Americas, 1492 to the Present (San Francisco: City Light Books, 1997)
> ::::::: "An American Holocaust? The Structure of Denial." Socialism and Democracy, Vol. 17, No. 1 (Issue No. 33, 2003): 25-76, sdonline.org/33/ward_churchill.htm
> ::::::: Acts of Rebellion: The Ward Churchill Reader (New York: Routledge, 2003).
> ::::::: On the Justice of Roosting Chickens: Reflections on the Consequences of U.S. Imperial Arrogance and Criminality (Oakland, CA: AK Press, 2003)
> ::::::: Perversions of Justice: Indigenous People and Angloamerican Law (San Francisco: City Lights Books, 2003)

That raises questions: Is it fair to look into what gets published by Z Magazine, AK Press, etc. and hold it up to exactly the same standard as what gets published in scholarly journals and university presses? Is it common for professors to get investigated for "academic misconduct" on account of what they published for non-scholarly audiences?

As I stated in my previous postings, I try to do what I can to ensure accuracy, readability, and so on in editing pieces for MRZine, at times to the point of rewriting things nearly from the ground up, as much as my time allows. (You know me -- my habit is to footnote even goddamn LBO-talk postings.) Monthly Review, being a monthly publication, sets itself even a higher standard (e.g., when things get submitted to MR on topics in which MR editors are not well versed, they get sent to reviewers). But I don't think that other left-wing publishing outfits all do what we try to do, much less do the same as scholarly journals and university presses.

If left-wing scholars, from now on, must expect to have their popular works investigated in a way that Churchill's were, left-wing publishers would all have to change the way they do business and copy scholarly publishing procedures.

> Shouldn't you be careful about saying things like this now that you have a position with Monthly Review? And aren't you encouraging people to treat the output of radical presses less seriously?
> --- Doug

I asserted that a number of Arabs and Muslims suffer from what can be called "Holocaust envy" (at http://mailman.lbo-talk.org..n-20060508/038013.html). So do many American Indians and others who suffered -- or still suffer -- from oppressions that are downplayed or dismissed altogether by many. You see, the Holocaust has become _the_ standard of evil, and many are tempted to analogize their oppression to the Holocaust -- hence the prevalence of the term "genocide" among leftists, too, not just among genocide-mongers of the Right.

That's why I think Michael Steinberg's argument in < http://mrzine.monthlyreview.org/steinberg080506.html > is so cogent.

Another reason is that a combination of moralism and capitalism tends to have us believe that intentional wrongs are more of a problem than unintentional wrongs. A case can be made that, morally speaking, intentional wrongs are worse than unintentional wrongs. But, in terms of consequences, unintentional wrongs are often much worse than intentional wrongs. Some can be induced to understand this point intellectually, but many find it unsatisfying, trapped as they are in conventional morality.

I suspect that these two reasons led Ward Churchill to develop his apparent belief in, for instance, a case of an intentional spreading of smallpox where he couldn't find written records for it. (I don't think he deliberately tried to lie -- he probably talked himself into believing it, as many -- including scholars -- do about what they want to believe.) ---- Yoshie

the rest is mostly Thornton .. but i messed up keeping voices apart with indentations here and there ... (which i'm relatively new to remember?)

> "Holocaust envy"? I think that as far as Native Americans are concerned a better label might be "victim worthiness catagorization fatigue"

::::::: Thornton: It isn't envy but fatigue. While I believe that comparing and rating holocausts against some standard is a poor way to spend ones time I don't know why you would use the term envy the way you do. I have absolutely no envy in this matter, nor do any NA writers that I am aware of, but I am tired of the way our culture rates the worthiness of victims. I can't speak to Muslim or Arab "holocaust envy" as I don't feel I am familiar enough with their situation to do so but my initial reaction is to find that assertion less than compelling.

Fatigue is probably the best word for it. Can you imagine anyone but a raving lunatic telling someone who is jewish directly to their face that "yes, the holocaust was terrible but WWII drew the US much more into world affairs and allowed for the rebuilding and modernizing of Europe and Japan as well as serving to increase the rate of technological advances so in the end it was all for the best"? NA's are told this all the time and it is considered an accurate historic appraisal by most people. I've seen it written on this list as well. This engenders fatigue (and anger) but certainly not envy. The Nazi atrocities were really only unique in their technological application.

Steinberg is wrong when he writes: "And it was part of the special horror of the Holocaust that everything about its victims but the bare datum of their Jewishness was obliterated before the actual living Jews, personal lives and family histories stripped away with their clothing, were obliterated themselves." .. . . .

Why shouldn't we initially consider the spreading of smallpox among the Mandan as intentional rather than unintentional? While I agree the record does not support Churchills assertions in this instance I see no reason to assume any instances of infectious disease spreading among NA's are unintentional unless proven otherwise. I believe just the opposite, they should be considered intentional until proven to be otherwise. I like Churchill's work but after reviewing the evidence it is obvious that he has either made an initial error that he refuses to acknowledge and correct or else he made shit up to suit his needs. It's very sad.

After reading the Investigative Committee Findings Report I am a bit surprised by the plagiarism findings. Those are really crappy conclusions. Churchill is obviously guilty of fabrication and falsification as well as failure to comply with established standards so I don't know why the committee felt compelled to throw in the plagiarism. It is far from obvious that he is guilty of anything other than the failure to comply with established standards regarding authors names on publications. In light of the rather significant body of work he has amassed it is disingenuous to focus on such minute, insignificant and otherwise explainable errors. The committee simply chose to disbelieve Churchill's explanation, not because of any overwhelming evidence, but for reasons they have kept to themselves. --- John Thornton

Even leaving the Holocaust and its 12 million victims (including the Red Army POWs, Communists, homosexuals, Roma, _and_ Jews), who on earth would say that WWII with its remaining, say 40 million dead, was "all for the best"? Also conisdering that "increasing the rate of technology advance" led to the creation and use of atomic weapons? This is bizarre. It would be cruel and insensitive to say to a Jew, "the destruction of European Jewry is an insignificant footnote;" worse to say "it was justified by its unintended consequences" -- just as it would be insulting to say to a native American similar things. Or to assert them inother contexts. Because, after all, the destruction of the Native Americans (far more certainly that WWII) did lead to the unification and modernizing of the US and increase in the rate of technological progress. Do you think that makes, e.g., Wounded Knee or the Trail of Tears justified? I don't think so. ------- The Nazi atrocities were really only unique in their technological application. ----- I'm not an advocate of the theory that the Holocaust of the Jews was uniquely evil, not comparable to any other evil act, etc. But first, please note that a great lot of the killing -- maybe half of it -- was not done in the killing factories with any specially advanced or unique technology but by old fashioned methods of mass shooting by the Einsatzgruppen in the invasion of Russia. The Red Army POWs (3 million of them) were simply left to starve or worked to death as slave labor. (Stalin had most the survivors shipped offto the gulag, btw.) It is really the scale of the Holocaust (including all the victims, Jews and others) that in part makes it unique as well as the application of mass production -- destruction? -- techniques to many millions of deaths, also the wierd irrationality of the thing -- the killing machine was kept running while Germany was on the ropes, essential war resources like trains were devoted to its ends taht could have been used to, for example, attain the end of the saner Nazis of a seperate peace with the West by holding off the Russians; valuable slave labor simnply wasted. ---- ……. Quote snipped ------ This is demonstrably wrong. THe Nazis kept scrupulous records of all the victims of the camps. Theyw ere German, after all, bureaucratic and pendantic to a fault. At the Jewish Burial Societ in Prague I saw an exhibit of Children's art from Theriesenstadt (their model camp,a tansit poiunt to Auschwitz for many W. European Jews) with the names, birthplaces, birthdates and death dates of the artists: Francois Rubel, b. Lyon 1930, d. Auschwitz, 1943, and so forth. All from German records. In a synagogue nearby there is inscribed on the wall the names of the Jews "transported" from Prague -- where do you think they got those names? German records. I've seen exemplars of the cards the Germans used to record the data on their victims, processed on IBM machines, btw, there's a book on IBM's complicity in the Holocaust; they took a lot more data than that. Very Teutonic. The victims of the Einsatzgruppen were another story, they were simply erased, shot and dumped in mass graves, but these also included Communists (see the "Komissar Befehl" or Commissar Order) and others in Russia as well, even if the Jews were the main victims there.

Re: 'intentional wrongs' ….. : it makes the people who commit them worse people and more culpable. The distinction is this: unintentional or unintended wrongs, if sytstematic, indicate a bad system, regardless of whether the people who benefit friom it or run it are bad people. Intentional wrongs indicate (though they are not conclusive proof) that the people commit them are bad. We may be interested for various reasons in punishing intentional wrongs (as I have argued), but the main target for the left is the bad system.

> > > > I suspect that these two reasons led Ward Churchill to develop his apparent belief in, for instance, a case of an intentional spreading of smallpox where he couldn't find written records for it. (I don't think he deliberately tried to lie -- he probably talked himself into believing it, as many -- including scholars -- do about what they want to believe.)

Self deception is no excuse for scholarly sloppiness. Read carefully. Michael is not saying that the Nazis didn't keep the records of their victims. He's saying that concrete details of humanity were stripped away from them and that they were reduced to categories -- Jews, Homosexuals, etc. -- in the eyes of the Nazis bent on dehumanization.

On 5/18/06, andie nachgeborenen wrote: I agree with you, of course. I'm just pointing out that many people -- even many leftists -- in the United States today find just blaming the system emotionally unsatisfying. Hence the popularity of narratives of planned, intentional genocides. And that popularity actually plays into the hands of the Right. Yoshie

> .....increase in the rate of technological progress. Do you think that makes, e.g., Wounded Knee or the Trail of Tears justified? I don't think so.

Which was exactly my point. It would be considered extremely bizarre to claim "it was all for the best" and only a raving lunatic would make such a claim and direct that statement to someone jewish. No one would do such a thing. Notice that you state that it would be just as insulting to say something similar to a NA but the fact is such things are said everyday in history classes all over the US. NA's are repeatedly told to their face that "they really do have to admit it was all for the best." Go to a local high school and middle school and ask to see a copy of their history textbooks. "Regretable", "unavoidable", "accidental", "in spite of good intentions", and "it all worked out for the best in the end" is exactly what you'll find. Dig through the archives and you'll find some of these same claims made on this list.

> The Nazi atrocities were really only unique in their technological application. I'm not an advocate of the theory that the Holocaust of the J....... holding off the Russians; valuable slave labor simnply wasted.

But the scale was not unique and the fatigue comes from hearing this over and over again. I imagine you are familiar with the Taino people. From 1493 to 1507 somewhere between 4 to 7 million Taino people (Bartolome de Las Casas estimated 3 to 4 million at the time) were deliberately exterminated by the Spanish. How, other than the technology used, is this different than the 5 to 8 millions Jews exterminated in the Holocaust? The Taino people are extinct. It was successful as genocides go. They were replaced by slaves from Africa because they were, in that situation, easier to control. How many cultures were actually exterminated by the Nazi's? Dozens of cultures were deliberately erased in the invasion of the America's and the attempted extermination of its indigenous people.

"Holocaust envy" has nothing to do with how people feel about this but fatigue certainly does. The shoah is not unique unless you feel European victims of atrocities are somehow more worthy victims than Native peoples. I imagine you don't consciously believe that. What in the scale of the shoah is so different from what happened to the Taino? How was the shoah more irrational than unleashing packs of dogs on groups of people and betting on the outcome? Using live NA's to "test" the sharpness of knives? Riding on them like pack animals for sport? Roasting them alive on a spit or hacking children into pieces and feeding them to their dogs? Slave labor simply wasted? Read Bartolome de Las Casas writings from the period and tell me how this slaughter is somehow of a lesser scale. It was not an occasional soldier or band of soldiers misbehaving but rather the wholesale and systematic torture and extermination of an entire people.

While the overall history of the post-Columbian attempted extermination of NA's took ~300 years it also took the lives of some 18+ million people. I know of no other extermination attempt that was as continuous or nearly successful since the NA population in 1900 was ~240,000. Each holocaust was necessarily different since the duration, timeframe, and rational were different but to claim one over the other as greater in scale or more abhorent is both pointless and counterproductive. Doing so is to assess the worthiness of the victims whether this ones intention or not. I find the idea that Muslims, Native Americans, Arabs or any group are suffering from "holocaust envy' an offensive idea. I don't expect you to change your mind and stop thinking of the shoah as you expressed here;

> " It is really the scale of the Holocaust (including all the victims, Jews and others) that in part makes it unique as well as the application of mass production -- destruction? -- techniques to many millions of deaths, also the weird irrationality of the thing"

It is my experience that people seldom change their opinions of such things. Why I am writing such a lengthy reply is not at all clear to me. Perhaps it is the only way I can deal with the weariness generated by statements such as the above. This is probably written for my benefit more than anyone elses. --------John Thornton > commitee thing: There is no question that John Smith was brutal in his treatment of Indians and interested in having English settlers colonize New England. However, the evidence suggests that he viewed the native population as an important source of labor. As Salisbury explains, Smith "would use military repression in order to force the natives to work for their colonial masters." The evidence that Smith wanted to use Indians as a labor force contradicts Professor Churchill's contention that he wanted to see them wiped out.

All true. But by the post Civil War era Slotkin focuses on in "Gunfighter Nation", these dreams of enslavement were a thing of the forgotten past. Westward expansion (as every school child used to know) was the battle cry and the native peoples were perceived as being an obstacle in need of quick and decisive removal.

Slotkin starts his work by examining the mythological assumptions tightly coiled about Frederick Jackson Turner's address to the World Columbian Exposition on July 12, 1893 titled "The Significance of the Frontier in American History." Nearly all of our subsequent pop cultural notions about the West, and the native people's place in it (including the vanished Indian meme Dennis Claxton pointed out), can be found in this late 19th century speech.
the US' existence is celebrated (without reservation by 'conservatives' and with caveats, of varying strength, by culturally sensitive 'liberals') as an achievment. And yet, an ocean of blood was spilled and a mountain of skulls were crushed. How do you reconcile this horrific fact with the (from the point of view of many - or, most of us) positive elements of the US' arrival on the scene? By saying, in so many words, that although this destruction was 'regrettable' it's worked out well enough (the freedoms and all).
In his book "Gunfighter Nation" (1998, Univ. of Oklahoma Press), Richard Slotkin traces the evolution of American attutudes towards Native Americans; from vermin that must be exterminated (the 'Indian Wars' period) to "noble savages" who, sadly, had to be removed to make way for a great nation's rise. This is deeply woven into the collective American consciousness (well, at least that portion of it that bothers to think about the matter at all). ------.d. monroelab.com

> It is worthwhile remembering that the slogan "Go West, Young Man" is not all that separate from the slogan, "The only good Indian is a dead Indian." And that latter slogan surely ranks in importance with any of the more polite slogans of u.s. (e pluribus unum; in god we trust; etc.).
> -------- Carrol

Thanks. I was pretty sure that he'd finally acknowledged -- in spite of the disingenuous press release when the controversy hit the fan -- that he really did mean that everyone including janitors are culpable in one way or another. He lays it out in the second piece and in a footnote says that, yes, he too should would have been just as guilty as anyone else on one of the planes and, thus, deserving of the same fate as those on the plane.

He engages in the kind of thinking Doug has criticizes here: the all or nothing, you're the oppressed or you're an oppressor thinking. I have been criticizing that at the blog on a number of levels, which Carrol called a 'pissing match' and which I've been calling the "more oppresseder than thou" sweepstakes, arguing that it emanates from a (naive) standpoint epistemology.

Incidentally, I was reading Judith Butler's _Gender Trouble_ over the weekend and she takes as one point of her analysis a criticism of the existentialism Jaspar's engaged in. She moves on to a critique of radical French feminism as well -- in its attempts to locate women's standpoint 'outside of history'. but, hey, blahbeddy blah blah blah.She moves between each of these two positions, forging an alternative approach to try to understand the dynamics of power as not simply about power v. powerlessness.

"If you throw them out, what good will come of it?"

People travel back and forth to Mexico all the time, legals as well as illegals. Deportation rates spike in mid-December because people turn themselves in to get the free ride home. They are willing to pay the price to return (typically $1,500 at the border, along with some hard walking still a good deal at half the full price) to get home for Christmas and then return to their jobs later. A program that offered legal status to people applying in Mexico rather than inthe US would trigger a huge flood of temporary (thank God) returnees, who would be legal afterwards, and who would be in a position to demand fair pay.

> "The only way to get rid of illegals entirely is to create a total surveillance police state, which would be immensely expensive and very difficult for many reasons."

No, actually. The surveillance is from legal immigrants and working people, who turn them in to tip lines constantly. About 70% of our tips come in in semi-literate Spanish. They don't like the competition.

> "What would Native Americans have said as they over looked the landing near the Mayflower or similar ship? "A lot of 'illegal' puritan immigrants coming from Europe! Where will we put them all?"
> "The status of the land that they occupy is "illegal", treaties were broken time after time, genocide enacted on the Native Americans with little regard to legality. Land stolen time after time."

What have you done with the real modernityblog?
What a load of half-witted nonsense.

What "would" the Pequot have said when th English showed up? Why wonder - actions speak louder than words. They decided not to wipe them out, because they were useful for trade goods and for entertainment. For one thing, their ugly-ass language sounds hilarious. Who next? Is "modernit" seriously suggesting that the English pushed in on the Iroquois, the pre-eminent military power on the continent at the time? That is too batshit delusional even to comment on.

"treaties were broken time after time" and quite often negotiated in bad faith from the very beginning. A prime example is the way the Tsalagi notoriously sold land in the Carolinas they didn't even control, let alone have any defensible claim to, kicking off decades of bloodshed and strife. Cheating a bunch of big, blond Saxons is hardly sporting, but maybe the money was just too good to pass up.

"Land stolen time after time." You at least got this part correct, by mistake though, I am sure. An example is the huge war between the Lakota and the US over the Black Hills, which the Lakota and Cheyenne had just recently driven the Absaroka out of after themselves being driven out of Minnesota by the immigrant/invading Ojibwe from Ontario. The point is that the land got "stolen" (the accurate term would have been "taken") many times.

> "Given that they were a bunch of primitve savages they probably would have worshipped the Europeans as gods

WTF? The Americans were primitive? As opposed to people who never bathed and who were ignorant of simple agricultural techniques?

fixed a few mistakes to a version posted shortly before this (you can see it in the mixfile for this year):
I'd not force a person without aptitude due to little or no cultural background in intellectual pursuits to stay put in school benches; I'd give all folks in the mentioned concrete deserts a garden sorta the size of the schrebergarten in the Viennese garden quarters (big enough to have a family fruit tree or two) and always a choice to spend time in wellstocked libraries rather than follow obligatory courses.

*Same goes for Shamir, who's defence of tactic diversity, similar to that of ChuckO the infoshop starter and and Ward Churchill, is (was, over a year ago) consisted of illustrations from early christianity: male and warlike half bringing justice, compassionate one bringing mercy, side by side (bull of course . .. I tried to theorize about such and for all I care named christian type crisis solving while NATO and Soros hit socialism: send out women with carriers to distribute handtools, knowledge whatnot and keep convincing strenght ready to pounce and punish if waylaid); I agree a dual course must be sought but this bloodshed bilge isnt any better than the stuff 'anglospherians' spout, about the wars between free and slave armies; all crap really cause the question is not just where and when to be soft or hard but must also and for completeness sake include what you will be soft and hard on/to (hard to the rock, soft to the seedlings; If luxurious times [[like some of what I call mine, making a near as possible perfect website about it]]) isn't used to draw the attention of present bloodshedders by pre-emptation of future flows (substitute muds and mists; bring back the 1000 year old cedars of lebanon, greens of the sahara, etcetera) fails to do so, even with guys like me around; I consider it all spark glamour and groomery misplaced waste, a sin and missed chance.

I think my interpretation of the gospels is as valid as those that hammer on whatever Jesus might have done with a sword if he used that word at all meant by it (never mind the monomyth aspects now cause heroism IS a very tangible thing as anybody with a half way decent father knows.... wish my kids did/will).

Destructive idiots (pyromaniacs, chronically dismissives, dissers i think they think themselves proudly and other reactionaries) are up for the chaingang ball park like the ones I have in mind but for starters or else, send the worst of them to the dutch or maroccan armies (their choice on a 3 strikes you're in basis but give the others a real stay/anchor root, the type that privileged folks like me never even got cause church, commerce and parental authority rules and kids must follow gardening orders before inheriting anything).

> In the Western attempts at Reform of the Calvinist type, the factor of social adeptness in the community was made absolute and the social success or failure of the individual taken as proof of his eternal salvation or his eternal damnation. The forceful establishment of this view of the World in its religious, World-political, and social-political forms, cleared the way for the transformation of the World into a refuse heap. By means of Capitalism and Democracy, all traditional arrangements are destroyed, the various peoples are converted into the refuse pile of the World Populatiom and the folk-economies into the trash heap of the management of World resources.
> Capitalism and Democracy have an uncurbed destructive power if they are not limited by thought patterns which are essentially foreign to them and are able to display their atomistic-quantitative peculiarity undisturbed. This atomistic World-view is concentrated totally upon the units of currency, by which Capital counts its funds and its winnings, and upon the number of votes by which democratic potential for rulership and its increase in power are measured. Democracy and Capital have this atomistic quantity-oriented thinking in common; it ends in the destruction of all goods and all peoples through their transformation into units of currency and into voters. The unification of currency for all World capital funds and the universal right of suffrage for all citizens of the World populatiom are the logical end-stage of the capitalistic-democratic way of thinking. In its estimation, a democracy is all the more legitimate, the greater the number of voters, and that is why democracy does not mean the control of a people over itself, but the destruction of all genuine peoples, who are then viewed as but a minority (as, perhaps, the Boers are seen today) whose rule over themselves is not permitted and must be sanctioned.

looks like John Zube the panarchist has an accolade he will never say stuff like he did about me about: 'with friends like these .. ..'

richard (looks a bit like that diplomat I mentioned being on tv yesterday):

This means that I would endorse any kind of Government as long as membership would be on a voluntary basis, at the expense only of its supporters. A communist Government for the communists, a 'welfare' Government for welfarists, a limited Government for minarchists, no Government for anarchists, or Muslim Government for Muslims, Catholic for Catholics, Buddhist for Buddhists etc., and all the varieties in between, all on a voluntary basis. That would put an end to so much ideological and religious antagonism. People would finally have the Government they want (or none), no matter where they lived. That is political freedom to me.*

I advocate peaceful means in order to reach peace. In other words, to cite Le Grand E. Day:

> "Let it be clearly understood that this system must work and grow within the legal means of the already-established governments. The tools needed to bring about multigovernment are communications, not bloodshed; education, not violence; persuasion, not revolution. There is nothing in this thesis that advocates, suggests, or implies the overthrow of any existing government by force or violence."

Piet: I did not really like his way of casting Beckerath et al in present day lingo (last oct in savehaven) but as he says, to each his own.

Noam Chomsky said Iran would be “crazy” not to develop nuclear weapons. Speaking Tuesday to an audience of over 1,000 at University College, Dublin — Ireland’s largest university — Chomsky said, “No sane person wants Iran to have nuclear weapons,” but added that the Islamic republic had to respond to alleged threats from Israel and the United States, both nuclear powers. Chomsky, a professor emeritus of linguistics at MIT, is in Ireland this week for a series of speaking engagements.

A Jewish American’s experience in Zionist Israel:
A Christian is permitted to preach the gospel in a church building, but for the clergy or anyone to even tell anyone about teachings in Bible outside the church building will bring a 5 years prison sentence.

For a Christian to give a Bible or religious article to a Jew will also bring a 5 years sentence. Even an act of kindness by a Christian toward a Jew, such as giving a gift of food, can be interpreted as trying to convert the Jew to Christianity and can bring a 5 years prison sentence.

This same law of religious suppression applies to those of the Islamic faith who in an act of kindness give a gift of any kind to a Jew. A 5 year prison sentence can result.

Great article thecutter.
This was the sort of speil that Goebbals and his pals were spouting on about, on their favourite defenceless innocent targets of German Jewish folk.
Going back to that 'Flame' article by the estimable Jeff Blankfort -
- can you image the uproar if it was an advert for the ethnic cleansing of Jewish folk from Poland - oh that's right, thats already been done hasn't it, and received the proper condemnation it deserves with the various culprits responsible punished where possible -

- and no adverts will be placed on behalf of those that deny various events associated with the Nazi ethnic cleansing of Poland -

PS although I didn't get a lot from Jeff's article on Prof Chomsky
leftcurve.org/LC29Web...es/ Chomsky.html
I think this is much better by Jeff
The Power of The Israel Lobby: Two Viewpoints
A debate between Prof. Stephen Zunes and Jeffrey Blankfort

Stephen Zunes agrees with Prof Chomsky on the idea of Israel as a US 'strategic asset'.
Anyway, I think it much better because US racism is discussed - I think that some of the folk who say they are 'anti-zionist' are just anti-Jewish racists -

- as people know, I have no problems with how people want to express themselves - unless you're being deliberately difficult and obtuse about matters then the meaning of terms are pretty much clear in the context in which they are used

> Fowl play: The poultry industry's central role in the bird flu crisis
> GRAIN February 2006
> Why is Laos an exception?
> The principal reason why Laos has not suffered widespread bird flu outbreaks like its neighbours is that there is almost no contact between its small-scale poultry farms, which produce nearly all of the domestic poultry supply, and its commercial operations, which are integrated with foreign poultry companies. According to the US Department of Agriculture:
> The poultry industry in Laos is predominantly one of smallholders, raising free-range, local chicken breeds nearby their dwellings for meat and eggs, mostly consumed by the household or sold locally for income … An average village has around 350 chickens, ducks, turkeys and quail being raised in small flocks interspersed among village homes by about 78 families, with women primarily responsible for the flocks. Ducks, turkey, and quail are also raised, with negligible amounts of geese found scattered around the country. The few commercial operations (less than 100 total, with 89 of these located near Vientiane) in the country supply nearby metropolitan areas … Biosecurity and technology utilization are minimal, with little available veterinary care from either private or government sources. no thing standardizes like a stupidity

Quoting Jose Arguelles (who thinks he is a reincarnated Maya king) from his latest book (Chronicles): ... snip ... moved to the JA special

William Irwin Thomson post over at http://pundude.blogspot.com Here's a teaser to help you over there:

> Throughout this study of literature and the evolution of consciousness, I have used the metaphor of the catastrophe of bifurcation and said that humanity is experiencing a catastrophe bifurcation in the emergence of the new global civilization. "Catastrophe" is a word that English has taken from Greek; it means, "to turn over." When we turn over material in a compost heap, we create a catastrophe for the anaerobic bacteria in the rotting garbage as we suddenly flood them with oxygen and sunlight. The chaos dynamists say that there are three kinds of catastrophes: subtle, explosive, and "out of the blue." The mathematicians' use of these poetic metaphors makes me feel as if it is quite all right for me to return the favor and use their idea of a catastrophe bifurcation as a poetic metaphor for a cultural transformation of history. Since I have been arguing all along that literature and mathematics have been inseparably linked throughout history in the arithmetic, geometric, dynamical, and now chaos dynamic mentalities, this collaboration between metaphor and math is quite appropriate. Since I am a cultural historian and not a prophet, I have no idea whether this catastrophe will be subtle, explosive or out of the blue. I tend to think that our process of global cultural transformation is so complex a dynamic that it will be all three at once. The economic shift is subtle, the cultural shift is explosive, and the spiritual one is out of the blue.

> "The main enemy of Zionism is truth."

Ehh, I know what you mean . .but eh .. .truth is nobody's zionist you enemy! Not even your animus can make zionism make truth into an enemy and luckily nothing can.

Tell you what, X, Rowan and all the others who insist there is this o so great difference between strains of semitisand suckers. It is easy being Islam's greatest friend if you don't live anywhere close to a large enough concentration of their spawn (spoiled rotten. I am not talking about the severely oppressed or the supposed solidarity of the former with the latter either). I order you to take your next holiday in the ban-lieu or where Muhammed Bouyeri grew up maybe .. .but your letterfiltered life imperative/handicap won't let you I am sure.

Don't you try to describe how the holier than thou any gender, class or race sporting speciment deems/thinks 'it'self, the worse they act and the more stupendously bad they will and declare a desire to perform? And that zionism sprouts, trains and brings the strongest team to the pokertable everytime?

Aren't human vices magnets for satire, cartoons etcetera?

The hypocrisy lies in cartoons thrown after bombs, not in the fact the cartoons aren't truthful, specially if they make exactly that clear on 1 go instead of having some focus to the exclusion of, but was/is that the complaint. No!!!! The prophet and his taskmaster are to be feared not to be made fun of.

Kaminsky exit Myers' list

> Kaminski's exit

> I thought I was the only one and perhaps not smart enough - My selective mind has not managed to discover the interest and value either and I feel also that you over did it...
>
> In older days you brought a variety and you where less anti-Semitic.... There is no value in Antisemitism and it does not improve our situation.. I over read all Middle Eastern opinionating...
> I also don"t see your concept and purpose... What are you learning out of mails like those for your book? Whats the title of your book and how do you fit those mails into it...? Hope you recover soon again...

Reply (Peter M.): Kaminski, on his departure, called me "a Jewish apologist".
You congratulate him, but, instead, call me "anti-Semitic".
For the record, I reject categorisations of whole groups of people on the basis of birth. I recently unsubscribed from a list which disparaged blacks as a group. Yet I don't mind "holocaust denial" in the sense that I think debates about history should be unfettered.

I have argued that "being a Jew" is a matter of choice - of subjective identification - and this is something that can change over time. There are ex-Jews, but simply becoming an atheist, or even a Christian, does not make one an ex-Jew. There is an atheistic form of Judaism, and Jews in the past have adopted Christianity outwardly whilst not inwardly.

But I'm not pushing Christianity. What is it, anyway? Since the time the Church baptised the Vikings as Normans, it's been an adjunct of militarism and property.

I don't care whether Shamir is a Jew or an ex-Jew, or a bit of both. He's open - that's the best thing about him. He provides sufficient information about himself for one to argue all positions about him. A "holocaust agnostic" who calls Rabbi Abraham Zacuto "a Judaeo-Iberian sage"! How to make out such a man? People obviously have trouble making me out too. I value Shamir, but we have our disagreements.

Jews substantially control the intellectual life of the United States, shaping the thoughts of the populace and the news which reaches them. In Europe, one can be imprisoned for questioning "holocaust" orthodoxy. Jewish lobbies have been in the vanguard of the push for wars in the Middle East.

You turn a blind eye to such facts; your email bulletin is innocent of them. Perhaps if you mentioned them, your readership would fall away. But I don't care about readership; I don't aim to maximise numbers. All I care about is quality. I'd rather have only one reader, than bend to pressure. Don't misunderstand me - I'm not disparaging your email bulletin. The issues I've seen are quite good; I'm not suggesting you change it, but simply defending my own. I don't mind Kaminsky's leaving. Perhaps he'll come back one day. I'm not upset, I don't feel like calling him names. On the contrary, his reaction showed that our discussion had touched something very important.

http://mailman.lbo-talk.org/..-20051114/025240.html
the thread which was to be Michael Pugliese's big blow out; after posting long stretches of Ian Williams work and a mention of a certain Hoare (who was member of the Henry Jackson society apparantly), which makes Carl Remick and Dennis Perrin blow up and get quite mad. Michael signs off and his even when he comes back during the first half of 2006 makes himself scarce and leaves in a huff again.

Michael Pugliese wrote: > Grab that copy of Gramsci's Prison Notebooks off your shelves. >Marko's Dad, Quentin, from the New Left Review editorial board of the >70's, wrote the 100 pg. or so introduction.

So? The son has demonstrated himeslf right here to be pretty awful, and anyone who's a fellow of an institute named for Scoop Jackson is almost by definition toxic. He signed off, by the way. --- Doug

Did he? Fucking coward. I actually read a couple of his essays last night, and was gonna take apart a few bits here for a few laughs. Zen exercise and all that. Hey MPug -- since you think Hoare is so brilliant, coax him back. I'll engage him straight up. ----

Dennis From: Dwayne Monroe >... I have to admit that before reading the "Chomsky v >Marko" thread I'd not heard of Dr. Hoare ... who's a member >of the Henry Jackson Society.

----------- I'll go you one better: I never heard of Hoare or the Henry Jackson Society. I am shocked to learn such a thing as the HJS even exists. Unlamented proto-neocon Scoop Jackson has been dead for 22 years, so I thought he was in no position to work further evil. But like a horror flick, it seems the Senator from Boeing's warmongering spirit has risen from the grave to walk the earth as this hideous HJS. There appears to be no end to these lavishly endowed rightwing think tanks, petri dishes swarming with bacteria like Hoare. ---------

>The Society's web bio describes him: >>Marko Attila Hoare ... received ... his PhD from Yale University in 2000. There also seems to be no end to things that Yale should atone for.

Fragments from Modern Language Notes (the german issue) 1993 --- Literary sexualities

Camp ---- by Laurence Rickels:

What also fits in here is the synchronization of the onset of his homosexuality with the concluding year of the lost war. In 1918 the war bond between natural people spilled over into homosexual excess. First comes a depletion of outwardly directed heterosexual libido, then comes the upsurge (back in the barracks or inside oneself) of the basic need for self esteem.
The drunken one night stand belongs to a demonization of the home fron as the homo front, where libidinal depletion or excess no longer toed the line of the war effort. The “knife in the back” view of how the German soldiers lost the war is too hot to handle. But it’s a demonization that’s so far away (like all projection) but also (this time around) so close: homosexuality is a contagious disease that can strike down millions of all-natural men and thus deplete the future reserve or resource of the generations coming soon. (A regular feature of war-neurosis symptomatology was impotence, Ferenczi reminded those who in 1918 still resisted the psychoanalytic view of every neurosis’s sexual etiology.)

Fritz Mohr lifted the bio-blinders that obscured clearer view of a stronger homosexology trigger: psychic determination (amongst other things, such as the relation between coming out and alcohol consumption).
Rickels describes how one of Mohr's case studies ‘kept on getting caught being come on to by boys who got younger as the years went by’, down this road surely, lies pedophilia, given enough libertinitis.

> "The couple that the group cannot admit or leave alone is at the same time the group’s reproductive agency, its future. That’s why homosexuals are always the mascots and trend setters of group psychologization: and that’s why they are the suicidal and sacrificial stars of mass (both communionist and consumerist) societiy. the’re the way to go and they’ve got to go. But that’s also why, in heterosexist culture, going straight has to come with a free gift of homo-bonding (via the woman among us) which, even though never completely consumated, is way more constant than what comes the way of gays. That’s also why lesbians aren’t a threat. All women get attributed to them a confusion or lack of direction of desires that’s the static on the transmission going through them. It’s like: what don’t they want (and who really cares anyway). But that’s also why by now, in our state of heterosexual preparedness, women (straight or whatever) can make their careers theorizing, that is, fantasizing about male bonding. Look at Leni .. .. .
> Before the Roehm assasination, very few cases of homosexuality came up in the Hitler Youth, but afterwards they became shockingly frequent. The reprimand index (Warnkarten) of the Hitler Jugend .. .shows that between 34 and 39 about 25% of the 4.800 youths expelled from the movement were expelled for homosexuality, in addition to those expelled for ‘moral offenses’, some of which were basically homosexual; mutual masturbation penalty: 2.5 years inprisonment. (from “homosexuals in nazi germany”, p. 234)

A Little Light Verse
by William Irwin Thompson

While cherubic Rove uses dirty tricks to smear two war heroes' threat to Bush's State of Fear, the media with Muslim terror and Christian dread report the ways the world is half-past dead. NBC had a special on the cracking West Coast, while ABC's Revelation showed we're toast. The Discovery Channel featured Nostradamus, Roswell , and the Mayan Endtime upon us. National Geographic showed Yellowstone sacking Americans in their own endzone with volcanic ash in unending winter night covering global crops in pumiced blight. The End of the World will be broadcast soon, but unlike the kook in The New Yorker cartoon, costumed in sandals, robe, and carrying a sign as he shouts down Darwin with Creationist design, these Media Moguls need not preach in church or stand on a Hyde Park soapbox perch; we now can get Murdoch's bad Good News, cabled in rapture on our couch-potato pews. The Need for a Tricameral Legislature Our eighteenth century constitution was conceived by rural aristocratic landowners and slave holders who feared popular democracy as the rule of the urban mob, but it was also midwived by urban Federalists who wished to bring forth a modern nation-state. The machinery of the state with its checks and balances was an eighteenth-century steam engine fueled by the people but held on course by a governor. A bicameral legislature was that century's vision of balance between passion and reflection--between a lower house of pushy and uncouth merchants and an upper house of men of property and culture.

The Cultural Phenomenology of Literature

biroco.com/yijing/links.htm comprehensive set of I-Ching related links (no Arguelles though); fascinating reportage like:

> The Watkins Objection – Matthew Watkins is a British mathematician who wrote an objection to Terence McKenna's theory of 'Time Wave', a convoluted theory of cyclical history based on a fractal generated from the King Wen sequence of hexagrams. McKenna had the idea on a psilocybin mushroom trip, see 'The Invisible Landscape: Mind, Hallucinogens, and the I Ching' by Terence and Dennis McKenna. Terence McKenna came to agree with the objection made by Watkins. Email addresses are given for both McKenna and Watkins, but this webpage was last updated in 1996 and McKenna is dead now and the last I heard of Watkins he was wandering around Ireland with a donkey and a mule, planting trees. [UPDATE: I had an email from Matthew Watkins in February 2006, pointing out that he is now at the mathematics department of Exeter University, where he has a website. He tells me he is happy to discuss 'Time Wave Zero' with anyone who wants to get in touch.]

.. type read at the mo by Art Kleps.
He likes Ethan Allen (for his 'individualism and irreverence'), some fratricidal militant from Vermont ... 'imputed righteousness' features bigger than most in the google books tag-cloud for a 286K screed called 'Reason: The Only Oracle Of Man' ... found 2 online versions via wiki ... here are the 3x the phrase is found:

> The reverend gentleman heard me through patiently, and with candor replied, "your metaphysical reasoning are not to the purpose; inasmuch as you are a Christian, and hope and expect to be saved by the imputed righteousness of Christ to you; for you may as well be imputedly sinful as imputedly righteous. Nay, said he, if you hold to the doctrine of satisfaction and atonement by Christ, by so doing you pre-suppose the doctrine of apostasy or original sin to be in fact true; for said he, if mankind were not in a ruined and condemned state by nature, there could have been no need of a redeemer, but each individual would have been accountable to his creator and judge, upon the basis of his own moral agency.
> Notwithstanding, said he, if you will give me a philosophical explanation of original imputed righteousness, which you profess to believe, and expect salvation by, then I will return you a philosophical explanation of the doctrine of original sin; for it is plain, said he, that your objections lie with equal weight against original imputed righteousness, as against original imputed sin." Upon which I had the candor to acknowledge to the worthy ecclesiastic, that upon the Christian plan, I perceived that the argument had fairly terminated against me.

Synchronicity and the Plot/Plot, Arthur Kleps (1966)
maps.org/psychedelicreview/v1n8/018123kle.pdf

11 issues here .. vol 1, no 8, the one that article is in

page 83 of the same issue is the first of an article on DMT by Leary and on the facing page is a drawing of what seems a garden path drawing before one realizes there is a face encompassing the whole thing, as if it carried an asymmetric tattoo ... speaking of which .... one of your links led me to view Pull out - a great documentary of a jewish NY lass visiting old flames.

Guns and alcohol dimmed Arthur Kleps' brilliance into a hindsight affair ... he did get to be 70 though.

He wrote a very right on comment in 'millbrook' about the type of art you find here:
myspace.com/amygdalah1 - thusly:

> Without some standardization of images, there could be no standardization of words, which are just the abstract labels given to certain impressions or classes of impressions. Those impressions which have the characteristics we categorize as belonging to a "living being" or "entity" and which play a persistent and/or decisive part in the story of one's life, myth, book, memory, drama, history, dream or whatever are "the archetypes."
> To the occultist, of course, they are "more" than that, in the sense by which occultists mean "more", that is to say, the paranoid sense of "having (quantifiable, > physical) power." Since the ludicrous illogic of "ethereal mechanics" is a topic I have dealt with elsewhere, I will try not to waste much time on it here, but proceed on the assumption that, since everything is psychological, everything is psychological. Elephants and whales are not the gods of my dreams, any more than giant Castanedian fleas or ambulatory roots. The gods of my dreams are my closest friends, enemies, rivals, lovers, since they mean the most to me... and, not being paranoid, I do not grant to coercive power relations the highest place in my scheme of meaning. My wife is the greatest of my archetypes (it we leave aside, for a moment, that fellow I see in the mirror).

All in all, comparing footage of 78 rainbow gatherings with contemporary ones, and comparing Kleps with synchromystic pods (link below), it seems to me we (apart from myself waaayyy out in 'downfield') are not progressing very much.

Kleps from his 1973 THE EXCOMMUNICATION OF TIMOTHY LEARY:

> Let's leave aside the possibility that all of this is an outright fraud, which would involve the invention of impressions and misrepresentation of experience. I will grant that Dr. Leary may have heard voice telling him what he says it told him, and this voice may have been accompanied by images of great clarity, brilliance, > detail and depth showing what might be called a comet streaking through the void, dancing double helixes, saints attending graduate school and what not. Maybe a variety of incidents in his everyday life have shown a synchronistic tendency to illustrate and elaborate the same images present in the vision and the ideas he had about them.
> It would be absurd to read the works of Leary for philosophical instruction. The utmost that may be expected from any system promulgated by him is that it may be splendid and affecting, that it may suggest sublime and pleasing images. His scheme of philosophy is a mere daydream, a poetical creation, like the Domdaniel cavern, the Swerga, or Padalon; and, indeed, it bears no inconsiderable resemblance to those gorgeous visions. Like them, it has something of invention, grandeur, and brilliancy. But, like them, it is grotesque > and extravagant.
> (Nabokov also described himself as an "indivisible monist," and even went a bit further, in a glint here and hint there, in his later years. See_Strong Opinions_.)
> ....
> Tim's basic method in those days, I later found out, was to attempt to structure other people's LSD experience in terms of the _ Tibetan Book of the Dead_, which is the prime text of the most supernaturalist, deviant and degenerated form of "Buddhism" on earth, namely, Tibetan Lamaism. ....snip.............

I will now quote his Hume quote in a small section he named 'IMPORTANT NOTICE' preceded by the comment that i realize/suspect it just has to have been meant and intended as a piece of intricate humor, in gest, a joke, well kneaded, like good bread.

> _Philosophers are so far from rejecting the opinion of a continued existence upon rejecting that of our sensible perceptions, that tho' all sects agree in the latter sentiment, the former, which is, in a manner, its necessary consequence, has been peculiar to a few extravagant skeptics; who after all maintained that opinion in words only, and were never able to bring themselves sincerely to believe it._ --David Hume, _A Treatise of Human Nature_

... this comes a the end of a section added in 1990 in which Robert Funk oddly enough places himself (or Kleps hisself by way of prehumous eulogy?) outside (downfield?) all his alongsiders and contemporaries as the epitome of Kleptonianism . .. it seems to have been spoken in Amsterdam.

this is how it is decribed in the preface:

Getting back to the Psychedelic Reviews, number 11 (last one, early 70s) has loads of art (17 Meg pdf for 95 pages) and features Ira Einhorn

grouchogandhi.com/2006/06/pkd-unicorn-and-soviet-psychotronics.html number 7 has a john blofeld article number 4 has james joyce on peyote (!??!??!?!?!)

'the sociology of the now' by Ira Einhorn occupies p52-58 - there is no table of contents but other than that and aside from the art and believer bloviation (Kleps coined 'Blobovians') it looks at least semi-professional and gives no indication that this was the last issue .. but it is the last one online at the page i found them:

Einhorn in his 69 postscript:

> We need an inner transformation that would generate the energy necessary to repair the destruction that our completely outered life has visited upon the entire eco-system -- only te opening up of new inner channels will enable the system-as-a-whole to drain off some of the energy that is now building up, explosively, at certain localized points. The old symbols are not able to contain the new energy -- the goose step once shook off the goose flesh, but the flag no longer brings a tear to the eyes. Authority is shifting to the within, and we must remember that 'God' is

before the last alinea he quotes Huxley:

> Thus we tend to produce more adrenalin than is good for us, and we either suppress ourselves and turn destructive energies inward or else we do not supress ourselves and we start hitting people.

He then (further?) prophesizes 'a plague', given his connection with 9-11 (day of his arrest) one might well concede his point. His last line: 'Purification is coming'.

"Congress and the Executive Branch," says Robert Weissman of Essential Information and the lead author of the report, "responded to the legal bribes from the financial sector, rolling back common-sense standards, barring honest regulators from issuing rules to address emerging problems and trashing enforcement efforts. The progressive erosion of regulatory restraining walls led to a flood of bad loans, and a tsunami of bad bets based on those bad loans. Now, there is wreckage across the financial landscape."

Frenetic, heretic, genetic Babylon

Most of mankind helps desertification along terrifically, better than termites do. I have long believed that could be remedied. But the good guys remain exception due to lack of promotion. Taking hints from crippled and hampered visionaries is further complicated and obstructed by the fact these guys and dolls are so easy to smear and scapegoat. Most of them are heir to heisters like the present day Goldman Sachsy folk, but despite being badly tainted heritage wise, great heights can be attained. Think of the micro-credit promotion by the heir of a murderous regime adopted as the queen a continent away. Same old royalty tricks to keep the money in the family? Maybe. Derailery imminent like the whole credit card gambit caused by stagnant wages. Prolly. Still, there are hi-lite worthies i hope to do a few youtube talks about (since nobody else seems to all that much) though i am entirely passive about realizing that, other than throwing out expressions of willingness such as this one, As it stands, emulation changes of unknowns nil.

Now, onto destruction of climate, one region at a time, cumulative and falling over itself by now.

Before yet again believing everything our war on terror disher-uppers pour and hand out at their next level jumpin bigger bash, before keeping on drawing the same old familiar conclusions from jewry ido- and adulate christendom, before voting for christians another time, before once more repeating passive consumership for the multiculture pushers, i beg, beseech and implore you, please, also read Andrew Lehman and Kevin Macdonald along with Hitlerite material, as well as folks like Kafka. Next, try grasp what Ulrich von Beckerath saw was the history of economics at its now forgotten zenith, then apply common sense of stepped, staggered, staged, telescoping and harmonious hinging of puzzle peaces longer to just flat number and thought land but flesh them out via such new fangled must have plastic toys like the hoberman sphere before attempting to spy the genetic /evolutionary /group strategy corrolaries i am taking aim at here. well ....., waidaminnit, the slow increment of metal (or commodity baskets with real seed, handtools and musical rockgrinders in mine) is a healthy brake on all this take the money and run away computation power and prowess.

> "This is because, as each industrialist automates his production process, he gains market share temporarily by cheapening his unit output cost, but when they are all fully automated, there is no profit left to share around."

Mmmm, the role of automation in real estate value could stand a little scrutiny, ... getting too big to fail is approaching a point of tide change/*(no re)*turn, the stage in the old sloshpump boil, bank and bail battle between bond and share where formerly rising stars plummet and lose prestige yet/but get honoured (as well as honorated) saved by the bell of long term dependability; iow, even if little gambles on rising location location occasion occ up as zion value did not pan out (as anything but what the dutch call 'bezigheidstherapy', keepmbusy ... at great material cost and keeping collective trauma safely ensconced in unquestioned 'comfort zones')* the bets that the perimeter remains inviolable and bonds are honoured we just shift the taxburden to everybody. this contradicts the many are called few chosen, much tried little succeeds doctrine and approaches the omniangle cover all centrality tries for.

After big bail outs all get to work off crimes a mere few commited instead of all profiting from those disCERN n earn-a-lotters whose sole ambition, pride and joy, hence highest reward is not those faux bets with nothing but a growing swirl of plastic debris# to show for them, but instead, as they should be, ARE in line with sphere of influence - satisfactory approval easily readable on every square unit you care to measure within it by simply observing animals. Whether global warming is natural or not is irrelevant because humans are part of nature. That's the deeper issue -- humanity coming to terms with accepting that Nature is in control. The global warming models rely on quantum chaos -- it's discrete math whereby the computers provide the "logic." Obviously computers don't care if humans survive or not -- in fact the math has been that way since it was created -- what I call the "surplus value of consciousness."

We want more and better technology and therefore the ecological crisis will get worse and then we'll need more technology to "save the planet." This is a Western process (since 10,000 BCE) -- so those on the periphery of the empire have known this for centuries. Now we are experiencing what I call "Imperial Implosion."

we hear the narrator speak of theories* about alledged plans (of the hegemonic pop control variety) behind those trying to convince us we have a climate emergency on our hands.

* - trans- or 'intergenocidal' ..4 google results..

As Steve (the maker of that youtube linked at the start, his user nick is soundlessdawn) says that 'the keys are in our hands' he shows some young person blowing away a 2 legged fishlike creature .. so ... he is in need of the ideas i try in vain to distribute ..so far i have some footage of a jaw crusher but instead of me showing within 5 miles of a rainbow gathering in an 18 wheeler loaded with fruit seed soil dust and fabric, sieves, pumps and hose .. as i had expected to be able to by now back in the eighties, i see a bunch of youtubes with paranoid FS officials using their tasers and peppersprayguns in 'kid village'. Mmmmm, maybe that is why i have started to study the schitsoiddity of Charles Manson that bad boy antichrist.

After a longer comment on Steve and his buddy Jake Kotze that i wrote yesterday but cannot access now i concluded these guys are so busy showing how everything is connected (by evil intent trying to prepare for the inevitable, losing the kind of control they foster and cherish) that they forget to leave hollywood fantasyland and look at some real scenes (the attempt to tie in extremely large scale and far off phenoms, like the midgalactic barrage of particle accelerator like photon belt doesn't help any in that regard).

The solution is similar to the parallel ones in economics. One can not and certainly not in a swell foop or revo type toss .. get rid of systemic problems but one can argue against it all using humility and common sense, fighting back we win one meme, one mind, one channel, one certain program fanset, one province, one hearer- and/or viewership at a time. These patterns have their own gears and resonances. Pacifists must believe in volition and voluntarizing cause it is the best tool in their box.

So, qua climate, take care of your microclimate, a scale on which climatechange is palpable quite rapidly ..

though not as rapidly as that Paul Laffoley asserts in the rustbelt films flick* and take every chance you get to widen it without neglecting it plant such a more and mode far and wide.

This is where my wound gulf rift split sits. Right in my homeless Wanderschaft (wandershipshopshaper, bragger, phantasmic music(x) searcher and recognizer chasin that musical rockgrinder ...down .... the road .... again ... still).

In economics i have tried to do my bits raising awareness levels of cooperative, communicative versions of capitalism through self help schemes that can start as modestly as gardening by collecting info on complementary or community currencies.

Not that, again, i have even joined any of them very closely.

So how does that German M Werner (breatharian in the dailymail, link at Drew's - or dru's as his gnn.tv account has it) manage to do all that circulation ... unconsciously? Is he a natural?

Is that like not needing to circulate airbubbles (big ones up and tiny ones down as wessel di wesseli does or wants to do rather) with cumbersome constructions that break down and wear out but still get energy to run computers and stuff??

> Men in chains 3
> Livy’s history was the hunt and peck book for generations of philosophes. Machiavelli wrote his discourses about it; Montesquieu studied it for L’esprit de lois; and, I’d contend, Rousseau opens his Du Contrat Social, an essay that begins with an epigraph from the Aeneid, with a reference to it: “L'homme est né libre, et partout il est dans les fers.” As LI has been pointing out (with my usual autistic artistry, winding theme around theme) in my Man in Chains posts, the chain looms large in the history of freedom – and it seems that the ideologues of freedom have been a little too hasty in consigning the chain to the figurative, all the better to speak of freedom as a matter of will, or of rights. But the figurative does seem to operate a return of the repressed, a memory of irons, of yokes, of chains, which runs through Rousseau’s essay and contacts the plebian notion of freedom, as expressed in such fons et origo texts as Livy’s history. .... snip...........

Until, of course, we are useless: “…for I saw the red track extending shoreward; but by and by, it stopped, widened, faded, and I saw it no more”'.
> Avoiding this sort of suffering, of course, is part of the reason why civilised societies had provisions in their slave laws preventing slaves being freed against their will, so that those who became useless wouldn't be turned out to perish (the other part being, to minimise slave unrest at the prospect).

> Since in all Southern states in the U.S., blacks could not testify in court, leaves sort of a big gap in the law, don't you think? Making one suspect that such laws were for show - just as the 1685 code noir in Saint-Domingue contained a host of provisions forbidding most of the practices that were routine on Haitian sugar plantation until overturned by the successful expulsion of the whites.
> It is amazing what a hollow shell laws become in a l'univers concentrationaire.
> P.M.Lawrence said... No, the laws were not for show;

they had the practical purpose and real achievement of reducing slave unrest. There was a slave revolt in the British West Indies because of the threat of emancipation, until the transitional tutelage arrangements were made clear. Granted, just such destitution was thrust upon the coolies that had replaced those slaves, when the indenture system was reformed out from under them without the final gratuity or passage home they would have received at the normal end of their indentures (as recorded by V.S.Naipaul), but as Winston Churchill remarked, it would have been a terminological inexactitude to call them slaves - so, there was no reason for them to get slavery's benefits.

Even Islam had such laws; Burton explains them in a footnote clarifying something... odd... in the Tale of the Third (? uncertain) Eunuch, when that unfortunate explained how he came into his estate while a slave boy. After greatly harming and offending his master, the master decided he was more trouble than he was worth and proposed turning him loose. The slave reminded his master that he couldn't do it without consent (here fell the footnote), so the master simply bludgeoned him unconscious and sent for a barber who, doubling as a surgeon, castrated the unconscious boy.

Now, I know we cannot take a story as an authority in itself, but this was supporting background material to add verisimilitude; we can take it that Islam would not be surprised at beating a slave unconscious and castrating him, or that this should seem more lawful and practical than freeing him against his will, the simpler, cheaper and otherwise preferable alternative.

roger said... Yes, the laws were for show. Evidence from the British caribbean in the shadow of looming emancipation notwithstanding, the Southern slave codes were a farce, the code noir was systematically flouted in the greatest slave factory in the Western Hemisphere, Saint-Domingue, and Arab slavery is a vast subject about which there are varying codes and customs. Orlando Patterson presents the authoritative account of manumission in Slavery and Social Death - but the logic of your position, I have to say, is a little absurd. Of course, the slave who was freed would have a hard time compared to the peasant because in most of the world up until very recently, one depended on one's family as one got older. And guess what? The slave's family was either - in slavery in the neighborhood, in slavery far distant from the slave, or in Africa. So the argument is, of course, pretty absurd to begin with.

Not all slave systems were meat factories like the Saint-Domingue plantation system, but all slave systems depended much less on unenforceable law and much more on economic rationality and conventions that would shame the slave owner. And even those were weak - Robert E. Lee's family, for instance, were known as---- "good" ----masters, but they didn't hesitate to sell their slaves when they needed money to slavetraders who sold them West...........snip ....

I discovered 14 files made in 2005 are missing wow, just wrote this as the 155th draft .. . .

what synchrony with Saddam being seal 155 and missing also .. . .irretriebably? Not if you go by Jose Arguelles, entirely in sync with what the boulevard press folks choose to focus on (visit http://www.lawoftime.org to see for yourself).

HELP ME RETRIEVE MISSING FILES (19 of them made in 2005 and posted to the 'domain' http://members.lycos.nl/vadercats now defunct except for the front page restarted a third time after discovering the missing files and trying to reason with Lycos ... about as impossible as reviving Saddam i guess).

Just commented this at Hyperstition:
"… to steal sd's term, is the hunger for an unambiguous casus belli, consolidating itself as a virtual mega-atrocity against 'oneself'."

Riiite, well, my host, the owner of the terminal i worked from a lot in 2005 threw out all my maps from that year, the ones left afte i caved in to her nagging about space and i went to make backups on usb of sight and sound so i could schlepp 'm to the Resuckle Bin. You are saying i did that and i am in denial instead of her? Possible i suppose... ..

Took me all this time before i went and looked at saves stuff to take stock of my efforts.

ps: anybody save the files i made that year someplace retrievable? Even google doesn't seem to remember what logbriefer meant to the crowd that spammed me into a rank 4 position. Good for all involved no doubt, yet i feel a nagging loss.

The disk on which said atrocity took place has been defragmented a lot since, does that means the free data recovery from places such as http://hiren.info are gonna be no good?

'Grounding parade'

(see last link if you don't have much time)
i'm gonna borrow that for a title post; it's from this comment:

> piet - Chinese do a lot of that kinky vegeto-engineering, woven trees etc. We've even got one in the apartment (common type of slowly knitted house-plant). So it's not just teutonic phytological parade-grounding, although I can see why it looks like that ...

My answer there 3 days later:
too-late.ch/gallery2/main.php?g2_itemId=10288 turn.ch/danceoutwef/?page_id=7

Here's a large series of parade pictures from Bern Switserland; about a hundred lefties with slogans such as 'rich hearts instead of fat profit' and the like leftoid 'catextoskism', .. .as if money shouldn't or can't or won't again be what enriches the heart as the means that makes matter and spirit meet and bond in the middle as heart and soul.

I wrote words to that effect in response to folks ganging up to oust www.weidenhof.de (from the rainbow list in german) for asking a fee upfront in case one would like to make use of the meticulously clean and dustfree accomodation. A hysterical reaction since there is a vast amount of room to do the rainbow family thing next to and all around it.

Same, however, applies to my objections regarding their plans to have firewalks across or next to the 'sacred' fire planned there this month.

Turns out John Ray's vocal opposition still has people that say the same things JR used to except now there are many and pretty popular descendants from his barbaric point holding techniques (I include Reiki, Quantum Touch and lots of those feminine typ therapies).

Now if you were to go down life's walks and styles depicted on the right hand side in the scheme depicted in the post previous to this one (at indexterity) you'd see what i doubt the chinese drone swarmclone will ever be capable of (without some/your? help; so why don't you smuggle these pictures and everything they stand for into the Chinese daily nick):

For pleached permaculture (and especially for it's potential, once enough of us get to keep at it unmolested) you're gonna have to use your imagination but a larger version of the picture is a click away.

The course of conduct (walk of lif) polarization depicted .. . led up to Marx's pronouncement: 'we are all jewish now' and it's quietly adopted successor: 'we are all capitalists now', (specially after all testy flesh was spent in the world wars). The follow-ups of recent years (as the walls, gaps, gulfs and chasms grew, cleaved and yawned wider respectively) have become (correspondingly) more pronounced (in rapid succesion: 'we are all palestinians now' , 'we are all terrorists now') and prompt me to now offer a grand unified theory of psycho schlock value (that will be shamelessly exploited without a thankyou no doubt, mind you, google doesn't register even a single instance of): 'we are all schizophrenic now' ('- did not match any documents.').

kotsko replaces yesterday's conversation with half a year old one

Well, ain't we happy to have preserved a few comments (posted earlier today/below).

Here's an earlier edition of the etre (eternal return . .. lbo discussion 'sein' as Heidegger saw it, a toothless stein I bet):

adamkotsko.com/weblog/..

as I'm sure patrick mullins will agree, it is scarcely evident that the Troll of Sorrow's openly racist, gay hating, woman hating, humanity hating remarks are actually anywhere near as irritating and annoying as the politely, genteelly, properly and delicately worded racism, homophobia, misogyny and antihumanity discourse that accounts for 90% of what is considered the model in blog decorum. Welcoming the naked wolf to the room full of his brothers in sheep's clothing would not seem to do much damage to the tone of the environment;, and may very well be constructive, ashis company often lures his fellows out from under their wool caps.A strong reaction to this discourse might indicate some anxiety about its appeal.One needs to look closer. You wonder if you should not guard Jewish friends from antisemitism. But of course the sound of antisemitism can be more painful to gentiles who are not antisemites, or who fear they may be, than to Jews. I find some racisms - those presently more dangerous to all of us, to humanity than antisemitism - more painful to hear than antisemitism, because they are the growls of bigger beasts right now, and if you think anti-arab racism is not going to bite you, because you are not an arab, you're quite wrong. It as already bitten; it is going to tear you up.There is something unexamined and knee jerk about this: an idea that the 'line' is clear. If it is a question of explicitness, then yes, there probably is a border everyone can agree on roughly. But surely is can't be a question of explcitiness, of vulgarity. The non explicit, the hidden, the assured, the unconscious, the racist reflexes of 'common sense,' the self-congratulatory 'tolerance' of those who believe themselves free of racism, etc etc., is the more dangerous discourse right now. In these environs, anyhow.My first day at the office in Prague on a consultancy, there was a swastika graffitied on the door. We were an imperialist mission, conquering the media. Were they calling us Nazis? Or Jews? I'd have been interested in finding out. alphonsevanworden

I love this thread idea. I had the same happen to me at the defunct graverdammer, a right wing typically non green and therefore shallow muslim watcher site.

Then he discovered that pushing my siglink pulled up mine framed by his site, that caused a recoil in horror and expulsion. What I am telling you is, one, that I have every right to say whatever the F I want really, as long as it is not especially harassing. Thus, I shall continue to use the Net to humiliate, mock, satirize the irrational stooge known as Scott Kauffemme and others including you (kaufmouse has in fact expended far more energy than ah have at this silly game--ah suggest anyone around here to read his most recent blog-yips, which are at least violations of academic honesty, especially for a writing teacher), and that is my right, although Squat, dimwit and mental incompetent that he is, has yet to understand that: in fact ah'm putting together a lil Squat Scottmann comment generator myself (and animated show: Scottie the LIT POODLE!).

I used to get quite mad during 99-02 for being erased and started homepages bycause of it, then the fun was to slightly obscure the comments spliced into the quotes at accupunctual rates. These kids are getting you too mad and that's a big help leaving you too little time to take a wallop generous enough to begin understanding the likes of me it seems.

Nazis and stalinists start wresting for the control of communications? Yes, but too bad they have to be so rude and crude don't you think? You're a music man right? ever heard Goebbels' band do the american style music from the 20s making fun of the english? censorious pick off snipery vs contained experiments
In this day and age of nasty uniformity we must be brief on the latter due to a shortage of examples. I suggest you try read some Beckerath (not that he got anybody going) as I do not tire of telling you .. .whenever I emerge from tired of telling you anythingness that is.

Apotheosis (yet another instance) of the classic 'preaching to the choir desire' -- this time starring Louis Proyect, Dennis Perrin, the 'leninology-spotted blog' and marccooper as the ratty prosecutors and stone casters with those (sorta clumsily) asking to crumble them after humblin' themselves enough to wonder if there could possibly be a reason for such last wishes beyond self preservation (montages) and 'mpug' (libero) -- coming right up (after that what led up to this):

At one point things seemed to settle down honkidorily (that is, mikey posts a link, Doug reads it and comments): radicalsociety.com/article_32_01_01.html things appear ok again but then that damn lenin has to repeat the words with which Perrin slandered poor puggie and a liddul ladur (next post in fact, proving my warning to have been of no avail) this:

> Big overreaction, and Doug succumbed too easily, IMO, to the necktie party which had formed. I disagree with MP on many things and I still haven't decided whether he is deliberately or just innocently provocative, but I could say the same about a lot of people I've clashed with politically over the years. So what? We should be wary of circumscribing the boundries of "permissable" political opinion so tightly; we're not in a life and death struggle against a counter-revolution, and even if we were, history suggests revolutions can too easily strangle themselves through the overzealous pursuit of heretics. Michaels's "crime" was to align himself with some oleogenous critics of Yoshie and Juan Cole and it was proper for to call him to order on oops, once again, he stormed off himself and Doug left this fact, once again, veiled enough to stir the a jumpy conclusionist .. . .mmm, I can think of pleasanter scenarios for the eternal return. Klossowski on Nietzsche anybody?

OK. Now for what went before:

here I am, all prepared to go search a bleak thin and emaciated ref to a kindred spirit but lo and behold, his name in fat font right atop and no slimmer this: 'FRANCIS E. DEC, ESQUIRE: YOUR ONLY HOPE FOR A FUTURE!'

so far so good. next i remember this site has featured Oscar Kiss Maerth (first author I made an effort to trace - in the flesh back in those days).

dunno about 'damaging anyone' (you meant 'can damage someone' or 'is damaging to some' or if you want to get closer to paraphrasing me make that shorter 'can (cause) damage' or 'can be damaging').

Yes, sex obsessions are the short cycle breathers you take (and impossible escapes you [[may thus attempt to]]make) from the heavy hitting long lasting demografucking effects. The art of 'who and how' to make love to and an interest (who to feed and how to feed it respectively) vs the usurious fire started to make testy levels in your chart and disp come out shining and up smoking and go for gold, bar nothing, ban none.

…. eellabiarate? I'll orbit you sweatwet and skintight in search of that painful caressage resistent (but endlessly petpliant) babyfat and trust you don't have any to make an arrest but since you won't let on, guess I'll never know. You got it.

OK, take Ayaan Hirsi Ali, who was recently in the news accusing the Belgian migrant descendant critical party known as the Flemish Block of an ideology in line with Nazism. Yet, judging by what folks like Eric Wijnants write about jihadis (the equivalent of zionists if you ask me and apply the qualifications you can see me attempt to decribe further down) there are reasons for concern. The crowd behind her include LGF et al who make a living off of obscuring the transpositioning involved, they no doubt applaud all the derivative liminal subtxts, like for example: why can't jews do it to palis if euros are doing it to their sympathizers/cousins, etcetera.

This lady has gone over to the dark side, wrapped her tongue around the circumcised lingam of Time Magazine perks like glits and glams at the gala last fall; see her eyes sparkle (CNN and numerous Dutch programming) as she hits the chosen few with soothing and suitingly, slightly less tasteless drivel, proposing a toast to Theo van Gogh's in fact sacrificed freedom of speech. Sad enough she doesn't have a vigilant following that manages to break beyond single issue hindsight and bandaidism.

She has been considered a polarizatress by the folks from cultures you mentioned (women there so much ABOUT patriarchy as having P stuck IN/UP them like an impaling stake by the way - see your next item here) all along (specially since her work with Theo) and in the light of her recent remarks I think they are probably right but it takes opposition and enmity of the irreconcilably schizoid kind to prevent love to find it's way (I argued she and Ward Churchill played into the hands of the right myself) and this is true for semitischismics more than any other judging by the way middle eastern holy books and cultural strife affects us all disproportionately.

Last night I had clear visions of Biblical cheats: how the arabs and jews ended up applying different sibling rivalry tactics to achieve dominance, claim more than fair shares, circumvent fair fights, etc. Even during diaspora days Abraham's kids carried the other around with them. The jew who brought trade, culture and wealth had a dark brother who came and took/taxed the best into armies going ever farther. ..becoming ever more fucked up.

Arabs seem to have chosen for small scale but equally opportunistic, less plotsome, more spontaneous ways when it comes to violence. What I argue folks should not lose lest they run the risk of getting away from healthily earthing practice/therapie, namely homegrowing, compost building, etcetera seems to be taken seriously by Arabs but applied to aggression rather than a sense of provision. Compared to the west we see way less division of labour, more raw hands on in your face but way smaller bursts. No specialization, canalization and chain of deliberation and delegation that puts (ENOURMOUS) distance between the o so upright (western) citizenry and the armies.

But it was very cold, I have a flu, no paper and pen handy, the lamp too bright, ...lost a good bit of those thoughts as I knew I would but hey melatonin needs to be shut off all night or breast cancer risk rises as I read yesterday.

Do remember my thoughts revolved around zero sum a lot, We all get the same sort of supplies but keep them in containers that sit at and respond to totally different cues within a cascading hierarchy, that we can definitely fuck with; who wouldn't choose a dutch boy at work in a permacultivated garden over an arab at work in disco with brandclothing, fast car??????????

Compare love and death manifestations in white (more professionalized patrist) vs deeper shade complexioned cultures for instance. Differences in ritualization complexity and intensity are enormous yet one cannot escape the feeling all start the game with similar sets but combine differently.

Triggers for sex and violence differ due to the cultural evolution time frame size and shutter speed differences that are as permanently irreconcilable and nonadaptive as time refuses to be budged by space.

Unfortunately this diamond aborting fossil fuel fevered era we experience the praise of transport at all cost and taking a clock around the world real fast makes it lose touch and synchrony with peers even when it gets 'around'§ to them again safely (or is retracing your steps and speeds a remedy indeed?).

§ getting around to doing something must be one of the most karmaladen & pregnant expressions .... eh . .. around.

As I said, complete in-, per-, ob- and reversions for each and every one across the whole range of primate emotions can be observed from any one culture with respect to the next and back again.

Example. Rather than putting the split, fissure, rift in space, rather than placing the gulf on the death*(ly battle)* front (lateralizing proper and radial action as I claim in my many 'waking death to life' rants) like the west does 'continentspanningly', Arabs put/place the uninterrogatable, nonquestionable, taboo, sacred, reflexive switch and reactionary difference making into the love scene (seen).

The despotic and dictatorial difference between whore and bride material is topsecret and can't be talked about, no more than good old Muhammed may be humanized, depicted, acquire a conscience, etcetera.

In light of the above I hope poor Hirsi Ali will see that semitisms come round to the same thing, wether you turn yourself into shadow prosecturer for the left or right 'legs' (shems and shauns) of the left or the right leaning halves of the twins.

Step back from it all and Permacultivate, pleach and empow*(d)*er. Love is an endlessly elaboratable ritual.

> So, where you (Piet) get the idea that this isn't about class is beyond me.

-------------- Beyond me too TB, I have, since posting a chapter called multiplicities in the late 90s presented and maintained (thanks to tripod) a view that fuses class with race, gender and geograhicalactic coordinates.

http://blog.pulpculture.org/2006/02/04/attack-of-the-trailer-brides/perfectly logical and understandable and accurate but a subtext that might make it appear so and 'light in' as the germans say is: testy turfing is the who's on top contesty ground rule. This goes on/off wether we stackashack the furniture, frills, fences and foppery in favour of males, females and/or mixes thereof, either extreme leads to explosive and unsustainability, males slide straight into patrism, matrists take the detour first to take in the scenery (during which there is a slight chance sustainability and smart containment wins out) but unless it goes along with a benevolent global vigilance (the stuff aimairrocka makes a mess of) chances ae they too end up ravaging the countyside ..

An item called Porn industry performers might have lots of stuff about Theodor Lessing too.

> The Happy Tutor Says: Interesting post. I am trying to locate the underlying source of the passion. One thing that strikes me is style, rather than content. You have created a pop cultural identity out of high cultural themes and all kinds of trash, including porn. What Bageant is suggesting is that this kind of postmodern mismash is a symtpom not just of cultural decline, but of the loss of self. We have become lesser sorts of people, having imbibed so much pop culture and so much managed news. He is what you are not, I think, political. He is suggesting that the personal is political in that we as persons have been degraded by the life of our polis. Bitch Lab has to be in violent revolt against that view. You are, he might say, "Happy as a pig in shit," but it is shit and anyone who eats it is a pig.
> I am framing the issues, not taking a position. I thought your comments here and on WB force a harder look at Bageant. I hope we can keep the discussion going on this, it really does seem like a significant divide between two sorts of sensibility, not exactly rural and urban, or country and cosmopolitan, or nostalgic and postmodern, or metro and retro, nor even generational. Maybe roots and rhizomes. But the essence I think is political versus spectacular.

What gets me is the idea that a westerner is a westerner is a westerner, and that one can never be other than what one is, whatever that is. So then the westerner can never change to be an easterner or a primitive without some sense of bad faith; inauthentic behaviour.
> But I'm just not sure how true that is.

JJ Says: I think that there may be a fair number of people turning their back on some aspects of modern life in America without embracing Voluntary Simplicity, that see what passes in front of must of our eyes as an unyielding but mostly artificial pageant, and yet are not into punishing themselves for having lived and work as most of us do.

> 10. bitchlab Says: @ Tutor: If you make assumptions about some kind of lack of self, then we really can't have a productive conversation. What I've gathered from your crits so far is that you don't really know enough about what I'm doing or who I am to make the judgements you do. ... snip .....What I read in Bageant's piece and some of the post on his site was escapism, a desire for flight — a freedom from — that is deeply embedded in US culture. As Bellah et al write:
>> "he thinks of freedom very much as a freedom from — from people who have economic power over you, from people who try to limit what you can do or say. This ideal of freedom has historically given Americans a respect for individuals: it has, no doubt, stimulated their initiative and creativity; it has sometimes even made them tolerant of differences in a diverse society and resistant to overt forms of political oppression. But it is an ideal of freedom that leaves Americans with a stubborn fear of acknowledging structures of power and interdependence in a technologically complex society dominated by giant cporations and an increasingly powerful state. The idea of freedom makes Americans nostaligic for their past, but provides few resources for talking about their collective future."
> But, work calls. And really, if you want to look at the photos in the header as porn, be my guest but I guess this confirms that the author is, indeed, dead eh?

> 11. JJ Says: This helped me a lot to understand better … but does little to lift my spirits regarding possible collective and individual futures in a "society dominated by giant corporations and an increasingly poewrful state". A little escapism sometimes goes a long way .. and yet it's always good to keep in mind the mindless little saying "wherever you go, there you are".

12. p Says: by the way, search the word segregation within that file and read around it (about extremes of feminism .. .), ...then compare to a docu (by metacafe posted on a dutch blog today in combination with news of under age AND age segregated prostitution in Holland today) of lesbian action with losers/looking on (100 camego appearances! who don't seem to get the implicit segregation, then settle in their fate and start sucking on each other too .. .but perhaps they'd rather hold out for a chance to be the lucky favored one .. wish there were stats on these arrangements).

> 13. chutney Says: I thought Voluntary Simplicity required credit card accounts at Pottery Barn and Restoration Hardware. I loathe it too, but I see none of it in Bageant.

> 14. bitchlab Says: chutney — that was an old post written a year ago, tacked on to the part addressing beignat at the end. his notion of freedom was the problem. and his connection to VS _evangelizers_ was they share this notion of freedom as freedom from. they also share, to me, this interesting tendency to evangelize and to do so precisely because they live in a culture that lacks the moral language to articulate why one set of values is preferable to another.
> he also romanticizes things like living off the land and/or living as a fisherman. Please! Spare me. Have a little glass of rum, Levi Strauss.
> as for VS in general, I don't know who started it and who here is even an advocate but the unreflective use of the phrases is obnoxious. "voluntary"? pull the other one and breath deeply.

i am expert of jews who have a problem with a nothing, bee part of everything sea themselves dee part of themselves and permutations of a bee sea and dee speaking of proffies, this Michael Jones, editor of culturewars was a tenured one but got fired anyways… in the 80s for being 'absolutist', he does make it sound all very simple and clearcut don't he?

still from the same page:

> 'While few Jews are radical, many radicals (and pornographers) are Jews. Writes non-Jew Ernest van den Haag in his book The Jewish Mystique, 'Out of one hundred Jews, five may be radicals, but out of ten radicals, five are likely to be Jewish.''

> Like Sam Dresner, Luke Ford feels that
> > Virtually all movements to change the world come from the Jews - Christianity, secular humanism, Marxism, Socialism and Communism, feminism, and the labor movement. That's part of the reason that Jews are hated. The world doesn't want to be changed.
> "What Miss Hartley leaves out of her description is the cultural dimension."

And what the author leaves out is the permacultural dimension … .. what a great opportunity eh? Image the porn you could shoot in a watershed that has been thinned, pruned, grafted and pleached for a century (or so) and where housetrees have been treehoused.

it gets pretty starkly chesslike near the end:

> "Liberated from the Law, the Revolutionary Jew now had no scruples about things like mass murder or using pornography as an instrument of pan-cultural moral subversion. Everything was permitted as long as it brought about the universal community in which nationhood and ethnicity wither away to be replaced by universal brotherhood and some form of heaven on earth."

This is criminal and actionable distraction from permaculture in my book.

where I posted culturewars.com/2003/rabbidresner.html An interesting article on the american porn industry by the ubiquitous Mike Jones
It contains a discussion of this extraordinary story:

> "The Israelis have recently shown themselves well-versed in what one could call the military use of pornography. At 4:30 PM on March 30, 2002, Israeli military forces took over Palestinian TV stations when they occupied Ramallah in the West Bank, immediately shutting them down.
> Rowan Berkeley | 02.08.06 - 12:28 pm | #

Here's one that leaves the ethnic side of the story completely out of the picture but results are disturbing enough:

> Mark B. Kastleman is the author of the revolutionary new book titled The Drug of the New Millennium-the Science of How Internet Pornography Radically Alters > the Human Brain and Body-A Guide for Parents, Spouses, Clergy and Counselors. > The Rape Myth

> Dr. Victor Cline, in his work Pornography's Effects on Adults and Children, sites the following from Drs. Neil Malamuth and Edward Donnerstein as noted in their research-based book, Pornography and Sexual Aggression:
>> "Certain forms of pornography can affect aggressive attitudes toward women and can desensitize an individual's perception of rape. These attitudes and perceptions are, furthermore, directly related to actual aggressive behavior against women."

Yestermorn you see, a xymph post triggered yet another hunt for more like that nice big pic of the old placative posters illustrating the wide and narrow road of Matt 7:13-14, used by the german lady who painted it to keep her schoolchildren away from the too busy buzz, big and busty city bustle and hustle by downfalltoownyloowns. Well, still couldn't google up that lady's name and earlier links to the poster itself had died. I have told myself repeatedly that I will get/set to integrating my main colour and root reference schema with a multiple band (5?) version of the dualism implied on these night/day heaven/hell type of diagrams. The one I did find yesterday had a church sitting right next to the divide (on the posh side) and a person exiting at one would think the right side seems to be on his way down into the abyss along with the broken bridge that failed to hold him.

Anyways, after that I posted xymph's fruitcake phrase to a Bitch|Lab item calling for papers by/about coloured christianity (left here on your [[last week's]] philosophical item) and got to sorta fall out with her, scolding her insistence on citation accuracy which I think symptomizes a lack of vision and imagination (this lass notoriously deprives herself of dreamtime leisure, even of sleep beyond fitness needs). Suppose she can't see what the church has done to mine under a reverence for trees.

Ps: also ended up at Greg Goebel's vectorsite*(.net)* with entertaining talk about money. Turns out Jack Weatherford wrote a history of money. Hope a copy comes my way. > Two views: consciousness-raising and ‘the personal is political’ -- From 'Issues in Feminism: An Introduction to Women’s Studies' by Sheila Ruth. --- Consciousness-raising can be painful. Yet pain is not in itself something to avoid at all times, for there are two kinds of pain: destructive and constructive.

http://blog.pulpculture.org/2006/09/13/radical-feminist-pleasure/

> Patriarchy, which in all its forms requires some kind of self-sacrifice, denial, or repression in the name of some higher good which is rarely (if ever) achieved on earth, stresses nobility, superiority, and victory, the satisfaction of a final triumph. Feminism requires the entire self in the name of present well-being, and stresses integrity, community, and the jouissance of present experience.

kvelling => kwelling (D) = torturing (mild form but not reaching that positively charged [[cause {{{a la 'body electronics'}}} dissolving]] engagement with pain [[as you quoted French intimating such, yesterday]]; the connotations are, instead, with chronic and lasting agony)

shame and shade = schaamte en schaduw symbolized with leaves over privates and 'geloof' (=faiths [[patriarchies]] of great variety) and leaves over commons, wilds, reserves which parabolically (paradoxically and diabolically) harbour and hide veiled temptations, hidden allusions, dangers, potentials, realms and founts of testing rugged riskrich bravery, teamwork and taming wild wonders (not to mention all the boring and slowly strangulating [[to the point of pestilence and hypocritical hysteria]] commodification).

Perhaps a good moment (now that i caught your attention .. with my face so deep in your ranteaze .. that i feel more lost than found in the cricks, creases, crannys, crooks and corridors of your mind, .. .blush n ripple!) to embroider some toots and balls onto your own winged word: "You could remove all talk about Teh Sex in MacKinnon and the extreme structuralism would still be a conservatizing force."

My twist to the last part: ... extreme (STRUCTURALISM=) boiling down to rocksolidrigidity .. .which (pilfers and impersonates, then pretends and presumes to still and steel but stales and stalls not just the conservatives).

g'day to all you dams, dykes, dicks and ducts from diversionary (5 into 70K someplace up north, so the morning news has it; creating the delusional impression we actually have giant wildernesses or permaculture path pickmarked expanses up there)* and diverting dutchland; here is an amusing 'beam beam, .. no, .. row row your dilly dally dote, gently up your seam, marry me, marry me, marry me, i am just like what i seem' anim picture: .. . errrrm, i'll have to get back to you on that .. http://hopsakee.blogspot.com is full of piccies and the one with the girl holding a giant bellow below a dildo by the handle can't be found as quick as i want to get this as it is thus far to you . .

> '' . .. . .there’s a great quote I can’t locate from somewhere in Marx’s correspondence, that has the dual advantage of being another bit of evidence for his distaste for utopian tale spinning, AND a fairly gendered comment: In answering someone’s request that he describe what a socialist society would be like, he says “The recipes of the future can only be cooked in the kitchens of the future.” I want that citation, too. I don’t remember where it is, anymore. "

My conclusion from ploughing through Utopia related lit so far: the attempt to work with what you got (inventorize with an eye to diversify as voluntarily and i'd add, as 'voluntarizing' as possilbe)

Marx had no use for that cause he stakes a claim on the future (all rosy cause a market cornered). He assumed unassailable bliss monopoly just like the bio-tec industry does today: hypothesize a grand, once and for all type A product, project great benefits (and to hell with data); such pies in the skies results nevertheless justify huge investment in lab work cause the grandiose product will pay off wonderfully.

This mechanism ties into you objecting to multiplicity and pluralism ("We, as individuals cannot be "the ground of multiplicity" by ourselves.") citing Spivak who is not into 'invoking multiplicity' either. S thus ties the word to knowledge even more securely, but that is exactly wrong since knowledge is a hell of a lot more boundless (and rapidly getting more so - check your gmail storage counter lately?) than practical assets.

One is hard put to 'invoke' seedsaving and exchanging, right? Not that one couldn't go about it rather religiously, in fact I'd like that. cause what is biodiversity if not risk spreading and plural multiplexity tied in and translating to temporal security?

Marx simply tried to do for economics what was already going on in religion. He, like much of all desertbrood tried to escape it and it's religiosity but failed dismally.

His internationalism led to loss of variety in languages and monies (like the 'straight = individual flavor did too) not to mention more basic aspects of life; in a world that was physically a lot saner than today he idealized a central conflictless homogenous hegemony which all sorts of multinationals are now pursuing in fact with loss of real close weave intricacy (perversely represented in/as this process) reaching fever pitch.

This is not a complaint (i don't visit doctors except in urgent cases and any ailment requiring less than emergency services i prefer to try cure with bio-resonance) but simply a self diagnosis.

I have terminal melancholy; i managed to listen to a certain song about 50 times in 2 days and still not tired of it. The lyrics and a review snippet of this great funereal song comin rite up .. .

but first a by the way .. . its lyrics describe the type of passive thing i tried .. oops, still try . .. to turn around. Make some GRIPPIES out of the effeminate or old time religious womanizing HIPPY that may occasionally spoil for a fight of the push and shove protest variety, the conscientious carnival that fails to seduce security forces every time the latter refuse to abandon their own warrior class dress code, that dear dear riot gear and join the common folk in a power rapid corridor clean out (the yugo case excepted).

Last nite i saw some Al Aqsa brigadiers on a (dutch tv) youth brand broadcast company (BNN) docu (they like to show their viewers wild and wacky things not quite as hard core as the original jacko[[distracters from jihadi type pain]]s). Here were these braves with new equipment with the righteous fervor any occupation evokes in any people and they go practice. Out of Ramalah into one of the few places left with some greenery and the clueless reporters are left to shoot treeshadows to the sound of machine gun fire and then, when left there by themselves, to tell their viewers they feel this is war. War on what? Trees? Were pali braves aiming at settlements, directly or in arcs? I imagine they hurt vegetation more than anything. A goddamn sacriligious way to deal with the few remaining privileges an outlaw existence affords you. Any- and either way, we don't find out about these vital details cause it's emotions that count.

Voluntarize fighting i say (again and again). Feed a little volition into life, mobilize dust, assimilate and feed it into the metabolisms of organic cyclers via compost and such, now. The more insipient, slow to build but sheer unstoppable sort of problems are not the national and semi-national borders.

The blocks and discontinuities clogging and constituting vertically aligned borders (between the conservative nethercrust and the upppity speedofair) are the leagues and stages of life at once tiny (width of a lightray) and vast (dayside earthwide), ALL vital to 'it', plain to see and yet an unsigned pact can make you part of an elite in spirit any moment, any and all times you wilfully manage to ignore the oldest of life's tricks (space out, mingle, pioneer, curb agression in all species, make them leave room for others and only the best of their own).

The left is always on about doing away with borders but not bycause they like to point out the vertical vs lateral gender and general divide, not bycause they realize how useful bioregional tracery is for diversity, or how good a challenging hurdle and hard to pass filter can be. Nor how radial traffic between light and heavy is also that between light and dark, ultimately (and of course impersonally) between life and death.

Such borders are not irrelevant in terms of conflictsources or dispute triggers but simply not spoken of.

For me and a few good rather than good few others rockdusts, mineral powders, quarry fines, floats and flours have been all the more topical, foundational and fundamental for health in the widest sense of the word.

But in melancholia/cryptography, the lost object remains intact and undead, preserved somewhere - actually, the whole thing is about 'displacement', that melancholia is about moving the lost object to a different place (hence the importance of telecommunication), so 'trans' in the sense of 'across' might be inherent in the whole idea… -- *the authors he's writing about are all male

> Karen Sacks (if I recall correctly) conducted ethnographic research on African hunting and gathering tribes as they transitioned to horticulture. By a number of meaningful economic and political indicators, women were substantially better off in the hunting and gathering tribes than they were in sedentary horticultural societies. Sacks suggests that women have a more explicit, socially recognized economic role in hunting and gathering societies (the tribe is mostly dependent on women for subsistence; calories from hunting are sporadic at best); this translates into political autonomy and respect. In sedentary horticultural/agrarian societies, women become the "helpmate" of the economic provider (the man deals with the economic surplus of crops); this translates into lower prestige and less political/economic autonomy for women. -------- Miles

THIS ITEM GOES ON WITH GENERALITIES TO THE TUNE OF over 70 COMMENTS; is it time to get specific or are there too many devils on detail? Don't get me wrong, i am fond of the broad sweep and consider myself to have known what is in my opinion the most benevolent 'broadsweeper' to date: John D Hamaker*. Here though, we punch out one platitude after the next emphasizing creative formulation rather than substance; well, halt thy variations on spasming and read 6 DEGREES OF 'SOLIDATION' reading this: http://blog.pulpculture.org/2006/10/27/rmildred-threat-level/#comment-13565 (56th here) i started to think of myself as a regroupee (not the minus re- 'rockstars not required' .com variety, only a 'waitinglist' at this point in any case).

> Group formations wear and tear along the dotted lines; think individual dance step*(ping out)*s made in the spotlight, that is in full view of as many groups as feasible.

Ensuing expressions of sympathy, when eloquent and water*(or as the dutch say 'stitch')*holding (steek=stab/pin, probably related to the ancient knuckle swelling arts of whattle and what not 'weavels') are like the crystallization points for faction regroupage.

The dynamic of collectivity formulation and reformulation is breakneck speed around here but still quite schoolyardlike when it comes to historical scope penetration (frequent mention of race interaction notwithstanding, at least the latter doesn't deceive me past me my impression of callow- and shallowness).

Personally, i'd rather make a carnival out of splitting rock* to further soil depth/fertility resilience, hence -banking, than split (in most any case already split) personalities (still further).

een stukje uit Modern Language Notes van 1993 door Laurence Rickels:

> Fritz Mohr lifted the bio-blinders that obscured clearer view of a stronger homo-sexology trigger: psychic determination (amongst other things, such as the relation between coming out and alcohol consumption). Rickels describes how one of Mohr's case studies ‘kept on getting caught being come on to by boys who got younger as the years went by’,

down this road surely, lies pedophilia, given enough libertinitis.

> "The couple that the group cannot admit or leave alone is at the same time the group’s reproductive agency, its future. That’s why homosexuals are always the mascots and trend setters of group psychologization: and that’s why they are the suicidal and sacrificial stars of mass (both communionist and consumerist) societiy. the’re the way to go and they’ve got to go.
> But that’s also why, in heterosexist culture, going straight has to come with a free gift of homo-bonding (via the woman among us) which, even though never completely consumated, is way more constant than what comes the way of gays. That’s also why lesbians aren’t a threat. All women get attributed to them a confusion or lack of direction of desires that’s the static on the transmission going through them. It’s like: what don’t they want (and who really cares anyway). But that’s also why by now, in our state of heterosexual preparedness, women (straight or whatever) can make their careers theorizing, that is, fantasizing about male bonding. Look at Leni .. .. .
> Before the Roehm assasination, very few cases of homosexuality came up in the Hitler Youth, but afterwards they became shockingly frequent. The reprimand index (Warnkarten) of the Hitler Jugend .. .shows that between 34 and 39 about 25% of the 4.800 youths expelled from the movement were expelled for homosexuality, in addition to those expelled for ‘moral offenses’, some of which were basically homosexual; mutual masturbation penalty: 2.5 years inprisonment. (from “homosexuals in nazi germany”, p. 234)

the above published on my pundude blog (where i can't fill in titles seperately) in addition to this:

> What also fits in here is the synchronization of the onset of his homosexuality with the concluding year of the lost war. In 1918 the war bond between natural people spilled over into homosexual excess. First comes a depletion of outwardly directed heterosexual libido, then comes the upsurge (back in > the barracks or inside oneself) of the basic need for self esteem.

> The drunken one night stand belongs to a demonization of the home fron as the homo front, where libidinal depletion or excess no longer toed the line of the war effort. The “knife in the back” view of how the German soldiers lost the war is too hot to handle. But it’s a demonization that’s so far away (like all projection) but also (this time around) so close: homosexuality is a contagious disease that can strike down millions of all-natural men and thus deplete the future reserve or resource of the generations coming soon. (A regular feature of war-neurosis symptomatology was impotence, Ferenczi reminded those who in 1918 still resisted the psychoanalytic view of every neurosis’s sexual etiology.)

Eric Wijnants on Freud:

> It also appears that Freud was growing increasingly nihilistic. Apropos here is the story of Horace Frink. He was, strange to say, both a very gifted Ameriean disciple of Freud and also on e of Freud's patients. When Frink traveled to Vienna, he both trained with Freud and underwent therapy with him. Although Frink was a depressive, with suicidal tendencies, Freud still sought to have Frink become head of the New York Psychoanalytic Society. And refusing to see him further, even as Frink's depression was deepening. Freud had promised Frink happiness once he left his wife, Doris Best, and two children for a New York heiress named Bijur.
> According to Crews, Freud told Frink that he should,
>> "get divorced and remarried to a rich woman, or you will turn homosexual.“(Frederick Crews, Unauthorized Freud: Doubters Confront a Legend 1998, p. 261).
>
> That sort of quackery sounds almost farcical, were it not for its tragie consequences. In no time, the supreme happiness had degenerated into a hopeless mismatch. The events that transpired resulted in ruining Frink's first marriage as well as Bijur's first marriage. Both Frink's ex-wife and Bijur's exhusband were devastated.
> What was Freud thinking? It is apparent from his correspondence with Frink that Freud believed in sexual satisfaction and emotional fulfillment through romantic love, no matter what the cost; he was surprisingly contemporary in that regard. Furthermore, ever in need of money to promote psychoanalysis, Freud saw that Frink marrying into money could mean generous donations for psychoanalysis. Edmunds quotes a letter that Freud sent to Frink:
>> „May I suggest to you that your idea Mrs. B. had lost part of her beauty may be turned into her having lost part of her money... Your complaint that you cannot grasp your homosexuality implies that you are not yet aware of your phantasy of making me a rich man.. .let us change this imaginary gift into areal contribution to the Psychoanalytic Funds...“
> Freud used the need to have psychoanalysis succeed in the world as his vindication for being mercenary, and for bis manipulation of Frink and the other parties to this drama. Perhaps those who are able to justify their actions in such a manner are not really nihilists. After all, they do value something, namely the success in the world of their movement, whether it be, for example, Marxism, National Socialism, Radical Islamism, or Psychoanalysis. One could contend, though, that if, in adopting such an ultimate concem, one refuses to let anything stand in one's way, one is nihilistic.

America turns to the new genre because, once the setting of human endeavor becomes outer space, the spread of primitive culture (which is always global) can no longer be kept in check via contrast with the high cultures, which are all grounded in specific places, all of which are in "the East."

don't agree with that; erosion, overgrazing, patrist patois has caused all these cultures to overflow and build pressure to constantly enlarge their hinterlands (what they make grow most unstoppably and irreversably is desert; check zionism); see Linebaugh on Thucydides; reads like it's about the US today.

To be founded don't mean to stay grounded, in any case, if the distinction between a find and grind is not made, those who who quite happily hunt and gather millions of millenia at a stretch can't transition/mature to sustainably mobilize/organize and metabolize minerals, notorious for being grounded but fundamental to fungibility if you are going to try for the best of 'primitive' and 'high' without confusion about their relative strenghts and weaknesses.

> Guenther points out that America was discovered many times before the discovery, the accident on the way via a shortcut to the Eastern source of civilization, was finally marked. Best from Hollywood, Laurence marked? You mean marketed. Yo Laurence, i'd love you to cc me a bit or two here and there .... now you sent me a letter even! So proud. By the way, earlier this week i posted extracts from your 'camp' MLN 93 at two blogs, a dutch and an american one (http://blog.pulpculture.org) but not much came of (nor many off) it (unless closeted)*.

Version 2: today 4 years ago Theo v Gogh was slaughtered. 'Free' paper front page poll says half of Dutch folk don't think he needs commemorating anymore and only a quarter sense some loss of pressfreedom (rather than gains in politness) due to islamic 'discipline'. Schizophrenically enough page 19 is devoted to the man good for 7% of the overal vote who issues warnings about an islamic tsunami.

The killer attended sermons of a double speaker. This thundering preacher in the most radical mosque of Holland is still here and stil double tongued. He defends his wishing ugly diseases on vGogh and Ayaan HI as strategy to blow off steam and release pressure. Bush is the worst homo globohomo so far, in that he blatantly derives pleasure out of his ability to fuck everybody over, singling out some to demonize, being silent about others, the enablers behind his helpers in particular. That fits with his bid for blessed player of genuine Christianity rep.

His father probably thought he had a way too sissily soft and sensitive son. The therapeutic strategy was to scare him stiff a few times. And as we know, resistence to and resentment of what transpired can block examination and digestion of, then subsequent moving on from the suppressured memory which becomes a generator of reminders, more and more grotesque, brute and in your face as the aeons are sliding by are continents are set adrift.

So, instead of somebody with more capacity to do what John D Hamaker, penetrationwise the only worthy disciple of Hensel in a century, recommended, we are left with a man who can only leave us the rigid frigids of fright; Bottom Line constructural crunching strength to free all (for mineral metabolization purposes) too tight gone horrible wrong, a trick as taboo as imperative for all who want to maintain sustainably, stimulate simple garden variety continuity for all species. Not, like Bush, leave the lessons of lesions but leave the type of fully formed and informed leaves that can only be fed with/from 'ground' (we help and are god in as much as we can enhance our presence by reaching back and repeating in any case ongoing beginnings) and from ground on up: making and wetting dusts, reducing their oxides, weave the weatherweaving chains of life.

Suppose all the Palestinians would agree on a survival strategy reasoned as follows: the jews are traumatized and hold this trauma for ransom, cashing in, famously, and more and more shamelessly, from royally to imperially and still, they have plans. They will never agree if we suggest: look, manipulate .. sorry, i mean, lobby the UN to give us the desalination infrastructure and coastline desert territory someplace and we'll get out of your hair. Our kin is in you all's pockets or under severe assault and it's time to prove we're not collectively suicidal.

Even if this entirely fictitious scenario were to be suggested, it won't happen. The reason has to do with those plans. The state of israel is gonna do still worse than it has. As much as 'their' subjects hold on to internal traumas and use them as weapons, they will hold on to Palis, 'their' external ones, to wield as a shield against anybody able and tempted to get violent on them once again.

Nick praises/recommends yet another very polarizing melodramatic rant called After the suicide of the West By Roger Kimball:

> "As Scruton puts it, a kind of “moral obesity” cripples much of Western culture, “to the point where ideals and long-term goals induce in them nothing more than a flummoxed breathlessness.”"

Next, example of how the age old germ theory superstition and glorification (on the one hand and condemning spontaneous generation on the other) is coming back to haunt the west with a vengeance.

Le part maudit turns out to be not so remote and universally non-specific after all, a bit like fossil fuel finaglery has ignored middle, mi- and macro-cosmic, ongoing implosionary movements to enable obsessing over a once ever big bang. The feminization of heroism has led to the incredibly oppressive personality cult that should have never escaped the nursing stage. Selling a sense of shame is going to be a booming market but I'll probably be dead by then.

Dalrymple (speaking on the archived radio show at cultureshocks last summer) about the different roles of religion in the radicalization of petty criminals (evangelics are more hierarchical, imamism is more informal and rhizomatic):

to myers@cyberone.com.au: still interested in feedback?
so am I .. . . and until my interest proves mutual (yours aroused on the basis of my site(s) linked below if not this letter) I'll refrain from commenting on your site except to say I think you write exceedingly well on ideology, credentials, faith, trust and credit -- the 'wet' varieties, I mean (non monetary) admiration, fond filial affinities rather than factual, financial and/or will freeing[*] 'great white fatherly' feelings inspired forms[+] -- which makes what I perceive as your lack of contextualizing regards monies and economies quite baffling, frankly. You are more into factions than fractions but I say they are barely separable.
I am going to the trouble of reaching you on this topic since I have faith you will understand what I am saying, seeing that you stand by what Michael Hudson says (too)[^].

[*] this passage requires an explanation. Yesterday I read 'Free will is going away.' a piece by Clay Shirky, Social & Technology Network Topology Researcher; Adjunct Professor, NYU Graduate School of Interactive Telecommunications Program at edge.org/q2006/q06_2.html#shirky (one amongst a large collection of 'dangerous ideas' here, 2/3rds of which quoted below). In it he goes:

--- I'd say, especially when your sense of self extends some good few feet under your own, at least as far as living breathing soil and inhabitants does and do (some thing which that of native turtle islanders famously did and many other native peoples do) . .. . rather than if not altogether opposed to say .. . .writing one big bibliographically long claim in which an early ancestor figures prominently for having migrated and bought his way into some new lebensraum on his way from territorial contiguity to patchworking, then condemning the justification/culmination and crown of that process (think mark purdey type factors), the the radiantly radical and radially bread (form bones) and fish*(from stones)*feeding fella as a prototypical shahid (life to death rather than the other way around) which turns the whole scribbly endeavor including the banned story of his life into a 'cryptitious' farewell video message.

Though Shirky doesn't say as much, the addictions, seductions and other 'will freeing' (in the senses I hope to have effectively touched upon above, if not try one of the thousands of earlier tries of mine or 'bread from stones' by Julius Hensel) waylay*(er)*s are sure good to be concerned with and aware of lest we forget what they can destroy and keep obstructing.

[+] My background provided me with intimate knowledge of soils, crops, small scale but tell tale monomanic pursuit of profit at the expense of long term mutuality and diversity (in one word ecology) besides other bad habits that lead to deserts and climatic shifts that go along with and/or are the effect of the burst of effort they call war, like Katrina. John Hamaker remineralize.org taught me how trace minerals are a kind of natural money so we are sitting on our bank accounts too much or make it fly to hi and dry but a little permaculture would be best.
These days the confusions existing around soil have migrated to oil and gravitate around turmoily obfuscations (both make the dif between haves and have nots) leveraging long pedigrees of social stratifications in the underling density and elite building businesses (quite as swirly a one as the other indeterminable dichotomy overpopulation and diffusion).

... and Rowans says they are useless, so I go search for better and the first thing I find is the following from oct05third.htm:Democracy set out to defend the meek, weak, vote- and voiceless side of the sentience spectrum. In it's heyday (consensed, non-gold, contract and 'real bill' basics, clearing based) city/state/regional monies would succesfully complement the fast boy, risky, 'universal', gold (and luxury) based enterprises. These cultures were cut short to cults when such sorts of healthily gendered currencies started to compete that is to say, the latter form of economics lost the socio- prefix (told it to get lost and huddle up in citied masses). Needless to say, slow food, beauty, autonomy, vitality etcetera got lost at the same rate. --------- Of course village town and city circuitry doesn't quite cover the mineral loops (loopydapoopy them for sure) so no wonder metro and overseas had to trickle in and up along the diffusionist drift and raftery. #

I was in switserland for six weeks this winter and near the end of it I was suprised by a butterfly under the edge of a blanket . .. -1- which I had used weeks before on my first round through this wild riverside 'settlement' which was a mill in days gone by, where thick, angle smoothing snow covered the ground then whereas now little remained though the considerable altitude made sure there weren't any flowers or even unfroze ground in sight [[butterflyflight?]] yet -/1- . .. late at night up in the old open barn being remodeled to receive bands such as the ones showing up at woodsrock -2- psychedelic deadlike celtic folkrock parties by that name, catering to eurohippies old style; for a flyer ask woodsrock@hotmail.com – it shows a butterfly and i was shown it the next morning by a pleasant fella, hand to 'ursus' swiss guy who spends half his time in new zealand (does flying there costs as much as you spend on heat during a swiss winter???) organizing weird little festivals so remote nobody contests the grounds at all, so as not to contaminate spiritual undertakings with money and 'perikelen' about possession www.spiritofnature.ch (his son was the reason I couldn't remain with [[one of]] his ex partner a few years ago, certainly the best fuck . ..eh most agile eh. ..animated womban .. ..well, her squeeze was simply the best, i am happy with the news she found a new partner after a great big depression and yet another fight over custody with her exfella who loves getting women preggers and leaving them). His real name is Urs according to a farmlady who knows him from way back and says he should 'mal abkratzen he' (for all the suffering he spreads around. That lady was meticulously caring for her animals: chickens, horse, donkey, the old indiginous race bovine which had all but disappeared in her source of the rhine area until she reintroduced it, feeding only homegrown feed and very sparingly, etcetera -/2-).

Anyway, back to the butterfly, it moved its wings open and closed smoothly enough, the next day was beautiful and (without checking up on the butterfly) I drove down and past a place where a giant barn is filled with products made of wool (which grows on the surrounding fields) and a summercamp for kids is being prepar ed (setting up yurts, etcetera): http://www.spycher-handwerk.ch/

All the while I was thinking I should have given that bf a lift downvalley. But the very next day after that a wintry dose descended to even the deeper elevations making me feel less guilty I hadn't done so.

Similarly on a human plane, a young brilliant bassist --- planning to lead a youthcamp in the states then follow leads to musicstudios near mexico city with great drugs, worked alongside me here: http://www.hofallnewind.ch in the hands of a low wages paying (masons and picturescanners needed now) catalog ordering compulsive recycler (of huge rocks, spiral staircases, greenhouses - one waiting to be reerected for 12 years now), etcetera -- the type of place I meant which, I argued yesterday against some lefty proselytizers from www.noticias.nl and xminy.nl attention should be turned to, alongside favoring abandoned villages, derelict buildings, etcetera with it. In other words, fix revofocus on locales with potential to grow into 'permanent' fixtures a little more, into centri sociali which have a change to work at becoming legalized after a continuous and consistent wave of appreciated outreach rather the bad rep that comes with contestation of temporary 'top' territories (no matter how glowing a story results from epic battle forces drawing closer and a transparancy demand met so that the contracts / proceedings could be taken as a trophy [[or was that a trojan horse?]]) fueling justifications for investing in repression so you in turn can all chime up and complain about hardening and toughening of the social climate (outbreaks of which are de rigouer amongst the shushshushers, probably spawn of [[HBO]] Carnivale's usher - now, there's a game worth playing) all the while dissociating from your nevertheless very own causing of toughening times and thus preempting moneyless walks of life smoothage such as used to be possible along that trajectory before accusations of harbouring militants came flying and were proffered as the match and countermove for exposures of the propaganda-pills-military complex --- would have loved to get to woodsrock but as it happened there was a party in the woods much closer by and he ended up going there.

An interrupt made the above unduly long perhaps (I need to be paying attention to moving to, sleeping in a car in holland isn't something to keep doing.. .desert dust storm can drift across greener droves, specially if the latter pillory severity .. .)

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ijccr/message/5498 is a pretty funny poem by John Turmel but neither it nor the money masters or any other usury booers I learned about get to the heart of the matter and that is: interest levels are a mere negative measure for the degree of sustainability, cooperation and consensus in the world and is a warning sign at most (and as we all know, fighting fevers and other attempt to get rid of symptoms end up masking more often than preventing a disease), specially under decent emission conditions (monetary freedom rather than monopolies leading to manipulation, power play, exploitation, scarcity and war).

here I am, all prepared to go search a bleak thin and emaciated ref to a kindred spirit but lo and behold, his name in fat font right atop and no slimmer this: 'FRANCIS E. not much else left to chop is there? when patrism and/or climate change (talk about circulo vicioso) has turned a place that bleak I'd prefer to look upon them choppers as patients and victims who thrive and multiply when western choppers with that stolen name drone around. http://mailman.lbo-talk.org/pipermail/lbo-talk/Week-of-Mon-20060501/037079.html beginning of a looooooooooong thread concerning all this

In this day and age of nasty uniformity we must be brief on the latter due to a shortage of examples. I suggest you try read some Beckerath as I do not tire of telling you .. .whenever I emerge from tired of telling you anythingness that is.

Apotheosis (yet another instance) of the classic 'preaching to the choir desire' -- this time starring Louis Proyect, Dennis Perrin, the leninologyspotted blog and marccooper as the ratty prosecutors and stone casters with those (sorta clumsily) asking to crumble them after humblin' themselves enough to wonder if there could possibly be a reason for such last wishes beyond self preservation*(montages)* and 'mpug' (libero) -- coming right up (after that which led up to this): -----?------ things seem to settle down honkidorily (that is, mikey posts a link, Doug reads it and comments)

Piet: things appear ok again but then that damn lenin has to repeat the words with which Perrin slandered poor puggie and a liddul ladur (next post in fact, proving my warning to have been of no avail) this:

take something that has 'haken en ogen' (hook and eyes, as in needle eyes, expression from sailing and sewing/sewage riggery/rigour aiming for watertightness) as indication of the sub- and circumstantial quali and quanti necessary to make contracts work and stick.

Now direct the focus on nominal and numerical phenomena, fetishize great big numbers and awesomely powerful generalizations (uninformative uniformation to achieve that consistent unity rush [[never more than a symptom of oppression or homebaked skewed footprint birthrate ratios]], militarization with generals running around etcetera), then transpose these numbing numbers on headcounts. You are now ready to proceed claiming democracy. The severed headcount hype is a distraction from what Ulrich von Beckerath talked about and if you transfer and turn properties he sees in gold over to an equally incremental photosynthesis rate, voila, belief systemics. But never mind, go back to your party political election agendas.

assisinc.ch/articlesarchives.html typical example of a great cause reduced, held down, demoted and diminished to a mere digital presence (OK, there's this Eden thing edenproject.com/ in england but that puts no comparable effort into offering perspectives in social history, they do their community stuff all the way in thai mangroves edenproject.com/3625.htm), a bit like me, tattered and already not all there anymore, begging for help left and right like Multatuli did, unfolding a matress from my trunk every night and laying it in front of beautifully fallowed vacant complexes that are off limits to those that are vitally necessary to do the social work of turning abandonement into attraction and semi-mediaeval selfretrieval.

THo' opposed to deletion/moderation, I think some might object to piet's surrealist thread-jackings (assuming this person "piet" is sane--not always clear) and phunn hi-jinx, regardless of how clever and poe-ettic they occasionally may be. This for one is not such a humorous thread. Surrealist and/or Postmod. bric a brac may have a place, but doesn't seem so relevant to a thread concerning some fairly horrorific situations. Dadaist comment skewing is pretty common and not so great for rational political discussions. (btw, pistol-piet, did you peruse the Engels letter on realism a few posts below?) 4:48 PM

Le Colonel Chabert said... thanks HE..." 'great intellectuals' (trademark western civ.) whose writing is usually less interesting than interpretations of them." Yes, more a culture celebrity I think than either a novelist/playwright or a philosopher. .... prospero, you are NOT suggesting piet be censored? That's a purty funny punchline to a very long trolljoke.

piet said... I do mean to be phlippant most of the time but that's only to compensate for the weightyness and hence opacity of subjects I put my mind to lipht up, but never so dreadfully daderrivada that I leave unsentences finished. Hence this repeat and follow through.

Peacepalestine blogspot reported [[some time in the lst few weeks]] JEWS, no sorry, the chainsaw division of the IDF murdered and stole a million of them already)*. I don't think they can possibly resort to any more desperate means of trying to prove that zionism is a sham and scam, skizzy lipservice that diverges fore- and farmost from its own practice.

haloscan.com/comments/hyperstition/7783/?a=26397

the 14th of may Hasbersumites vpro night was great for 3 solid hours ..... the politically pregnant part: vpro.nl/programma/tegenlicht/afleveringen/28255515/ (english mostly, except the segments with Keppel, highlight was Harvard's Mohamedou who will be in Amsterdam next week) 'talking to al-qaida'. Earlier npsarena.nl aired a docu on Sibelius and early evening on a different channel (Ikon I think) had a docu about Therezin, a settlement north of Praque with room for 5000 but Nazis kept it stuffed (60.000 at one point) and sluiced 140.000 jews through there in total. 89.000 of those were sent on to various concentration camps. Not quite half that number died there and 142 of the 10.500 kids into there survived. All the footage shown came from a prop film whose maker and actors were all sent to death to keep the secret they were all groomed with the one day visit/inspection by the red cross (Rossel) in mind.

I don't really doubt the numbers I just cited but suspicions rose nevertheless cause: 1: During the little explanation of the nearly worthless monopoly money circulating no parallels were made to real life. An nps-arena program element showed 2nd or 3rd installment of a jewish comedian series, this time showing some who repeat nazi accusations loud and in your face in order to ridicule and make light of them -- quite successfully at one point anecdotically proving the antisemite lives in the semite's head, an oft repeated, but thanks to Ptb efforts much qualified commonplace among the 'semi-semited' (semi smitten with semitization under the laws of 'takes one to know one', causing jesus to cry out in despair, blessed are the meek and ignorant), ever more popular to satirise (is that exactly what the dutch call persiflage?) as the bush bite cut up tracks, being a to me very irritating must on lefty audio shows prove -- as if you can just laugh off thousands years of group evolution, survival strategy, selected traits and reputation. A Therezin survivor euphemistically refered to the bills showing moses (unfavorably in her opinion) holding the ten commandments as a nazi game, as if nazism is childish and as transitory as childhood. Sure enough, there was little in the stores and everybody starving as an oft repeated element of the narrative had it but that appeared more and more absurd while the prop film fragments ran since no malnourishment could be seen. Piles of emaciated dead were shown but they must have been from somewhere else cause aside from the succesfully red cross dupin prop film no footage survived.

On a related note, Leon de Winter wrote (nov 5th, The Free West's Weblog) that islamogriffyants' chronic demand for respect is really a in*(contro)vertibly veiled command to dhimminitude, in other words the same old saymold semitism that comes in various wonderful but always cryptic and addictive flavors sold at the edge of voracious anthromorphocizing appetite. Of course he wants arabs to carry this load but I can trace a passive almost dreamlike version in myself, from my days hitchhiking and hoping to be picked up by the saviour in shining charmo(to)*r to another decade dedicated to florallifical pixelation of my page subliminally screaming 'merits high estimation, wonderful enough to deserve massive assistence'. Of course being the formalityphobic i didn't put so much as a paypal button on there despite my admiration for microcredit and ledgerism (there is an antidraft video with todd speaking on google by the way). Your pity is very welcome but don't overdo it, I've got enough to buy an acre in the cheapest corner of Holland and set a yurt up on it (just might do that).

Inspired by a pic at northanger's livejournal (217281): Although the phenomenal trace mineral dial/throttle is at the fingertips of entire people like the Hunza (irrigating with rockdust filled meltwater) and large floodplain cultures (periodically blessed/threatened by large deposits), AWARENESS OF MINERAL (THROUGH LIFE) CYCLING NEVER MOVED BEYOND INDIVIDUALS LONG ENOUGH TO HAVE BECOME COMMON SENSE. One might argue about exactly how dispersed their work became or how and why thus and just so. If their fame stretches like that of Jesus for instance, one can be sure the message is distorted and dumbed down if not mutilated (rep hype inversely proportionate to practice dishonour). Specially true in this deaththrowday and takerculture age end with more and more feverish command line autonomy distribution and popularity plus/as faith in robotictackytocks.

I suspect Jesus was as no non-sense as folks like Julius Hensel but the latter was nearly unknown and recent enough to escape the type of obscuring similar but older messages suffer – he, by the way, really stood out in John Hamaker's bibliography, offering perfect complementary proof alongside that delivered by the Hunzas (northern Pakistani whose exceptional health was long a riddle and may in part have helped the taste for sprouted wheat bread [[which all good {{{organic food}}} co-ops in the us carry]] to a degree of popularity that the rock dust application proponents can't quite match).

The meaning of differences in fertility and cultural coherence won't show without long enough scope to include geological data read for climatecycle sizes and shifts. Done correctly (core actly] the role of stone flours [or rock powders and mineral dusts, etc] clears and clarifies. It has really been the realm of shamen innovators mavericks and very original thinkers/pioneers and perhaps if/when/by the time octopus feels like moving onland, it will become culturewide and peace will reign. I am rapidly losing hope for this here stage in 'our' cyclings-trip. Recently scientists studying left plenny a hint but pent up organic momentum storing stone that needs casting first before sin ceases as one out of many indicationversios given/left with more or less cryptical clarity by a rebel who was also a local fighter battling the mental equivalent of inertia and native rigor formalis.

Not even Northanger, much like everybody else I've applied a little toptiptaptherapy to, can't seem to allow me to help resolve the destructively alienating remotion and dualism between large and small, close and far, in and out that has this world in more and more dire straits – Her little picture of a comet fragmenting is nothing unusual these days among stargazers but I see it as all of them practicing a dutch version of the o so proper 'op de kleintjes letten' (economis[[er]]ing) which is an as fake inversion and reactionary non-provision doctrine born of wage slavery, a step down and dilute symbolicized low class version of what the grand lords by way of disciplining highly testy hard heavers and sweaters must do to turn baldadigheidspleger into protective player (t-shirt with aanvallah now selling for the whorl cup), namely the dust do, fundamental distribution of supplies to feed and slowly stretch microclimates in the direction of buyant, livelied up, diverse and storable bufferage.

Meanwhile, in the news, hundreds of travelweary african refugees have been arriving in Tenerife in record numbers after a 1500K trip from Senegal!!!! Oil palm industry is the excuse Chinese seem to manage using succesfully for a *(clear)*cut of the Borneo forest. While the population is distracted by Christian missionaries ntm-nl.org

JP expressed admiration for dutch culture last friday on chabert. Time to set him right: Perhaps it's not my call and just about impossible to verify but I believe I can claim credit for the popular will and desire, leeway (speelruimte) and presently available govt budget dedicated to *(re)*creating nature (I prefer not to though cause it constitutes shocking proof of being misunderstood no less – wrote stuff in Dutch on that after a visit to Tiengemeten). Anyway, permanent fallowing of agriculturally used acreage is a billion dollar business that boomed a few short years until the great big immigration and integration problems exploded into public awareness and screamed for attention.

Of course nobody besides me seems to have suggested the refugees asylum seekers and lying economic opportunists be given permaculture courses and handtools to use and own since knowledge about compost and soil can be applied anywhere on earth and people who come after them may then be all the quicker cleansed of their patrist (war and desert) trauma better and better for it, instead of the depressing isolation these people suffer (with or without being rescued off the street by the far left of church after failing to clear the years long legal hurdle. speaking of which Ayaan Hirsi Ali the somali parliamentarian muslim basher has admitted lying during her naturalization process [[if we werent all small time jews since Marx already we sure are now since victimhood exploitation has taken off like the offense industry of which it is the perfect shadow]] and discussion of her case quickly reached the extremes of wether we must change the laws to take her passport away again. Today's rumour has her moving to the states where jews and Times just lurv her).

Nobody thought present practice would amount to prohibitive cost in the form of social trouble such as sucks up 70% of media time on a regular basis, never mind the energy expense of earth moving (neo-liberal tools turned to noble ends for a change), which inflicts both physically and equally real psychological immediate and drastic damage on local inhabitants even if they are not quite fully aware of the effects that kind of work tends to have on worm, plant and bird population. Hey, the dutch can take it, they were blessed with the choicest range of europewide mothermineralmaterials man, they like the expedition industry too.

The entire hippy era has not managed to honour it's most earthy members high enough to be able to reach out of it's subculture far enough to educate the general public in little matters of demography / footprint ratios (the green parties in the world got nowhere near closing the breach and have since seriously diluted their potential to turn manmade deserts green again). . .

The only magic words possible deny magic. The only constructively agressive words possible defuse and stop agression proper short.

> As a matter of fact researchers call this the most powerful breakthrough discovery of our time. They found out that there are 72 natural trace elements in all seafood that are a powerful and highly effective natural remedy for cancer, arthritis, MS, leukemia and many other 'incurable' diseases. The reason the daily seafood diet is considered a powerful remedy for many kinds of diseases is because all seafood contains the complete natural range of the 72 trace elements, also commonly called trace minerals. Unfortunately, we can't say that about our modern agriculture, which maintains only eight trace elements in its soils, eventually ending up in our daily food. Due to this type of neglect by our modern agriculture, over 60 vitally important trace elements have now become either severely deficient, or entirely absent in agricultural soils, and hence in our daily food. And it is this lack of so many trace elements in our daily food that causes so many diseases. .. ..that's by Edward F. BLOGOLOGICIAN TO THE RACECUE INTO THE BREACHES AND SHALLOWS OF MEMORY AND SOIL!!!!! (ps to self nearly a year later): rite, but that's no reason to get sloppy with sources is it.

Right around my birthday I found out how to choose just the right size bits of gravel to rub and make sound like frogs (also create tiny cloud with the resulting grey matter) --demonstrate to all children nearby-- which I claim feeds a full range of life all along the slinkery chain (furnishes frogs halfway along nicely too).

Within a week I had the most amazing adventure on a 12 acre patch of land owned by the watercompany leased for 30 years to an ecobuilding company in turn subsidizing a peculiar young man (let's call him Klaus) to serve the eco in this case permaculture purposes civilian draftees can choose for over in Germany. The incredible stories ingredients combine 1 a man who likes to spontaneously generate healing with no external input - he even defied my offer of paying for rockdust to draw a few lines crissing and crossing his crestfallen crust - i got me a sunstroke within hours, the potential shade is hacked into pieces for mulch - after the atrocious and repeated hauling of chemical fertilizer on and crops away, an onslaught which had ceased 6 years already during which Klaus filled 3 meters of observation and plantingrecord folders. Most recurring sentence: No longer any sign of such and such. Such and such complete disappeared.

Instead of doing a treenursery he planted out tiny plants all over the place and has quite a bit of hose and a and since the soil is light and the climate gets more and more precarious, even in regions most blessed that way, we find Klaus has worked in vain. But he won't swallow the toad* and instead wallow in worsening circumstance, even if an odd dutchman comes by and reports seeing a red one even (eva was my witness, a gal I am totally convinced of knowing already but we both couldn't pinpoint where or since when). Turned out the toad is a south african specimen.

Brendan linked a 'demonic male' critique at 'marxcysts' marxist.com/demonic-ape-evolution280104.htm by Alan Woods on the 13th.

gosh, I am not sure if he reports the representation of a book by that title in the bbc program called 'demonic ape' (and one of the authors', Wrangham's views) faithfully or not but either one or both are grossly unfair and in my eyes criminally so since the book is one of my faves.

Woods fails to mention the contrast offered (Bonobos don't compete for food with Gorillas on one side of the river like the chimps do on the other, necessitating an exploitation of respective gender strenghts, males covering more ground while females mind the little ones -- incling and hint aplenny of what strife and competition for food security can do - not to mention what soilbanking entails - a timely yet immemorial type long one i suspect) but simply appropriates this line of argument by coming up with other evidence (quite vague at that) under the header 'environment' and kicks Wrangham into the gutter with 'relish', to appropriate Woods' judgment and turn it back on himself, his other calls are 'subjectivism', 'imagination', 'unsound'. A marxist knows about subjectivism? Hah! That's like a Freudian on co-operation. The perfect marriage between them as reflected in state vs private (universal distrust based gold) money as decribed in work by the likes of Beckerath (precious few extant) has been cloven and polarized by the neononproductivists, ju ju boys.

> Class societies are the main causative factor in violent behaviour and acting out, and this factor is often embodied in more local or contingent factors. -

11 Jun, 18:23 | # -- bullshit and inside out. Classes and awareness thereof ought to and should smooth the graduations not only within but also beyond them so that ideally, dare I say it yet again, violence directed at life can become force aimed at death in order to not so much bring as afford it a chance to come, alive. Lenin says 'embodied' where he probably means embedded, but that's also at least partly bassackwards, generalized abstractions are extracted from local stuff before a reverse flow can ever start. not that i don't hope it will.

But where in the history of all hitherto existing society is the non-class society one can point to, for purposes of comparison? At least the rad fems had some conjectures about peaceful matriarchies...

I posted my response at the next item up: I find your thoughts on gender behaviours, 'roles' and performances skewy not to say screwy, and certainly not chewy. The bashful utterly passive Desdemonic feminine beauty will attract the extreme macho (this goes for the extremes of both genders) then as now. --- subtext: choices a ok, can't be penalized, problematized, nor even questioned, as if accounting for the ones that fall on (dutch way of phrasing it with the added double entendre of falling for) poison is a hopeless and futile undertaking, impossible, taboo and otherwise in all possible ways off limits, beyond the reach of law, etcetera.

Schizophrenia is the exception and just as incurable by talk as by pharmageddon.

Supersubgrub/text: racialism is a ok, the hope and a hidden motor of endless verbiage catering to the shiftiness niceties necessary to avoid collective self examination (soil and memory depth assesment reflected in demographic:footprint ratios).

I love you. I want to have your children. Inspire you to paint scenery of pleached limb millenarian groves peopled with those that know how to grow home and stay there. Live in it. Folks that travel to nip buds, guide twigs, cull seedlings and play the sort of favoritism that's been out of style disastrously long. One last shot at love for me. I am young at heart. In fact, can't seem to forget the beginnings of life's linklike chain that needs to begin again and again. Multiculturalism is Polypermaculture and it starts with the art of composting minerals as much as organic matter. I will come to the UK soon. May I plumb the depths of your soil and deepen it?

world cup 2006 Holland - Portugal You must know that the big burly man called Boulahrouz who is a street fighter type borderline recidivist# but since his status and degree of integration (wages of a prof soccerplayer!) seems a vast improvement over that of those left behind in his 'school' pool and less fortunate (again, remuneratively speaking perhaps yes. .. but). This very much unreserved reserve liberally and inextricably sprinkled across our troubled spots (and all the more so if people are left to spend more time there than is strictly necessary to get a rest) and allowed to go to seed more than once already (filled with specimens capable of and practically specialized in violent assaults, petty robbery, arson and vandalism, embued, and genetically burdened with a slumbering but easily awoken sense of superiority, gender inequality and sabotage http://allochtonen.web-log.nl/ allochtonen/2006/06/piek_van_zinloo.html) was in a weekly recently, speaking openly about the element of violence that can so easily infect a match and take beauty out in the blinkin flash of an eye. This failure to admit defeat (sorry boss, couldn't pry the ball from backstabbed and fallen footfall beauty that flitted past) gets a spin to 'willingness to fight' and can thus be positively valued. And indeed, the arabs have a message for us (as I keep saying): do not delegate violence to proffie forces and don't rely on them to keep away all external and/or incorporate all internal elements of violence potential to the point of leaving soft and tempting *(tr)*ease unprotected targets; don't unmix - paradoxically the opposite of what they are defamed for (crossing borders is ok but you'll have to choose physical not me(n)tal prowess to prove your manhood), it is as essential to personhood as fucking. The dirty trick Boulahrouz pulled to earn his first yellow (I spaced out the first half being 16th to listen to Paul Laffoley's 8 minute spiel at youtube) was the first of those shown in a BBC synopsis for this match (16 yellow cards, 4 red) from which i can savely assume it was quite decisive (playing the ball but in such a way that your upper leg hits the stomach area of onrushing opponent) though other commenters dispute that.

Taking folks like that up in your team is a sure predictor for what happened to happen at least some of the time. I have always been an opponent of having Davids for the same reason. Soccer worth the name is about ball- not bodycontact (lest it be corrupted by football and rugby too much). A delivery of proof positive for the virulence of violence. While dutch commentators and coach were in none too shamefaced denial* despite plain and precise close-ups, wrapped up in a sickening partiality, defiant even in the face of evidence (to the point that it can only remind of zionism and motherhood).

B praised by Cruyff (reported in the big dailies) but against Portugal the only person doing a perfect action was van Persie, after incredibly convincing feints, leaving 2 opponents on their knees and thighs (WITHOUT TOUCHING THEM!!!), he pushes the ball on a course perfectly parallel to goalline just out of the goalkeeper's reach but was there a dutch foot there, counting on this? NO!!!!! They deserved to lose for just this. And by the way, he flaps his arms up like a bird and to face level also but keeps his distance a whole lot better, having the luxury of being part of the offense fraction.

> "As it submits to an existence as Volk, the mass is drained of life. This union may more readily be described as incorporation: the nation, the leader, takes up the submissive mass "below" and fuses it into his own totality."

---- after emphasizing the crowd uttering such sentiment disallows women to choose and clearly associating the 2 together (she may be citing Theweleit here). I can more easily defend interpreting 'mass' differently. I take it to mean rock dusts of course, fluffed and ligthened up, made metabolizable. -- "by dying whenever he needs an erection. This is what turns him on." – yeah this sounds like Theweleit alrite. Well, OK to continue my own tangent web of analojizz: sure rock dies to give birth to dust, something hard turns into its weak opposite. It's the usual inversion of life and death (though the autistic symbol- and stylization [[embed, bury and project undertakings along definable station-reach of extremes into flowery arrangements and claim the way he, the painter frames and 'handles' this {{{lever to the moon that needs a worldwide grid to hold it in place}}} turns 'm into engine designs]] is gaining ground too), I was the 16 viewer of the Paul Laffeley footage at youtube (and they made a big myspace page for him too, plan to reproduce everything readably and probably accomodate his desire to detach his studio, flood, freeze and fire it into space, once he dies). I admit it's inspiring to think of springs but those who fail to become adept with handtools and fruitful shade early on are disfigured for life and likely to fill theirs with unfair fighting and merciless killing.

It is surely easy and obvious to start your journey to more and more complicated yet accurate accounting with one (the singularity that is becoming a more and more desired and thus commodifiable, simulaciously fake reprise of predual simplicity object); most traumatic confusions stem from failing (TO [[selfassertively and -assuringly rise up to]] CRUISE/CRUSH) that first divulgatory divide, the lack of that failsafe bridge, turns it into the impenetrable chasm which in turn disproves potential charm (dusts raised good and proper, the soft yet cool part of rockcicle that acquires and forms all manners). The unprepared as raw material or life threat. The domestication of rock is a story of confusion cause females are highly related, rever- and revenant of it (but so remote and with such inimically mimical muteness that this state of negentropical ignorance is alone reason enough for reason and cryptogravery to come about and of course, looking for love in all the wrong places. An innocent yet correlately disastrous personification is easily made).

It's like my answer to the lady at the community founding conf, who reluctantly allowed me to listen in on a converstation with a wonderful lady she couldn't be sure about my closeness to (Only way to get a word in edgewise with that sourpuss, determining the peopling of 130 acres of prime northern german land [[along with her 8 partners]] and i really wanted to make a mark though hopes for my library premierring there are low). She was on about a person she accused of schizophrenia, that 4rd generation rebirth of anti-semitism (after marxist and capitalist). She said he was split. I go: But does he split well as i was getting up to split, feeling she was a rather lost cause to me. She will never know that I reversed the usual direction/projection back from people to rocks. But it will be a while till any effects of my THEOry brighten her face. Similarly in this line: "Historical and human reality is an intolerable impurity and must be denied (phantastically interpretated away) or deplored." an inversion and projection from matter to mensch takes place and is given precedence over as implied as inarticulable process. To bundle forces in order to employ and develop the mineral mix makes perfect sense. But who cares for perfection of sensibility when you can kick what's already/still down.

And just to carry on wetting people's appetite for Dutch culture and as a way to express my alarm at signs of losing some gems in/of this heritage, here's more about Paulus:

After they council orgasm as a 'rather easy' remedy and then complain it is used as a weapon. Providing ammo rarely leads to it being left unused. I know for a fact that blueballs keeps going, orgasm or not.

via Drew, a mad Dutchman - shikanda.net/general/webpage_deleuze/deleuze_leopard_www.htm sample of truly weird mumbo jumbo jawing 'work' by prof with such low association thresholds he roams all over entire continents (mainly africa with a fetish for leopards). He fatally combines being poet, philospher and anthropologist. People love him!!! He gets to publish big tomes and appeal to their hunger for randomness i guess.

he says something like 'you can't expect many africans, after the way the west walzed (steamrolled) all over them, will have a compicated perspected about all the resulting and still festering fucking up and inequalities.'

But .. .wait a minute, he is offering such a thing, and not about but AS proof and certified carrier outer 'hoogwaardigheidsbekleder' (a sartorial term for authority) and check out how he wants all his presentations including the shit cave wall scratchings on his site in meticulour order and clarity. The man is an obscurantist despite himself and his well meaning cultural relativism. Nobody understands hierarchy anymore these days. I am the first and for all i care the last. If it took this much trouble to get thus far and in circumstances such as these present ones, i don't think there's much hope for someone taking the baton from me, then again i will never know that for sure in this lifetime short of a miraculous vision. And if that pans out negative with respect to my hopes i can lay them to rest and concentrate on growing a garden and leafing through my by now surely very moldy books.

Falsely modest he goes: 'the blahblahblah is considerably more complex than i can do it justice' -- he might as well say that matters are more obscure than he can hope to wrap them in any greater or better obscurity.

On the other hand, he respect Robert Graves sufficiently to not lose mine altogether.

Wow, he recounts how the type of shaman he himself has become (sangoma) on a split basis of 6 weeks at a time is powerful enough to sacrifice young men in order to give their penises as a token to the politicians who come for that talisman. He condemns this practice and left the community as soon as he found out but keeps calling himself sangoma. Well, islam comes to mind.

listen to him here, 'groeten uit de rimboe', about bringing poorest of africans to the west for their entertainment value. The argument circles around the poles: do the commercial station programmers have a (right [[without a duty#]] to appeal to)* high*(ly sensational)* monkeys in the zoo factor (mention is made of mutuality on that score) and just how cruel is it to send them back and/or is that supposition really dumb.

He sacrifices his body to his mind by the sound of his wheeze (born in 47). He feels like a great insurpassable unbypassable authority and is offended that he was asked for advice only once.

* can they cash in on the simplistic view [[the 2 scientists and the programmer agree on being prevalent in holland]] that africa isn't much more stratified than tribal .. ..

The Binsbergen man makes gracious allowances that a popular, money making earmark for the programmers makes it to a great success .. .should such a dispelling sequel be made. The media mogul man emphasizes that the whole thing was voluntary and their charge was happy to go home again.

So many cultural things fly by in the racy program and yet they manage not to take enough steps back in order to really see where where the best rope is to be jumped. .. . .. This is what i wrote yesterday:

take a step back and view hu*(e)*mankind in the frame of evolution: the ambitious portion of their ancestors crawling onto land, growing limbs and gaining toehold purchase on very hard dry oxides (in lots of ways . . .. .without much realizing the latter contain and preserve the very same nourishing trace minerals that mysteries of the deep containing medium [[it's siblingk but wet oxide, firstborn of all according to some cosmologies]] carried in fluid form one was used to swim through and around in) to where you open rock for the nourishment it offers is a very transversally twisted tale. This cornerstone and crucial perspective on how life conceives itself out of the depths of deathlike material (and back again -see John Hamaker) is such a potential harmonizing and peace bringing one that it must't and needn't suprise anyone if the elitist 'profit means you get something for next to nothing cause the cost can be deferred to the exploited whose lives (those of their actively resisting margins to be more precise) can bleaken all the better if you have manage to stamp and treat them as bad guys who made da wrong choices' meme [which] missionaries have done everything to distract from, ignore and if they think it neccesary, prosecute any terrarist acting upon it. This guy is the most frustratingly diffuse of diffusionists. He posts a pic of irrigation patterns for instance and totally subsumes and submerges it under, subordinates it to, i would almost say holds it for ransom for too, his jumbo mumbo. This man must have an afflicted and severely thwarted venus, second house and taurus sign. And yet the man is thoroughly enamoured of rupture and fusion. Too bad he sees no role for humankind applying this verb to the facilitate the fabulous transition from in- to organic. The dutch have a defense minister at the mo who is a petite sort of guy -- and in any case but the tip of the iceberg in this story, ... bet he spent his childhood shy quiet and afraid of just about everything, he now however, puts up a shameless defense for a past cabinet's decision to stick with development of the JSF cost of which have risen 80% with respect to then agreed sum. People like that have never been in touch with life and have decided that messing with a symbol of perverted, incredibly offensive manhood will satisfy his lifelong of it and what's even better, he gets to call it defense. I'd be happier with a brujo/shaman as a chooser of the implements for contest.

on LR: Really now, this can all be explained quite simply, instead of our daily routine delivering autonomy and intimacy by way of selfsufficient empowerment, which involves care for close and seemingly little yet timelessly, transgenerationally precious basics in life, such as the stuff that courses through the compost heap, dealing with animals humanely, etcetera, we now are left with and as a remove, having delegated all such stuff to the bio-industry causing us to not only miss stuff but have a guilty consciousness about it too. Hence the fascination with horror, blooded imagery and corpses rather than, again, i can't say it often enough, helping stuff course through compost, rock empow*(d)*erment factoring not in least signinficant place there. The NG program borrows so liberally from RG that I was genuinely suprised they didn't admit it. Anyway, in the end they back off and emphasize some mystico-gnostic and conventionally christian sacrificial interpretation of the judas part. The program is knitted around the gospel of judas.

something to realize about social hierarchy and stratification; the steps can be many and close together or not as well as more or less steep. So far so good but the amount of turnover and transparancy determines wether the stretch is lenghtened by digging down as well. In other words not only some reaping others' reward but more and more depending on others' labours. Look at Holland with it's great big tolerance for the infirm, defect, handicaped and disabled, sliding into masochism suffered at the hands of assimilees who cash and carry culture differently, looking down on their host as deeply as the proudest and most self destructive parasite possibly can.

I see myself as a pp and uj who tries not to flounder on thr'ill-advised' and 'hard statements' in matters of MIGRATION AND IMMIGRATION OF MINERALS into the plantkingdom and am claiming we can use all hands willing and available.

Cause if you fail to erect a post as treeguide, how are you gonna cross, trellis along and pleach it???? I am saying vertical comes before lateral, 'traffic' along the former attracts the latter. That goes for VOC crews as well as more loosely organized and less hierarchalized clusters of migrants.

tallying one thing and another we can say that fully one third of the present generation is in danger of radicalizing.

* = believe me, Wouter Bos (wout and bos both mean forest but he worked for Shell) is really not much better than the christian dud Balkenende (bakellende = trough of misery) we have now, who keeps bloopering up, recently by praising the VOC (and no matter how much i like the perspective of Nick Szabo [[has blog]] they had a violent arm much like them lobsided scissored sea creatures) and before that by licking Bush's puppetstrings only to promptly come down with a dangerous footinfection requiring operation and bandaging so that the saying 'wit voetje halen' (getting ahead with flattery; probably the saying of starvlings approaching the miller, hah!) gained bonus currency.

back to Bob Dratch -- short rant summary):
hi, day before last i happened by a man's talk in front of a class and bycause the doors were open his display table was covered with books about water i stopped and listened for the remaining 4 minutes till breaktime wherein i asked about the bauble displayed; it was made by slim spurling and since that guy's website was on the blackboard in the only other colour used (also the only sitelink) i went for a look and thus revisited a former companion (compagnon) of slims: Bob Dratch. Back then he was hawking smart cards (he called godboxes) of the type that i found my new agism barometer, professional cat-scan operator, former landlord and (very) occasional lover to use a supersize version of.

Bob is all over the place, from scalar waves, music, cetaeceans, DoD and what not. Can't remember if i sent you the crowley criticism link then or not but i think i did this one too: http://bob-dratch.org/BeamerTetra.htm points to visi.com/~talon/pagan/pentacle.html

Your promise doesn't carry even so much as a reminder that the polymonotony through division tricks aren't just something you 'would' keep your hands away from cause you <souffleur> just can't stop cloistering kin within teachreach; let's do the splinternet boogie cause digitalia must be what Steiner's "our homeland, the text" pre-eulogistic applies to even more than whatever way stalbe wastable writ so far and if we keep our fingers tapping keyboards we can rest assured the goodwoodshitheads -- ever read "forest rites"? Trying to house families in trees isn't "narcissism" lexnunno (flexninja, fluxnino, limp bimbo, limp LeNintendoLux?), but an attempt to learn treading lightly -- won't wash us out of our jenes [/simplersonation]; ooewee, don't look into them too deeply, might find actionable skidmarks in there -- thinking of Winter vs Tenen; see waywardmuse.com/tenen.htm but i have no hopes of waylaying the untowardness of comparing alienhypettes like Judy with Robert Graves as i find another deathstarry eyed 'gater' (dualitcritter conflator) doing at that site just now. The trick is teaching all the testy topdog tapferkeit vortaueschende effects of immonosuppresage conveyed by movement for the waste it is, almost always costlier than expected, so much so that in fact (after a few lessons in loss) it becomes easy to understand the romanticized headlong rush into death, where loss is fabled to be less keen.

ttp://iparanastudio.com/ an english missionary in brazil still has the totally anachronisitc take on the holy land --- the promised land simply means the foliated land as the dutch language, thankfully, still, clearly shows: beloofde land has secondary connotations, lof en loof, besides prais can mean leaf/leaves --- as you can see from the cartoon shown on the front page. It made me think of a review i read recently, of a book by Phyllis Siefker tracing the gilgamesh/Enkidu polarization even further back to Neanderthalers taking sleeping bears and its present day Halloween/Christmastime echos via Commedia dell arte troups and books like 'when santa was a shaman'. Santa scenes prove to be the residue of 70.000 year old animist traditions. The review is called "Phyllis Siefker unmasks ulitmate bedroom invader" (found 6 copies on the net with this phrase; see below). Kinda like what israel is doing to yet more turf they intend to call their own yet again.

> Sunday, 25 October 2015 Killer Arguments Against LVT, Not (373) -- From Hacker News via Georgist Rapid Response Squad: There's an ongoing discussion in Poland about land-value tax. The problem here is that such tax is seen as a form of asset forfeiture. Why? Because of the communist times legacy. In 1970s and 1980s there were a lot of apartments built by communist government, most of which were given to average citizens either for free, or for some insignificant amount of money. Now almost 40 years passed and we ended up with millions of people still living in those apartments, which they got back then, or inherited.

?? ....well if that isn't RB at his most myopically pompousassitudinous; condemn CP for one 'slow' contributor? Again, if instead of a soft plop you wanna hear a sharp knock and expect the rockhard arguments you throw out coming back at you with the same speed, try aiming them at Linebaugh .. .or better yet, Beckerath and Rittershausen as defended best by Fekete at the mo.

9-11? Hah! Talk about billiard games. The Nat Geog. program on Ali Mo- or Muhammed is tedious through its repetitiveness but between the lines it conveys the in my opinion accurate and till further notice indelible impression that it takes several sets of double and triple agent with a penchant for exhibitionistic brawl and brash, the hard nuts so to speak, to score any points in big stage prop rough and tumbles. You are not able to understand that apparantly. Besides, who the fuck cares to go pry and prod in piles of dubious, trivila and quadruplicitous shit if you can focus and indeed BANK on fast growing understanding of natural growth rates.

So, I argue with Nick Land for a couple of years, rarely getting much farther than being stamped incomprehensible but when pointing to Beckerath he acknowledges soundness of the man's tack and that's just about all i am after on the splinternets cause it's linchpin particulate. ----------------------

> A long, long time ago, the Earth belonged to the creatures of the wood.

Drew goes:

> That's b.s. -- clearcut the forest and the little elve spirits go with it. In fact the MOON is destroying all organic life on Earth because HUMANS HAVE STOPPED FEEDING THE MOON.
> Freemasonry is turning organic life on Earth into iron and silica for the Sun. Gurdjieff talks about this in detail. The shaman relies on formless awareness which is the Source of the Sun.
> Plato worships the Eternal Sun -- not the Source of the Sun! that's the difference between Freemasonry and shamanism.
> Normal humans, not shamans, have their electrochemical energy -- their lifeforce -- fly up to the Moon at death to turn into mineral consciousness. Slowly the moon, through this feeding, is turning into a new Earth.

these lines return me to the sentiment DH is a fraud too:

At least i managed to stop being in a rush to present stuff (cause i lost hope of being taken/invited places in the short short wake of at[ablogo]tention) for a year but it only made me more eager and free to hold my thumb up/into the digital winds.

Would Jeroen Mettes agree i have not much more to offer despite my atprotestations and full array which ain't just foolery?

I'll blame you for losing that chance to know you know, how's that?

Unbelievable how incurably biased these guys are: "October 4, 2006--In (attempted) edits of her own entry at Wikipedia, Frisch includes the full name of an adversary's child."

5 years ago, a child with the middle finger stuck up at something was the photograph that caused a stir in the dutch press*. This past weekend he was featured with full name. Only playing at being a criminal doesn't exempt one from being named which is their sad privilege. Legal criminals don't even have to give their initials, a bit like Gerbils maybe.

You don't think between Mary Rizzo for instance and like bloggers we couldn't come up with a list of a thousand children mangled, tore and blown apart by american arms within the last year? Why don't you mention this aspect as a crucial trigger for Deb to succumb to your challenge and thus be stuck using the arms you nevertheless can't seem to own up to commiting her to.

Please open your eyes and be who you are; stop doing the 'we are all jews now' hollowwad shuffle. It's a lie; the world is not completely shot to hellish desert yet and we can calmly reject those who are working at it so succesfully the last few thousand years.

blahdiblah andanother blatant lie right after it. You just can't call this preaching misconceptions anymore. A dry hump that isn't musical, don't heap up useful dust, etcetera, ain't it and that's the lesson from the man shown in half lotus holding up torque and ramheaded snake, if he was the same one to let wealth run on the ground and the animals do indeed connect these two of so many as to plausibly be called ageless and undying depictions of cernunnos

PB Paine, Ali Muhammed (to stop at mentioning one on either side of the glass darkened) and all such (militant) folks acquire a marked characteristic if they prove good info hunters: weaving back and forth across front- and faultlines thereof bestows a double, triple or more multiple agency repute that becomes quite sticky, in direct proportion to sharing ability daring.

Wondered sometimes if PB wasn't run by a lefty pretending in order to dish up WC's choice morsels; great medicine for his audience which is probably what drives people like Pino, at least in part.

Take the dutchman Wesam al D (iraqi by birth but naturalized refugee) who, understandably curious after his genetico-cultural background/hinterland went to have a look and not only managed to film himself playing jihadi in the dust, obviously convincing enough cause he actually got away again too. My impression is that he too is a truely mercurial happy go lucky typaguy ('wammes waggel' has nothing on him, this is one of the nicely drawn characters created by the very best dutch author ever, Maarten Toonder, who's goose stands for those always after some fun to such an extent that they manage to see fun in terribly dangerous situations).

Sleuthing by PB has saved me time in the past but if i can prevent Wesam from having to do any remains to be seen.

> #393: 07-29-05 DUTCH CITIZEN CHARGED IN TERRORISM CONSPIRACY ... The criminal complaint, filed at U.S. District Court in the District of Columbia on Wednesday, July 27, charges Wesam Al Delaema, a/k/a Wesam Khalaf Chayed ...

In general i advise strongly against mimickry that is mockery or an attempt to shock a person into a better grasp on their own 'putout' by mirroring them, even if it is intended as mental excercise and upon successful execution pronounced fun. Getting your opponent mad was to be considered a source of mirth cause it proved the poof/deflation and direct hit to bloated ego but it results less and less in wego due to all the delegation, mediation ('remotation') we see (and suffer) these days. Folks like Theo van Gogh aren't safe, his entire country is no longer a haven for indulgences in penstroke sublimation of anger and frustration and the modest autonomous selfsufficience that is a basic and essential luxury (brightside of remoteness) one must acquire and be situated in (oh the glorious anonymity of it, like mud and mist) before beginning to offend the not terribly offensive and offense taking succesfully (offense taken to point of you out would be un no?).

The real fun is not until a sense of community results and that takes realistic threat/abundance dynamics. Free the oppressed minerals!!!!!!!

I have lost all reason to be cheerful over my excessive brightness, it is a zu tode betruebender burden.

anybody without an extra keyboard but extra alert when reading this, can perhaps enjoy the noises a being called Michael Hudson made on a (consp. tinged if not tainted) kpfa show.

I already appreciated his work but to hear the speed at which he delivers his knowledge is one of those thrills that fills the uneasily fooled fullup with misgivings about perverted generosity and all that (never mind if the delivery, though not making overtures, has hard to overhear overtones to borderline autisticated systematosis) since this is a trait of all oft repeated public repertoire obliging their quickly satiating and tiring effect to be compensated with high turnover (too bad travel is less and less refreshing, ey?); politicians should be made to do so no less than artists; a dutch program called 'man bijt hond' (man bites dog) shows 'markante' personen ('real characters') and is never as predictable and boring as the usual media tripe.

Anyways, i for one dropped my jaw in admiration and it reset some and set off other stowed, stalled and/or otherwise quite still, stagnant and idle gears, cogs and sprockets in motion.

Interview with financial economist and historian, Dr. Michael Hudson.

have you noticed google is following your ass closely? i used to consider 'it' my guardian angel when making risquee pronouncements (ridiculing religions for forgetting that judgements and decisions are vertical/radial part apportioning and participation apportionment). Too complicated and off-topic here. I'll restrict myself to mentioning all that has to do with http://www.remineralize.org

..... i get booted out the building i have been using close to 4 years off and on as a place to live bycause:

a: i recycle half used paper with sensitive information (emails containing judgments candidate underlings and pupils by established and tenured teachers, mentors and all that). This building contains over a hundred offices, two lecture rooms, cellars and its many other comprisements consist of workshops, garages, fields and many greenhouses.

The tender of the building is also involved in organic ag but has had enough of complaints occuring over the years.

b: I wash in the rest rooms sometimes as i sleep in the car this and last year.

c: i display various foodstuffels of the day around the one of 8 computers i use in a long corridor with laptop storage and such at my back and behind that 2 comp clusters with nearly 40 terminals.

What really did is is a print i sent to an office (with a female who had barely tolerated me all along - quite a few of those here; nearly a handful) and remarking disappointedly it was not double sided; i have only started trying to print in this building this past month; an earlier attempt 3 years ago had been served with a cease and desist order but this time it's the boot altogether

I then accidently sent another print to a corridor printer near her and though i tried shutting the program down i was given the print and the boot.

Thus ends my sojourn in Wageningen i guess.

version 1: Hatred is an expression, a vent and perpetuator of disempowerment, being dominated, overrruled and only fuels the frustrator.

Fisherman for instance already was little once as we all were and will be old like we all will be too. Where the pity lies i'll not profess to know.

Personal interest in hatred, agression, submission (to personified, anthropomisphised and personalized forms of pow[[d]]er) versus constructive forcefulness, along with a pointer by Benjamin has led me to add this here link:

All of which reminds me to record my own work (multiple depths/lenghts possible after perfecting the code of many colours/parentheses instead of leaving it as a challenge for somebody else to splinter their bites n barks upon). If only i could kick this misanthropic silence of not making the grade that i was born and dunked into, steeped in for dangerously close to too long, etcetera.

Hatred as an expression evolves from being wet and hot, a vent and perpetuator of disempowerment, being dominated, overrruled which only fuels the frustrator by way of resistance or submission (to personified, anthropomisphised and personalized forms of pow[d]er towards the dryer colder constructive forcefulness that is the simple geographic [[medicine wheely like]] result of optimal mixture modification and temperment).

Fisherman (you commenting?) scolds Martin but, for instance, already was little once as we all were and will be old like we all will be too. Where the pity lies i'll not profess to know but practicing interdependence that doesn't lead to war is apparantly not well served by the net with it's flash instantaneousness and at least as hard to rigamaritualize equitably as international relations or as adventure is to be rid of haphazardness *(only seemingly so for the truly brilliant but that's another story. Chris King mentions 'culture of honor' in his online work 'sexual paradox' indirectly, trying to illustrate how "more severe rules come to the surface"
he quotes Pinker (along with the infinitely more valuable Laura Betzig, Regina Schwartz) about how herding societies "cultivate a hair trigger for violent retaliation" ... at the end of the quote P claims renunciation of such 'CULTure' [quotes mine and meant mockingly] "can be a concession of weakness and low status even when the sheep and mountains are a distant memory." -- took a bit of time and trouble finding that quote (Pinker quoting this book by Nisbett and Cohen in turn Qed by King) again (read it march/april) which i (in my turn) had made a (noted on cover page of print) preminderpoint of, namely, to turn the pithy designation of the congenitalization of unfriendliness Pinker succeeds formulating here (he would though, wouldn't he?) into a post.

Within weeks i made that note into a gmail draft but ever since i have the feeling i can search through all prints i ever made, the idea of returning to this as yet unmade post flashed and flitted through my head repeatedly. Not sure if i went through the trouble of looking it up on the internet back in march, don't believe i did, just recall I made sure to find it either way (full disclosure below) and as a matter of fact, just did, just where i started suspecting i would a week ago as i stopped into margo's just before my birthday and gathered what printed stuff i do have digitally off her compiyoutearuachner and found one of them to carry his name printed alongside (same day as) 62 (count after 4th or fifth restart, the year my prints started not to get more frequent but larger [[two thirds of them rose above half a meg]] and the one Named Chris King indeed spans the (pinnacle peak) crown [[past the 2Meg mark]] as the Dutch have their way of designating superlatives), anyway, here it is:

> Pinker (R490 327) notes also that in the context of herding and social chaos, more severe rules come to the surface:
> In 'Culture of Honor', the social psychologists Richard Nisbett and Dov Cohen show that violent cultures arise in societies that are beyond the reach of the law and in which precious assets are easily stolen. Societies that herd animals meet both conditions. Herders tend to live in territories that are unsuitable for growing crops and thus far from the centers of government. And their major asset, livestock, is easier to steal than the major asset of farmers, land. In > herding societies a man can be stripped of his wealth (and of his ability to acquirewealth) in an eyeblink. Men in that milieu cultivate a hair trigger for violent retaliation, not just against rustlers, but against anyone who would test their resolve by signs of disrespect that could reveal them to be easy pickings for rustlers. Scottish highlanders, Appalachian mountain men, Western cow- boys,Masai warriors, Sioux Indians, Druze and Bedouin tribesmen, Balkan clansmen, and Indochinese Montagnards are familiar examples. A man's honor is a kind of 'social reality' in John Searle's sense: it exists because everyone agrees it exists, but it is no less real for that, since it resides in a shared granting of power.

> When the lifestyle of a people changes, their culture of honor can stay with them for a long time because it is difficult for anyone to be the first to renounce culture. The very act of renouncing it can be a concession of weakness and low status even when the sheep and mountains are a distant memory."

the page before the one quoted above has not just a few hilites as well:

> According to proponents of the gradualist school, patriarchy isless a male conspiracy to keep women down than a necessaryby-product of a society in which progress increasingly dependson mobility and brute strength............If revolutions in technology once made dominance by men - and thus patriarchy - inevitable, it follows that when machines replace bodies altogether, as they have arguably begun to do today, patriarchy may well disappear. This is exactly what Ortner, among others, predicts. "Just as technological evolution created patriarchy," she says, "so technology now has the power to cancel it out because it obviates physical strength and equalizes the sexes."............We also need to consder the possibility that migrations, even in small waves of bands of warriors could alter the sexualdemography of a migrating group to make them morepatriarchally exploitative of societies they over-ran, for exampleabducting or seizing the women, consistent with Sanday'sfindings of increasing patrarchal emphasis in migrating peoples.

... "equalizes"?? 'confuses', .. more like .. toxtec - nobody (more fanatically than me) carefully vets and keeps these things separate enough to put the flimsiest space between them ... . Down farther into 'Sexual Paradox' we read:

> Laura Betzig*(R52)* notes: "Things became really extreme when people began to grow crops and live together in towns and villages. The leaders of these early societies ruled by terror, and were able to procure vast numbers of sexual partners. These guys had sexual licence." --- The record holder, she notes, was Udayama, who reigned in India around 500 BC and had a harem of 16,000.
> Laura Betzig, one of a new breed of Darwinian historians, setout to discover whether human sexual adaptations have been exploited to give individuals a selective advantage - and discovered that this is one of our most predictable traits.

> Revered features of the idealmale in a matrifocal society are disparagedby patriarchy. But it is these features, and the characteristics of the individuals thatthrive in that kind of world, that is theworld of the autistic child. ------ Without constant exposure to the primary features ofthe matrifocal world, the neurological structure of a child organized physically,mentally, and emotionally to experience the world in that way will languish. Unceasing interactional music with highly evolved rhythms and constant touch with sophisticated dance are essential to a child inclined toward maturational delay.

> ------Incidentally, matrifocal social structure females have relatively high testosterone levels (remember, they are more domineering) and so they produce maturationally delayed males and maturationally accelerated females. In a patrifocal social structure the females have lower testosterone levels producingmaturationally accelerated males, anddelayed females.
> ------The United States is the melting pot. A glorious result of this stew is the blending of formerly unfamiliar genetics into new genetic mixes engendering skills and talents among our children often unattained by a homogeneous people who rarely mix.

------nuttin glorious about the average / trade off sides of this equation though ... in fact, nothing but a pool the metastatizers of evil fish in.

> ------ As barriers keep falling that prevent peoples from different ethnicbackground from marrying, the children ofthose marriages often exhibit features ofthe parents' last common ancestor. The diaspora from Africa has been estimated to have begun to occur around 50,000 years ago. Marriages of two individuals from ethnic backgrounds last in contact by aportion of that length of time will frequently have children requiring the stimulation anddiet common in a matriarchal social structure from that far back in time. Theseare children blessed with the potential tomake the modern world a far richer place tolive, but they require special nurturing anda special diet.

things are going well with a thinkpad at disposal; 4 gigs free space left and what takes up the rest is looking tighter and lighter all the time. Frusts with folders (resizing [[losing my prefs on every renaming unless I open all the ones it contains first, etcetera]]) notwithstanding.

Here goes saving some notes from last year (some of which may be doubling an earlier entry, like the one about Scholes, to be found in june) but upon reading the sample from his "...brothel of modernism..." with a note attached it had 10 more parts in october i decided to command myself to get the rest ....which i have still to get around to ... (did find it in the fall sometime.. .. mercifully bunched into 3 parts now). Head hygiene is funny business. Its elaborynthian tasks only pile up and fold in more, with technicalities only increasing the hunger, dissatisfaction and fragmentation. What's new.

may/june 2006 print out (???) prompted me to scribble the following notes (wish i had taken notes with all of them but this, after printing out 200Megs worth of online stuff, is the first official review, so, sorry for the wait guys).

Gilles de Rais mentioned by Rickels (at the Koelln seminar) on the topic of 'cutting one's losses' (reviewing all sorts of cuts and casts, from tax to kindest, from up to down, from fore to aft):
"Loss catches up to us cause one just can't cut it completely and perfectly."
Devilishness is by definition imperfectability requiring angelic patience. Angels though, have source scorn (like me mommy has 'likdoorn' =sore corn), repelled by the muddy man adam, forgetful of their own lines of and beads on fuel fundamentals, which when breaking down is even less reciprocable with tiptop of the mental hygiene food supplies inchainement, ...

This kindly cuts out any false hope and recognizes faith is merely a make believe deposit and one must strenuously object to the notion that real redemption follows bakery fakery of floury and floursome fining finesse.

inspired by calendarsign.com ---- Backdating of/to beginnings is a psychological trick akin to faith (see above) in that it positions and posits bliss at millenial switch of saviour's return (the personification of constellation structure [[sited, suited, sighted and sidedwith so as to be rightly angled for climax sturdiness]] as a starpower pickup service) or whatever the perps manage to strike with their fancy. Don't need to be more than a web of meticulously trumped and pumped up symbols, taking care to vary fashions timely enough of course.

A full zodiac sign degree set cover its 2000 years by way of a factor 66.6 (the years it takes to cover one of the thirty zodiac degrees that make up a great year). Present and more accurate calculations raise that number into the seventies (a valuable bit of info slide info i gleen from a segment which went into another last year's printout - nov30B - p 10 - and contains a few snippets from www.elcappuccino.ch p 10)

Doing violence to, at the very least, not accepting, reality, is religion's forte, losing all scruples makes adherents and all those they manage to charm bad losers. In fact, all mental professions implicate themselves as/in hell as well.

Is this the price for showering, bathing and nearly drowning our kids in words and language, the price for fairy tale telling? INTRO ABOUT THE RELAUNCH OF INDYMEDIA NEWSWIRE HILITES AND THE COMMENTS ON A WORLDWIDE ACTIVELY RECRUITING SECT.
were my indy files (36-40) made with word? ... that is to say, I am not sure if I made them with Word ... in fact ... i am pretty sure i didn't . .. . so then archive.org started converting files they save to Word code (starting somewhere in 2002) though i just saw a dead site from 2003 that didn't have that sacrilege perped upon them, another though, namely back ups of the commercial name owners/overtakers/takeoverers ... veroveraar = conquerors in dutch), .. cause later version of 28 are Word encumbered, burdened and bloated but earlier ones are not). Gosh Josh, and here i am thinking and apparantly in vain, hoping that archive org is an idealist outfit.

Problem with 36 - 41 (last issue) as found at archiveorg (with the wayback machine) might then be that they were created/saved post Billy Gates take over/infiltration, respectively the sell out cq succesfull bribing of these so called idealists. ....

Well, meanwhile i have had time to check and must simply conclude that there are no versions old enough to escape this fate. Period. Another reason to see and save earlier work of mine through there only. If you do at all of course. Please. Thanks.

Issue 8 was thought to be missing till i found out march 2001 of the logbriefer series got counted as 8 (2001) and half of it is indy derived blogging (avant la lettre).

Another thing i sort of regret doing myself yesterday (nothing to do with saving versions of my work in time cause unlike for mentioned files, i do have backups of originals for these) and stop doing today is turning most white text in the older indy files grey (while setting the monitor darker is the more sensible thing to do) but i think i'll stick with the new versions since i have added (and corrected) a few lines here and there.

Saw 2 black salamanders on a perilous, half washed out path by a river with the size and colourwise prettiest collection of gravel you ever wanna see yesterday.

i wanted to add this comment and then remembered how deb frisch has her blog*(ger)*s hacked repeatedly which means they are not safe nor is my email right?

the big slab of fused together reviews and single line thoughts has an alarming amount of semi- and full redundance, iow, repetittiousness is key here.. ..mind you, my pages http://poetpiet.tripod.com suffer the same drawback and i do appreciate testing people's memory and the effort to formulate anew and even sharper but as in sculpting, unceasingly adding polish, new curves and angles onto a body (of thought in this case) runs the risk of whittling it down completely, matter of fact, this complete transformation should be the object from the get go and has a lot to do with not biting off more than you can chew. A blackbird is well educated enough to totally finish a piece of fruit it started on, unlike starlings who will poke holes in, thus do spoil, many.

If I may posit a piece of advice as well as a request here.

Focus more on sociological triggers (a la sapolsky and the meforum piece on agnation and perhaps some rescued clues from saharasia, taking the criticism of aetherometrist what's his name into account) to the desert vs green (silica vs carbon) conundrum of the cultural clutterclatter.

Other than that, thanks for being a fine entertainer but be careful to keep eating. Neglecting that in favour of a brightly burning consciousness, not letting, leaving and allowing time and space for rest and down time runs exactly the risk/program already alluded to. Favoring agency and intellectual constructs (terminology [[re-]]invention and juggling over the growth and influence from the un- and subconscious below). Working with lowly rock for music, spectacle and revitalization (taking on the work of volcanoes and ice ages [[too abrupt the first, too slow the last]] as i try to do could use a sharp mind like yourself and you could use the grounding i am sure).

some weeks later there is a comment wherein Drew ('Ghoul') mentions the clever coinage by Badiou: 'pythagorise' made to stand for unify which according to Drew leaves out half of the famous Pformula: 'all is number and harmony' (and thus itself open to the escalating chainreaction dynamic: repititious uniformity, exploitative monotony, automatronic horror, all of which promote, conjure and set the fighting mode in motion, which, Drew asserts, is typical for lefty hippiness which leaves and cuts out, bans and otherwise denies equality to the rnaging equally near and far but righty grippiness).

boycott blogger!!!!!!!!!!!!!! today the nineteenth of june 2007 Blogger team allows the harassers of Deb Frisch to use not only the legal system in the US but those who should be able to make sensible judgements when it comes to credible threats. THE problem in the American psyche it seems.

to the blogger team: Quite disturbing to find her site and blogs 'legally' blocked and/or stolen from her repeatedly.

Doesn't do much for my confidence in a google account. I just found myself hesitating to make a comment at a blogger blog and decided to write this query instead.

Having followed the case somewhat I seem to remember you siding with the crowd that pursues her as mercilessly, counterproductively and cowardly as the US and Israeli Army are trying to 'deal' with their opponents and that is, preferably, from a great big distance, a position of utter and total inequality with an incessant demonization campaign doing the socalled justifying there.

ps (december): she has been going (pretty steady now) at http://harbaughboyz.blogspot.com for quite a while (though occasionally forced to pull a post).

on Karyn Ball on Heidegger

Piet: Handling (Sein/Stein) stonedead death in a manner frequently referred to throughout my meticulously though some say crazily colourquilted textpatches (watch for 100Mb of it coming on/up in one go soon) preflexes the dread and droughty darkness of rock into a condition that soon changes and thereby changes all it influences. What ice ages and volcanic activity have been for terraforming children of stars is a job we are cut out to do and if we don´t manage to see that our birthright may forfeit during one of them unexpected but sure to be scheduled somehow slatewipes.

Piet: encompass duality, live the paradox and don't let the difference between day and night, dense and light fool you into flattening time into stop and go without applying the multifraction fractality formula to either and/or both of any of those and all the rest of extremes:

autonomy ...., as much as Karyn Ball demonizes and likes to call it evil names ('phallic'), being o so confused and tied in mental knots over authenticity as a past quote already shows, and this one too:

> "As the self-centered protagonist acting on behalf of Heidegger's fundamental ontology, everyday Dasein fails to stay resolute in its anticipation of death. In reckoning with or fleeing from death rather than steadfastly confronting the certainty of its ever-possible yet contingent end, Dasein loses its integrity as an existential hero."

, ... is a wonderful goal, unfathomably easy to obtain given time (rockdust application suffused permaculture does the trick, to use a few hip grip buzzwords from the very choozy few who became superconscious during the eighties).

piet: i am getting tired of picking up after her but obviously anticipating life is a great occasion for joy and the more so if you reckon it's a chainlinkedpreaction all the way from single cellers to your offspring and beyond that does it and on top of that you yourself got that and did it. Such consistent evil mirror games point to a very advanced stage of cleverness and yes i mean schizophrenia.

concluding remarks: Once one realizes that dust must break down, Karyn's 'whole' contains elements which need to be broken down to make all whole and keep the whole whole the immiseration of philosophy, crazionism, whateva, have lost their hold over you and yours (if you manage to communicate this message clearly).

Karyn keeps pounding on pounds of flesh, even specifies a particular variety, that worn by the jew, but for all her demographic prowess (if that's what she is aiming for here), hasn't a clue what a little fresh death as in dust can do.

why Karyn Ball riles me so.

So close yet no showgear. It should be obvious if you have wrestled through my jungle and found the great big mental diamonds (read postulate 1.9 via the library at tortuga.com if you don't believe in 'm yet) hung in the trees that were selected protected and showcased (cause that is, ladies and gentlemen, that is how nazi i do am).

Karyn goes: "drain them dry of the precious minerals in their blood"
- Perhaps she should have replaced the word ressentiments with parasites, either way, her argument is worthy of my attention if only for the fact my present host (who believes i must be a lefty - even though I have a misfortunate penchant for eso-schmeso [[talking of which, 'll soon be reacquainting myself with the no doubt still zionist slant on things Middle East by Eric Wijnants in whose house I would like to write the next inspired recounting of my adventures,feel free to arrange it for me]j to have stuck with indymedia for so long .. . . and who might even host my site, probably till and/or unless he finds out i have serious respect for folks like Schüsslburner that is, a constitutional law buff who champions all sorts of aspects from worldviews as ortedsported by the likes of nazis minus the violence and a few more advanced faraparts vindididuals, is about the same age as me and probably the next Carl Schmitt - i aint volunteering that info though which has to do with the neighbours here, more on that in a moment, and his english is as bad as mine is good) suffers from said affliction, at least he believes he is being distracted, leeched off of and periodically enraged (at other times resigned by his chronically permanent shadow, the lone older, balding and lazy man who has found refuge with him and whom I recognized from 3 years ago, he had kept all windows and doors tightly shut and the potatoes rotting in the cellar for a week, sheeeesh, the stuff one puts up with to be classified a good for nothing - I was quickly declared a clone/reinforcement for this faction of old schlemealymouthmen with nowhere to go) but permanently alienated from and by, to say nothing of those in authority who will wrest near and dear ones from you too.

On Joern Bergstedt (another k55 as i find out later, see the VV note set)
I've got 47 mp3s ranging from 77 to 700K with him doing standup to headnodding crowd who by way of exception laugh out loud when Jörn recounts how he is held accountable for indymedia in court, in his recounting this absurdity he pronounces that word in the high note range which under our present cultural keys and locks [under which music suffers and sighs] is given to trigger and [taken as cue to] set the tone for a volley of right out loud laughter (never mind abjectitude of ridicule) to punctuate the usual and occasional snicker as this lefty crowd weathers out the profusely copious amount of syllables being poured out all around their ears minutely detailing the little foul tricks law enforcement has been forced to resort to and use to guarantee an acceptable and therefore minimal measure of upset (soothing the perps that they thereby have uncovered and exposed the inherent and in principle evil embedded in all who stand by property and propriety. He himself pours endless hours of loving labour into his archive yet risks it by taunting his opponents into making threats to burn it down, which he then holds up a trophies, a form of self-defying that must come about as concommitant to his self-denying - about which more later).

If you go onto a small town square filled with election campaign stands and expect to make friends by using a megaphone not just long enough for a policeman to be alerted and show up but quite few of them, i don't see how you may accuse your opponents of dirty tricks (make a booktitle out of it even!) and play the evermore multiply murdered yet undying innocence he wants to be allowed to set the tone in a society with no wastes, possesions or 'higherarkeys'.

He lives off dumpsterfood and mailorder books (the library has the same problem all booklovers have and political activism has greatly diminished over the last few years so the over 20 matresses reserved for political activists around the small village choked farm he lovingly and artistically turned into a labyrinth of narrowly twisting and turning passage with a clearing here and there, sure to be lit by an extra window Jörn fished from the trash also) ... did I mention there are lots of parallel strands in our lives yet? Same colour different weave or vica versa perhaps) stay unoccupied more and more.

Jörn has a website projektwerkstatt.de for which he shamelessly filches wireless bandwidth (quickly dismissing research making this technology if not alone accountable for trouble bees find themselves in, certainly a candidate for figuring as a rather large factor) from a non-commercial neighbour to upload the mp3s and all the rest that goes along with the book filled with all the clippings about him and his army of floozy doozies which he is rather vehement, almost elitist even, in dismissing. He is careful to not be so shameless with his downloads cause he likes to remain undetected (I'll have more to say about how this ties into his unmurderable innocence mystique in a minute) bycause everybody is welcome and can sniff around (and keep doing it to if you can stand his elitist abuse and be classed as a useless waste of time exactly in the way Karyn Ball describes the process of pressures that lead anyone who buckles under them to eventually equate the most loved, near and dear ones with those who supress, dominate and extract labour from you for no more valid reason nor more or greater commonality than that they both call upon and eat into your disposable time) but he won't volunteer his hyperride hitching to his very own neighbour. Instead of cordial relations with many he works with a very select few and the type of sentiment Karyn Ball is on about fits, him, as i started to say to a t.

Inspirations usually dissipate quicker than i like but this one i remember and goes as follows:

just as jakob and esau as well as cain and abel, not to mention isaac and ishmael were cases of mistaken, mixed and misrepresented identities between relatives (not so distant, siblings even), 911 is a mere episode in and along the same vein/groove/washed out and eroded gully, ravine and chasm, a mere instance and example of the fact that zionism vs mohammedanism (or should i say jewism vs islamism) can't be contained, defused, cured and diverted, all of worldwide christianity notwhithstanding

Once upon a chinoise time the social skill lacking person could wander into some remote mountain region and join some daoists weirdo monks who cultivated (and or somehow acquired) a rep for curing people who in a crisis took a long and in itself already healing hike into the hills and up, who then and there witnessed the hardship of the monks and no doubt realized their life wasn't as hard to bear as they thought (before the much needed and instantly helpful .. long before reaching the imagined source of supply ... venture and quest into wilderness) especially from that healthy distance, closer to fresh air and freedom -- wether renamed female formless awareness backed up by the headiest of reading diets, Orbitally Rearranged Mono atomic Utter Shite ....bla bla (whatever ORMUS 'officially' stands for, never mind completely impartial and not at all product pushing clowns like Carter who prefers to borrow, remix, pass along and orchestrate the phoniness echoing off all the walls he wails his prescriptions in- and onto).

Not having gotten tired from the honest work implied in second paragraph here and countless times before ..... but how come i can't find a single protest from the likes of Philip Callahan about the misuse of his research for all those alchemysty con-artists?????? .... the feverpitch of the (unknowns socalled charting but in actuality parasitic reality abducting) fabulation commiters, those would- and wannabe reachers of famosity, those who thus fitfully wake rather that rest through the night, literally reach great hights and so fleeting and flitting starlore is born, fucking with time as mental pollution that prefigures and -curses all others. Drew's navel- and all other stations with stops along the meditation around major bodyplumbing stares notwithstanding, some will come up with the stuff in a pill and other price- but costless goodness cut short. Barry, certified member of jerklecirc like Vinnie Pinto, a former John Ray pupil do time to but away in favor of a magic pill and we all know how popular substance abuse is.

Yes, music can be (for me at least, unrecapturable but that may reflect lack of practice/discipline/patience) magic and then does point elsewhere, connects, feeds analogies, offers clues that tend to help ground oneself, hinting at chores in the least compelling way possible, how imperative ever they be and even if they are long overdue will use that feminine wile and ruse unless survival dictates heavy cases of personal protection due to a rising and inyour face type confrontational tide of ravalries (something i have determined to start calling semitosis after reading the shocking passage in Solzhenitsyn's book about how young jews starting breeding in the 19th century, my understanding of demographics shifted a few gears then). I realize overuse could get my blogs suspended like Rowan's, if i were to constantly *('top')*titling perfectly mainstream articles as he did, adding other comments but rarely; staple terms: zionist nazis or nazi americans.... curious by the way that Xymph doesn't seem this sort of telltale quirk worth noticing, though niqnaq does appear in his feedlist).

spekkoper = man who made it (literally buyer of bacon) ... a sussed 'specophopers' ... next is an installment of what i termed 'semitosis' at the time:

I regard the article (which i shall shortly retrieve) praising lifelong learning a dirty trick, a euphemistic cover for herding the unwary up the road to autism sponsored by, extends and feeds the dominant nile delta sprung .. duhhh ... judaic orthodoxies (whether chabad, kahal [[kehilot]], or outlier buffer 'zonebies' like bolshie, zionist, salaf or whahab and/or whatever other past present and future [god forbid] plumage [[and flavors of disgusting, desertifying patrism with runaway demography doctrine killing their own as much as anything else, {{{pisces era and region heritage symbolized by the tabooed and exterminated boar/swine}}} in tow and under their tails]] we suffer from are out there). Thus digitarians and cryptographers are encouraged to 'dig' symbolization even if it has zero to do with true specks of humility (see my large volume of digging up this vein with regards to Arguelles).

the next alinea doubles to the JA pile as well:
Stealing the charm of that (digging) as the quote does below isas imperceptibly as inexorably turning us all into isolates insolates, damaged and stackable domestic help for those who like to *(ab)*use all the help they can get to socalled recover beauty (security certainty, justification) from their plurisyllabic sacred writs (from qurans and bibles by means of code), though all the ancient vigor and greenery isn't residual and represented in any more than highly dilute (homeopathically potent yes) precipitate and instead clearly and thoroughly lost since then. Nevertheless our taskmasters put up a pretense of recapture if not continuance (by means of which they conveniently distract from and deny their role in the suffering of those losses).

To prove that reading this kind of rhetoric a while is still a stimulus to me too, even though i have abstained from participating since around spring, i offer a passage that triggered a bit of scribbling in the extremely marginal as margins as mine tend to be margin. The citation leaves least possible doubt these folks are truly dedicated to not to mention specialized in honing and shining the sophisms about other people's idiocies; it reads as follows:

> "antisemitism ... which jews have said is a weapon best wielded by jews against other jews"

my go: jewishness empire feeding on it's favorite: freedom. It is 'multicultourism' which tops call liberating and bottoms oppressing. It is the zubeanism of shared interest that looks like usury from the (left) outsider's standpoint, if they see it at all before they didn't know what they had and find it gone.
Jewish cohesion is not organic but always fractured, floating, constructed, often enticing, frequently incited and not seldom coerced cause the matrilineal descent they vaunt as fount of righteous pride is really misogynistic pre-emption of the real thing, something used to thinly veil enterpreneurial edge and acumen in turn hiding and covering for the cabals of shared and holding usurism beneficiaries who are sure to shed, sacrifice and literally leave plenty of decoy cause just in time and case a new front opens and a chance to fake closure arises, a wall of laws ....., as Rowan emphasizes, the jews range not only far and wide but deep and shallow, from very sorry to vary soulful, the more invisible and offensive what they thus cowardly (but incessantly search if not already and/or no longer) carry and pack, the better they like it.

Tetrahedral shapes are ascribed 'bioactivity', BD admits being duped (presumably in a way he repeatedly scoffs at, scolds and warns for) by the 'flower of life' crowd and even though he seems to look at political and economic leaders at least as deprecatingly (even accusing them of making his computers crash with unmarked helicopters stealing trillions cause he patented the ideas that led to gps), he retains some sort of holy respect for the freedom thought which he and many like him still believe america embodies (eliminate opponents [[they are by definition opposing freedom not the tyrants who are trying to dress up their imperial nakedness with such 'goede sier' even though they are empty words, false claims and hardnosed lies]] with precision and minimum collateral damage - a communist thought if there ever was one).

After wandering acriss across the US during the eigthies (since when times have changed apparantly, a Dutch bicyclist who overstayed his visa was detained for 3 months and helped off the street by the salvation army when he came back, or so the radio says) I staked some claims off my own but they tried to affect too great a heap of people. This much too grandly aimed for goal was to shame americans into not daring to build even a single other additional home anymore and gradually phase out and off of turtle island altogether over some generations in order to, by way of restitution and reparation, offer relatively more native americans a chance to recover and rest*(ore)* their territory while much the same thing would have to happen throughout europe (autonomization, secession, permaculture, and all those other terms that emphasize a mere aspect in this complex string of derivatives and equivalents).

another aim i went for is to *(re)*instill the belief that in order to get/make money, one must, parallel to it and practically, precisely and proportionally concommital to it, make/reach AGREEMENTS (minted [[notified, certified]], implemented [[published and circulated]] in close succesion, if not at once), this worked a lot better (perhaps due to the historical precedent and perhaps cause folks like Thomas Greco felt the same way).
Greenspan at the other end of the economist pecking order followed suit only to gladly and under cover of the most rosily possible painted formulaic lawfulness made sure good americans were seduced into becoming socialist leechers in the money for nothing euro mold -- so that their managers could be tempted to jump in and join the fictitious wealth amassment, some installing strange valves with deep diving equipment cause the rising levels of vice begged to be laundered into luxuries -- in short, all who presumed to be able to lay claims to pieces of america after pronouncements to the contrary by the likes of poetpiet were entitled to immediate subsidy for such acts of bravery and blissful ignorance and received loans forthwith, but of course the amounts mounted well beyond the prudent as they have traditionally, it is the only way of making the incurables useful, namely to bowl over and drag a decent enough proportion of most obedient slaves (but nevertheless promoted to the disownable prey type) and hardest working competition down with them in the thus premeditated downturn squeezeburn.

Piet: After hearing a few such shows (available at his website too - michael-hudson.com) i conclude MH totally ignores and so i must assume also discounts the diffusive (avertive?) aspects i mentioned (and in turn heard explained on tallkradio by proffesional debt assistance, the immune system of our feverish but still damn pragmatically dutch society at work so to speak) and such neglect paints extremely and unrealistically gloomy pictures (his great insights lead to very clear statements about positions and principles but his moral extremism blinds him for overal effects and makes his calculation prowess reach a cut-off point prematurely, before the (in)calculation of the mix in the balance. In the long haul parasitism is by definition never pure and victorious)

I suppose I am not one to tell Americans where to go (back to) as long as i am resisting seeing my self as not authentically Dutch enough to make a serious move (though my emigration plans stand firm even while postponed by aged mother and sister) .. which would be enticingly facilitated if there were, say, some sorely needed taskforces that start to succesfully regreen the mesopotamian heartlands and thereafter the other half of saharasia.

Well, after this diversion to the real world, let's return to you crazy miuzooz, i'll throw out a quote that is sure to get you started responding:

Bob Dratch:

This file is pretty much equal parts your comments from that item (plus you quoting Derrida) and my comment to both of you. I'll begin with the one i wrote after this file reached the 41K mark, which is when the import/pact of the title sunk in.

Never mind your item, your work is shit in writing according to some of your most frequent commenters in the past, people i read*(/'trace' the word that appears [[about, maybe even exactly]] 19 times in this item of yours)* as much as I do you (more even but that's cause you have been taking looooong posting/commenting breaks in the last few months -- i guess ... .. i haven't tried to chase you round the blogosphere like i have done with Rowan Berkeley and Drew Hempel).

My work could be summarized as writing in/on dust, trying to segue into dust in/as writing, the type of writs that produce dust (I fantasize about rock penetrating jets to create heavy mists/fogs slurries and sprays, an illness averting and pre-empting flow-de-force type splurge of generosity spoutage) rather than text, the *(good/unfoldability/shadeBeforeShame)*book-giving complement to book-keeping (that complement of self as angelic tracage Derrida offhandedly and 'smilingly' struggles with) and that similarly traces history of storage/accumulation (value .. preservation, supposition speculation).

Psychedelicacy is a 1:1.000.000.000 type deal (pieman.com). Naomi Klein types don't generally progress from garden variety hippy to fundamental grippy (an archetype i am trying to revive/pioneer). It takes more than an incling for what Charlotte Riehlen depicted --- in her tableau of the famous judgment day turned into a geological divide (where geography meet genealogy crossing the climax/climate axis of biopolitics). The right (='left') side shows narrow paths and the right (='right') the straight and fancy throughways, paradegrounds, slums and battlefields (i linked to it here in the past i am sure) --- though i content the method holds promise in an age when animation of the inanimate may/might could/should become 'in'. The church halfway up the panorama (in a later version I have) for instance could be a rockgrinder factory absolutely most important thoroughfair in the world.

-- The rootstock onto which our Internet was grafted is making sure the freedom fostering elements won't easily escape their militaristic perversion and supression, all making sure www.ledgerism.net goals will not be realized without some sort of warfare (significantly enough, Todd Boyle, who runs that place is occupied keeping army recruiters off young folks' necks youtube), ... so, fanciful perhaps, but i can see where appeal to the populi and pretentious alike of declaring off-shorages and anonymities terrorisms come from, can't you?

-- When one searches for the ultimate meaning of justice and uses the term urteil by way of comboogling with poetpiet, one finds decision closely related to division in the sense of opening along the uttermost primary organizational axis biospher*(ad)*icality prefers: vertical radial (ultralocal, microbi(oti)c yet cosmic)

Urteil cites from my http://poetpiet.googlepages.com: Decision is meant to have an ultra- and/or microlocal radial righteous/upright and straight up version to reflect its true meaning. Urteil = verdict but also most ancient share, separate, aim; vor gericht = in court; richtig = right; Dutch gerechtigheid = justice, etcetera, all tying in to my humble gospel of humility/humus, climate cycles and most purposeful, costeffective and enjoyably forceful effort application ps: I failed to recruit, i mean interest Chas Clements (dot net) in your ca*(u)*se. Why don't you try. He wanted one of your posts run through a lucidity filter, i thought of many complimentary filters in the middle of the night (when dead is alive and all that hard to recall sorta circumspiration).

ps to joseph: sigh, when are you all gonna learn that poetry and hence diversity proT*(notJ)*ecting humanity, aint poetry unless it has a radial component?

as in urteil (judgement) most ancient partition, the vertical, the erect, the love of the sun, the plantlike. Not for nothing does this word without the prefix and as a verb also mean sharing, same goes for the dutch version (oordeel).

It's monstrously contentious (just 2 mentions of hazard: to attentiveness and pleasant tensions) to pretend you can harmlessly gather and concentrate an ongoing, distributed, weak (though cumulative alrite) process into compound/accumulative, potent@ized pinpointable time*(table)* and *(seat)*place, so in the name of macro-humility: take a hike!!!! Clear your head!!!!! Or study the history of alcohol if you cannot do without syllables ..... might as well read this then: http://poetpiet.tripod.com

I have 41 files from which to choose similar quotes (though half of them are in german and dutch and won't all be delving that deep in this respect of course). near the end of the (mostly short) comments . This theme returns near the end of the 304 comment below your item - wether mostly by you and you also appearing as Kenoma who for argument sake calls Derrida decent - in combination with impact (making me suspect your glances at my work were not completely without effect).

décembre 17, 2007 8:12 PM -- that last one was the comment which triggered me to start on this file.

--Separate and linear“capital”satisfies all needs inadequately, specially the one for infinetely definite, hence expanZIONistic postponement of consumated and enthroned messiah*(sch)*ism (messiahjizzm, it's really a race[[y confessionalism]] you know) in order to enthrall those who thus end up having to entertain compensatory and proportionate hopes for it .... as a consequence of not fundamentally enough subject selection ..

man = 4 animal = 3 plant = 2 rock = 1 female formless awareness = 0 (just humouring Drew Hempel's buzzword here) ..... Hempel is tall and likely to suffer cold feet with his poor circulation 'spelling' reading obsessions (i hope i speak from experience without projecting here), he solves that problem by becoming a lotus posture lover and making preposterously lofty excuses for such sordid and banal facts. I still don't get why he distances himself so vehemently from those folks most likely to be sympathetic to them aims, claims and practices (calling them healthfood coop yuppies or something). For all his hatred of cubery he's nevertheless got cold feet squared (both literally and figuratively). -- here he is:

JZ Young, FRS, discusses this in his amazing "Programs of the Brain" (CUP, Gifford Lecture Series) -- how Freud considered meditation to be primitive narcissicism.

--The right ignores the harm their forces inflict on those others and too lows to possibly mobilize/expect support from.

You ignore that which the groups you champion, support, defend, bring to mind and conscience, root for, declare innocent nevertheless perpetrate and perpetually evince by any reasonably measured rate (at least as much in principle even though not in scale).

From my point of view your metafair looks like a distraction from and inversion of true radicality and wether Derrida, Zizek, Chabert, Attali (whose book on music was given to me in the 80s) or the Bible , one and all evince kopflastigkeit * januari 21st, the day before my mom gets a new hip, - the second one after a first 13 years ago, which still holds, - i realize that in the past week, during which i was beefing up my themes folder - with more chabert and pieces for the semitosis one (getting to be biggest of all, added dostoyeski [[odd piece that, written under obvious strain, hastily and with insufficient redacting but look who's noticing]]) - i finally catch up to the fact that tearing the prfr with date names apart i hazard ripping into the ones targetted from those groovily coloured prfr (parts of the site) guide*(s)* .. though i shied from the ones that have content tables in 'm which is most of them ..i guess . or left a pointer line instead, in order to cater to special interest pull ins and ups more, rather than the package deal pushy down and out.

* = /headBendiness, Bent Bowed-n-Buckled-Under-Burden of being crowned with privilege, an extremism easily flipped into being found unsound, (sourd and sordid, sort of how i will think of you if you manage to not reply to this e-mail either) fit for giddyotineage ... is to take a kind view of it ... . book and accountkeeping is a carreer predilection, a talent that started the spotting, the pin and ... trace .. individualism .... (off on the looooooooooooooong road to singularities, passing up and along heros, gods and hi-tec forms of central/ubiquitous omnipotent intelligence) ... .but not many steps into this separation derailment happened, disaster struck, focus and preference became obsession and zealotry, hard to remove once in power, forcing honest living to hide and find (more deadly than sustaining) refuge in writing (clung to all the more fervently).

In other words i have consolidated the thought and indeed acted upon shift-switching away from the netpick globs of disparate material into a differently accessible and navigable pile: the themes map (with so many folders in (see top) that the size on disc differs 20Mb from that other one).

This reasoning could only apply up to 2005 at the latest ... actually, the prfr series doesn't even reach the end of 2002.

I do get up to silly repetitions don't i? There is a very large print file in 2006, over 1.6Mb large and as i was working it over, out of a combo of thinking to cut it down bycause of unwieldyness and unspecificness of titles (going through a phase of being much more enamoured of names rather than dates again i guess), i got the sneaking susp of having been there before and sure enough, i find i duplicated sections and then thought oh what a shame, there will no longer be a quick show of size evolution if i decline duplicating this time and save changes, nor will the penned up content tables ever find a use .. finally .. in the large files they came from ... so i let it be ...the thinkpad has no trouble at all with the filesize anyway though it could slow searches considerably i guess.

Duplicating is fine as long as trouble is taken to make a note of having done otherwise the scatterfoldering might end up having the effect of leaving stuff out of searches, it is for this reason i should go: netpicks => chroknowed => themed (or by ..) ?????????????????????????????? .... but as long as i am pretty sure where things are i can cut down search time by half if i leave them separate.

i read about Lippman in a bloomberg december 17 article by mark pittman. compare and contrast this creepycrawlspace niche hacker with a spectral space: http://ledgerism.net/ .. discuss .... remember i told you about the guy asserting

his opponents (de la Portie) don't come up with refs any better than he does but vehemently deny the truth of it, one counterasserts that this number includes mortgages that are mostly paid off. the same guy is allowed to repeat his spiel on top of doubled footage of the original broadcast and on top of that accuses those with vested interests to shush this mess. in an earlier segment of the same (jan 31) edition of the program we see a rundown of irate protests and media raids (the ayatollah, israelis destroying footage and, most notorious, since the media are disallowed to (re)show this fairly recent incident, is the time some hells angels came to spank a few talkshowhosts for badmouthing them).

Before that even it is all about how the queen is busting loose more to suit the spirit of the times and used the name of this very program (de leugen regeert = the lie rules) in it's traditional folkloristic way to accuse the media as a whole. but coming out of the mouth of a queen one might suspect at least a few traces, granulates or perhaps even larger aggregates, who knows, maybe even giant crystals of schizophrenia, which of course, would be a perfect if not immaculate great show of timesignsavvy.

She won't do me the favor of abdicating in favor of say, stella Braam i guess.

4th link when searching from maxim biller (who managed to write a book that got forbidden) and sloterdijk (after watching them with a turkish lady and safranski together for an hour): spoems.com/tag_biller.html .... maxim biller has an affinity to spam? Well, he IS indisputably royalty when it comes to arrogance ...
oh, no, wait, this is just youtube shortcut site. ... the front page does open with a hell of a load of poetry links though. ... that reminds me, why isn't anybody milking my talents? I am grateful for not being as arrogant as the in any case triple digits worse jewish than i am maxim but .... i sure would like the most difficult to read parts 'mastered' some .. where the fruit is clean and ripe .....

spoems.com/video_E0QIt-0_jIM.html he hates sloterdijk cause the latter "brings him to desperation" he says sitting in a bookshop.

spoems.com/video_LhEvIfJGYYo.html fucking horriblY hollow (EMPTY HARD) SPACE he reads from his own book in and weirdly 'zangerig' (droney but one sees he thinks himself musical) . .. . . as if by incantation he can, like when talking to sloterdijk, secretly make the confession, both covert and identify it as a crime but instead of really confessing and realizing it is typical jewish praxis (to separate the 'mantle of love' cover from the punishment .., unload 'the whole world ours .. we be [['impunitious']] safe[['keep]]purse pursuants everywhere' meme) onto hitler (so far so good) but he in fact smears the entire german world with that bastard and ride them for all they are worth, the way he builds a house of veiling cards around the failed man and commands all germans to live in there.

this man is a few trillion leagues beyond arnon grunberg that's for sure. ---- spoems.com/video_E0Qlt-0_jIM.html ...... at least he searches out folks from his own now and then, then he has to infantilize and defuse the real test of course. TRY THESE NEXT TIME: spoems.com/video_3qjTuPaKnLU.html he sings a dumb cynical song notice the word jew does not appear in these lyrics but she really does sing it, blaming whities for hating them along with all other flotsam, jetsam and detritus of patriarchal overflow and incontinence, one of the angriest passages in a mostly close to bursting into tears rendering with a young pete seeger watching over her.

Now, ... what if she had sang about having been made schizophrenic, taught to hate fellow victims of jews? Not bycause she could see manipulative jews behind whities, that is not where they hide, that would be a dishonourable position to be found in by now, court jew days long over, ... no, they hide at the last and weakest link in the victims of victims of victims ad infinitum chain.

Biller scolds the germans the way Buffy does whities, then there are semitocriticals xymphites who scold jews, all of them do so for practically the same reason. I saw Biller yesterday zdf.de/ZDFmediathek/content/350030 - today I see the opposite of him a couple of issues back Assman the egyptologlist and so there must be something screwy about as i said yesterday, today i watch ..... breaks off here, retrieve the posted version

i waste half the half hour before 10 o'clock in the morn on extending a 2 line passage from februari 4 years ago:

Hardship cultivates emotionality, machos beget soft daughters supressed into practicing the science of suckling suckers. The hype of desertsprouted books rests on a curiosity about the past and their brittle echo of it has proven to be spellbinding to a far greater than they merit; they echo and sustain suprising far and wide (from inquisition to the taliban) but nowadays there is no excuse for them with programs such as ctc's 'as above so below' closeup.avro.nl Boly Hooks are filled with the sweep of generations, namecalling essentially, punctuated with the scribbles penned by frustrated marginal dreamers, those trained but proved too unruly as bookkeepers, with liberty enough to write recipees but not the status to lift bottle post into employment programs. Their sound advice remembered only in a pinch or when nostalgic about lost chances and potential but not a minute longer. The capacity of assorted holy books to get carried on and touted about contrast quite sharply with carrying capacity of the cultural practices (and i don't mean the glorified being big with child breeding rates though it has a huge impact on what i do mean). Ecological footprint science is the first step to accounting for and understanding transformations or else we will not connect overgrazing with desertifying, patriarchy and migration as the common denominators in cycles that 'vicioucize'.

must ask 'tiger eye' to deliver more specifics about the contrasting ownership policies of competing pipe churning companies (he mentioned [["locally owned", etc]] here: 06.12.07- 10.06 pm), one of which was worker owned cause the owner simply deeded it to them in his will and they managed to not only retain but sharpen an edge (and not only make a go of but also flatten the aging of it) in every possible way (so many in fact, it sounds positively utopian) either and all of 'm worth trumpeting about. ------------- here is a bunch of stuff i moved out of 'online tasks' (mission accomplished though a little late, the first portion has been left in there since november last year): By Jon Markman Don't count on insurers ------------- ... sets me off pondering wether my best strategy would not be promoting arms races left and right .. . since my almost zealous though awefully cordial as well, promotion of insurance sense could be judged counterproductive in the light of the above, ... assuming i have any sort of influence at all in the wider world, as for up close i need no reassuring. Having uttered, though flippantly, the intent to occupy a 10 year old house scheduled to be demolished and doubled at the expense of a small garden in the city hall, after seeing the lobby's internet terminal out of order STILL (talk about kapitaal vernietiging = destruction of capital), i find it flattened, leveled, the very next day, the rooftiles had been off a while already (i was going to tarp it rainbow fashion .. with a giant tipi or something ....)

if the fed aint hurrying to recover the rescue money from the likes of lippman and whoever you will see everybody least able, buckling under the 'afgewentelde' burden (bounced by big stinkin bearer). ------------ driving the freeway by the way will meanwhile become extra deadly since all those gassed foodstuff containers are being let through (and inspections cut) in favor of the brilliant safety measure to start driving with lights on all the time. vpro.nl/argos ------------ But the tide will turn soon on the raving mad, may be even the pole will jump if we prove real bad, so says good old millenarian telepatherapist Arguelles.

yesterday somebody says the dutch loaded their boats to sinking point with mortgages and a national (trash [['family']]tv) program slandered a great big bank for having sold ARMs (adjustable rate ones) without the customer being fully aware about a month ago.

It is multi-culture opponent Wilders' turn to be demonized after Pim Fortuyn and Hirsi Ali (sorry, Magan a name confusion that tripped up our gvt). Nobody shows a shred of appreciation for his attempt to explain why ban-lieu type wards of the street set up new recruits eager enough to steam up the expensive brandname ranks to show no scruples about robbing old ladies as if such a sitch need none, as if that is not the issue. OK, Wilders points at some fragments of, though deep deep roots for it rather awkwardly and with counterproductively little impartiality. doesn't the thought and intention require reading though?

he is a partial anti-semite, the reverse of the people israelites and israeheavies love to hate.

i flip and fold the quandary across a different pole .... noticed yesterday while it was overhead that the big bear has an x each line of which traced by 3 stars each ... i am an ant-semi-semite and that includes everybody sirius about the bible .... me mom reads me the proverbs over and over ...she has a new hip hip hip hurraaaay .... cause that's the only part that doesn't get me upset .... we interrupt this service announcent for a query is this the lawrence chin of that heat death entropy and all of history along with it geocities website set? the one who studied in amsterdam when i was there but never ran into?

a brilliant mind that has become disturbed? like those many overidealistic and of course zealously so, bolshies Solchenitsyn describes (somewhere halfway 200 years together) as going to the west, becoming paranoid and/or committing suicide?

What should i tell him? They are out to get you but know not what/that they do?

jan. februari 7th, electric dog had one good lungfull of an exceedinly thin joint with bud given to me at the hight of summer in Thueringen and what I expected passed, I started scribbling:

at some fair futures point of sale you will the find manuscript (original, tight, desirable handwriting), priced very high with the screen capture block in place upon it (no downloads, no pozid easure, no seizure, no censure, no positive ID other than a bank account so i can finally call a lavish conf with my faves and have a birthday party that will beat all before ... which kinda stopped in my preteens anyhow - i should be scanning instead of cheapeningly transcribing but a bit of an ad won't hurt the hype i guess).

The higher the price jew buy these pages at, all the better the sequel gets fleshed out, boned up, grown great.

In local news later that morn, Heron spears what i guessed was a mole at first but he had already landed a fish too big to swallow, hundreds of gulls wingflap back and forth for miles before dispersing causing 8.40 sunshine to render them a snowlike brilliant white going south and a grey wheeling north again.

prolly februari 19: Burka prohibition and helmet laws, dark screens and dancing lights Gazed at the starz from about 4 in the morn onwards (during my pretty routine listening to 'over de schutting' by Hugo van Krieken). One of the songs played is on about a boneyard, it sets me thinking about Drew and his organ/gland gymnastics vs duh squeez pump, caress n spin of roccontent into root'servers' for stars dusts.

Gazed at the time squeezing through my mind which set it's eye squeezing time through a mazing mesh - to mix n modestify - mainstream moses defied by breakers and criminals according to the Nietzsche turned inside out by way of Weininger ... oops, other way around via/as per Larry Chin (feefeetheother.blogspot.com see fall of 2006) ... i started reading his blog yesterday though had found it some years ago, after first spotting his previous sites a year earlier still. One quite remarkable phrase he coined just past the middle of that year: fundamentalist fossilization'

I imagine this he too (as i) will claim applies to christian fundies who pretend to be supportive of zionism but don't go the closer and back to earlier ground route repatriating in full solidarity but instead 'help' (? = harm them to become expert in surveillance, full control and highly protectious of a slave economy a la Bentham bros - read Linebaugh's 'London hanged'). Instead we get ethnic shakeouts. The americottage industrial Comelyplex is cause i refuse my jesus fate and draw conclusions from laughed at and/or demonized teacher's karma. Shall i try to once again make an attempt at extorting some hype for peace by hi-jacking myself into some deadly situation, revive the foolish son movement?

Either way, I decided to perhaps post this at a fresh blog called rootlett*(erring)*zionist

The hybrid and orphaned dead end rider who calls himself therapeuter since his multiple geocities pages is graphing his bio auto with plastic tragedy since then, incredibly long and paranoid rants about homeland security. Had i read his Nietzsche Weininger mix at the time i would have certainly attempted something similar to what i did most recently for chabert: Derrida and Chabert.html

By the way, a sort of soulmate of his by the way, sharing initial and ethnic mix, faint sibling age nine, was found on a dutch train today, a year after another italian chinese was similarly found . .. and eventually taken back to his mother who stunted this way in order to find him a doctor.

Seen the harbours from both the sides now what did you give the flow, did they pay up what they owe, did you dig them a way and they do you away, did what was yours give way and is that what they gave you, what did the jew give you for what you gave the jew, and that angry monkeylike man in the brtn docu on sailing the congo and hiking to its source with 2 containers with water food and hitec multimedia, what ever did they give him?

A green leaf? A gift from the altar? A title to slave labour and subsistence at extortionate prices.
A moment when syncs come through in every other minor detail and you will be home despite the lonelyness. he home me home we all oooohhhhhmmmmm G owe me tree, G ohm eatery, ohmy homy home. South Austin Jug Band sets off a few more scribbles Seems like it is Northy's birthday today. Did we mention childers? chilblanes chillbanes, bairnes, the ones in this noboerscape .... saw me skeeler, cycle on ice and dance a few seconds here and there over the last few years.

Last word in my defense is a (lastingly) lost word, like, who did not lose a lasting yard to do your worst is. Huh? Of je worst lust. Of je doof bent. =Are you deaf. Do you know what's good for you. Calvinistic cryptology.

Starlore teaches that two points of light that appear close may be behind each other and have several quaintupletterillion light aeons between 'm, several points pitch in maters, points pitchin meters, points pitch inmaters away, my geotry at teamtricky sportzwarz, the make mean, the mike moan, the main maul, a snippet written at this point in the train of thought sequence got written in Dutch and consequently moved. For the fanatic admirers i will ad a Mugatat or whateva ...muhaahaah, here it comes: pupipipipiuu ....

In other news about Holland, the Maharishi TM teacher died at 91 yesterday and today a lit up pedestrian crossin (Beatle cover anyone?) is officially opened which sets me off fantasizing about status for the rainbow family and by extension for indiginous guys (and folks like Drew or other daoist wont be lacking in programs like the christian one running now called '40 days without sex').

Handwork, a horse, pleasing pleach, a few acres and a sack of seed, rightoway on illumined paths, this package is a career beacon, a beckoner for the sunshine reckoner.

The Nietzsche Weininger motif, theme and constellation recurs, a second verse at which point a taunty teasy song goes: ..release me.. crypcrib scrabble stockunblockteased, men teased to capture and squeeze.

The good times in/on the ground she walks on, the ground we ease so us they tickle and tease. Many stories on, many a story stacked, starry eyeing enabled, dust bedabbled to answer that linky loon call.

Wild and wildest variety footage .. not of rainbow arrests ... the bro cuffed on the ground in the youtube keeps yelling 'i am not arrested' but he means 'resisting arrest'

Helmet laws are quite parallel to dustrags (burka and other headcovering wear prohibition for public servant legislation discussion going on in Holland feb08) and the kind of amorph appearance, the facelessness of rock .. .which also has a boudle (double) meaning: nobody is facing rock the proper way, teasing and tickling it out of hiding, starting the 'release' of its blessing. ... Not that i think the obviously black singer would be or want to sing it dressed in such a sad sack as a burka.

heeeyyyyy, i did not realize till feb 23* that i had been missing one of my most famous files BBlack (on Ward) for some reason. this file made in 2001 attained some fame 3 years later when the righties (at pirateballerina for instance)

* = ---- 24 actually, in between chuckles over the movie 'deep throat' on dutch tv ---- been a hot topic in talkmedia ... well let me call that bleatmedia or dutchedytalk, more tragic than other suffering around the world cause we are up to no good for a long while into the future, christian leaders talking up creditallocation to birthers, as if the worst of us here

.. got a hold of it during the big season of infamy when the right started to, on top of gruesomely slaughtering their far off supposed enemies, scapegoat compatriot critics -- like Ward and Deb Frisch for instance who had the temerity to ask how a blogging father (proteinwisdom) would feel if his kid should meet the fate so generously offered Iraqis, the same fate of, say, the palestinian casualty she supplied a piccie of. She was hounded, harassed, demonized and accused of threatening bodily harm .. .as if the empty threat (passive even in this particular case, cause Deb said she would not grieve for Jeff Goldstein's kid any more than he did for those not just threatened but attacked) is worse than actually slaughtering and destroying a whole culture. if you care to find fresh low down on Ward go to tryworks.org or wardchurchill.net Extremely thourough examination of Ward Churchill (part 1) :: indymedia.org/display.php3?article_id=11624 :: by Bob Black who many may disagree with. :: :: But he raises some interesting points :: :: :: :: ::

hey, here is a dutchman typing, i heard some live coverage collation about chinese company mining in Zambia - looks, i mean, sounds like us whity colonials, or our whity colonials, you know, the ones we let slip and askape a way into regrettably unrestrained adventure, mercantile success and what have you along the lines opposing going native garden cultures and not leaving traumatized desertifyers behind but gently though firmly guiding them into absolute top soulery ward ored oord ort aard gaard. Traffic conductor for rocks turned to compost turned to that ripe and fresh festi food. Comb oddity supremo. You know, the stuff priced out of common man’s market in the ancestral regions of china, that is to say, that island to the east of them, with the aenemia and the miniaturization.

i just tried a little conversation at a dutch blog after long silence but am already cured enough to quit the *(zi?)*online. Still resisting personal equipment though i know i shouldn't.

leaving links like the latest (and to me most remarkable of all) articles (published in AcresUSA.com) by Michael Hudson doesn't elicit much response .. so far ..(they are having a quiet spate commentwise i noticed). Speaking of which, anybody know how i can reach tiger eye? I caught a sorta sign of comment after my query a while ago.

keywords and analytic keys to understand lawrence chin (therapeuter2002, feefeetheother, now feefeeinthirdperson): loneliness, attention hunger, great sense of selfworth, borderline grandeur delusion, guilt over bucking sino uniformity, social straightjackets and antlike clasps that allows them to bridge travel gaps, clear race courses, clean runaway runways and voluntarily imprison themselves many many deracinating stories high.

> "I estimate that between January and October 2007 I have run into another 6,000 Homeland Security "agents" and informants and that the Department has spent another 30 million dollars on me this year. This means that I have so far seen 46,000 DHS people and cost them 530 million dollar in total. I have paid so heavily for that little threat-like statement and the few anti-patriotic remarks I made almost three years earlier: three years of surveillance, one year of "Homeland Security reality" and prison of secret agents and informants, ostracization from society - I have truly come to appreciate the power of the government, its willingness to employ such a vast amount of resources to alter and fashion reality for a single person. My whole feeling toward the world has changed. I no longer care about any of the things I care about before. I have no more interest in philosophy or science or any of the "intellectual stuff"; I no longer worry about crimes; I am no longer bothered by racial inequality; I no longer care to find a female partner; I no longer care about sex. The pain and depression generated by the Department of Homeland Security just stamps out all the pains and concerns I used to have."

i wish you a speedy recovery (from paranoia - in case your denial is big enough to pretend not knowing what i am on about). Replace chapter 4 with one sentence (I suffered from fullblown p more and more full time between .... and ....).

You are a brilliant man (turning Weininger around via Nietzsche) but still ignorant about the spiritual meaning of crime and breaking (brechen verbrechen) stone tables. check out the file linked from a chabert item comment that mentions you. I am curious to find out how you will deal.
A sibling of sorts with similar initials (italo-chinese), nine years old was left on a train - similar case a year ago - here in holland. It was in the news a few hours on the hour and 12 hours later again to report that thousands of folks wanted to adopt him.
Another is Drew Hempel, expert in oppression and surveillance psych and tec - but he has turned to daoism. check out the mothershiplanding blsp posted to feefeetheother blsp (or feefeeinthirdperson, don't remember which one of these equally nonsensical names).

jan. feb. march first:
noted in passing through my folders ... i seem to enjoy a tear, pick and pluck session that rips into the chronological order to loot it for the gems that stand out and abduct these into the theme collection. Why, i know not. That is to say, possible answers are so many i won't come to a well enough informed choice any time soon. To prop a prep or propf a priem? To do (yet another) one of them in most cases very much duplicative collections/libraries? Don't i realize, despite knowing it more intimately than most, that the larger they tend to be, the more one can rest assured that source/subject is accomplised and marginal at the same time, an intellectual to an extent that squeezes out and leaves over little room or time for physical and emotional realities and consequently, such divestment will tend to see his material lean toward bone and dust dryness, useless, ghetto-spawn. Archives obsessed with (and often hidden as) buried treasure, dark and dank vaults, always underappreciated and disrespected, deriving a sense of sociability from the amount of search robots that swing by for a flash visit.

the green emperess in this article which nicely sums up endeavors in the 'green' fields thereof would be Maathai - certainly a best of {{{i}}}.

ready for my neocon*(so/se)*clusion? turn prisons into a hybrid of ancient monastery and not quite as long bygone chaingang discipline to cover chunks of countryside with permaculture course campuses.

I made the mistake of following this commenter at 'the tomb's homepage link, only to find that yet another shameless (though less, since less clever) carrier of the fatal eternal accountant and remote, hired out assault machinelikeness disease which describes a type of human that cleverly turned their oppression (systematic destruction of braves damning them to effete type of aggressions at best) and subjection into a weapon for great success (even if it costs them the world, they no longer remember the homeland their ancestors who still did, lost - though hardly left by choice) and hence, can mourn nor atone for. They declared symbols their homeland in the most titanic schwedish syndromitic gesture imaginable. The zdf program philosophisches Quartet about monotheism some months ago conveys some of these themes very impressive loads better than i can ... but i doubt there are translated transcripts. The guest Jan Assman's books however, will be. I highly recommend them. If you care to see the sorta fella i started out describing, though one who's obsession is fucking rather than sophisms about A=A (though identity is not equality and wholism is nevertheless wholy ... caught in devilish jewallisms as they guys forever are) all you need to do is check the latest episode in this quarterly tv-show.

Piet: Time to actuall mention why i started off quoting this in the first place. It was a clear moment in which i saw, reading this, that a scold is a bill settled all told, after which the accuser feels relieved and expects to have leveled the playing field enough to keep going but from now on amiably since on equal footing ...... gosh, illuminating cliches is such a seventies Todd Rundgren type of thing to do innit?

However, if you adress somebody incapable of absorbing the import, urgency and justification for gloat bloat floatage and flotillas, somebody who can NAZI the joke (read all about notsees from L Rickels), he will refuse and ricochet impact, refute kinetic gift and bounce it back diabolically, an escalitic type of, in this case trotskitsick thing to do.

Rosa Lichtenstein:

> "Just as traditional religionists discovered, mind-control of this sort is more easily secured if appeal is made to impenetrably mysterious doctrines that no one understands, but which must be repeated constantly to dull the critical faculties."

Piet: As i said about Maxim Biller yesterday (feb5) these fellas are mighty shrewd self-diagnosers but invariable project their sins onto their quarry. Suprised the fuck out of me to see it but they better be exposed, even without adequate explanation. Sloterdijk is up to delivering more than that though. Better guests too as i mentioned. Marrocans are particularly prone to this disease but luckily lack the smarts to make lots of money (in terms of allround safety, harmony and wellbeing though, their effect is considerable and the more so the more stubborn a host country remains in denial and steers a pc course against all odds). One of these was in the news today, who assaulted and gravely injured security and clerk at the social service desk, he has no memory of it and hence no regret. His lawyer claims he can be resocialized.

Do these people do unto others to hide what they, according to their thus obscured sense of justice, would have others do unto them? Or what?

Mary at http://peacepalestine.blogspot.com wrote the longest article i ever saw by her on the 15th of januari (against Tony Greenstein she claims has no more than 3 followers) but doesn't therein (nor in the ensuing comment wars) provide proof that she knows more about race and raciality than her opponent, she does claim to know better than go looking for a connection between ethnics and ethics - no sliding scales for her on this, she thus fails to sound realistic and won't realize her aims. She is focussing on ideal circumstances, exceptions, steering clear of masses alrite, ... but without admitting to that implied qualifyer which of course is horribly overrun if not prosecuted nowadays. I am a bit of a transethnic myself but wouldn't like to have anybody have to suffer what i suffered through, a wish that collides with the one i have for other people to focus on and learn from me in order to get their head screwed on better regards saving best of the past for the future. This morning i left the house with the thought that my belief in peace bringing ability (as long and wherever i go, toying with the idea of putting it to the test in Israel) might be just the inverse of never finding peace in your hometown, like a biblical prophet. A treasure hunt may very well not be effective without searching up dead ends (though i do have 3 kids, i prefer to spend money on intellactivism and consequently, this mindse(a)t is af- and confronting to r(a)ising pride that prioritizes baby and bride, sometimes, as in the case of my very own mother, compounded with bible).

The same can be said for the Dutch socialist party SP leader, JM, who is trying to revive anti-segregationist incentive which is gonna spread rather than disinflame or at least deflect the infection, the numbers are already too massive to leave any hope for righting the ship without strict enforcement, force as the incentive to break routines is like chopping off hands to set an example that will stop stealing bycause it hasn't the luxury to take the long view and long term measure, the slow, nearly imperceptible long tail seed plant, rock squeeze, dab flick pinch cast max distro coverage.

Ethnicity as a clearcut, incontrovertible case of residueless clarity, of black and white? Just as most people who are insistent and dogmatic about duocomponentiality of in truth far more complex than yes and no questions, this infantile stage of accountancy opens a vicious cycle, the eternal stage of demoted critters afflicted by democratic politics

So Mary's yes races are equal and no the concept is not valid but an artifact, creates the sorta fake division a headmaster quoted to me after i spoke with him for goodness sake but to no avail, his positing biblical enmity between snakes and women is merely the more shamelessly lying slogan of the same old sly brand. What brings on the herding ache in more massive numbers? Ideology or race? Which is the more constructed, longest running, farthest removed, easiest movable? Do nask.

in 2005 or 2006 i have Grimes quoting Kummer exultantly and calling timescales of genetic make up irrelevant in the face of a simple but radical break in setting and routine but i did not keep the passage apart until sure i could retrieve it from my printed netpicks folder.

the following section from printooW.doc (2004) did not enter my blogfiles till march 24th 2008 (a four year delay - found leafing through my prfr series for marked passages - precious few, far fewer than i would have wanted but reading in an open shed with as much of yourself under a heap of blankets as possible, a candle close by your head behind a little something to shade the eyes, has its drawbacks):

In my mind this emphasizes the sort of hard/soft dynamic / dialectic / dichotomy / duality / polarity I have developed a sixth sense for over the years bycause when rock, dust and earth are mentioned in one breath with (success of) generations I become very alert. see http://www.remineralize.org/ and http://www.championtrees.com/ (soil section) for more. ----- Over a decade ago I realized that (probably a different verse or translation which mentions the sand on the beach rather than dust of the earth) the conventional interpretation bespeaks not so much the optimism against all odds caused by oppression but is more like a symptom of the most immodest megalomania imaginable. Similarly do the jews generate anti-semitism (accusations) and (champion) humanism at the same time to cash in on the victim status, it's a matter of team sport tactics applied to labour division and social engineering. Could this biblical text, like so many others, also be but a patriarchally perverted truth dating back to much much earlier, greener (dustfree yet also more dustconscious) and happier times? I think Vine Deloria might have helped me to (establish and/or reinforce) that insight with his emphasis on most people's ties with a territory (their chosenness was limited and clearly circumscribed, mostly wilderness reverent and modest enough to leave plenty of no man's land too). And so here we are righting a privilege formula into a generally valid one: what was to be the personalized leg up for jews exclusively turns out to be a simple terrawide principle: fresh dusts incorporated in composts and fruit grown with it will keep the doctor (lawyer and possible the banker too) away. So I made a breakthrough, what I considered some of the worst admissions by and evidence against the jews carries elements of the most common and best for all of the world's untold family lines. ------------- if i may just butt in to the boulder and surroundings battle .... to offer yall a break, ... come zoom out with me and check the reflections that span a liveleak hit (2 million views in 2 hours), endlessnes as only a stretch of sand can end less .. and green thumbaloony land.

A fairly complete account (including pics of main characters on both sides of the Little Big Horn battle in the 1870ies, fought in a vain attempt to stop gold diggers) is here: footnote.com/page/1209/the-battle-of-little-big-horn a page that does not show up till the 7th images.google page searching for Crazy Horse. On the way there an old and consistently informative site has the most info: crystalinks (mandala medicine wheel, geometry connection).

Searching for Dee Brown (whose 'the american west' had tears burning behind my eyelids and got me going on this quest) is even worse, the first page is taken by a basket baller, then this, from what i can tell, pleasantly conscientious and accurate chronicler of an extremely ugly part of colonial imperial christian expansionist missionary and last but not least, genocidal history shows up here: www.fantasticfiction.co.uk FICTION??????????

shows Muhammed's 'lontje' (fuse) transmuting baser emotions - of 'diep gezonken' (degenerated) Dutch yet stacked in the hi-rises typical of mass-manipulooters' - in Drew Hempel type fashion rather than exploding, .. and yet though agreeing with and following the climax of the Wilders collage he double deals with him somewhat, as Geertje initiates the 'hele hoop gedonder' (irritation) with footstamping (placing near misses next to a book on the ground), his neighbour, an imam, as the next carrier of 'burengerucht' (disturbance) passes it to our prime minister who escalates the din, a zoom out reveals the whole lot to be contained in the 'fuse'.

Wilders used the most hated cartoon (of his fellow threatenee, without permission) showing M as a suicide bomber BUT turning it into a device that would somehow bring thunder (perhaps underhandedly intending to council moslims to stay in their deserts and showing confidence in Muhammed's ability to catalyze impregnation of his deserts with rain [[thunder and lighting rather than exploding]] as long as he stays there and focuses on the task of applying the dutch touch, the green thumb to GROw her sugar plumb).

I wonder wether Muslims view their prophet Mohammed as a kind of Sitting Bull for instance (since the latter did a sundance to receive intimations about how the envisioned battle would go [[well ... and it did but retaliation and then more broken treaties followed all too soon]], to the point of self maiming, blood draining, which itself resembles the muslimlike [[sunni or shia?]] flagellation of sorts Wilders has chosen to honour in his selection of fears for the future of Holland).

Not that i think this view justified but Islamists taking it is understandable as hell .. ..and still very popular, that is their reasons for resorting to violence are as religiously adhered to as their means are blasphemously violated.

Crazy Horse, his and the bands around him applied the range of tactics (initial negociations, gentle warnings, nudges, pushes, outbursts of anger, provocative prods, clabberings with coupsticks and finally guerrilla) from (conservative) motives everybody likes to steal and then sully (with the improving means to perpetrate mass murder even then a much more rapidly firing gun suprised the indians and proved quite decisive), that is to say, unleash ('achieve') a horrifying generations-spanning string, strung cable, strained rope and whirlwind of trauma and disaster.

The big difference of course is that Islam went on to be a global force to be reckoned with whereas the native American ways suffered genocide and must make do with an o so faint reflection in the indigenous rights movement, reservations, disputed tenure (Ward Churchill) and splinter groups like the rainbow family.

--------------------- The long view is taboo: Hold collectively responsible and accountable.
------------ The shortsighted one tries but mostly pretends to be more accurate, specific, on target and hence, just as follows: Search out and punish culprits perpetrators and criminals on the one hand, hold up benefactors, initiators and inventors as shining examples on the other, .. the latter deserving every bit of their singling themselves out in matters of reward and wages, so much even that the personhood status is awarded institutions, in jealous imitation of immortality perhips? .. with all undying deadening such undead entities unleash ensuing? Stop granting big generations spanning institutions that have agency to stay inviolate, sovereign and carry on with impunity via namechange trickery, etcetera such a status .. or we might as well all become blatant no difference making satanists.
Either way, the most violent actions sort the most ef- and affect, they shape and set the pattern for slews of mere follower rather than initiators, the western ways of banishing troublesome elements morhped into colonialism and imperialism with mercenary industries of supressing spreading non-racist slavery.
That's right Geert, the left is as blind to Bolshevism as it is to Islam, even to this day, and yet, so are you, with your biased take on semitism. The Bolshies meanwhile morphed to zionism but are still quite recognizable since traceable, they even concentrated and consolidated if anything.

Me: ::: This morn (march 28th) around 8 on radio 1 in holland http://player.nos.nl/index.php/media/play/tcmid/tcm:5-363820/ audio in Dutch 28 maart (Fred Leemhuis, a professor of Islam - 5 minuten) almost 60 other segments, three quarters of them on Fitna. ---- Leemhuis claims Wilders quoted the line (or section ... not sure about sura size) INcompletely - as it goes on to recommend tieing prisoners and releasing them if they promise to be good .. . but that would not be terrorism now would it? - while identifying questionable behaviour with Islam OVERcompletely. We all know how split into taboo and reverence collective and group theory are these days. Who is the lifter of heaviest grandest capa- and culpability veil conceptologist and will work like that survive singling out and eyedraw upon it?

Besides, to translate and/or interpret stuff this old is blessed and frought with a worldwide range of differing possibilities by now.

Participate in teamsport hype, habitualize, assimilate, integrate .....yet also...... honour patents and riches, even those that confer the steepest distinction and seem to cost the world, at the very least require a whole lot of slave flavor collectives to even manifest at all .... the extremes of individualism and collectivity are indistinguishable.

Rule of law, regiment, discipline, and script do not prevent excesses but rather, lead to hypocritical state terrorism and split personalities of perps who like to be seen and adressed as freedomdefending light footed cartoon wielders.

What's the use looking for a posID, unmixed pure as gold undeniably absolute initiators if the epidemic is already spreading? To prevent it next time? What lesson can we draw from not so much taking out of context as dismantling it for a sale to highest bidders? Where do pedigrees of hostile takeove and fresh air cross and create a crisis?

One thing seems beyond doubt, the ethics of fair fighting were lost. Dutch TV on the 27th showed a boxing school coach commenting he had no time for fitna cause he was working for a better future. Surely similarly deridable as the (statecraft) bombers who hide behind cartoons, Practicing violence so they can finally stop their old job, to rob old ladies and promote to more promising quarry?

The 28th a to me brandnew thought struck me though. What if Mohammed was a bit like Crazy Horse and Sitting Bull? I understand the will to remind people of them but it don't work much better 'by any means necessary' than whatever else you attempt in that mode. Gregory Gordon comments at http://biographypodcast.blogspot.com/ october 12, 2006
He lies about the book he took his 'inspiration' from: stores.lulu.com/greggordon" To the best of my knowledge they are the only books on dedicated exclusively to the topic except for Lawrence William Lyons's The Language Crystal.
His website is lightoftheworld.com/ (a myspace like ning page with juke and video) at a biography blog with podcasts.

Gordon sounds really tranquil and plays some gospel groups in his 14 snippet juke ... also presents energy and dome links and sells dynamic light reflectors to churches ...... this is prolly the same guy that broke into RR's home (and served 2 years as per the ogrish podcast 6/6/6).
Whoooh! He served 3 years for threatening George Bush too!!!! Did you catch this guy spells his last name GOrDon!

jonquille de camembert has taken to scolding his host. In reply to accusations of being an american nationalist for being adoring and indulgently defensive about Paris Hilton (the Rotterdam Hilton was my dad's lunch adress when with foreign guests), he says: "then be prepared to suffer, dear" My reply to Patrick would have been: No such thing, America is imperialism occupying 500 nations in order to subvert, sabotage and semitize many others, you are empire spawn, a yoyo and not the just umpire and appraiser of taste and connoiseur of cute you like to pretend being. Just blame it on the extremism of your mom and try to relax. Maybe your dependencies will wither before their cravings will start you judging life as too cruel.

if it is true that electrochemical substances, (themselves already fluid) can turn to either light or lower liquids it follows that the more light you want to produce the more you need to fuel this process with those liquids. Your metabolism ought to be fabulous. Therefore being proud of needing little is mere proof of inefftual transsubstantiation, no?

Neither that dutch nor the belgian coordinators -- 'stunning video' and 'great trides' notwithstanding -- have responded in any way to my e-mails. Certainly NOT best left alone though!?!?! ... ... Guess not.

> The Laughing Gnostic: David Bowie and the Occult by Peter-R. Because only the second firm/society (contrary to the first) is rated, it receives better conditions than the first. Ja Zuster, Nee Zuster, a series with a drifter, hobo, slacker, hedonist, escapee, simplistic and mystic, poor and more all rolled into one: Zwiebertje, ran for 20 years.

Drew seems to have fallen hook line and sinker for the slippery side of existence. Fuck social science and grace. ndividualizing and sterilizing forces that beat, leach and poison all truly social and collactivatng action out of us (except when it can be done with the shallowest formulae imaginable .. and it don't take much after being afflicted with christian forms .. STAINS!) of ....

Saw Jeremiah Johnson (mention of whom the truthful and complete chronicler Dee Brown makes somewhere) last nite (german tv always has a western on), afterwards monster interview with the director. JJ has Rob Redford livin with squaw, guidin a bunch of army folks through a valley of the dead cause he is unable to sway them into making a 20 miles detour out of respect for dead foes and though they make it through alrite he finds squaw and kid murdered when returning. Tracking the killing party and leaving them all but one dead starts a process of wanderings and challenges from one after the other. Crows thus lose one fighter after the other over the years the lone killer's reputation grows. Till finally at the end a chief goes up to him and greets him from a distance. ..... It takes a few minutes and gritted teeth before Bobby greets back. The soundtrack is astounding bluegrass. Gotta find out more about that song.

It ties into the whole healer saviour whistle blower scape goat type of linchpin lynchpawn bloodshit type of stuff that is the reverse of getting lucky (female escaping from social control).

Females had to escape from murderous and at best despotic rivals ... only to start a usually all too slightly rather than decidedly different dynasty from scratch - what was that i read about socializing the other day .... ?

Anyway, so Drew reads up on all the disempowertooltec and pyramidtolltake he can get his hands on but when the time comes to serve infantilization, humble and lower himself into a garden, place his wet bets and bake babycake to bust some brood into a garden ... all he does is balk, huff, shirk, scoff and sit where similar uproots flit flutter stutter, stumble and stray by.

Longest and prolly most (suprisingly) lucid rant i ever saw Rowan post!!!!!

lemme begin on a 'lighter note' (since i get 'really heavy man' near the end. Don't worry though, in the usually dissed and disused but usable sense of uplifting and liftupping raise uppable sides of soul, 'clear' the air to soothe our semitic and soldierly sense of sorrow and sadness).

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rTpQpRHYKpw some black broad with more nerve than Deb Frisch (as the latter confesses, matters of honour being easy for her). That is crazy, Rainbow Hawk (still in Baja) is announcing the second global rainbow gathering (though there was one in the south of Mexico and one every year someplace in Asia [[china this year even]] since the first one 97 in Oz). He gets into a fight over chlorine with TTREE (who was in Oz also but prolly not associated with treaty so much as titty tree since he spells it tittree for some reason, but his wording has always been quaint, specially when he is into one of those endless [[and not just for that reason to me highly irritating]] bajan singing sessions).

Rainbow Hawk: ....

Sadly i watched a western about the US-Mex war in the 1860s yesterday. RH uses the verb lieing accusingly a lot which tempts me, however much i hate to stir this, as they all are, wasteful, rainbow fire: MMMM, Mexico you say you stay hey, your home eh? ... Lemme ask you something: are you white? So you believe in free and no charge migration with impunity and at no cost to nobody and nothing yes? Cause if you do you just may be a liar (too).

Rainbow Hawk: ....

Come on, you can do longer than that, give us a Pacal Votan type readout. Show us the seal. The royal arms. july 15 (unposted):
Wessel di Wesseli proposes to pull air quantities under and tap their inevitable predictable and perpetual struggle to rise as a power source.

It works the same way a windmill does, simply anchor it and hold it steady.

The rolling in of ocean waves is a passing on of kinetic energy by serial and sequential circulation of smaller loops acting like wheels on a conveyor belt, that remain invisible until they run out of their depths and up on the shallows which simply raise them into view. low, the otherwise subsurface wavage is pushed up to and for a crash. See the inversion possibilities here?

You could just as easily use WdW's ideas as intended or modify slightly, set it up to run on dry ground but full of water instead of air. So subsurface w aircontent or above it containing water, it ought to both work. The variables are soooo pleasingly flexible in this design it it delightful, instead of sitting on or anchored to the ocean floor (a sunk or 'dobbering' thing) you may build this baby on a mountaintop too. I had already thought of a cute roperoad variants before involving pivots in the sky or treelimbs way up high and rangings of water or air filled umbrellas, breaking or accelerating as needs arise.

Literally each time i think this through some varation between the use of some valves that need shutting to get a differential at all on the one hand and their function as load and speed regulator makes me even more curious about how it would all bulge, collapse, breathe and pan out in realtime.

In the Cabeza de Vaca story a shipwrecked conqueror becomes a slave for a number of years on the southern coasts of florida and alabama for at least 3 years, once he escapes manages to launch a career as a lone wolf trader and after a while a holy man evangelist ascribed healing powers (wether or not he had the latter, possession of entertainment skills big enough to build a reputation for being extremely welcome, sought after, handed around and placated with gifts [[which he invariably passed along]] seems indeniable).

The people who guide him in his trek across the South side of Turtle Island from east to west are rewarded by their neighbours and go back home with all they can carry and their hosts in turn accompany the pilgrim (trying to get back to his superiors really) to the next clan over. This relay cycle repeats and some goods move just one stage, some multiples thereof. That's what i called 'to each that of others' before.

The eb and flow away from and towards riches as this process rolls across differently blessed territory is the manifest measure of economy and giftedness as is the lack thereof for avoidance punctuated by clashes narrated in the first part of the story.

The march, migration and madness of +progress (vs -e- as mirrored by +con- vs agress) is the mechanism that marginalizes and/or magnifies the repute of the miracle worker, the travelling salesmen, inventors, circuses and prophets, profithunters, asssorted saviours (those the rainbow family likes to think of itself as).

As i read this tale, a more dutiful than adventurous, less curious, charismatic, wellwilling and spiritual than dogmatic wanderer does ripen into a leader with an eye for justice trumped by mercy but to make a difference in more inhospitable country requires more planning, genius and discipline than lugging great big amounts of life's necessities. We read that his large and well decked out following lacks the genius to install the above mentioned energy taps as a way to tackle tougher territory and yeah, SAAAAAVE stuff, and thus goes astray, just cannot stay, peters out in dispersal, ... much like gatherings do ... no matter by how much --while they go on-- indulging in the illusion and impotent longings to achieve and ho ho ho, experience the opposite is the passtime favored over all others. Back to the clockwork innovation chore the speed and excitement of rapids feeding the slow and slowly ballooning bulge of airbalgs (dutch word) air in the downward travelling central*(ly combined)* closed compartments fanning out and open into outlier upward track ones fills them.

I already did an analogy between hanging a pivot / rope anchor up in the sky to replace a parachute at a time I was trying to figure out how to get ships upstreams a little faster than most manage in many stages of such legs of the journey.

It seems to ramify to the vertical/upward air in water circulation energy harvesting devices I fantasize about here and there.

Anchor on deeplake or ocean floor to stabilize bubble wagon trains might be unnecessary to prevent the whole thing from drifting into horizontal position cause the lower part has to be sturdiest/heaviest. Posted by: peacepostulatorpiet at March 11, 2005 12:19 PM

Oh by the way, you could save me some work if you had collected your salon letters and could send ' as flat text. Drew has taken to posting a lot of his comments at a blog -- without links nor context and excessively repetitive but here and there he gets quite a few more than usual licks in at the same material. (try his 13th of june (or july) writs) -- though the place he makes them has that nice 'find all posts by this author' feature.

Really wish you could be payed for what you do Rowan and i mean this as a compliment. http://limitedinc.blogspot.com is great writer perpetually low on funds too. I am east of strasbourg right now and god, easy to see how a pompous building arose hereabouts. Hills with acres after acres of fruit trees is tradition here, the steeper bits have the much less attractively trained vines and all the spray units are not the cheeriest thing either.

If you could move to a place like say ... schloss tondorf (dotDE, near Weimar, fairy tale site with community of single mothers assorted unweds, couples and kids where the beekeeper who was on tv all nite last week debating headshots of McDonald and the like lives. He the man in the bottom picture at http://gendreck-weg.de) your overhead would sink (in comparision to london) so much i could afford to sponsor you.

Recently looked for pictures on the net of bender art and could barely find any at all. landmatters in devon is a community that believes in that building style and they have vacancies. Shall we start a thinktank here to compete with the schnapps and wine drink tanks? Oh wait, no scrap that, i cannot stand punk music and the hebrew language. -----------

Please be clearer about the suggestion you make regarding the idea of me relocating to somewhere cheaper. It would really be best if I had an offer of employment to work with, no matter how tenuous. best, Rowan ------

I am trying to relocate and have been since age 17. No succes in the way of really settling so that indicates my ability to host anybody.

The rest is kinda irrelevant so you might as well skip it.

Been on the move in a kinda continuous mode, minus the 12 years i spent in A'dam as a digitarian peacemaker. Since then though i lost the appetite to roll around though i do own a car now. I speak german and what with Julius Hensel and Ulrich von Beckerath and being a smidgen jewish, i feel like i owe the german people something. Ain't no Bob Dylan who had to prove he could assimilate and be wanted as much as not by just flipping switches he was in full control of. I am less caught up in feelings nor absorbed by the harder stuff (numbers). The narrows and curvies are my chosen paths, i walk them cheapskatishly.

Cheap places here still. Rule of thumb: big ass ex collective but still just as big ass field filled acreage out east with marginal soils are dirt cheap. Then again, not 20 miles from Witzenhausen where the part of the german Ag U complex is located in pretty countryside on the river Weser, a really spacious but older place went for 40.000!!!!!!! The U there focuses on the tropics (you would not believe the nice old stuff from the colonial period there) and eco-ag so perfect for me to try to draw attention to my body of thought. .... except 77% of my books are in English. Definitely the biggest stumbling block.

Not even Madonna could get me to visit London again when she moved there. Not that she asked. One learns a lot there i guess but even the streetcorner i am on in this tiny village has more traffic than i care for.

Sorry I can not offer anything concrete Rowan. You will be the first to know though. When time comes to draw up my will you will be mentioned along with another 55 parties, so the old nest egg don't stretch very far that way either.--------
I could move to anywhere at all, I have a clean and valid UK passport.
------- have you forgotten your ... errhmm,.... 'irrenational' flare outs when somebody mangles the sacred Anglomeristicisms, especially when given german inflections and sequence moshaps (or do you tell yourself your irritation with Fritz and the like purely content based?). So, I would advice you against moving to Germany no matter how curious i might be about what hosting you could be like and if i was in position other than being able to do so sorta temporary --- not that the heir to this building from the 1800s would not lemme buy it (with or without her included) and give me plenny of time to think about it (she is in austria getting a divorce today), so could become a second owner here ... but this is a pricey region and i'd have to leave off brooding over my commentarian capital (you're lucky you did not save yours) to see if nothing good will hatch and like you, be out looking for a job. Spraying and pruning vines for a living is not my cup of tea.

It is easy to rents bits of orchard that have fallen into the hands of the villages themselves. Like in Holland, the generation that climbed 50 sports ladders has passed and the trees they went up were cut down. Lots of cherry parcels, maybe even most, do not get picked anymore, shaken at the most, for distilleries. I have lived like a king in a Kurort with free medicine in the past few weeks. Cherries, i found out, bring on out and about a real healing crisis like the ones you get from raw red beet juice (cleanses your liver).

Oops, wrote this while on*(dial up)*line. Gotta teach myself to stop that.

Anyway, there is a canadian called thecivicplatform who constantly looks (back prolly) at what mishaps in Germany. Of course a perfectly civil nazi speaks 'perfect' english. Are there any of the altermedia franchises you could recommend? I noted the de version has that optimal range of comment amounts (20 - 200).

I admit, credit isn't quite targetted correctly, taken up and cracked up to what is can and is supposed to be but this is ridiculously biassed. What happened to wealth*(writs)* as indices to all in stock and store, besides the quanta of immediately commitable inspiration, anticipation, etcetera? Like so:

debt/indemnity telescape stack sweep stalk to handle loan (lean limb loanery) in depthitude

--------- primary: surplusses serving preparatory prelimbs
--------- secondary: bridging budget adjustments in the stages of run up, latent and incubatory costs
--------- tertiary: to subsidize pr, *(brand)*recognition, verify and callibrate demand.
--------- quartiary: and subsequent loan layers can be earmarked, served and repayed from first --- felt but ineffectually targetted need, misidentified lacks and unrealized demand --- proceeds, profits, benefits and simple sample supplies and surplusses

Following that German fella, Herbart on surplus deposit receipts (Joseph the 'rainbow' genius of storage) taken next door and turned in in exchange for prostitutory servicing I take it, many primitive monies were proof, credit and captive slave slutmachine token in that perved sensuality sense.

The whole point was to focus on perfect cover, one on one of agreement and agrowment. Biomassive support for diversified peasant life. permacultural emptying of cities, ween oneself and ones community from overdelegation etcetera, but none of that happened. We got lots of war and related hype instead so credit creation started being wielded by and feeding the wrong end of the social stratification monolith slithsloth loci foci and radii, which resulted in a seething tempest of bits, bites and bankingblips alike to a rolling stone with no direction home.

It seems insurmountably banal and too much of a turnoffering to speak of spending the dark into some type of cascade releasing shade dispensanity or some flight into light capital.

to jvmilewski@aol.com date Wed, Nov 19, 2008 at 2:13 PM subject hi, question about rock, Callahan, paramagnetics
I am wondering if you work with mineral powders ... and also if Callahan still is. ..... Late eighties Dan Winter shifted from dusts to erecting stone circles, like the geomantic lady in Oz was doing too.
Since then i heard very little about PC and he has not been putting new material in Acres either but neither have i heard or read that he stopped working and/or living.
However, dusts are quicker, faster, lighter and until awareness increases, plentiful as construction by product. Specially active dusts will justify transport bridging considerable distance .. such as the one i can confirm being so, from a huge glacial gravel quarry, near the Emma Kunz museum www.emmakunz.ch, in who's name a dust/clay brand circulates commercially in fact but that might be from the cave she seems to have spent time in, dunno.

> Hi Mr ??? Please put your name on your mail if you want some one to respect it Phil C Is aging badly and can hardly communicate. I do not work with mineral powder only Magnetite I know that rock dust is a good source of mineral for the soils.

latter part of an oddball mail to oddball borderline female Drew from NZ jana dixon rare breed that harmonizes credit and creed

And now that i am on the subject, i have meant to write Drew something like this for months:

Like i said before, you use the legcrossing as necessary for charge speed as excuse for a much greater need, to distract yourself and that in turn only to contrast with the music performer disease, exact repetition, there is nobody (i know) who reads as diversely (not to say incommensurably) as you do while writing practically pure repetition of stuff you wrote before reading your last book .. and like that you wrote before the one before that, etcetera, ad infinitum. Delivering yourself from evil temptations that way son?

Funny discussion about the lord's prayer versions going 'lead' vs 'leave' us not in (to) temptation notwithstanding i maintain another and perhaps bigger reason is pure shirkdom, unwillingness to start a family, work and be responsible for it to really make your mother happy.

Those in germany must use http://mail.google.com for some legal reason but hey, soon we will have chuckle.de to chide and turn to chowder but we will have to stick to german in general for now cause that site has only been 'freigeschaltet' (staked) .... why the fuck do they call settling and occupying reserving?

Meanwhile, Drew can sense the digital vibe end of transmissible anything it seems. He is confident enough about the correctness of his registry to voice suppositions about his correspondents' despondency and sadness for instance, but rather than speak about the overwhelming amount of intralevelry -- let's call it 'reasotion' and hope that can substitute for a good few paras -- needed to both sense and remedy this condition he just flatly guesses one has fallen victim to the shortcut

She has provided an item in late november which starts with an enigmatic quote from MH but then at least half the comments (so far .. about 60) get real boring and musty cause they are Marx quotes. That is not to say MH does not have much (boldness, bravery as well as bias and blind spots) in common with KM

Gudeman wrote on gifting in 2001 and seems to confuse absence of detailed and direct specs with the uncertainty (about wether the impact you muster will mean mere fracture or thorough breakthrough for instance) a long and distant term entails. Just goes to show not all contrarianism works.

MH: "quick in-and-put buying and selling" reminds of Shakespeare's usury, love's pump and dump, the unpredictable break or bounce pounce, erratic as volcanism, down and dead punctuated with 'hypurssure' Contrast with slow and incremental weathering, ream rub crop skim polishave routine versus rare breakdow and blow up.

He cites heavily abstract yet dramatic scenarists: .... Alan Kohler --- A tsunami of hope or terror? ---- 19th of nov

Geoffrey Gardiner (who i imagine must be in his sixties) is definitely a wise man and he not only spars with MH but corrects and manages to keep up with him, spouting a profusion of anecdotes that are so tasty they will raise my appetite for a good while before satiety sets in. He reminds of Beckerath which makes me feel rich and valuable cause GG indicates he has not even seen Knapp yet (though understands him well enough and references UK interest in National socialism during the twenties being due to him, meanwhile he can't get it on loan from libraries) and i reckon he will be much obligable when i point him thataway.

So, for tales of grand sweep, swap, swipe and swirl in the worlds of finance and justice (love and taxes). There is for instance a revealing convo concerning Stephen Zarlenga (for who's mistakes Charles Walters has fallen also):

finally getting around to examining files i made (performed read 'friendlization' upon) exactly a year ago: standard_exchanges a yahoo group by Marc Gauvin who was on a long polemic* around the end of 2007 about the difference between scarce and limited with Ernie Yacub and Michael Linton (the latter two did a series of blogtalk files ... perhaps do more still) recommends: International Working Group of Currency Standardisation (IWGCS)

Marc's voice conveys residues redolent of "past Spanish/Jesuit imperial thinking" as 65 years old Jacques Boulet puts it lower numbers are precursors to higher ones (and the latter replacements and refinements of the former)

These articles are extraordinary, ... www.epicoalition.org/docs/Credit_and_State_Theories.pdf Instead, as Ingham and Wray note, not all credit is money, and a study of the criteria necessary to make bilateral credits transferable to third parties, and usable by them in settling their own debts is crucial.

------- Well, luckily nog all angels need pretend they are evil either.

That piece is too short to learn about Innes, is there any better online?

If you are speaking of UvB's work -- oogle.nl/search?hl=nl&q=ulrich+von+beckerath&meta= first 3 hits are to me, you could have looked at the fourth -- bear in mind he died in the late fifties and i am not at all sure he could read english. The correspondence he conducted with Henry Meulen from London is available in english but was translated by John Zube (in the 60s or 70s) and amounts to a thousand pages if i recall correctly, it sits on a site by butterbach, as one giant file 2Mb prolly..

His grasp on the times and indeed, ages before, is in my (lay) opinion unequalled i will vouch for that ... though the connections i see between money (social lube) and the physical *(arche)*type (fresh rockdusts, muds) were as much beyond him as they are in general for the vast majority of humans i know. He never spoke of the polluting side effects and aspects of mining for starters.

If you speak german, may i send you my friend's manuscript? He is responsible for a netpage that has been up since the late 90s with work in german by various people. http://www.free.de/geld it has existed pretty much unchanged since then but at least his money theory book is finished.

> Innes makes it clear that one can have dealings in commodities or dealings in money, that is negotiable debt. When 'precious' metals are used as money they are debt tokens with a value far beyond their worth as commodities.

that is prolly the case when basic emission rights (let alone fancy financial 'innovation' are neither practiced nor understood, in short not allowed, always up against the mighty tides of 'sunny side upcheckship': centralization).

no, sorry to say, and i have no (U-library) lending privileges either at the mo, am close to R'dam but i have developed an aversion to cities after living in A'dam for 10 years ... but am also, on the other hand, very eager to fill out a segment of some sort of an alternative collection collection with mine. A modest number of volumes (around 15.000) which have remained in storage forever, since it is very broad topicwise, i don't have a home of my own yet ... looking to settle near an existent archive .. like www.eilhardshof.de ... don't intend to go as far as latvia for it though ... and i cannot get anybody to appreciate it in terms of rent reduction yet so i can go for it on merit of my savings.

> What I have seen so far looks pretty naive. I see we have all the old stuff about Woergel.

My friend Sigi makes a concerted effort to differentiate between emission rights and the centralistic ideas of Gesellians.

> Pretty place though my car was bumped there. We called credit unions 'diddlums' when I was a kid.

Antale Fekete, a gold bug Hungarian cites Rittershausen who was UvB's closest personal friend with some clout (professor, where as Bth was an insurance mathematician) and wrote a fat book on central banking. I found Fekete's argument on how Real (goods) Bills can stretch, slacken and be the fine balancing line between gold and state money like fast and slow man and wife, market and state fairly persuasive and a stimulating read but my reservations regarding the barbarity and violence surrounding high preciosity and all sorts of unhealthy concentrates and specialisms have stopped me from approaching him.

Yes, Selgin's book i have read. It is pretty good. I think the acquaintance i mentioned, Sigi, likes it too but like all german speakers, they are traumatized with respect to the use of the english language and avoid it whenever they have a choice. Only last week the dutch tv started lifting the veil of the extent allied state terror (directed at civilians in places like Dresden) was responsible for that (in the wake of big finance no doubt). Beckerath's correspondence with Henry Meulen has been translated by John Zube though and it is online.

Dear Michael,
just saw you will be coming to Europe next month and i would enjoy a chance to meet you.

Do you need a car .. plus chauffeur?

[The following paragraph has a words in this colour added the day after i sent you my first letter]

I once (1997) took the trouble to go all the way down (but not out) to Australia in order to visit and work with John Zube. Mmm, ... cough ... his and my account of what happened differ somewhat ... but upon return i did scan and upload the work of Ulrich von Beckerath he had translated and started growing his micro-fiche collection around. I cannot imagine you have never seen any of that material yet. Some years later chelseagreen.org put up a more conventionally formatted version and years later again, Thomas Greco gave it a place on reinventingmoney.com He remains less known that the likeminded Rittershausen who gets cited by regular 'bugs'(those who view the role of gold as much larger than a stabilizing and tempering backdrop /fallback, value standard guage) such as Antale Fekete at least. THAT part should be modified and i have done my modest best but nary any resonance so far ... not direct anyway, but of course i could take consolence in the steady growth of SRI micro-credit, complementary and community currencies and the variously weighted and freighted environmentalities of course.

I accompanied an American on a EU tour once before (For a few days in the mid eighties - see attachment*), and was strongly reminded of all that -- having forgotten all about it, ... my library has been in storage for 10 years and i am putting off changing that till keeping an aging mother company comes to an end, she lives in such a christianisticallystuck up region ((only 20 minutes from Rotterdam though ... but i avoid big cities*)) that i haven't bothered renting a display space for it .. just yet/so far -- via a review of the book (and video, both called 'The End' by Larry Ephron, since deceased) I chanced across this week.

I have concentrated on the internet instead, steady for 10 years now .... got all your txts and mp3s available ... i think.

* Which probably disqualifies me from being useful to you.

Ps: I wrote Mr Gardiner about Beckerath but he appears to be willing nothing past a trade of names, however, that Mitchell whatsisphace he was on about don't nearly do for me what UvB achieved.

Could we visit mondragon together or something? Just a thought. Or an anarchist archive i am thinking of offering my collection to: www.eilhardshof.de

januari 25:

I, prestidigitatious rock fluffer pen yet another, not so much barely recognizable as such, but surely dilute tract on economics, in sympathy with the biblical flood of money (that manages to mix everything and everybody up lately, to the point where one would reasonably be allowed to start expecting that the first guest digitations i ever hosted, those of Ulrich von Beckerath are about to gain the type of top currency that crystalizes urgent worry into bypass, overthrow, fresh and upstart actions that will reinvent his wheel without granting him any whiel (sp?). UvB lived in Berlin). Anyway, so far, present day moneyfloods (just before 'public' involvement anyway) have no more pedigree to show for its existence than a late, fresh, more daring and risky last ditch bet which as all such does a world of good for surveillance, military and bureaucratic industries, widening rich and poor gaps into gaping, deadly and highly impassible zones but not much else.

I thought yall would soon get mimic, ape and parrot it the first time i realized and formulated money in terms of gender but no. So, here goes again, parading the finest horse in my stable:

State is feminine, Market is masculine, both must have their own types of monies to create just the right balance between caution and risk, coercion and freedom. How much more simple do i have to make it before you repeat after me? It's not that i have ever demanded you credit me or anything (I love threatening to sue more since it is even less likely and keeps up the facade that i enjoy my poverty quite nicely thank you. If you hadn't noticed yet, smart people want to be left alone:

No just kidding, i am not quite that old, bitter and disillusioned yet. OK, time to up the dilution a few notches, fasten your seatbelts (or skip the diagnosis of ufolodgers via this anchor link):

55 posts, VR has 55 too, 44 on animals, design garners 101x attention payments ... but ufos ....whoooh, 552. Well, there you have it.

GGG (Great Galactic Ghoul = Drew Hempel) sends me over to that site operated by Mac Tonnies, ... what a dignified sounding but nevertheless or perhaps instead, therefore pitiful, sad and sick piece of alienated sentience on intellecTOVERdrive, I bet he landed a little to infrequent and too little intimate on his mother's hip Drew (perp of mothershiplanding.blogspot.com where i will send your --Music as an Analogy for Economic Order in Classical Antiquity-- since he is very often on about just the very subject matter quoted at the bottom of this file but he hates money and prefers to do without as much as he can, kinda endearingly though naive of course - I gripe about people that inspire occasionally, such as Jose Arguelles, who loves factoring along native american lines, the 20 count, and 13 and 7 and 52 and 19 and and and .... but is totally naive and millenarian about money also).

Listening to Tonnies and accomplice 'paracaster' one finds them trying to dissociate themselves from what they describe as a taint (commone human vices they term: 'greyness') for 2 hours non-stop, except for an atrociously ashtmatic sounding apocaliptic sponsor/advertizer recommending a stock-pile up 2 or three times, but for the life of them they could not extricate themselves from their fellow ufosis patients, sufferers and affiliated hobby nursing folks if their life depended on it and they think it does they would not want to if only they realized (just how much they enjoy their scolding ... like any selfrespecting turf defending bird would).

Undo a weave that is not a we have but whole cloth proprietized through deception and obscurity wrestles recyclers and resolvers to a standstill. That is one of the very reasons a bottom up approach (as if the crisis was as bad as it will get already) seems simple and elegant to me. The conveyance i promised to have at your service is a 13 year old Merc elegance by the way.

If, in slightly other words, yet again, ... money is, as i have maintained, digitally since 1997, at a free commercial server (which to my shame, took advert money from betting palaces .. but .. i judged my pointers to Louise Erdrich and Roger Caillois to be detox enough for any sensible body inclined to circumvent screaming lies, and which, Tripod, by the way, will be taken down permanently shortly) analogous to and not mostly, merely or purely, but at least partly and what's more, significantly (pomospeak: signifiyingly) symbolic for (substance per se, substrates, fundamentals, bottomlines, ... like the substance of lube, the currents ((dia- and paramagnetic)) feeding and forming all from the most miniscule of 'currencies' ((microlifeforms)) on up the ever more deadly line ((some of the most expensive, top of the line, costly on all fronts and in more ways than usual type product was demonstrated in Gaza, the only type of so thoroughly deprivileged folks to actuallly fully earn .. errr, ... deserve that MYsploxposplendeed) in this sordid monotheistic Deity forsaken hell on earth)), coin of the realm) rock dusts, powders, flours and, accompanied by their wet clear cousin oxides, water, called muds, we can see how in reality they try steal the thunder (fecundity rather) of it, that which they (are supposed to) stand (in) for, but usurp and pretend to represent but do more than just threaten emptily with distraction antics, but kill preemptively with extinctive tricks, Continent after continent ....

Grand finance 'progressed' (worsened rather!) its ever swifter sleigh of hand pump round and about, soak, drown, bury and choke effects/prowess routines perhaps to prove we can measure up to, be as good/bad as and/or contain the titanically threatening (pow((d))erfulness of volcanos?) but it sure fucked up.

Back to those who see foetuses fly.
Developing such strong sym- and antipathies is all the more illustrative of their interhuman ineptitude cause they do so towards truly similarly if not identically sourced and in most ways likeminded folks, circling around and thumbsucking on the very same material. By the way, a nownew crop of such fabulatiously human material(ists) call themselves synchromystics (addicted to distractions from themselves, not mediated by books, which saw to my such needs ((I looked to them rather of course)) but by Hollywood) Steve Willner is one such which I have some very strange ties indeed. Having once in the early nineties uploaded a scan of the index from a book called Paramagnetism, available from Acres, USA in which i was happy to see you appear last year, i found, to my suprise and consternation, that most of the hits to my site around the turn of them (m)illenium came from folks interested in monatomic gold, something modern alchemists like to ingest and claim outrageous things about, SW is one such youtube.com/user/soundlessdawn snippets from the movies with fast paced narrative ... i just enjoy it for the colourfulness of it all.

Who gets to be lead fabulizer is, as in any other social network, a question of hormones but these guys have gone over to the other side, the silicon mindframe as Drew might perhaps put it (or the essentially homosexual replication rather than reproduction game, as Laurence Rickels has it). A type of autism that results in these long rants*, in fact inadmissible self confessions and therefore shared out, allocated, projected and occasionally when they have their weak little adrenalin rushes, imposed on people, iow, screensmoke, life thoroughly denatured, unvitalized and mediated into digital throughput, websites that are as gigantic as they are ugly.

*Mentioned are Bill Cooper, Lazare and the 'confringe pinners' and 'tendants' MT is on about, but at least the latter developed a style (discipline mix to which James Joyce showed the first steps along the way) and in the end managed to turn a portion, not even a whole % of his prosaic ploddery in poetic headings/digests, press this # for samples(the attachment i promised to send but forgot starts earlier, higher up: # - It must have nearly broken his own hand singleheadedly for weeks on end wondering what the hell the gist of his own letterlitter was) and also hplusmagazine.com (RUsirius - whom the host is disgusted with ... read: jealous of), futurians.

Conclusion: i don't get along with autofetishist Austrians but with their bio-organic farmers all the better, I dislike the SF crowd but seem to keep gravitating to the SRI (Socially Responsible Investing) and bioneer type innovators trying to echo, reapply and amplify ancient skills.

Drew, for all his protestations to the contrary, functions as good as any intel plant that aims to marginalize, isolate and sterilize all social frameworkery (along Beckerath's lines) other than scavenging from them and proud to do that (recycling). A far cry from the homicidal types that even the most secret thinktanks can't, and in any case, don't aim to contain. Trouble is, it causes talented fledgling baby rebels to misstep, deflects them from their destiny, calling, role, duty, task, rightful place, maturity and rightful deserts. Ever read the history of Laurel Canyon as Daniel McGowan indicates it? It alludes to the type of elusive crime I am referring to (no less obliquely i must admit) constantly.

And now, your special attention for a man i always regretted to know and see having lots less content speaking through - rather than style for - him but I must admit he started out quite promisingly, got closer to my fave 'kinactism' right off the be(a)t, and though we never met, closer than the less verbose but equally challenging LRickels, whom i did.

Finding a pile of Thunderbirds in the Santa Monica coop sometime in 1998 i thought him capable of strenghtening rather than stealing my thunder .... boy i started this line before coming across the review of Larry Ephron's book ... ?!?! ... completely forgotten it ...... yet never made the effort to look him up since i wanted to get to the real part first but the reading proved slow plodding ... kinda like Laurence Rickels and to me equally attractive in style though hardly more in substance, except for the very first issue, where he reviews 'the end' by Larry Ephron, who brough a camera crew to austria for his vid and whom i joined in austria where i succeeded in urging him to film the 18 wheeler dust tank / reverse vacuum cleaner for a few days, a few seconds of which end up in the final footage. More comments coming up below but having only recently read DMcG i will insert fresher thoughts here first

In hindsight i am suprised this fella MT never mentions TCBoyle or at least David McGowan (Sf davesweb), Laurel Canyon and all the popstars that lost their lives while living so near the secret killer training center, prolly quite unbeknowst to them. DM asserts that even Charles Manson, instigator of mass murder and guru of a young juicy outlaw runaway hippy commune did not know of the fascism hidden in the folds of them thar hills, ... since the twenties already as a matter of act. Nazis were there to weather out the war or something. DM writes in a decidedly circumspect and foggy style but that seems quite appropriate given locale, circumstances and conspiratorial secrets, the unliftedness of which is clear though silent testimony enough that the same cabal commiting to that, still rules the roost of us clucky scratchers.

Music as an Analogy for Economic Order in Classical Antiquity
by Dr. Michael Hudson, ISLET © in Jürgen Backhaus (ed.), Karl Bücher. Theory, History, Anthropology, Non-Market Economies (Marburg: Metropolis Verlag 2000): pp. 113-35

> A famous story about Pythagoras describes him as passing a blacksmith's shop one day and listening to the sounds made by hammers, recognizing the intervals of the octave, fifth and fourth. Upon investigation, he is said to have found that the hammer weights were related in the ratios 2:1, 3:2 and 4:3. Yet these proportions refer to string lengths, not weight. The octave would have been produced by a hammer 4 times the weight (i.e., the square of doubling). "It is all cosmo-history," concludes Burkert (ibid.:375), adding that "Later presentations of Pythagorean musical theory tried to derive as much as possible from a priori considerations, and to refer as seldom as possible to experience and experiment. Even the basic facts are -- apparently -- derived from speculation, and everything else is derived from calculation of ratios." This sounds remarkably like modern economics. The study of music in classical Greece, especially under the influence of the Platonists, did not refer to practice. The monochord was not a performing instrument. It was a theoretical exercise that pandered to the self-importance of the upper classes to rationalize the existing inequity (status and prestige) from which they benefited. This logic was used in the fight against democratic movements.
> Just as contemporary music has lost the classical tonal organizing principles, so today's economic theory has dropped its concerns with society's long-term dynamics, indulging in mathematical speculation without empirical relevance. What has been lost sight of is the economy's core, its asset structure and the exponential growth of debt charges against land, capital and labor. Most of every economy's assets consist of real estate and the financial debt claims on it. These dynamics determine an economy's

> If the badge of economics as a science deserving a Nobel Prize has become its ability to be mathematized, this is only because of the unrealistic assumption that there is an inherent tendency of economies to settle without any public oversight at a stable equilibrium. Without diminishing returns and the satiability of wealth, these models have no singular solution. At least the Bronze Age mathematics taught to scribal students calculating how debts multiplied exponentially made no such assumption. The Mesopotamian acknowledgement of the rapid doubling times of debt -- and how much more rapidly debts grew than the economy's means to pay -- thus appears more "modern" than today's non-financial theories of economic growth.

Whoops, no, wrong .... but #8 and #9 volume 2 as well as #2 and #3 volume 3 are not in this collection (making the # sequence 7, 10, 1, 4) .... we will have to forsch further ... i assume though, that since the very last and biggest one, the flying saucer related collection and reprint, T-Bird_Vs_The_Flying_saucers (the only OCRed specimen in it), which lists just these (coming up below), is pretty complete, since it was scanned by MT himself it says.

In that original though, he opts for issue numbers (rather than the dates in the upper right corner of the pulp copies), but they ought to be easier to string into sequence than the volume and number stuff which, as i noted already (though i wrote this line prior to placing that passage above this one ..... hmmm, have i got the verbosity disease after reacquainting myself with the bloomy, bloemige, blossomish flowering style of the man with the MT initials and many pseuds???? .... seems not to match up at all and suggest lacunae .... but hey ... something similar does the gist, style and most essential charactertic of all this penmannery purport, namely INCONCLUSIVENESS ..... Doug Henwood's weekly WBAI New York radio show ....has a great musical break on the 15th of januari: 30.36 'money' by pink floyd played on squeeky door or pump handle over a string quartet.

The discourse is another matter - making me decidedly uneasy and disappointed in fact, the second half of the show has a rather too emotional lassie and the guy paints a completely false picture of the dynamic between state and private money. I like Ellen Brown much better:

hey rowan, did you read Davesweb on laurel canyon? how does that hook into the free rags i ran across late 80s down holowood ways? I found scanned pdfs of them recently and a compilation about the 'sauc*(er)*y' crowd mostly that is OCRed. plus the motherbook he kept referring to and which i eventually saw someplace (it is about his wife being some sort of rival to sheila the baghwan [[or bhagwan]] tigress/alphemale) though had forgotten all about it. In the first issue he reviewed Larry Ephron (forgot that also funny enough but it would explain why i got my black pal to send later issues to me) whom i met as he shot the austria part of his docu. I was never deceived as to the dis-, ex- and abstraction degrees the rest of MT's work progressively delivered.

Dear Michael, just saw you will be coming to Europe next month and i would enjoy a chance to meet you. Do you need a car .. plus chauffeur?
I once (1997) took the trouble to go all the way down (but not out) to Australia in order to visit and work with John Zube. Mmm, ... cough ... his and my account of what happened differ somewhat ... but upon return i did scan and upload the work of Ulrich von Beckerath he had translated and started growing his micro-fiche collection around. I cannot imagine you have never seen any of that material yet. Some years later chelseagreen.org put up a more conventionally formatted version and years later again, Thomas Greco gave it a place on reinventingmoney.com He remains less known that the likeminded Rittershausen who gets cited by regular 'bugs' (those who view the role of gold as much larger than a stabilizing and tempering backdrop /fallback, value standard guage) such as Antale Fekete at least. THAT part should be modified and i have done my modest best but nary any resonance so far ... not direct anyway, but of course i could take consolence in the steady growth of SRI micro-credit, complementary and community currencies and the variously weighted and freighted environmentalities of course.

I accompanied an American on a EU tour once before (For a few days in the mid eighties - see attachment), and was strongly reminded of all that -- having forgotten all about it, ... my library has been in storage for 10 years and i am putting off changing that till keeping an aging mother company comes to an end, she lives in such a christianisticallystuck up region [[only 20 minutes from Rotterdam though ... but i avoid big cities]] that i haven't bothered renting a display space for it .. just yet/so far -- via a review of the book (and video, both called 'The End' by Larry Ephron, since deceased) I chanced across this week.
* whoops, forgot to send that.

I have concentrated on the internet instead, steady for 10 years now .... got all your txts and mp3s available ... i think.

* Which probably disqualifies me from being useful to you.

Ps: I wrote Mr Gardiner about Beckerath but he appears to be willing nothing past a trade of names, however, that Mitchell whatsisphace he was on about don't nearly do for me what UvB achieved.

Could we visit mondragon together or something? Just a thought. Or an anarchist archive i am thinking of offering my collection to: www.eilhardshof.de

januari 24:
Most hope salesmen don't really hope, they scheme, plan to make a killing off despair in down markets, they sold their soul to the hell of a calculating existence, choke essentials into price bearing expenditure, indenture, conscription, draft and ultimately bloody conquest, they sell themselves way the hell out and want to see a stiff return, a hansome profit to prowl and prod the luxury goods market proudly, head high but empty, try another. So, new boys in town entering the stream will Speechwash their way to the top where demand for putting a champ evil deed dindoer# a fresh baby face on putter, a view blocker .. is biggest, very much in urgent demand, .. the more diabolicisms progress. We have such an emotofuel to the moon shooting new boy now, chosen to tempt those most starved for a taste of hope, last and least of last resorts, the pride of beggars.

We need change, yes, new money, check. But how new does it remain how long if we don't stop to keep it from slipping into them old tired and increasingly dangerous and absurd projects, causes, rescue ops, etcetera? New purposes, more modest, universal, autonomizing, environment restoring/enhancing ancient skill oriented production, scaled down to benefit the smallest of beings in order to maintain the growing chain as a matter of common sense, hygene, humility, you name all those wonderful things christians manage to pry from the bloody pages of the bible even at this late dat of life made hell on earth in the very region that fascism fostering book is supposed to, forever even, sanctify. FUCK!! Lock the topp brass and governing coalitions into a compound with a pile of smelly shit on the left and a pile of rock on the other, some handy (liftable scraps of metal) and see how soon they manage to mix them to improve air quality and morale .... I, prestidigitatious rock fluffer pen yet another, not so much barely recognizable as such, but surely dilute tract on economics,in sympathy with the biblical flood of money (that manages to mix everything and everybody up lately, to the point where one would reasonably be allowed to start expecting that the first guest digitations i ever hosted, those of Ulrich von Beckerath are about to gain the type of top currency that crystalizes urgent worry into bypass, overthrow, fresh and upstart actions that will reinvent his wheel without granting him any whiel (sp?). UvB lived in Berlin). Anyway, so far, present day moneyfloods (just before 'public' involvement anyway) have no more pedigree to show for its existence than a late, fresh, more daring and risky last ditch bet which as all such does a world of good for surveillance, military and bureaucratic industries, widening rich and poor gaps into gaping, deadly and highly impassible zones but not much else.

I thought yall would soon get mimic, ape and parrot it the first time i realized and formulated money in terms of gender but no. So, here goes again, parading the finest horse in my stable:

State is feminine, Market is masculine, both must have their own types of monies to create just the right balance between caution and risk, coercion and freedom. How much more simple do i have to make it before you repeat after me? Back to those who see foetuses fly.
Developing such strong sym- and antipathies is all the more illustrative of their interhuman ineptitude cause they do so towards truly similarly if not identically sourced and in most ways likeminded folks, circling around and thumbsucking on the very same material.

By the way, a nownew crop of such fabulatiously human material*(ists)* call themselves synchromystics (addicted to distractions from themselves, not mediated by books, which saw to my such needs [[I looked to them rather of course]] but by Hollywood) Steve Willner is one such which I have some very strange ties indeed. Having once in the early nineties uploaded a scan of the index from a book called Paramagnetism, available from Acres, USA in which i was happy to see you appear last year, i found, to my suprise and consternation, that most of the hits to my site around the turn of them *(m)*illenium came from folks interested in monatomic gold, something modern alchemists like to ingest and claim outrageous things about, SW is one such youtube.com/user/soundlessdawn snippets from the movies with fast paced narrative ... i just enjoy it for the colourfulness of it all.

Who gets to be lead fabulizer is, as in any other social network, a question of hormones but these guys have gone over to the other side, the silicon mindframe as Drew might perhaps put it (or the essentially homosexual replication rather than reproduction game, as Laurence Rickels has it). A type of autism that results in these long rants*, in fact inadmissible self confessions and therefore shared out, allocated, projected and occasionally when they have their weak little adrenalin rushes, imposed on people, iow, screensmoke, life thoroughly denatured, unvitalized and mediated into digital throughput, websites that are as gigantic as they are ugly.

*Mentioned are Bill Cooper, Lazare and the 'confringe pinners' and 'tendants' MT is on about, but at least the latter developed a style (discipline mix to which James Joyce showed the first steps along the way) and in the end managed to turn a portion, not even a whole % of his prosaic ploddery in poetic headings/digests, press this # for samples (the attachment i promised to send but forgot starts earlier, higher up: # - It must have nearly broken his own hand singleheadedly for weeks on end wondering what the hell the gist of his own letterlitter was) and also hplusmagazine.com (RUsirius - whom the host is disgusted with ... read: jealous of), futurians.

Conclusion: i don't get along with autofetishist Austrians but with their bio-organic farmers all the better, I dislike the SF crowd but seem to keep gravitating to the SRI (Socially Responsible Investing) and bioneer type innovators trying to echo, reapply and amplify ancient skills.

Drew, for all his protestations to the contrary, functions as good as any intel plant that aims to marginalize, isolate and sterilize all social frameworkery (along Beckerath's lines) other than scavenging from them and proud to do that (recycling). A far cry from the homicidal types that even the most secret thinktanks can't, and in any case, don't aim to contain. Trouble is, it causes talented fledgling baby rebels to misstep, deflects them from their destiny, calling, role, duty, task, rightful place, maturity and rightful deserts. Ever read the history of Laurel Canyon as Daniel McGowan indicates it? It alludes to the type of elusive crime I am referring to (no less obliquely i must admit) constantly.

And now, your special attention for a man i always regretted to know and see having lots less content speaking through - rather than style for - him but I must admit he started out quite promisingly, got closer to my fave 'kinactism' right off the be*(a)*t, and though we never met, closer than the less verbose but equally challenging LRickels, whom i did.

Finding a pile of Thunderbirds in the Santa Monica coop sometime in 1998 i thought him capable of strenghtening rather than stealing my thunder .... boy i started this line before coming across the review of Larry Ephron's book ... ?!?! ... completely forgotten it ...... yet never made the effort to look him up since i wanted to get to the real part first but the reading proved slow plodding ... kinda like Laurence Rickels and to me equally attractive in style though hardly more in substance, except for the very first issue, where he reviews 'the end' by Larry Ephron, who brough a camera crew to austria for his vid and whom i joined in austria where i succeeded in urging him to film the 18 wheeler dust tank / reverse vacuum cleaner for a few days, a few seconds of which end up in the final footage. More comments coming up below but having only recently read DMcG i will insert fresher thoughts here first

In hindsight i am suprised this fella MT never mentions TCBoyle or at least David McGowan (Sf davesweb), Laurel Canyon and all the popstars that lost their lives while living so near the secret killer training center, prolly quite unbeknowst to them. DM asserts that even Charles Manson, instigator of mass murder and guru of a young juicy outlaw runaway hippy commune did not know of the fascism hidden in the folds of them thar hills, ... since the twenties already as a matter of act. Nazis were there to weather out the war or something. DM writes in a decidedly circumspect and foggy style but that seems quite appropriate given locale, circumstances and conspiratorial secrets, the unliftedness of which is clear though silent testimony enough that the same cabal commiting to that, still rules the roost of us clucky scratchers.

Before (outside, ahead of this review he already mentions Ephron - on page 9) and that curious expression is applied to consciousness to establish a mirroring that my indeed have been facilitated, conducted and triggered by the highly stimulant substances mentioned. -------

"... it was the LSD and mescaline, the peyote and cannabis that shifted the perspective so thoroughly, that critically compressed the span of time required to relocate in conscious terms so as to see all things in a new Light.

Elsewhere he says that 'consciousness is quantum combustable'. Abrupt, switchy, unteachable, nongradual, not incremental, does not flow ... no streaming there, ... nope ... guess he had to spell that out to see what it sounded like huh??? .... to be continued

Drew's most lasting inspiration:

> Music as an Analogy for Economic Order in Classical Antiquityby Dr. Michael Hudson, ISLET © in Jürgen Backhaus (ed.), Karl Bücher. Theory, History, Anthropology, Non-Market Economies (Marburg: Metropolis Verlag 2000): pp. 113-35
>
> A famous story about Pythagoras describes him as passing a blacksmith's shop one day and listening to the sounds made by hammers, recognizing the intervals of the octave, fifth and fourth. Upon investigation, he is said to have found that the hammer weights were related in the ratios 2:1, 3:2 and 4:3. Yet these proportions refer to string lengths, not weight. The octave would have been produced by a hammer 4 times the weight (i.e., the square of doubling). "It is all cosmo-history," concludes Burkert (ibid.:375), adding that "Later presentations of Pythagorean musical theory tried to derive as much as possible from a priori considerations, and to refer as seldom as possible to experience and experiment. Even the basic facts are -- apparently -- derived from speculation, and everything else is derived from calculation of ratios." This sounds remarkably like modern economics. The study of music in classical Greece, especially under the influence of the Platonists, did not refer to practice. The monochord was not a performing instrument. It was a theoretical exercise that pandered to the self-importance of the upper classes to rationalize the existing inequity (status and prestige) from which they benefited. This logic was used in the fight against democratic movements.
> Just as contemporary music has lost the classical tonal organizing principles, so today's economic theory has dropped its concerns with society's long-term dynamics, indulging in mathematical speculation without empirical relevance. What has been lost sight of is the economy's core, its asset structure and the exponential growth of debt charges against land, capital and labor. Most of every economy's assets consist of real estate and the financial debt claims on it. These dynamics determine an economy's political counterpoint and the evolving shape it takes, yet they are ignored by today's post-classical mathematical models.
> If the badge of economics as a science deserving a Nobel Prize has become its ability to be mathematized, this is only because of the unrealistic assumption that there is an inherent tendency of economies to settle without any public oversight at a stable equilibrium. Without diminishing returns and the satiability of wealth, these models have no singular solution. At least the Bronze Age mathematics taught to scribal students calculating how debts multiplied exponentially made no such assumption. The Mesopotamian acknowledgement of the rapid doubling times of debt -- and how much more rapidly debts grew than the economy's means to pay -- thus appears more "modern" than today's non-financial theories of economic growth.

> ... Meher Baba is said to have died after saying 31 (see motto in the lotto caper in #11) and we go up to Volume three, number one. Whoops, no, wrong .... but #8 and #9 volume 2 as well as #2 and #3 volume 3 are not in this collection (making the # sequence 7, 10, 1, 4) .... we will have to forsch further ... i assume though, that since the very last and biggest one, the flying saucer related collection and reprint, T-Bird_Vs_The_Flying_saucers (the only OCRed specimen in it), which lists just these (coming up below), is pretty complete, since it was scanned by MT himself it says.
> In that original though, he opts for issue numbers (rather than the dates in the upper right corner of the pulp copies), but they ought to be easier to string into sequence than the volume and number stuff which, as i noted already (though i wrote this line prior to placing that passage above this one) ..... hmmm, have i got the verbosity disease after reacquainting myself with the bloomy, bloemige, blossomish flowering style of the man with the MT initials and many pseuds???? .... seems not to match up at all and suggest lacunae .... but hey ... something similar does the gist, style and most essential charactertic of all this penmannery purport, namely INCONCLUSIVENESS ..... THOUGH often times heading dead onto and then with gracious swerve, curve and flourish narrowly missing a description of real and hard but most rewarding work.

That's funny, after Ellen quietly, calmly and collectedly explains a few common sense aspects of collectivity and government, the epitomy of distrust makes one of those ghostly paid for appearance also, the last few audio seconds of a 58.50 minute long file are taken by a beginning ad: "Gold has been...." ... what .... return of the repression, the love of hide out survivalists, the symbol of sunny days are here again and jesus rescues heavily bunked accounts, ... or what? Whatever pyramitic processes they bought into and try hoaxcoax your gratitude with and will undoubtedly let you buy you into too, i am afraid it has nothing to do with environmental friendly goldmining, let alone increasingly efficient and elegant sunlight catching. i could of course continue searching with permutations:

cease building ---- stop the constuction ---- forbid new ---- forbid fresh stop new ---- halt new ---- halt fresh ---- halt the .....

Tetrahedral shapes are ascribed 'bioactivity', BD admits being duped (presumably in a way he repeatedly scoffs at, scolds and warns for) by the 'flower of life' crowd and even though he seems to look at political and economic leaders at least as deprecatingly (even accusing them of making his computers crash with unmarked helicopters stealing trillions cause he patented the ideas that led to gps), he retains some sort of holy respect for the freedom thought which he and many like him still believe america embodies (eliminate opponents [[they are by definition opposing freedom not the tyrants who are trying to dress up their imperial nakedness with such 'goede sier' even though they are empty words, false claims and hardnosed lies]] with precision and minimum collateral damage - a communist thought if there ever was one).

After wandering acriss across the US during the eigthies (since when times have changed apparantly, a Dutch bicyclist who overstayed his visa was detained for 3 months and helped off the street by the salvation army when he came back, or so the radio says) I staked some claims off my own but they tried to affect too great a heap of people. This much too grandly aimed for goal was to shame americans into not daring to build even a single other additional home anymore and gradually phase out and off of turtle island altogether over some generations in order to, by way of restitution and reparation, offer relatively more native americans a chance to recover and rest*(ore)* their territory while much the same thing would have to happen throughout europe (autonomization, secession, permaculture, and all those other terms that emphasize a mere aspect in this complex string of derivatives and equivalents).

another aim i went for is to *(re)*instill the belief that in order to get/make money, one must, parallel to it and practically, precisely and proportionally concommital to it, make/reach AGREEMENTS (minted [[notified, certified]], implemented [[published and circulated]] in close succesion, if not at once), this worked a lot better (perhaps due to the historical precedent and perhaps cause folks like Thomas Greco felt the same way). Greenspan at the other end of the economist pecking order followed suit only to gladly and under cover of the most rosily possible painted formulaic lawfulness made sure good americans were seduced into becoming socialist leechers in the money for nothing euro mold -- so that their managers could be tempted to jump in and join the fictitious wealth amassment, some installing strange valves with deep diving equipment cause the rising levels of vice begged to be laundered into luxuries -- in short, all who presumed to be able to lay claims to pieces of america after pronouncements to the contrary by the likes of poetpiet were entitled to immediate subsidy for such acts of bravery and blissful ignorance and received loans forthwith, but of course the amounts mounted well beyond the prudent as they have traditionally, it is the only way of making the incurables useful, namely to bowl over and drag a decent enough proportion of most obedient slaves (but nevertheless promoted to the disownable prey type) and hardest working competition down with them in the thus premeditated downturn squeezeburn.

Also, another golly jolly, some good arguments hidden in obscure formulations (sigh), took a while to remember that dutch program wherein it is argued that bad apples are easily made up for with good ones, specially if latter hide the former ... but reputes are risked with sudden run ups of and aways with, ever jumpy anyway, ratios.

Piet: After hearing a few such shows (first one i heard was still fresh, march 2007 - available at his website too - michael-hudson.com) i conclude MH totally ignores and so i must assume also discounts the diffusive (avertive?) aspects i mentioned (and in turn heard explained on tallkradio by proffesional debt assistance, the immune system of our feverish but still damn pragmatically dutch society at work so to speak) and such neglect paints extremely and unrealistically gloomy pictures (his great insights lead to very clear statements about positions and principles but his moral extremism blinds him for overal effects and makes his calculation prowess reach a cut-off point prematurely, before the (in)calculation of the mix in the balance. In the long haul parasitism is by definition never pure and victorious)

I suppose I am not one to tell Americans where to go (back to) as long as i am resisting seeing my self as not authentically Dutch enough to make a serious move (though my emigration plans stand firm even while postponed by aged mother and sister) .. which would be enticingly facilitated if there were, say, some sorely needed taskforces that start to succesfully regreen the mesopotamian heartlands and thereafter the other half of saharasia.

Well, after this diversion to the real world, let's return to you crazy miuzooz, i'll throw out a quote that is sure to get you started responding:

david duke podcasts claims, right off, to aim at defending the rights of people with european descent ... ANYWHERE in the world. Then, absurdly enough, they proceed to condemn jewish supremacism, which is precisely based on demographic incontinence, overflow, expansion, migraton, ueberfremdung ... whatever you care to call it. Try read 5 pages of the old testament without coming across confoundingly mixed messages about overcoming other peoples and having descendants in runaway neighbour displacing numbers. So, dukeys, content your selves, and continent yourselves, start forthwith claiming that europeans deserve protection in europe only, or carry on split as your are, spreading the meme you claim to hate and making fun of those who willingly help the anti-christ cause they see no way around having to live through that. Hope you feel better now that your know.

The laurel canyon series features lookout mountain laboratory as a kind of piecherry - tip of the subterranean dustburg where psychos were bred who were expressly instructed to target and in their turn subvert, deflect and if necessary kill talented youths who flocked to the music industry, unfortunately DM, who feels comfortable and or safe in the realm of hunch, insinuation and suggestion, telltale tools of either deceit or sharp intuition and therefore suitable tarncap to navigate semi-censorious territory under, hasn't apparantly had much help. A process much like loading a boat past the point of certainty sinking perils were only a matter of (staying on steady as she goes) course with the slightest worsening of weather, to the point of people actively betting on it and even heavily on when. Derivation has become synonymous with pollution, rather than with clearing of confusion. Demixing batches of similar ingredients is awful tricky, try batches of sand and gunpowder in various combos and you find yourself either blown up or unable to fire and certainly with things and qualities forever lost, whoops, excuse me, changed. Hearing formulas, like getting credit to flow 'again' makes one fear the worst. We want none of that nasty shit AGAIN. A dead stop to the dollar, a fresh start for the dealhour.

germans are not nazis, jews are not zionists but that said, jews are every bit as supremacist as germans, they just don't even try love, instruct or help their inferiors in any way, wallowing in exploitative and sly hatred instead all the way to and while installing a sick sort of co-dependency that sickens, sucks in and swallows more and more previously unaffected layers, reaches and ranges of existence, that's the big difference. It is universalism vs terrorism.

kephas (stormy weather), speaking to Jake Kotzke on 17 januari (52.529K 55.58 minute file) is definitely not a keeper for me *(though with such a lot of hard disk space there is no point in starting to erase already. That is not to say the perniciousness of all this crap is not to be underestimated as violence of all sorts, notably that in Dendermonde recently, attests.

The Accidental Alchemist also reminds me that synchromystics are drug addled folk who can't make head or tales of the reeling, let alone any real parts of our world. In between boobtube sessions they sit down at a set of keys and try to board their mindset and worldview up nice and watertight, rite along a simple rule of thumb: watch us 'resonate' (most faved buzzword of synchromystics) some hero or other.

uniformity, crosstheboardness, generalization, monomondiality with regards to climate change is understandable but a mistake that undermines the incentives to change what and where it really matters and is most acceptible since fruitful, etcetera. Pragmatic small scale and local measures the alarm prophets are notorious bad at conveying the need let alone chances for. The intimacy improving responsiveness to excercise of homely skill instillstallment conducive to small micro-climate change.

the innumerability fetish of semitic people -- derived from jealously eyeing the proliferation of sand grains and scrupleless disregard for being good neighbours, gleening barely justified feelings of superiority from their hygene/rituals, allowing them to concentrate their forces and be better at closest quarter fights, the ritual and theatrical wielding of intimidating phantoms -- is known well enough but not the parallels. Gravitating to the symbol trade, score keeping ledgerism (and turning it into a conjoke to bolster their sense of humour [[thriving on 'leedvermaak', fun at anothers' expense]]) gives money the same ghostly quality as the demographic who accepts this 'demeanure' will posses once they fail to identify, beware, resist and instead become in- and affected. Christopher Knowles (claims to be a Jungian comic book expert#) on his cooperation with Steve Willner gets 26 comments .... he seems more like a man who can't keep his eye off .. .strike that ... who sees telltale signs of the escape to space conspiracy everywhere he looks (at movies, astronautication and egypt mostly). Headlong into tectrauma hmmm? Is that what Jung was all about????

> # Of course Jung is taken for a ride here, hijacked on the very fantom flying wombs fever dream institutionalization (not the first brand either) he identified and fought to dispell .. in vain .. apparantly. He should have known, better, foreseen and made fun of his fate. Hard excercise that though. Try it, you won't like it. Can't stop them waves of wombs rolling in you know. Nor attempts to get rocketry funded with fables and fungible through fakery. Not far from there we find state terrorism. Hell of a lot older than aliens (but younger than australians).

Don't expect to top a rant like that but after perusing the following, i hope you'll agree i tried ... and i am only doing this kind of thing cause reading about digger350 (yahoo group) type news is way more painful. Surveillance receives the funding all Simon Fairlie type tasks, chores and govt choked initiatives could and should, not be frustrated with but absorb fruitfully on the double. No, surveillance and state terrorist jetfighter, steadfast staple of and for white man's way, straightened and widened, very much sickened by Saharasiac patrist and semitic supremacy memes. I've nothing against fired and fueled imagination, but i am one of the few blessed earthlings to have been blessed with seeing it done right and well .. by Marten Toonder. Perhaps he singlehandedly instilled a strain of earthiness in all Dutch expats close enough to a library that carried the Rotterdam paper (semi-semitic mayor alert in force there nowadays) to keep them a few notches and noticably saner on average. And remember, if you do not average right, the all sustaining grey moist mist will not happen, no divide rite. Right in the middle, in the way but as much AS the way, rock between mankind and heaven. Knocking on heaven's floor indeed.

Look, i understand the desire to see sensurroundments (mens = human in D) 'resonate' one's faves. But one must choose first. Decide to be pro or con career ladder enlace-, embrace-, entwistments. Fake or natural. Hype or heaven. Stage or orchard. And no illusion harbourment possible, Nothing natural about the straight and wide side of the deal, besides and apart from which, next to nothing gets left in peace and one piece, and besides, even (or in the case of say cultural [[riot and resistance containment]] product, especially) in that vanishing percentile not everything but hardly anything manages to remain natural. -----Such is hell on earth.------ Now, to experience lots of resonance just pick the most vulgar and evil runaway lengthening and strengthening of tab keepings and SF like mindset steeping OFF!! Box ticked off? Good. Now take an average patch of nomansland. Look around. See any 'infrastructure' that seems purely like a plain old dirtcheap yet brandnew unused 'present'?. Can you cycle that rock any closer to the water cycle? See ways to work meanderments between cataract and seedbed?????

The devil's captives must frustrate their would be liberators to please their masters. They try enjoy shackles that seem nonremovable. I realize this can only seem like a farfetched simile to use for someone who claims to believe the resonators are only victorious, after all, or before it all rather (since begun, as most tictecplagues do), in the imagination's [ficttreat(y)gtree fogtreat fucktrait fuguemint] figmentality.

the party animal and construction worker score lowest. This is the type of thing we hear on the main top of the hour news on a sunday in februari. ... near the end the announcer perps a freudian slip, he says the poll was held amongst frauden (instead of vrouwen).

The history program (live with guests) devotes the first minute (after the more and more annoying commercials - on the steady numerical increeps as well) to it as well and denies its validity (since they correctly identify the careerman as a euphemism for the rich quick credit crisis causing crowd ...mmm, ... not even that, just a herd really). Anyway, that occasioned a bitter laugh from me, cause it proves fraud seeks fraud (kind seeks kind, soort zoekt soort).

The history program would have been totally irritated and denunciatory had the report been about the way russians for instance answer the question of who was responsible for the gulag. jews or Stalin or half each, the latter merely following a bad example (biblical eye for an eye).

> This is a PERFECT case for "jury nullification". Where a jury gets to decide IF the law applied is Constitutional in the specific case. ------ fija.org/
> The fact that judges do not have to tell the jurors anymore shows HOW far federal control has gone to violate Constitutional intent. It is however, still the law.

transcript snippet from just after halfway through this docu (please don't pind smelling mistakes):

> the shawn (shaman) had lost their last tool of reason, that might interface the validity and function of their sacred knowledge with the mind of the new colonizig people. They felt a deep need to ultimately help them regain something lost in europe before but preservation of the knowledge of the unconscious mind was most imp That was where history was carried, their history.
>
> the croyan could remove the tribal conscious awareness of their sacred knowledge and create secrecy given a period of time, doing so would make the antap and their families safer ... particularly with what was planned. The croyan had seen the capacity the colonizing environment had to create the knowledge of the unconscious, so decided to create an event, completely unconscious for the most part, that would have to be understood by the colonizers in the colonizers courts, they planned to create a mass insanity amongst the c pop, with abuses of their hypn, utilizing and exploiting instincts.

.. was loaded with a mirror maybe or was, that is, it's rectangular shape for instance perhaps, was used to zap (pineal glands of) victims who were (on an individual basis i presume) hypnotically scripted to look up anapamu street. That triggered a leap into moral chaos and the unleashing of vices.

The perps planned the event 10 years ahead, to coincide with the first centennial independence day celebration, since then 300 persons per year were going insane up to a grand total of fully three fourths of the population (1883).

a fresh youtube account youtube.com/katzkillsmoon that refs, and may or may not be him, presents the docu as a 6 part series, part 1:

> the forbidden knowlegde director reading an intro 'burn into the brain'???? Hell what's the most important signifier .. even to this day. The Branding iron!
> unfortunately, the audio isn't any better here, a young account (2 weeks) and none of the 6 parts have been viewed over 30 times yet.
> At the end of part two is a poor explanation of alcoholism: hypnotism works in purely positive environments whereas the binary or to put a much less fine word on it, schizoid disposishies and command structures of westerners, as in 'do (switch/flip) not', that is, 'don't'drink for instance cause difficulties. The unconscious mind from childhood finds no to be painful, so stops short at do.

Roge did Ghostdances of the superrich on the 25th of januari - in that he cleverly compares the virtual unseen assumed existence of a pig in the forest for every man, resonantly and mutually communicantileveraged with the superrich in texas, whose wealth is farmed up and down the digital ranges and reaches of server ranches manipulated by people destined to gradually replace them by repeat performances of ever more perfect (=real seeming) upheavals, turmoils and shrinkspand breathing space instabiltiy. Fleet and flighty impressions like that evinced by a briefly alighting squabble of sparrows will slowly erode and replace steady as she goes, abduct and subvert or even plain explode safe margins. Roge is a moron though for taking this one on one sanity in New Guinea as material to draw a parallel (nothing you can try succesfully when dealing with globes anyway) with/to/on/besides. The ghostliness of say Judaism and money, the latter becoming more and more mono the longer it is left in the slipstream of the former is the opposite kind, namely that of limitlessness, innumerability, overwhelming odds, in- and per vasise, pursuasive, per- and subversive. The group is everything, the individual nothing. If Jesus was jewish we disown the hell out of him and sure disinherit him as well on top of that, this kind inherently runaway thing. Roge has a problem with limits but we know that.

part 2 mentions ties to Victor Hugo; decided to print and take a closer look .....this blogger's treatment of the philosopher's Stone as it appear in the HPotter series seems incredibly shallow and boring at first sight though.

Thinking of all the suspicions that SyMysticklers voice, the herdings, nudges and indirection we are subjected to in order to speed space exploration or whatever their flying broomstick mounted hobbyhorse are about, i conclude their fabulosities destract from the real, down to earth indoctrination we do suffer all the easier bycause of them (to the extent their splinterlike marginality is worth mentioning at all).

The fable we are in danger of swallowing whole for a this time digitally enhanced and in many other ways 'redoubly' decimation is that bad years follow good ones. via Alexander Greenberg I find mr Keen (economist [[of the Michael Hudson variety ... certainly matching the latter's delivery speed]] down unda), alledging that comparison of credit with fractionation is ligit as a same class but different generation deal, and is diminutory towards the latter (if one cares to risk not only being worth one's very own salt but become everybody else's instead, iow, look back) but i am not so sure this is the case. After all, risk and commitment are commensurate, communicant. Large changes are equivalent to redos, favoring those who operate their credulity, and fractionation at just the right factor to survive them. So this discussion is quit arbitrary in the sense that it leaves the quality of choices made off-side, beyond consideration and weighing in on the requation.

I'd requate as follows: Dump all economists out on their ass for starters AND create as many 'emp-opps' in the compost business as this causes 'un'. Then peel the fedutio out of the mixed up homing instinct, stop splitting homes into ways and wheres, homemaking and hometaking, iow, nest and income. What led to all this is an earlier fatal mix. We mixed state and private moneys, which mixed up (subverted, bribed) all political orientations, in an as useless as perpetual whirl eversince. Sigh some more. I'll cut this short with yet another one of my staple re..... hey perhaps that's what got us into this trouble, you all resisting my recommendations to start reading Ulrich von Beckerath with all your might and at meanwhile all cost too coupled to my stubborn repeats come hell or high water.

you want ... a recipe to see bloom set and burst?
you need ... open source - + encryption transparant - + proprietary

For that you mix ... results with daily organincrement

The beauty of this crisis is its flimflam quality. Looking closely enough you will see. Digibits wielded as weapons? Yes. Well, just wait (for just weight), bring open source to bear before even basic boots (voeten in de aarde and all that) are soulless and unstartable -- after all, the urgency to stop big farmaffia - keeping if not setting pace in the run up, not so much gathering steam as distributing poisons, physical, social and spiritual, spreading vice through hell, earth and heavens - could not wish for better than this crisis, the ugly aspect of which is damn near costing us all our bees already.

Boot, install, operate, simple. No problem with that which a little socializing on your own block won't fix these digidays.So the big switch will be flip, like flash vid so quick.

Time waits for no one but weighs on us all.
This ain't no 7 years of failed harvest or 300 years of mine tailings that spill across all available arable land we then need to dig back to and not like at the already criminal beginning 'clear' again but uncover in some such, or also [[but much less and potentially much more sizable]] hypothetical, volcanic/meteoric event.
Arable land on this flying clod is dwindling and so if the analogy mud/dust = money/credit holds (iow, most ancient natural type lube/catalyst/carrier/medium is/as the social variety) then being stuck with loads of suitable dust but not much up and running fertile space and fitting climate left to apply it to puts an end to lust and prospects to haul them around. If the digital world (in crisis) merely reflects this ('growing' problem) as a roundabout way to remind us of and direct us back to the real sweat equity and other energy intensive ways to port batches of dust to where it can become gruesomely growsome instead of the sleigh of hand, the ghettoman's dream of riches, flASHING bits around they are welcome.

fit to grow our various (though perilously few, just like sound banks) foodstuffs.
To let seed saving go to such a narrow base is parallel and indeed precursor to letting banks imperil amountment and culminate in hiholy top ada iceberg hidyholism (some you see, much you don't) which would have us all on forced marches and pilgrimages round and round the mount perilous that some see as typically semitic interventions, a sad way of coping with desertification trauma, an infection which even the coldest and/or wettest regions on earth cannot seem to develop immunity to. If succesful integrees like me are not celebrated *(not that I personally wannabe, i mean those with very little jewish blood and yet and/or so, come up with universals of some sort or another)*we cannot hope to put a stop to the overrunning of Palis with scared Jews.

About civil liberties. One does not lose them. Probes are not necessarily invasive but will be where they need to be, perped upon those who do try to hide what needs to see light of day, be dismantled, etcetera. Nothing to hide (no distillery, hemp hothouse, goysin pass plant) is a great argument in the hands of neighbourhood centers -- god, are there ever too few of those, but not near as many as there are empty buildings to many ... and so i stay on topic for once: fake probs -- to forcefully remind those on the next rung up and more remote, all the way to those nearly elitist political parties to be transparant (another urgency here, this job has to be finished before this wonderful concept has been robbed plundered and bared of all meaning). Rule of thumb: you wanna be twice as big? Fine, go ahead, but you will have to quadruple your transparancy.

Back to the bits which are just as imaginary as the Jewish Reich or its wonderful deeds in Palestine (to just cite the latest and not greatest misdeeds). Change of bits for us will unfortunately not equate to a start of heart, let alone change of it for them. But that's for later. Let's have those software changes on the binarydouble shall we? Hell, after that, we can safely keep present crop of bankers on safely enough to make up for past crap.
Obama, I know you are assaulted by MoCIAd and all them sortaspooks have been insidiously assaulting you with sordid fables from day one (after which i detected it in your voice, just that once ... not that i am a decoy-posterboy-peptalk fan but the fact that folks like Peter Myers has high hopes for you counts for something with me), so it is hi time for a dreamteam to go with your status as our next generation's naive dreamident.
Here's what i suggest and urge upon you to do:
Take Peter Myers (who knows, respects and reposts Michael Hudson's work as well as i do), then supplement Open Source knowledgebodies with Todd Boyle and (very important) stipulate the bunch of them study Ulrich von Beckerath a while together (if only to stop leaving his penpal Heinrich Rittershausen to the goldbugs for instance), then we'd be in business on time and well on our way. The reign of big Bill *(Gates type)*writers is over, digitalia is too big too fail, you must bail and turn non-profit. It will then be a down-hill battle to reign in and convert the bullet and bomb building jobmarket, simply offering their makers and takers better jobs. To get some quick starters funds on the old system take out the top 10% of agressive bankers (those who didn't settle for less than waaaaaay beyond that figure in their wheely deaLIES), confiscate their money and start your largesse. Lavish gifting of subsistence tools and skill-instillment. Punish bigness and risktaking. Risk leaves less and less players who are also less and less viable on top of that. Curb it. And while you are at it, penalize BiGovt not for being large, but for not going opensource about it. Transparancy is one of the few magic words you chose to stock your confidence boosting arsenal with. Now fill that big word out or it will fill with tears that you shall drown in.

The truth lies in the middle between heaven and hell, here on earth, in graspable and makable microclimates of our backyard. I can understand the uneasiness all global and universal pretensions evoke, the slip ups of pure pacifisms derailed their in- and coherence of universalism into a monopolization of good sense, their cleansing and cleanliness into a bound to fail foistage of common cause and their exemplary versions into empty/formal and moronic enforcement of decency. .... but i will be back ... just you wait. .... give me a few aeons though.

www.neoteny.org .... somewhere in nov or dec last year he once more spells out that hi testy women = matriarchy -- hi testo men is the patrism-prism and at it again feb15:

> Family Size and Parent Estrogen: r and K strategies ---- February 15th, 2009 · No Comments
> Just had a rather odd thought that may or may not be relevant to the principles I've been exploring. I'm wondering if estrogen levels in procreating males and females influence the number of children in families. There are r and K strategies for guiding progeny to maturity. In an r strategy, you have as many children as possible to compensate for an inability to control an environment often hostile to progeny achieving maturity. In the K strategy, parents conclude that by paying close attention to fewer progeny, adulthood for the offspring can be more predictably achieved.
> A high-estrogen male would likely be more inclined to pay close attention to his children than a low-estrogen male. That attention would more likely translate into a K strategy whereby the child is ushered into adulthood with much attention. Plummeting birth rates in Europe and developed countries might be directly related to changing male hormone levels, elevating estrogen. Twentieth century high fat diets may be partly responsible for drops in birth rates. High fat diets granted to emerging middle classes in developing countries may be leading to a diminution in population explosion as males become more solicitous of their children.

Studies with animal populations could be conducted by adjusting male estrogen levels and observing variations in family size over time. It's not clear to me what the results would be if the mother's estrogen levels were changed. Do high-estrogen females have larger families than low-estrogen females? It might have to do with social structure.
When female choice is engaged in matrifocal social structures with high-testosterone females, we would hypothesize that in Classic Matrifocal TE (high testosterone, high-estrogen) females there would be smaller families than in Te (high testosterone, low estrogen) Contemporary Matrifocal females. In a patrifocal society where males are doing more of the choosing, we'd expect that TE Conventional Patrifocal males would have smaller families than Te Warrior Patrifocal males.

F te/M TE - Conventional Patrifocal (small families) ---
F tE/M Te - Warrior Patrifocal (large families)
F Te/M tE - Contemporary Matrifocal (large families)
F TE/M te - Classic Matrifocal (small families)

Which doesn't exactly work. Contemporary matrifocal (think Sweden) clearly has small families. We'd also expect Classic Matrifocal to have large families. So, there seems to be a complementary opposite thing happening again.

So, though it feels right to say that it is male estrogen levels that decide family size regardless of social structure, we could just as easily say that it is female estrogen levels that decide family size, only high female estrogen makes for a big family. High female estrogen levels translate into large families (low-estrogen females, small families) as high male estrogen levels suggest small families (low-estrogen males, large families).
A place to go to find refuting evidence would be Conventional Patrifocal Asian societies. Were large families in Asia once the convention? If both very large and very small families have both been the case among Conventional Patrifocal, then this piece of the puzzle may require more thought and observations. There is a possible pattern here. Studies would have to be conducted to back it up.

x:::x by chance .... well, i happened across some vid footage of CManson and started viewing a few more (3 major interviews by the major talkshow hosts at the time) have been reading on and around him a bit since last winter as well .. to be exact ... dave mcgowan and adam gorightly do a number on the dark sides of duh free love. So, not entirely by chance but yesterday, friday the thirteenth i happen across a page, my sojourn across which i docued thusly:

http://sexy-witch.blogspot.com/2008/09/real-witches.html
a site warned about before access and censured off of images.google
..... to be honest, i can see how it and hollywood movies about the Manson scene (peter fonda starring and the like still pumping out and poisoning minds if not gonads and every station in between as we tap keys!). She moved to wordpress lingering on the blogspot, best way i found to get a view of some pics without a whole lodda clicking is here:

http://sexy-witch.blogspot.com/2007/10/sexy-witch-video-no2.html?zx=69d44d0abc84b065
... how to get the googlevideo on embedded doohickies like that beats me though.

Adam Gorightly, who wrote the Manson story i found in 10 parts recently, is linked there and i found this ozzie gal via a reciprocal anyways. He stopped podcasting in 2007 but they can still be had, though slowly, here:
http://www.untameddimensions.com/pod/gp.html

also, as per www.cleandraws.com back when she was running a blog with lots of toots and bell, rants and squaks, i discussed a sparsely clothed lady sitting astride a missile. Talk about mixing messages and the genderclash!!!!

lisnin to jerry rubin now on a downloaded docu about John Lennon --- extra tragic to get killed after leaving the front to cozy up to his little son and sing the timeallfull about lovydovy .. there is another black radical on right now, poetrizing in front of antiwar parties.

Flaming the humble cambodjan huts in a failed doomed and diabolic effort to win hearts and minds ...yuachhhhgg, look at that imperial spew on you!!!!! was shown already.

By the way, tried to find recordings of Hubert Harrison today, a harlem book popularizer from 1900 or the 20s or something. No luck. According to Perry his biographer the man was legendary (Perry can be heard in about 20 files linked from his site repeating this).

During the latter half of the 28th minute on the feb 28th show restarted me pointing at your stubborn refusal to see mine, never mind tolerating me on your list Doug.

You claim to see an 'epidemic of corruption at every level', and your guest throws in the next gear, or shifts register anyway and goes off about big pay offs for corruption, conjuring big supplies of it. Gotta love them evil slide supply siders. And that is the note that show's first half ends on: Madoff is not a Bond or Christmas time hero after all (if the latter weren't real all along as your guest implies).

I will try one more time (in 4 sentences): On the small/narrow miniature/early stage end of the/any scale only equally minute/modest increments are possible. Big doesn't just magically appear. Specially not when awareness of the fact that scale is critical can be kept alive and protected from the onslaught of cultivating vices with impunity. The degree of transparancy may not be bigger overall, indeed more fractured but with fewer global hypes, less imperialisms, what does come across and out will at least be more relevant and more like something those involved and affected can fit a handle too. .... unlike the paralysis i saw coming and warned the indymedia against to little avail (i had hoped to steer them in the direction of community, back to the land whole earth catalog revival and rainbow rescue teaming, a cause that gets fulminated against by the very people who seem to thus betray the very feminine organic beauty their gender, cheerleads and vocal professions would seem likely to help make them capable of).

California rekindles and carries on what germans called blitzkrieg. So said Laurence Rickels, a man i had the luck to start trying to read in the middle of the eighties (will little initial success but enough to keep trying till i could). They get ever closer to the lightninglike speed the word implies but funny enough, Christopher Brown from St Barbara backdates this beamery to around 10 years before the first centennial celebration of the official turtle island occupation, USA for short. Found CB via a comment on a thread about Charles Manson. I will print the wikipedia page on helter skelter, a beatles album taken to be prophetic by the latter, about impending racial wars which he and his 'family' felt a need to trigger .. not that this really explains why they would slaughter a bunch of white stars though ...

McGowan likes to imply/suspect conscious involvement of intelligence and military installations that sprouted the wayward Laurel Canyon crowd (many of them from around DC) other than just siring and losing their brood.

It seems more likely that the dominant intent involved was indeed escape, out of all folks involved in covert killing machinery of the type that uses human parts on both sides of the barrells these black sheep were not overrepresented, specially given the nastiness that propelled them, yet, also likely, could not help them (help themselves) shake the violent mindset they had been steeped in and tried to surface from and for that reason also had to flock together since people lacking underbellies with such intense degrees of darkness and inability to verbalize (except as unrooted lyricism baseless alternative, stark contrast, abstract and sterile, goldlike - note 'the golden penetrators', a frequent fuckers team of 3, pacifistmaking supremero uno), name and banish it could not tolerate them for long, being constantly weirded out ... prolly by quite innocent things ... like sense of humour or something.

a taste of what i could gleen on brutally imperialized american natives via Rob Schmidt who is a whitey (at blogspot since june 06, he has about 50 posts on the Dee Brown book inspired movie about Wounded Knee, alone): bluecorncomics.com/savagena.htm
He says this (kinda strange i feel):

> Other than its racist take on Indians, though, it's a good movie.

He has other critical lines to write about 'northern passage' and yet grants it an 8 out of 10. Misplaced generosity. He does the same thing with Card

What clinches and seals my impression that there is a tad too much turncoatery to Rob Schmidt for calling him wholesome unresevedly, firmly into place is this:

> As we've seen throughout the investigation and firing of Churchill, the man refuses to engage in reasoned debate. For his arrogance attitude alone, he deserves to lose his lawsuit.

- this is truth dressed down to fit that mythical realm of invariance and equivalence. Not that Jews and other people are not each human or that sparrows and them black ones aren't equally birds, just that the degree of solitude (between the minimum requirements and mayhem one puts up with easily) is a most ancient and only trans- never intergenerationally breakable habit (a flux between diffuse and massive, colonizing migrations, widths and diversities of all fronts) one will willingly defend, keeps and puts up or up with make for un- and/or avoidable clashes, difference bridgeability or not, an all too *(in)*visible and therefore extra *(in)*effective barrier.

In most of the second half of this file (twice, in tables of this colour and through the material in between, about Chris Brown again, even more) i attempt to offer more proof that the racial confusion in the US and Canada is a great big impediment and obstacle, a near insurmountible handicap to clear thought. Though it used to run as clear and clean as the water and the wind there, swift as birds and fish due to the decency and mental hygiene that would prompt its application to begin at/in the microcosmical always, that is not to say it would remain applicable to microcosm only.

Fucking with the neighbours is good sport, but fucking with the neighbours' neighbours' neighbours is colonization of the most painful sort. It is the jumpiness that cheats. Not the type that bounds from limb to limb and learns about fruitfulness nice and slow. Instead our gunjumper uses combustion, causing the loss of trees on a whole hillside or even a whole region in order to set sail and combat others doing the same. Whoops, that is pretty run on arguing .. . .. All i meant to say is that Turtle Island occupants can't think their way out of a wrongful occupation even if their life (and much much more) depended on it.

The story extends in time from the Mexican war and land grants denied through fraud associated with the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo to 1971 and fraud conducted by associates of a non profit religious corporation called "The Brotherhood of the Sun" which took land granted by Mexico to a Samala family and included a traditional hunt camp on the summit of the coastal mountains. The sound track is from the CD "Sacred Spirit", Chants and Dances of the Native Americans, an album produced by the Native American Rights Fund. > “This is why the Romans persecuted the Christians because Christ knew that love could be used by the ancient indigenous hypnotists to elicit lifelong obedience from their subjects. He had allowed himself to be used throughout his life in order to know that fact. This is how he “gave his life”. Later the romans may have “took” it when they were reported to have killed him although the Rosicrucian Order (founded by the templars) indicates Christ survived and migrated to Southern France where a people named the Merovingians originated a larger later group called the Franks. The name of France today. The Christians knew that Christ had sacrificed something profound while he still lived although they didn’t, as nobody really did, know exactly how the hypnosis worked. They believed Christ because they were hypnotically influenced to do so. The healing that Christ did was the fulfillment of conditional instructions given to the afflicted to “be healed” of their affliction, when they came before the “great healer.”

On top of that, he said the providers provided him with the name wordsculptor but that it lasted only a few months. Anyhoo. To be honest, these facts (along with him reproing wikipedia articles into huge blogspot files) induced that very opinion to cross my mind also. In feb05 he is quite unstinting when providing evidence of his talent for paranoia, he accuses yahoo, netscape and blogger of having locked his capkey, no sorry, reversed it, much more devious of course.

on jan 23 07 he reports the overstanding / verstand post made a day earlier, made stats go through the roof. It is one of the densest and sustained, broadest brush runthroughs of his timeline i have seen, it is however quite likely he wrote it much earlier, cause he recycles material compulsively:

> 9 - The Neanderthaler cave dwellers then migrated along with their Cro-Magnon slaves to a more temperate island, pre last-Ice Age Antarctica (aka: Atlantis).
> 10 - The growing Ice Age lobes then forced them into underground caves, where they eventually fabricated a permanent residence in the Moho discontinuity (SIMA) far beneath the techtonic plates of the Earth, from where they studied the effects of lava (SIAL) eruptions coming past them, out of the core of the planet below.
> 11 - At a vent (exit) located at the KEMP COAST of Antarctica these astronomers were also able to study surface winds at their point of origin, in the Indian Ocean. (also see American Mountains - AM)
> 12 - Finally, the Neanderthaler (Deans of Dollars) completed the planning of their ruse--a business plan 49,000 years in the making--to take over the entire universe from a home base on planet Earth, with the help of a Super UNISEX Slaves which, in time, they would genetically engineer for that purpose.
> 13 - The ROMA, a modern brown race fabricated out of Cro-Magnon, were assigned the task dubbed "Skull and Bones".

Let me finish for the day by saying i note northangeresque and Fellian pro- and diffuse elements.

Integrate the whole precious porcelain putty into thought, mantle, crust, moho gunk the whole hot or dusty lot, yes. But making the mistake to populate it and personalize it. Childish, a common mistake.

In his own opinion he is being sarcastic and realistic here:

I keep getting clues about my impending senility, only a week ago ... well, ok, a week and a half ago, i printed out most of the archive from potlach (TP) and yesterday i downloaded the whole shebank all over again. Since it is butt ugly white (no embellishments, no toots no bells either) i tweaked it for a closer look and noticed soon enough (having gotten around to reading the cellulose version just last weekend). - Reminds me of the one book one woman doctrine i found abhorrent, struggled against and am at war with still. potlatch.typepad.com links:

the 30th of march a podfile: adbusters tries to mess with google, scare the advertizers with automated purchase-less protest clicks, iow, purposely trying to, as they confess, 'cause headache'. It can become evil, is saleable 'bycause it is a private corporation', yet they are all up in arms painting horror scenarios by arguing this is against and violates privacy. Nassim Nicholas Taleb: "turn lack of information, lack of understanding, and lack of “knowledge” into decisions" fooledbyrandomness.com/notebook.htm

a blogger northanger points to calls Taleb's work on randomness 'fallacious lucidity' but as anyone who knows me well enough knows well enough, i think people like these (and note the echo/popularity) feel so lost in a guessing game cause they haven't a clue, let alone knowledge of the sweat and rock it must take to be anything other than fake on the decision front; not radial, radiant and radical enough to work at bringing gravity and levity together ... where it thereby becomes pleasant and green on the double done duty leaves them with a flacid locquacity at best/most, none of which doeth a sufficiency of dust make.

kealy (veritably neoconian racist in his hatred of iranians), in 2007 he actually says they should be bombed, apparently on the grounds they are to blame, blame is theirs,, they ARE blame itself ... .cause Glen does not see the word theirs without converting it to theIRS = the IRS (all the while thinking/believing he is teasing out its hidden masses manipulating truth) ...and it originated with hindus who infected persians who, all the while using gypsies (roma) who carried on infecting the middle east, a portion of which got marooned and became redscins at an early stage in the pass that sinplay.

proud of my link to MH, no doubt, admiration on the rise too as i am astounded by his prodigious productivity but .. .it has a bit of an autistic taint ... when has he ever ever been critical about ... .say militarism ... state terrorism ... funded by 'efficient' taxcollectors .. which his rhetoric fuels? Mmh? No, did not think you knew either.

He simply never mentions those ugly unethical sides of taxation (namely, what collected monies are spent on, or these days, what delusions of collectibility allow warmongermaterialsupplysiders to garner credit, lootlust and compound pride, iow, progressively more satanic forms of 'support') perhaps cause they are, at least (and alas, also at most) in principle easy to solve, as the (early signs of) mental per- and preversions of artificiality usually are (simply give people a choice, allow them to determine which sector gets the benefit of their precious money), too bad nobody was around to nip the evil thoughts that consolidated and started rabid breed/brands like Monsanto in the bud.

To my sensibilities at least, every single one of mentioned Dorknoperisque dubieties fully justify off-shoring by itself ... no need at all in that respect (though one could) mention (divide and rule through imposition of) mesomulticulturism (or else ... get an older fashi(st fashi)on cannon fodder stigma) induced heights of taxing rates imposed upon the best workers rather than rentiers fearful of and thus vigilant against being overtaken by same, etcetera.

Transparancy demands are the only populist and anti-dodgy-Globalitosis weapons/wishes (ours) that work like charms/commands (theirs) and are salutary to the targets. In absence of this our supply siders keep trying to slip us their satanic bait and instruction ..and .. and yet at the rate we are going, it (transparancy) is not demanded and insisted on BY but OF us!!!! Robbed of something that gets turned on and against us. Not the first time. It is not the corporations that get nailed in Michael Hudson's sense (see a piece he did in 2006, still my fave) but individuals who may know how to direct their money towards places with higher aims than peace through violence.

No matter how great your TAX COLLECTOR it is just one more UNENVIABLE MIDDLEMAN who must and can be superfluidated, CUT OUT BY THE TAXDIRECTOR attracted by all these totally enticing chances to contribute.

That tired inflammatory burn bash and blockerstone ballistics goin' on in Strasbourg as we speak is not what i call effective AntiDodgyGlobalism. My guess is that revenues from .. say .. legalized and heavily taxed gambling on honest .. let alone those on politicized naked fights could replace the 'need for NATO' (profit and job opps) altogether, good chance that once underway, it can leave more than a little money left over to organize a few thousand year lifespan based cycles (and treecycles, make every single critter, including plants, feel 'reich' [[it is a reach not a grab]] for older and older time sakes). That is what i would call a non conflicting complementarity, a perfected islam, desert regreening potential ... since prize money would get spent on the prettiest, scented best and most melodious girls with the greatest moves (instead of on substitute toys, the real thing will do you know) who will, upon maturity no doubt pour their money (this same money, once theirs) in the slots of mentioned noble caring causes.

Treehousing project and reign would mean a drastic slow down, deterence and replacement of that dangerous termite like substitute macho skyscraper fetish .. which all those socialized males suffer from, socalled socialized ones worst (omdat verschraling en verschaling nou eenmaal allebei even vervreemdend - en over elkaar heen buitelend, zulke verdubbeling voor je het weet alweer verdubbelend - 'werkt'), would not be amiss neither me thinks.

If Switserland would stick to handguns and such ... instead of getting onto the jetfighter mental chaingang, they would deserve defending as a tax haven. As it is we don't have a costa rica in europe.

that night/day a freshly laid off 23 year old Abominational (feeling threatened by [[private gun ownership curbing plans of]] Obama) goes berserk with his machine gun and kills 3 cops, wounds two. Said background would, in Dutch news, never never come out until a week after, let alone within that timeperiod, never mind the very day of the event (in an unabashed and resolute act drenched and drowning in duh doctrine of dutch delusion that dictators rigorous privacy of criminals protection. Demonization ammo must be spared for worthier targets, like whistleblowers or something), however, since this news comes from the great big sugar uncle petty tyrant who must be emulated adolated and cited verbatim, all scruples vanish in a flash.

- So ... nothing to do with the circadian rhythm hypnotism hypothesis by Chris Brown .. I will search out more by John Jordan, the article i found this info in is truly touching:

> There was the moment of ecstatic joy as a large determined clown battalion marched straight through a line of smiling yet confused riot cops whilst chanting “love and respect” and ran onto the A9 motorway—and there was the moment when for a few seconds the police forgot which side they were on and played some of our training games with us, which ended in a bizarre clown-cop hug. .... But a day after the actions against the G8, four very normal looking men slipped unnoticed into London’s public transport system, carrying rucksacks filled with explosives. Within an hour they had blown their own bodies up, killed 56 other people and injured 700.

How to unwrap our greatest gift without warping it in the process.
Listening to the econtalk.org show with Eric Raymond i realize there is positive spin we (or zumindest i anyway) can and must put on the adages Theodor Lessing lived by. He thought thought was a symptom, he saw abstracting and symbolizing talents as an affliction. These pessimisms led him to title his books:

> 'Der Untergang der Erde am Geist' (subtitle of 'Europa und Asien') and 'Geschichte als Sinngebung des Sinnlosen'.

But, a much needed and welcome mirroring, turning inside out of this would allow us to place these eminently human arts as harbinger and prefigurement, temporary shortfall, in the trueest sense as conceptions of good things to come (rather than a turning away, a substitute, betrayal or surrogate as i have been wont to put or at least leaned towards putting it).

Bribes for joining the filthy jewish banker game are so high, considering something fat and ugly attractive becomes as easy as it is to feel that way about bank accounts on the upside of the social stratification gradient. neoteny.org Andrew Lehman at work - long story (see below) short:
from the full year of daily posts at neoteny.org by Andrew Lehman
I downloaded 7 may08 posts on the 9th of april, at that point still unsure wether the method used (via the monthly summaries deceptively overdignified and -determned with the term 'archive') was the only way of collecting posts. Mercifully it turned out i could get 2 months in 4 clicks (and remember, conjure is not capture, that at the very least doubles the measure of required punches right there) rather than having to visit each one individually (since hardly any (of them) spin off comments there is no point). It would take 31x2 clicks already ... conjureplexclusively speaking .... Mmmmm, conjureplex, what a blogname eh????

What he wrote on my birthday last year (spot on for that day any year i believe, compare to 7thunders.com if you like):

> Trouble Seeing - june 2nd:
> Grief seems to evidence itself in behaviors of activists around me. Rather, it's a choice to avoid that feeling that informs how an activist's life unfolds.
> When conducting business, talking to clients and meeting with prospective clients, I don't pay attention to their internal psychodynamics. Still, I'm frequently astonished at the unique ways that clients think. My job involves guiding clients to achieve an overview of their project, business or business plan in order to translate it into a website navigation structure that provides both introduction and detail. Together we discover the right category names, sequence them and provide a cogent pathway for a visitor to walk. I marvel at the challenges this task presents to certain ways of thinking.
> Compel a person to think both big picture and narratively when that person is used to thinking detail and/or associatively, and you can hear the gears grind as if they've never driven shift. With time, we finalize a plan, the staff creates a website and the client is happy. Working with people to put their best face forward, I see one of their best faces. I get a front row view of people's dreams. Evenings and weekends, I'm in a different world.

I find few small business people or entrepreneurs in political activism. No shop owners. Few business owners. Activists don't dream in the way a person starting a business dreams. Activists yearn. They display little expectation that their desires will be achieved. -- I sense that partly what compels an activist to engage in battles they rarely expect to win is an experience of certainty of loss. In other words, in the lives of activists is the sorrow they seek to address. In the heart of the activist is grief not grieved. There is a paradox here.

As activists, we seek to observe and experience in the society around us a transition to a more caring culture. We work hard to achieve this next step in the evolution of how humans treat humans. Yet, in our own lives, we are often stuck where we've felt personally aggrieved. We might be stuck in fury, stuck in sadness or just be stuck avoiding fear. Stuck, we seek unstuck by becoming activists. Only as activists, we often don't expect to experience the change we seek. ----- Grieving, accepting the loss, forgiving .... one of two things might happen.

We might withdraw from being an activist, going into an endeavor with what seems like a more achievable dream, like the clients I see almost every day. We might learn to love the fight. We might become activists that can see the changes as the changes happen. Leftists have difficulty seeing the change they seek. Their eyes are veiled.

april 11th: I remarked on Barbara Hartwell 4 days ago. now i listened to one of the 4 shows vyzygoth made with her, the fourth done a year after the others. i came to the following thought.
This is not emotainment in quite the same way our theatrical rainbow sister appearing at circles in the 80s (first penn gathering for one) brought it. Not so much about what was invaded mistreated and left but what was abducted and mistreated (B's good name) is the main issue here. I bet both women are childless. Love without issue and credit to keep the source of the niceness echoing i guess.

I can complement the first half of an equation that partly came through in 2002 or so, dismissing the dismal ... is a minor yet essential part of welcoming the arrival of thrival.

Let's do a quadrant game:

Hah haaha. for a minute there i was under the impression would be about the attempt to strip private citizens and take their stashes away from them on the plausible grounds they prolly did not come by them honestly ... rather than wondering if the fact that they are not put, notoriously enough, to purposes that enhance and secure the capital they attempt to shave the rough edges of, hence the heart out eatery and the revolving door doubling and rereredoubling corporate agents pretending to be reponsible citizens to slight and subvert the difference, the oversight, audits and accountability calls. Of course it concerns Afganistan and Pakistan. That's the other end of the dark and monstrous spectrum, for western mercenary, Islamic resistance and CIA drug money lovers alike.

Steve Keen speaks fast, i for one am quite mightily struck by the degree towards which he and folks like Michael Hudson share this aspect and how it seems to stem from having soaked and clothed themselves in a strong grade of certainly solution. They appear to perp a form of denial, namely, the latter especially, homogenize people (into two antagonistic groups and not content to leave it at personal gender issues either but looking at how these works out communally, probing for the degree of mercurial mendacity, hunting for most massively inescapable uptrend appeal in order to afford the most infinitesimally miniscule, tidily and tinily modest, inconspicuously flat(out equal treatment) profit margins). From coin shaving to digital misbehaving, it all works out to runaway paving, vertical esclape imposion

Are they tempted by an obviously overwhelming and long since given in to desire to make it all add up? But at the same time they try to compensate by knowing all about the difference in ability to pay and are happy ascribing all those differences to dishonest means resorted to out of egoistic insecurity rather than the rich and varied skills palette of the autonomating (american dream) kind. What is even more striking is the fact he traces the tracks left by the clever schemers quite a few mundane factions and groups are convinced it is imperative to identify with the taskmastery is quite close to the plain old slavery we see in Dubai nowadays and other places construction and sexworkers are lured to with lies and promises that turn out evil enough to hold them captive in hell. The splitness of the priviliged classes are quite evident from the denial of reality in their rhetoric and the tragedy of seeing them delegatorily shit themselves, that is, pollute their billion dollar beachfronts with sewage by denying their asiatic charges the ways and means to deal with, let alone own it. --- I just read Johan Hari on this yesterday.

In the west however the preferred method is to just instill subjectivating obligation that works right along the need to feed offspring etcetera.
But for the top elevations of/in testoterone level sporting gents who love hi stake hi risk great gain, gold never and nothing else ever grew fast enough, and neither does the demographic at their beck and call, so taking a few advances here and there borrowing from and thus burdening future generations, that semitic speculation disease is becoming de riguer more uniformly, hence more shamelessly, no doubt insecurity driven also, the latter in turn resulting from unsustainable, desertifying practice.

ps: all the more odd to see him avoid naming and shaming semites (he could start with the gravegrounds buying founding father Abraham), since he likes the game so much and calls not only the entire financial got round to catching up with AL again (and stuck his april 1st post picking faves from a year of daily essays up top of my april file as a finishing touch - i don't publish them anymore), here is a snippet from march 26:

> I titled the first site the Serpent Foundation. The serpent suggested, for me, the matrifocal origins of culture and the serpent as a symbol of the medical profession, a connection derived from those early societies. With time I let the title drop. It seemed cultish and, in our culture, suggestive of something sinister. Visitors were sometimes confused. Confusion was not the effect I was looking for. Nevertheless, serpentfd.org is still a functional domain name of the original site, now going by the URL sexualselection.org.

Opportunities to get stuck and poison something permanently are legion of course, not just on a hormonal level. For instance what use are the finest flowers along the most inviting paths to somebody whose sense of smell and physical mobility is irreparably broken by chasing profit in, due to the rivalry, chronically thick traffic?

Can bethedges be understood as luxury for richest amongst rich?

Elitism squared .. and the best do not but the inbred win, squaring off with their rivals by mixing bloodlines that keep the peace. archaic habits hijacking the most ultramodernitisms. The risk spread repudiation (afwenteling) rolls and loads it onto those who can afford to insure against it.
Insurance, like sex can be set up luxuriously as well as recklessly, the latter thrives in dirty minds behind clean teeth (Amoba spreads the refugee problem rather than attract visitors due to irrisistable trace documentation - a rising wave that will soon growup enough to start leaving all these megalionists running on empty). Till then please patiently endure if/when unable to avoid and circumvent double agents, forked tongues and secrecey, never leaving our goal out of site, demonoplying torque delivery van - train - jubilee.

hi, long time admirer of yours here .. on unaccustomed keyboard ..... wondering whaqt would be best ... chasing or enticing you over to sexual paradox -- a yahoo group run by Chris King, an older math prof in New Zealand who is very split on the split (does that make him patrist squared?) -- or vica versa.

.. presents a mix of news on gender issues, mostly from the scientific press ... CK would like more conversation than actually takes place (nearly none), another good reason for mixing messages.

You Andrew are starting to fit my savant collection more and more, your FfEeTt : MmEeTt grid is a one to one overlayable to the chinese trigram one. I am looking forward to reading you in an olfactorily registrable emission edition. I know mine benefited from travel/cultural relativism and it seems more inducable (in the sense of opportune window stretch/width than the decisive moments you write about). All the best and great big thanks.
CK drew my (digital) attention in 98 but since then i find his bias against Arabs in favor of 'homecoming' semites a good illustration of best vs worst possible lesson drawable from desert holy books.

> "The above free fall explanation takes care of the building but it needs to be said that when the floors blow and the 300 milliseconds delay of the core blast occurs, the contents of the building are subjected to an outward blast of hard stone aggregates that shred everything and blow it out the windows explaining the 3-5cm bone fragments on roofs 400 feet away.
> > superfine, heated particulate
> > With an engineered explosive container made from concrete having the explosive coating on the centralized rebar, the pressures from optimum containment are absolutely maximized. Optimized pressures create a maximum shock wave lending to the total pulverization described in the above paragraph but also creating the 10-100 micron sized particles that are super heated to rise and form the distinctive pyroclastic flow. This also causes some of the iron of the rebar to be bonded to molecules of silica and calcium as seen in the dust analysis."

At the end of the first (of 2) parts, the documentary 'Twin Tower Deception and Demolition' documentary by Christopher A Brown, he urges viewers to find a copy of 'The Engineering And Construction of the Twin Towers', a documentary PBS produced in 87 and aired in 90 but removed from the archives.

He made two more and larger documentaries about questionable removals, both about southern california; 'Stolen Land' and 'Forbidden Knowledge'.
The latter is a most curious page from the holy writs of settler, colonist and imperial bookies placing their bets on rise ou bien fall throughout murder marketing sagas and also works up against and looks at a case of missing records, to wit, those documenting three fourths of the late 18th century St Barbara population sent mad as a demonstration of shamanic power and their revenge for losing jurisdiction.

> Dr. Michael Hudson, what a brilliant man. Fascinating that we haven't seen him in any of the oversight committee hearings. Appears as though that C-SPAN and Brian Lamb are even gutless shills and don't have the groin interview this man. Parasites? About the same as proposing cap and trade policy, I notice nobody is talking about the North Pole and its movement to Siberia. Is there a mainstream media blackout on Dr. Hudson? I thought Obama wanted divergent views.

hurry up harry (dot org) has an article with nearly 400 Cs on Marx and the Jewish Question, some of them claiming the bile poured on the vile was really meant for / caused by all sorts of demonizers rubbing off on Marx and variously pointed at Russians, Slavs, the bourgeous, the Christians, etcetera:

http://louisproyect.wordpress.com/ visited in april, the 21st should have the second part of his Brecht forum visit account ...sigh ... i pretty much gave up on him ... as i do on all movie fanatics (no matter how much i loved and needed them ... when i mistakenly felt a captive in my preteens).

a 70K CRISTOPHER BROWN file called 'contemporary traces' and named 'inference' (Quotes on hypnotherapy, collective amnesia, etcetera) was cut to one seventh sometime this last month (also discovered a short 98 questionaire relating to his Missing Knowledge documentary, which is indeed narrated by himself), yesterday i was not bored a minute while listening to him for two hours about secrecies regarding the innovations in construction/demolition aspects of WTC used to go for breakthrough massiveness in manipulation of the masses .. even though the melodious and never confused or hesitant voice of the man -- CB's voice, flowing onto a file (about 3 and a half times as good [[and large]] as the (live365) Ron Larson (made exactly 2 years ago) or Anne Burley ones available along these lines, with CB that is) made by Fintan Dunne, that Irishman who runs breakfornews.com and is a big fan i am pleased to say, though his website is not exactly notorious for defending let alone reclaiming indigenous status -- was quite strictly technical, not exactly my interest or expertise ... but as i said, 'extremely fine particulate' is an aspect this case has in common with ... volcanism ... so that naturally makes me prick up my ears and the resemblance of the fine white white fine with some kind of religious rite seemed obvious to me back when i saw the first close up footage bits. More aspects in common with volcanism: ubiquity, explosiveness .. on the whole great benefit (secrecy exposure in this case rather than the type of setting free that leaves open and close to rain and shine, enabled to draw breath).

on the 28th of may I extracted ... more like painfully extricated the 67K fresh parts from the standard 30 messages (which normally comes to between 300 and 400K) a lovely expand function at yahoo groups offers which gang8 group users nevertheless manage to swell burden dilute and make as good as unworkable without succumbing to aggravation, ... in this case to 3.824Mb!!!!!

The stars there blatantly ignore, are irrespectful, ungrateful and downright sabotaging to this lurkinfoloadhandling facilitarianism. > Michael: The value has cut loose from both the production & the money. The reason is the same: major goods - buildings & Transport CONSUME ENERGY rather than PRODUCING energy - this is what drives us back to medieval & is largely unquestioned. No physical space is of value - including the human body if sick: the "carrying costs" > are too high; taxes, rents, interests, etc. Gov can give money to cover these which "improves" Velocity term, but adds no value - only loses more in useless "work"!

I am livid flaming mad. If i had a bucket of shit and was near Dirk and/or Gunnar i would fucking pour it over them no hesitation.

really i should ignore these morons instead of getting upset over having to hold down the scrollkey or mousebutton for 20 seconds so i can get so lucky as to read or copy maybe even as many lines added to a string of revelations under headings such as 'are financial assets in the domain of 'the concrete'?' or 'production vs thin air' ps 2018: if only people would turn to stone ... how long before people get this as my way of expressing the opposite, the redemption, the turn around and inside out of misanthropy? a thought i had on the first of november, trying to decide what of the following section i should prune, cull and cast aside.

sure enough, a boy wonder synchromystic avant le mot here:

> ... Rene Clair's THE CRAZY RAY (1923) ...
> ..turns the inhabitants of Paris into stone statues ...
> Or did the ray drive people crazy, implying that to turn people to stone is to drive them mad?"

Similarly, Bob Dylan wouldn't be inclined to say, "When I sang about Idiot Wind, I meant mass psychosis." . first line:

> "someone 's got it in for me, they're planting stories in the press ...", within 2 (of nearly 9) minutes he calls the muse for the occasion an IDyot

--- Piet: hey, good song!!! ... where is ID at indindeed, indian in need??? Identity is the last thing Dylan likes to be straight about and i don't expect better from those taking lessons from the stars. How low do the nuts hang on that buddy? Not low enough to lead you to an understanding of miniscule precedestors (pronounce: press E destors) occupiers of indian land one and all!!!!!!!!!!! Betrayers, denyers ignorers of joky little me. Pretty smart to blame them bonneted and buttonloosening icelippy gals for hi rises though, THAT is clever, dindude. But you d'own fool me brotherman, you are tal.. spamming to a pro-reductionist now ... who had a good few fucks this month with a lass enjoying the last spate of about to fly and take own brood, leaving time for that humongous book on native indians given by a Belgian linebusdriver as tall as i am. So there. And besides, look what you made me do, listen to 'idiot wind' long enough to make the clock read 2.16 right now, outraptious man!! Still, thanks you for the pointers i am about to point at with/after you (after a few more minor hurdles).

Dear Alvin's bibliography is a hell of a lot less large than the chronological hollyflickery and comes after the concluding line -- Have I seen one too many science fiction movies? Or is the show you never expected to see ABOUT TO BEGIN?! --before the 6 line long appendix, a quote from "Margaret MacDonald's 1830 Secret Rapture prophecy": "....power and signs and lying wonders, so that if it were possible the very elect will be deceived."

note to self: gotta get 'CLOSING TIME' (1973, on Joyce, at least a little) by N O Brown, hily praised.

nother quote (labelled "interesting") from early on in this essay:

> Constantin Brunner's OUR CHRIST: THE REVOLT OF THE MYSTICAL GENIUS (1921). "There he hung, the blasphemer of God, slender slanderer of the most noble men, the poor malicious fool, the incorrigble wretch, the whoreson and whore monger, the swindler, the liar, the seclusive reducive missiever, dosaver, seducive cure securer." ... oops, i tweaked it after starting on style flaw and typo but so be it.

june (and 'Earth') 9:
Majority of Dutch citizens live stand and die by their decency and duty doctrine unexamined.

A sentence i wrote in the middle of march 06. Today is a good one to flesh this out a bit:

Just yesterday i admonished my mother for not being willing to even hear, let alone adjust choices according to truth. This particular instance arose as we passed under some trees on the edge of the village she bore and raised me in and she remarked on their size. I replied that once people like her were starting to do that the trees in question would be unlikely to have a lot longer to live .. which despite its truth gets taken as an attack, and a mean underhanded one at that. Of course a culture of trees is not compatible with a living based on raising as much succulent grazing grasses and meat or dairy cows as possible. The only professions my mom and all the older inhabitants around here are steeped in.

Meanwhile the machines get bigger and heavier and the luxury good monoculture meme that goes with it is exported along side it at more and more literally all cost, short term profit and less and less lagtime frustimminence.

I do not mean to ban and do away with hi-tec but adjust its target: is it not best applied to minutest of miniature scales MONOcellular genesis of a chain that grows quickly monstrous when such humble and eminent destribution, in one word, beginnings are neglected, betrayed, taboo, dishonoured, starved, sterilized, locked up, tortured, etcetera?

To turn the tide with lifelike depictions (digital immersions) of strolls and adventures along foodforall footfall handheld lotec muscle powered and permacultural nicety enhanced path meandermentalities with today's virtual savvy is very easy no doubt but the sensibility to precede and go along with it, exactly the sort of totally organic world my mom grew up in (to the point she cannot even see, fathom or deal with poisons, pollutions and all that, her very ideal and youthful, sane life derived memory mocking thanatide).

This village has one of the last remaining enclaves of protestantism that manages to thrive due to the calvinist work ethic and borderline puritan xenophobia. Still only just over a handful coloured folks here though only 20 carminutes from Rotterdam. The 2 monocultures (grazing grass and bibles) keeps them out. A brandnew, not often used church annex has a poster of (the 'wide and narrow', a painting Charlotte Rhielen used as a travelling preacher and later in a school she founded and which depicts Matth 7:13, 14).

The poster is flawed, furrowed and fractured to the point of excluding the synthesizing middle (that Hegelian trick which wasn't pragmatized in the way i attempt to do here but abstracted and taken for a diabolic trick by an invisible behind the scene, hiding in a horrid fold middle man), in other words, the ravine is horrible and uncrossible except by way of the church. Let us for symmetry sake try picture the ideal and narrow as truly weaving its way back and forth between extremes in a way that transforms and harmonizes both, closing and healing a gaping wound, .. perform typically swiss infrastructural trade tricks ..along with permacultural and rockdust gospelly spells thrown in. Rainbow just the way i like it.

.. instead of skirting wilderness and Abyss, suffering hardship, visiting church (later posterversions have it precariously situated over the precipice) which weirdly enough gives those whoses choice was less informed earlier to come join you from the other side of the bottomless pit, but this opening can, at least at times and at the latest sooner or later become 2 way traffic, in other words, lure and tempt you to leave, flip, switch to the glamourous and hitec broadway side of the console IDeated Stages of Schizophrenia.

The hiway to armageddon (Arma, a company my dad bought a stake in once, goed doen, a child of his who has every intention to) on one and the humblest of monastic povertypaths on the other side of a dark, greatly tabooed divide (vital and distributive dividends yielding once understood and joined, helped, tickled, engaged, honoured).

What's with that womby weedly willful wormy world between pathless wilderness on one side and ways wide enough for all to be held in thrall (and collectively stall) on the other?

and essential complementation is to be imp'ed at all scales. If it seems that the more of them we reach the fewer in/along them we manage to teach it is bycause we are easily distracted by shiny skin, exquisite eyeballs and the like, while we should at all times pay attention to and focus on the complement: shiny marble yields lowly dusts to *(in)*form and vitalize soils brightening eyes, etcetera.

Pay (those pipers who pay) attention to the microlevels at each stage/phase of the scale and vice versa, the only majesture that counts for keeps and manages to keep count (exactly by losing it - see my polemics against kincounter Arguelles for explanations of that .. .soon as someone cares to help me get it online again). Mmm, fitting i should mention him at the beginning and end, no? 'earth' day, kin 9, care to get evolved?

Blood quantum and common sense

Both lost ground disastrously and their loyalty to the long since taken for sacrificial (geschoffeerde) exploitable, dispensible, thought to be elitizable with impunity (with all the bleeding banished to one side of the equation), remainderlessly transfer- and -posable to exclusivity (chozionation), bubblable, fakable bio-degradability is proving both it staunchly and their bane stubbornly.

Christoper A Brown's doctrine holds is both possible and advisable to banish and quarantine collective banes (traumas) into books (for safely away keeping) but i claim he misses the obverse of that coinheapseep. It, i believe, has a more widely applied pedigree, namely the penner scratching down, gouching and/or pouring out a wishlist/trap for his fellow man/victim to fullfill/fall into. A difference between buried and paraded wartools methinks.

of course being Berufsblind they go on an on about the diff between ethnography and anthropology. Contrast with the one liner i came up with ...was it yesterday? Yup: ethnicacy. .... not so delicate, more like milling rumour for profit (even Science Magazine joins that fray):
Louis Proyect and almost 12 others i reckon, on Jared Diamond

Why, that sounds like Pierre Clastres echoing through the very same post: Stinky Journalism also has another piece in their series up by Glenn Peterson on matrilineal clans and the containment of violence in Micronesia which further fortifies the claim that 'stateless' socities have structures which shape—and sometimes prevent—violence.

nother intriguing name
http://locus.cwrl.utexas.edu/spinuzzi/ (still in the same item) in fact, quoting him isn't called spreading rumours of course, the quote's content IS called something, some same but fancier thang: "dynamic of the debate" -- sorry pal, the only true meeting of cultures can only come out Joycean and that aint it, Joycean i mean.

via mailstar.net - (Peter Myers certainly is, AND a self built homesteader, almost perfect, if only he wasn't just one of these way too many out of place whities. A colonialist and occupier despite himself).
If I acted in ways I shamelessly expect of others --- let all those celebrity and succesful carriers/escapees of maroccan blood return to the cultural vomit they feel justifiable proud having struggled with and escaped from and waste their valuable time in the thankless and costly task of trying to reraise their lesser fellabrethren's brood ---, in other words, if i felt as responsible for what folks with more than my 1/64th or so of jewish blood were doing in their, ... eh ... our supposed homeland, i would be there now, on display, with subliminal full on beam: look at me, assimilated, not hated, not haunted, threatened, segregated or otherwise 'antied' [nor 'antiing' with false flags that haunt harass, harm and hatefill my targets], ... just ignored, marginalized --- or treated like a sacrificial king at best ...
In this northern pagan territory, the most wellwilling gesture the originaries could make towards regions whence hot spice dark eyed beauty, was to grant a be all end all version of of their endlessly annual string of crucifieds, be jewish genius! Good boys yall heathen, we will slap your affidavit onto our testostymount, pat you on the back and install positive ID tap on your brandnew account so you may live forever and ever --- bycause of the residue non-commital free spirit too clever for their own good stigma that hangs even on folks who's this meme dictating blood has gotten highly dilute, like mine, and despite all failed parental efforts to nip my attraction to abstraction (books) in the bud.

Conclusion: you won't hear me complain about maroccans anymore. If you do, kindly remind me of this piece, regarding which i must then, hopefully (perhaps thanks to you) vorübergehend, suffer a bout of amnesia towards.

I placed '-- P: ' before, and '-/P -- ' after my remarks to facilitate quick format changes should a paper saving print run be desirable, judged advisable, etcetera with the result of these feelings being acted upon and carried out. Meanwhile they already served me for colour changes via 'replace' functionality which has the added advantage of giving me a consistent colour throughout the file and saves me a lot of clickage along the way.

i was about to paste the latest writs on 'wide & narrow' striving to contain the gulfgapriftabyssnothingotheredextreme but in vain

... to a recent podomatic page (second audial Ezra/Steve thing i guess) but i found one must register first and i built up resistence to that. A really tiny franchise for prolly a chain called 'the cartridge family'wanted to register my refills. Tsjjj. I told the 17 year old that we are about to be punished for the fabulous lies told (and still) about Russian type with the very nightmare projected far away for an awfully long time ad yet heirbeigeAlptrauemt

Steve seems to argue we are not musical enough, not well enough rounded in the arts and consequently fallen out of our 4th dimension.
His formulation is very wild and way to doppeltdeutig to say either way for sure:

> "Why do ufos appear as prison wardens, why do more and more mainstream hollywood films encourage empathy towards extraterrestrials, putting the viewer in the shoes of the invader?"

Simple, cause 'alienation' is a fabulation perped by occupiers/invaders who project their cultural and collective bottom line onto this mythomania .. and 'entities' like 'israel'.

> "For being bound to the physical form or material realm is observed from above is a virus laced amnesia, injected into the spiritual ether and right now we are slowly receiving the antidote or key. Will you fight it or let it swim through willingly throughout your veins."

You folks are, despite your fresh approach, so far only slightly less outside in as the rest of sentience that suffers each other silly civil and insectarian or perhaps extinct.

.. yall seem to proclaim: 'mentalitate' and internalize fluidity, then 'oilshell be well' .. but imbibing a mindblowing drink or just quenching thirst never makes it to centering stage where the transformative nontransferable unition of ID peace training becomes possible, where decision to split becomes decision to split .. what? The scene? The wood? Personal I ties? Then remain too split to decide? Like in the days of yore, we could do it some more (BD, days of '49: like in the days of old; when we dug up the gold?) ... Getting closer .... Rock! But the music is in what ensues upon proper application of the powder (consult 'seer centre' in scotland - once you grasp transterrestrial law in a sprinkle of these sorts of powders, talk about upside downage, keeping that silliest of inert stuff, gold and discarding the dust becomes meaningful).

Sinkorrow Serialists want us to internalize fluidity, buy their sappy suncrymusement but radial and decisive splitting that sets time organizing in the most ancient meaning of that word, that sets music (of rain n shine + all that ensues naturally) in motion, is in their, like in all religious *(head)*cases, remoted into divination (time abstracted, projected).

this from the bottom of my may file: Similarly, Bob Dylan... ::snipped::

second addendum: (the 'wide and narrow', a painting Charlotte Rhielen used as a travelling preacher and later in a school she founded and which depicts Matth 7:13, 14).

The poster is flawed, furrowed and fractured to the point of excluding the synthesizing middle (that Hegelian trick which wasn't pragmatized in the way i attempt to do here but abstracted and taken for a diabolic trick by an invisible behind the scene, hiding in a horrid fold middle man), in other words, the ravine is horrible and uncrossible except by way of the church. Let us for symmetry sake try picture the ideal and narrow as truly weaving its way back and forth between extremes in a way that transforms and harmonizes both, closing and healing a gaping wound, .. perform typically swiss infrastructural trade tricks ..along with permacultural and rockdust gospelly spells thrown in. Rainbow just the way i like it.

.. instead of skirting wilderness and Abyss, suffering hardship, visiting church (later posterversions have it precariously situated over the precipice) which weirdly enough gives those whoses choice was less informed earlier to come join you from the other side of the bottomless pit, but this opening can, at least at times and at the latest sooner or later become 2 way traffic, in other words, lure and tempt you to leave, flip, switch to the glamourous and hitec broadway side of the console IDeated Stages of Schizophrenia.

The hiway to armageddon (Arma, a company my dad bought a stake in once, goed doen, a child of his who has every intention to) on one and the humblest of monastic povertypaths on the other side of a dark, greatly tabooed divide (vital and distributive dividends yielding once understood and joined, helped, tickled, engaged, honoured).

What's with that womby weedly willful wormy world between pathless wilderness on one side and ways wide enough for all to be held in thrall (and collectively stall) on the other?

> Each individual manufacturer in any given sector, whether of production or consumer goods, will gain a temporary advantage in market share via lower unit cost by automating ahead of his competitors, but when they all catch up, the sector as a whole employs less labour and hence generates less profit. Thus, to keep fully automated industries 'profitable,' government subventions are required, which the government has to raise by taxing less capital intensive industries, regions, and (via imperialism) countries. Ultimately, a fully automated industry will run indefinitely at cost, including amortisation of wear and tear on the capital equipment used, but yield no profit at all.

> FIRST EARTH is a documentary about the movement towards a massive paradigm shift for shelter -- building healthy houses in the old ways, out of the very earth itself, and living together like in the old days, by recreating villages. An audiovisual manifesto filmed over the course of 4 years and 4 continents, FIRST EARTH makes the case that earthen homes are the healthiest housing in the world; and that since it still takes a village to raise a healthy child, it is incumbent upon us to transform our suburban sprawl into eco-villages, a new North American dream. www.davidsheen.com/firstearth

'Ty' on the topics covered: a scary JWells post

> A mysterious and disturbing set of PM's from Jeff Wells about a suicidal woman in the Northeast… PM's which mysteriously disappeared after the Duncan story broke. Recent information that may shed some light on who it was who invited me into their "private research forum" called Reality Covered and their strange plan to expose CIA disinfo agents by having regular luncheons with them.

> You'll hear the full story of how a man claiming to be CIA spook Robert Ehringer contacted me and backed up his claims by seeming to demonstrate knowledge of the "secret" research happening at RC….and how no one at RC really seemed bothered by this. I will explore the decidedly mixed messages I've received from mainstream media sources and how they clearly know more than they are telling.
> I'll let you have a peek at the dual-roles played by some of my detractors who denounce me publicly while slipping me clues in private.
> We'll have another look at Mary Duncan, or, more specifically, her place of employment, Wayne State University in light of another employee who knows a lot about internet disinformation campaigns. And yeah HE'S also CIA…not as in "DE thinks he's an agent" but as in "it's on his resume." (How did Constantine not come up with it?) You'll learn about the unexpected connections to my research concerning Whitley Strieber and how the "game" in some form has been going on since long before Duncan's alleged suicide.

> The next blog post will be a beginning to look at Christopher "Kit Green, former CIA, neurophysiologist and alleged member of the so-called Aviary who also was the CIA liaison for the remote viewing program at SRI. Why full circle? Dr. Green happens to work at Wayne State, where Duncan's mother Mary also works. Mary Duncan, who has given no interviews on the subject of her daughter Theresa's alleged suicide, recently completed a political science PhD and is now overseeing compliance with human experimentation standards at Wayne State. So, in what could, I suppose, be yet another series of coincidences, we have a CIA guy and brain poker who also was involved in the Scientology saturated RV program and who has UFO disinfo games as a sort of hobby, working right there with the woman whose daughter claimed she was being stalked by both Scientologists and an MKULTRA-connected Iowa Republican. Confused? So am I, but we'll sort it out together.

> Defaming The Dead:
> http://writ.news.findlaw.com/dean/20040312.html explains there are few legal remedies to prevent attacks on the reputation of the dead. Kate Coe needn't have bothered with the Weekly's legal advisor — even if Theresa Duncan's family had kicked up a fuss, they have little recourse against her, the LA Weekly, Newsweek or the LA Times. That is what made a dead woman who alienated all her important friends such a delectable target — if your moral culture celebrates feasting on roadkill.

Piet: If your culture targets delectibility (tree crops) instead of celebrating roadkill it can be said to have morals that prevent, deter, discourage and in every as gentle as possible and hard as necessary way keep roadkillers and killroaders from feasting on moral celebrities, however, ' if your moral culture celebrates feasting on roadkill.' (that is, more accurately, to say, when immorality is hoisted on a scaffold by those whose non-transparant lifestyle has rumours take flight), thus turning tables on salvaging all sorts of selfage (sufficiency, steady homing, Whole earth catalog materials etcetera) and becoming (turning themselves into) immoral feasters who in turn turn what should be cultural celebrities into roadkill#), every conscience to the extent it has a chance to get kindled, can survive and --gods of war forbid-- express itself (TD on her man as Entlike anyone? Pay me!) will envision, advocate and defend a culture that celebrates morality (the kind that kills roads, creates paths instead).
In slightly (but really little) different words, i hope yall realize that if your culture 'sports' and (tippy laddertopplemob) massmediates (cerebrates)'feasting on roadkill' .. what it really does is celebrate victimization of those farthest off, as far off as possible (the farther the better is as close as their concern gets. Try any sort of a family life with this crowd heh?). That's like having a heart for even those far off, a so far failing christian mission and greenie target inversed. Farthering of offing in the good old imperial fashion that plays with that devilishness (distance) as item/aspect/ingredient/property which gets the sell sell sell mill revolving.

the only reason i can think of why archives like mine are not welcomed and all sorts of suitable spaces remain vacant and ghostly to reflect the greed and soulsearing vacuity their surplus represents. But as long as they can continue to define this behavious as prudent with impugnity ...... hellbound we remain

As any 'achtsloffer' (slachtoffer is victim in dutch) worth a pyramiddle mean mediating crystalized crust of salt will tell you, distance was an emergency measure since primal day 1, escape, flight etcetera, but slowly a turning inside out occured. Domination through monopolization (abusuriousness) of victimhood. Aeons of banishment and diffusion are succeeded by those actively wielding the differentiation factors that lead away from locality (betraying plenny of potential that way, more than they realize, cause even their own).

And now, lad and gyntease, an alas (for generally private and worse the shame, for universal comfort) all too personal signature betraying line i must leave out if i care to entertain hopes of remaing anonick unless we can launch this on lots of sites or with lots of signatories. .. but i feel i have already exhausted that route.
Divide/Unite ... is the / sharp, steep, precipitous, shocking ...... or a caressing veil, dancing across misty morns, turning dewdrops to jewels, moving beatifully?

Do bare existential bones mesh with luxuries anywhere, ... in whose heads anymore? The matrix will have off with them in a flash. Funny enough the international Nazi party has only one podcast so far, a black woman on for 2 hours about how The Matrix was her update of the old christian meme, a primarily horticultural conventlike self-sufficiency defense roughly similar to the permaculturally inclined intimate gardeners amongst pagans and greenies, a tactic so far powerless (and practically powderless too) when it comes to stopping desert meme carriers of all stripes or converting them from their evil ways (invade, lie, maraud, lie a little more, then lie outright and destroy. Sorry, just do not buy that they learned more from watching the stars than we did from studying air bubbles .. would you rather sit on a load of glass with no end in sight or need to dig for a drugged plain in water up to your crutch???).

man and wife are as rain and shine their secret of success*(ion)* lies (and truths as you know too lie) in (closeness of) the mix .. twain should meet .. will love and rock, light and mud ... what a noughty thought eh?

I said mass mediation is not in the habit of lightening up an slaking dryness of dense mass, is not showing what the tides between rock and mud and back again all wrought besides us, and left in ignorance of all that by the enlightenment monopolizers (with their metered colourfullness and all), we become very most pitiful beings).

Tongues, whether one or many, remain inherently divisive. Mass media are in principle not capable of ever becoming, never mind remain, unequivocable (or nonmockable for that matter, see below for the most innocuous and inoffensive ways to do so, ... not that one could easily try stop a tank by burying it in top quality compost but it is the gesture that counts .. in media anyway), not if but where their faultline draw and cleavery exactly touches ground matters. Their casts forewarn about weather and guage political climate alike, putting yet more of a spin on what is twisty by nature. My complaint is that their subtexts are not light*(in darkness bringing)*, don't charm and caress, instead, they are heavy, block, obscure and veil, while ostensibly opposing all such practice, they use the remoted and removed (for which incredibly expensive tec is used) as a simple archaic scapegoat (desert messiah) to project their own sins on, then pretend need to go (not in hot pursuit of their own ghost and transferrals but) far out of their way (amidst appeals and .. oh joy .. just so happening vacancies for help to go scarifice) to fight it all.

They disguise reportage on roadbombs in Afghanistan as lamenting over far-off offers on the altar of a freedom they suppose/imply is/becomes indefensible unless defense is delegated across the most mad distances .. a celebration of the farthering of offing in the good old imperial fashion which turns (dicktotalitates even) devilishness (distance) as a badge of honour you may earn (even if it is usually a desperate attempt to escape problems ...round of in your face recruitage anybody??). Trade, a milder version of this coercion inserting creep devolves the distant (all along and while 'helping' them cross the distance between us) pretending all sorts of eager candidates for this treatment are lined up till far behind the horizon if not around the world (memes are tested about galactic waiting lists for this . . eh ... property, wether or not penitentiary, certainly meant to be therapeutic and ultimately blessed and rehabilitatious either way).

Distance, the ultimate godlike *(D)*elusiveness, aside from its drawbacks (but who monetizes heartache [[never mind/let alone rockbreak]] anymore[[/yet]] these days?) simply proves packagable in most versatile most attractive and most irrestible ways possible and since there is literally no end in sight for the foreseeable future, despite ever more horrendously thanatopic preparations (to the point where some simply MUST have the comforting thought that nuclear war happened before), thus far not inducable ... if by the time you read this, local conflicts are to world war as war of worlds are to federal golactic reserve, i have been proven wrong and the purpose of this writing will have been as defeated as whatall the modesties of conservatives, hippies and non-destructive natives had in common once, before they were robbed one after the other and (cultural moralwisely speaking at least and frequently altogether) done away with.

> We have been accused of being anti - Jewish because we had posted an excerpt from James von Brun's book: Kill the Best Gentiles! http://loveforlife.com.au/node/6054 in which he blames Jews for the problems of the world.

Realistically speaking you can not help 'ALL' men nor can anybody else, and certainly not all at once. That is a monocultural power trip and pipe dream. Too much realistic and uncritical dogoodery is problematic also. Consider this Dutch international aid worker (with daughter by a Nepalese man) who repeatedly gets told 'abort mission or you're on your own', then routinely ignorer orders to withdraw from war zones and barges on into them.
During a talkshow she spoke to a minister of defense and got pledged help. Next day she was off to distribute 500 tents. Her motive is quite Christian. Just because she can help only a 100.000th of all those in dire circumstances (and just bycause that will cause intense jealousy and confusion about justice for all vs the elect), she sees it as her duty to make sure that aid money is actually hitting targets. She legitimates the imperial motives that bring about these circumstances since were it not for that, she could help all. Yeah, rite.

Different comment: the jews are the only ones to do something about his libel against all religions, as he claims they are cause (not just symptom, cause!) of all division

Free speech proponents who claim to nevertheless not induce, condone or in any way faciliate 'doing harm' are when not deluding themselves, aware of choosing for the lesser evil of a devalued thoughtprocess that admits, includes dissemblage, insincerity and all sorts of variously fractured split consciousnesses, obsession with truthcontent is far less realistic. At least the focus can then more easily shift to the degrees of play and the voluntarity content.

youmight humite unite uniter and distractors from tradition point to earth and sun since of them we see and have only one (confusing specificity of location with universality of the sun). To bring beckon and welcome sunlight as photosynthesis factor throughout one's domain, as a sovereign facilitator gets turned upside down by Arguelles who insist on substituting that sense of ones own with a moment (in time) we can supposedly truly share and thereby deceive ourselves we are united and truly share the earth as much as we needs must, nor can do other than share the sun. He claims it helps to visualize the earth's axis as pointed at the sun and sorts of other stuff ignorant of astronomy, let alone Genesis Continuous.

posts reams and teams of comments at SK, one after the other, 233 Cs on a piece about Dirk Bezemer's sum-up of those (some/sum) who saw it coming.

... i count myself among those, though instead of dirtying a fat tome on those afflicted with inventing accumulation viruses (taking as little as possible from as many as possible) and their eternal precursory crudiforms, da vice to theforerunners, i anticipated the abbreviations by twitter age and found a few lines to suffice fully, these crooks and morally insane goldsacks don't merit more and what's worse aren't cured or dissuaded by scholarly efforts, let alone the way to few ones who read understand and act on them -- Matt Taibbi excepted, he makes it simple for a wide audience, that's why Rolling Stone pays him and Doug Henwood as well as Ian Masters (9th and 19th of july respectively) have him on their shows, Ian often taking Doug's leads it seems but i have yet to hear either of them refer to the other.

So if i, instead of a thick big bulky thesis made do ('volstond en voldeed') with a few pithy lines scattered here and there, i acted like all them countless hybrids between Middle East and West -- mix of jewish genus, clan, mob, collective, network type messiah crossed and coined alongside outstanding and venerable hero/god, the type that tend to slip underground and out of sight a lot, like jesus, many more of his ilk about here now but most get run ragged for their trouble taking and making in early stages, one has to treasure and string together their best moment, those rare times, them brief and fleeting moments they stop shedding tears for paradise under attack and piece together a few shreds, trying to overcome their own downheartedness and fling a pearl among the swine against all odds.

------- dear Arden, thanks but as the dutch say: no thanks (like the french: de rien = nothing; meaning no trouble) when they wanna be polite but I see it as my human right, duty and pleasure, that is: as self evident and the very least a self balancing, 28 jointed adapterbase bipedalling being, an electrochemical reduction plant, integral with segregated stowages of special energy extract on storage batteries for subsequent actuation of thousands of hydraulic and pneumatic pumps with motors attached to 62000 miles of cappilaries in my position can come up with. adapted from Bucky Fuller, quoted in the latest Wired Magazine; a new Bucky source on the web is a dissertation angelfire.co/net/marksomers/ggc.html; it's called: a fuller explanation. Of course Bucky split the back to basics movement right down the middle with bell bottoms and long locks flying in all directions laterally; rockets vertically. http://www.youtube.com/user/ZXen1 professing disbelief in Zeitgeist .. and wiki as well .. i was disappointed to find this youngster to have put up vids with to me offputting idpics

Dear Andrew,
last night on the last 'radi-o-wed' chat of the dutch day a genetic researcher was allowed to dismiss a sociologist who raised the spectre of darwinian determinism, stereotyping and prejudgmental discriminatory consequences of comparing sizes of ring and index fingers as a permanent reflection of the lifelong hormone mx pattern, which may get set from as early as conception onwards, but then again, perhaps it can stay as fluid as its fluctuating component not only between but also within generations.

Begetting as a setting (assetting, ass hatting) of pattern

Perhaps at precisely that, what you'r fond of calling that decisive moment -- 6 weeks before birth .. which i would not be suprised to see stretch backwards to 6 weeks after conception ... seem less arbitrary that way, ... you yourself have totally lost the refs to this pinpointage for a while. Settling a dispute here is perhaps just a matter of keeping an eye on the lengthening of prenatal fingers for a while.

Either way, the book by an english scientist (Manning?) is translated as 'het vingerboek' and available in shops as of today. As far as I can determine you have not yet mentioned this type of research, so i thought i would write you this note/anecdote as installment and/or taste for your dormant mag.
Here is a little encore/anchor already, a sample from the proverbs and folkwise expressions involving fingers:
lange vingers - stealing op je vingers kijken - surveillance op je vingers uittellen - easily foreseeable door de vingers zien - forgive and now, the 'vinger boek', on all those aspects that concern you and concerned people like .... damn, what's his name ..... (wait a minute) .. Otto Weininger too.

Here i am stumbling into this:

till sept 9, new MHudson ... i had to piece this together, first via and then as other archive links cause though the boxes in the mentally dumpy and suffocatingly christian ...... and therefore in many another sense monocultural landscape of my birthvillage, where after not having been reg'ed for each every and all the years since 78 i reregged in order to get a hold of a valid passport (though i will prolly not need it much except for the 1 in 5 times the douaniers actually stop and ask at the swiss border) .... community have been exchanged for 55x faster ones, the possibilities left open and unthrottled on the old config have been squeezed out about that many times worse also, cannot download fresh writing unless i turn'm into webpages first ... (is that a cosmic hint?).

Let me just say, that after listening to MH's breakneck cascade of the weightiest and darkest, rumbletumbling through the lightest and most colourful of concepts, i must accuse him of arbitrary and ambiguous reversals as bad as the ones he pitches onto the plates of his opponents. Guilty they are, i agree there, but solely of homogenizing and centralizing the messages*(/monies)* in order to control, an illigitimacy MH does decidedly not question (the dispersality of info webwise not being kept pace with by monetation diversity after the not fashion but practice Ulrich von Beckerath has so elegantly documented). Monopolizing the medium is an effect of info efficiency, translata-, appreciability in order to standardize, communicate and market mark it (if you forgive me an entirely appropriate and therefore forgivable teutology in this kintact context) is, let us hope, but a necessary and mere preliminary vice on the way to virtue of transparancy ubiquitation and microclimate mending.

to get at the ways in which stone's movements might constitute an agency or even a desire that might challenge an anthropocentric vision of temporality and history ... that might invite meditation on what it means to be human, to inhabit a world that is potentially indifferent to humanity and yet intimately continuous with it at the same time.

By foregrounding mineralogical motility, I am trying to be both scientific (from a geological perspective all stone moves and changes; given a large enough temporal frame, any component of the universe acts as if an errant atom, any solid or sedentary combination proving ephemeral) and medieval.

> Parts of the Large Project have appeared here at ITM and in print with names like "The Weight of the Past" and "Medieval Prehistory." The bigger investigation concerns not just stony architectures like Avebury, not just the possibility of human communication across vast temporal spans > enabled by rock, but the substantiality of stone itself, its thingness, materiality, factuality. I have therefore been doing quite a bit of reading about how stone figures in medieval travel narratives, as well as in how stone's virtues and agency are envisioned in medieval geological treatises, the lapidaries. Stone in both genres never remains still.

> The investigative stories of Robert I. Friedman (1951-2002) appeared from the early 1980s. Allegedly, he died of a tropical blood disease. But many had their doubts and believed he was poisoned. The daring Jewish journalist made headlines exposing politicians, bankers and mobsters who preyed on the powerless. The ADL maligned him, death threats poured in, and he was badly beaten by West Bank thugs. Friedman warned the FBI of the threat posed by the first World Trade Center bombers and delivered vital reports on the long arms of the Russian Jewish mafia, which offered $100,000 to have him killed.

Like the Hebrew moment of Tsim Tsum where God first withdrew from the universe in order to make room for his creation the universe, Pynchon's withdrawal means that we get that much more mental real estate. You know that feeling? You wait and wait for a book like this, buy it, and when you get around to opening it, you just start expanding...There's not even any photos of Pynchon except that silly sailor one. Invisibility. Perhaps it's a vain celebrity peccadillo, but to me it works as an act of psychoanalytic silence, where what I really pay for is to have the great man with his mighty mind listen, not talk.

> 2-Jan-2009 - This page would be better titled the 'Russian counter-revolution' imho, as it covers the start of that period of counter-revolution from the establishment of the CHEKA in late 1917 through to the first large use of it in April and May 1918 in Petrograd and Moscow. It puts the cart before the horse to have Left and anarchist 'rebellions' when it was the SR's who were disenfranchised and the anarchists who were being shot by Chekists ' while trying to escape'. ... snip .... Next is a general rant of the type that Dutch talkradio inspires 9 times out of 10 (though i think the coast2coast station Drew is addicted to [[cause compared to it he seems a paragon of reason, whereas all he does is sophisticatedly mixing categories or rhetorical style with cutting edge fabulous and extramystically fringe {{{out as well as in there, micro and micro}}} science]] would suit me even less).

A good example of to me upsetting speech was the worldfamous, Beckham of virologists last night (sunday the nineteenth), a simple case of faamgeilheid, a man who thinks (of himself as somebody thinking) big, bread and wide cause nothing beats best of the best ... too bad he restricts his focus to the threatening and explosively lucrative side of the thereby disequilibriated whole. I consider that a typical example of that century*(- and one could easily call it 5 aeon)*old move by those with that yeah, indeed, virulent mindset. I mean, he already has a bunch of hallmarks pointing to the exterritorially 'figmental tribe', his every sentence constitutes a prop for and an expression of fealty to 'it'. He has a name for travelling overly much, and for crying wolf too often, and indeed the latter is good for us, cause it demonstrates how dangerous vaccins can be .. it does take discounting assertions of them being wildly succesful in preventing calamities though, . Kind of like deciding wether or not one has choices besides swimming in loanshark hunting waters or not innit? But how long before 'we' see that someone who claims (lots and lots of money and mindmold authority for hammering on how) water flexes and gets whipped around by the wind, to the exclusion of rock's role in picture, is quite ill, biased and blind to reality to begin with. A mental vector trailblazing for anti-viruses, for sure. Viruses are powerless no matter how strong they blows in the face of real nourishment (as in sufficiently trace mineral sprectrum informed produce, catch or quarry - yes once the implications are once again clear we may easily and feel we simply mustmuster the lust to bring that dust out on water and waste as well as on our gardenplots). Ps: the enneagram is a joke on the kabbalah tree, some lines left out of the former to turn it into 3D mirror the exactly 3 'extra' balls obscured by three turned just so as to flatten the model.

the portion written a few days earlier: you're all sick .. from nothing worse than hearing half the story, .. not knowing any better from your nonstop living in double standard territory, .. but in the split seconds that remain between drills, abuzz and a beam with that chronic christallization of 'threats to israel' which demands attention .. attention you can't remember having begun to offer, .. try and see if you can start to understand why some one like me, ... some 'loners' less absorbed, integrated, adapted and assimilated with immediate environment and acquaintances, often as not, equal parts bycause of being blocked and bycause having wrestled free from strictures and rituals like those of the church, in order to free up time and see if another, older and forgotten perhaps, another type ritual cannot be worked out that fills everthing that needs filling fuller, doing so at the risk of 'earning' the un*(der)*status of being suspect .. are not in reality quite engaged examiners of thoughts and dispositions, ... tries to quietly warn if not remind you of the 'judaiKehalim' (See F Roger Devlin's reviewing Solzhenitsyn's '200 years together' in The Occidental Quarterly [[part 1 fall 08]]- online), attempt to co-opt, take over, direct and lead all threats, the whole range and reach of them, from empty to crude, from cruel to genocidal. Ask yourself how sincere a claim of respectibility can remain, if it fails to prevent (and instead has begun acting like it owns and enforces copyright and patent on) Vengeance and pointing out scapegoats (aint there any volunteer left who rush to place themselves at their disposal, under their protection, at the receiving end of their perks?), more often than not, inhabitants of their own root regions, and that is cause hybrid cultures turn on their progenitors, this is the meta of generation conflicts and artifical breeding entitlement. The price jack jerks and fakers point away from themselves and cry: 'kill the faker, the falsifyer, the thief, the threat!!!' - they stab fellow man and cry ouch at the same time, cause antisemitism isn't done to but by ..... Decency requires you strive to resist it/them and i agree, resist being stupid enough to catch it/them no matter how relentless attempts to throw it/themselves your way cause 'it' is like ... somebodies hands, useless to anybody else in a strict non-coercive sense (though as organs and perhaps thanks to the pioneer work of the dutch govt in matters of mixing the fingerprint databases of criminals with those of regular people have been 'finding' a market more and more in these days of deprived thinking, hands visible and in-, cannot be far behind .. oh wait, the flatlander invisible one has been boasted about a while already).

Those not unable but unwilling to clean themselves up, carting debris out to the garden and such, being too good and high price, thinking of themselves as too busy and 'occupied with production' (but in reality 'preoccupied with reproduction', they [[group think incarnated, partiality incorporated]] would rather slave for their breed than follow what leads all breeds), like the chinese, closest to insecticization, with all the cramp, crowd, crud and crazyness that entails. All those who strive for and attain the too good for lowly menial work status, .. of course, goes without saying, ... end up having a real lack of self-reliance. This implies choosing to figure out ways of delegation, specialism, division of labour which soon slides into divide and conquer, imposition but at the beginning of this process there is not much more to fuel it with than that bigger and bigger brand new pile of unused and untouched waste, surplus of self-critique, as their unprocess accumulates and chokes rather than helps them they look for ways to export it (the root of trading mendacious security leading to insurmountabel debt again and again, over and over, for 500 years straight now, as Michael Hudson makes clear).

It is like all those horror stories of prisons without toilets, despite all the sand and dust in the immediate environment, despite, one would think, that handing the prisoner a bucket of sand might be in the jailer's own interest ... unless that jailers has to have (craves even) a physical (olfactory) reflexion, residue, precipitate and reassurance of the threat they tell and convince themself to feel, ... must first entirely divorce themselves from their own actions, decisions and choices to begin to be able to really feel and believe (OK, you may quit holding your noses now, we have just approached and disemboweled the choisest of chosenness and accomplished immunity through distancing yourselves, no all that is left to do is wither the state of israel by sacrificing to it, divest from it at your earliest convenience/opportunity).

All of semitotality while you are at it, the sewage of dubai is not an excellent export product.

ourselves, now all that is left to do is wither the state of israel by sacrificing to it, divest from it at your earliest convenience/opportunity ... and from all other semito[to]tality while you're at it).

> In this episode, Mr Lens takes his microphone to London's Regents Park on three different occasions and talks about a range of topics with the sounds of nature in the background. The first talk is about David Shayler the ex MI5 spy who declared himself 'the messiah', and how he appears to have taken a wrong turning on the way to an awakening. The second talk is about cultural stereotyping in society, and how hard it is to break free from cultural obligations that keep people bound. Finally he talks about an experience with Mimosa Hostilis and Syrian Rue, and how they helped him reach a 'breakthrough'. In the aftermath, back in the studio, Opaque urges his listeners to give some feedback in the form of emails to the show.

> roger says... .Let me clip this phrase out: "...the context of a Great Moderation, i.e. within a fairly stable environment." ---- I must say, I find the notion that there was a Great moderation rather irritating. It is not just the Asian and Russian crises of 1998, or the lost decade of the Japanese from 1990-2000, or the recession of 1991-1993 that this overlooks. It overlooks the terrible Latin American economy of trhe 1980s and early 90s - the worst of the century. It overlooks Africa. It overlooks the lack of stability in the middle class household of those "stable" years, with the downshift in income growth, the necessity for two wage earners, and the turning away of the state from its traditional social welfare role. The Great Moderation has a smug sound, the sound of a description coming from the most affluent, looking back over thirty years of spectacular gains. But for many, it could be called the great stagnation. And crucially, over those thirty years, one notices that the great crises of the seventies, the energy crisis, was never really addressed. Rather, a vast game of denial, enabled by conservative economists, took place. The environmental and economic effects of hiding from reality are going to be paid for by the next generation in spades. So I'd nominate the Great Denial as a better label for the last thirty years.

After preparing the selection of new and old work below i realize it does not contain any examples of my attempts to convert the military with what i thought would be irrestible arguments and pointers for all sorts of musicians first and foremost, but it wasn't to be that easy. I am too tired to search any further now, but if Max likes what he sees here (will send it tomorrow) i will surely go for another compilation (about fair fighting, putting death to life and such delicate subjects). I made this effort in case I kindled Max's desire to get up to speed on a style of economics that would stroke with his ideas regarding anthropology (i won't find out till tomorrow) but here is a follow up to the namedrop in did at his blog on the second:
Anthropology overtaken by trans*(-, pre- and postprimat)*ology but not without apology. So here goes, preology 101:
A high growth factor :::::::: (/expectation / forecast /projection /prediction) for anything, this or that money/ nation /endeavor, organism /5 year plan /scheme and/or pile of dust (organization in its most primal sense), does not automatically result in tall trees. All i claim is that changing the contact surface of any rock exposed to rain and shine by a factor of one or two myriad *(say, roughly, a trillion times trillions(?), not to put too confining and fine an estimate into the ballsypark)*and intelligent application via a compost feed, improves the chances of that (great grate agrowth) happening toward a one on one full and perfect (canopy) cover considerably. Achieving that thought is necessary for a spate of crunching such credit (growth nit grit) into the innumerability range typical for micro activity to take off (get set in motion, but once it incorporates, internalizes, ritualizes, the meaningfulness [[of holding that intention right alonside the deed]] erodes and runs on till empty - sort of the mental equivalent, mimic and parallel of what John Hamaker claimed for the cycling of minerals ice ages provide irrespective of wether a primate, anthropodal or hominid factor be present or not - and that's prolly why it gets forgotten and deautomatized more than not .. at least in living [[explicated]] memory).

By a financial system, I don't mean the tottering cartel of banks and insurers loudly sucking newly printed cash into "collateral postings" and "deleveragings" and other meaningless nonactivities. That is no financial system at all. It is an ecology of intestines and tapeworms, tubes through which dollars flow and are skimmed en route to destinations about which the tripe-creatures have little interest or concern.

i spent part of the 3r october week at Savita -Novy Zamek -- Libejovice 88 -- 38772 Libejovice Erik is more of an eagle than i am, he serves no end. After cutting his teeth on De Roos he thought to start/restart in a remote location with the same spontaneous ease but this time around got a lot less help than expected, prolly cause at the same time expecting his companero cart pullers to put up and make do with as little security as he himself had the first time around. Without native speakers on the team there was no way to make a go of it. Not much of a team in the first place, down to two when i was there ... to admire a few rows of neatly packaged cutlery, crockery and bedding .. and to carry down a first rate heavy duty brand new washing machine from it's make shift location. Els, his partner is a drag on any ambitions to foster effective healing if you ask me, what with her enthusiasm for getting B vitamins out of homebrewd beer, etcetera. And yet, ... this 4 year history will drag on a bit longer still, Erik will accompany a few investors within a month.

Michael Hudson interview in Australia with Phillip Adams on Late Night Live --- October 12, 2009 abc.net.au/rn/latenightlive/stories/2009/2711969.htm

Subject: Money is monopolized anonymous debt
It is also obvious that all of them have no clue about money and they are endless predicting the collapse of the dollar. I wonder when will all those apocalyptical morons face up to reality and stop writing? They have not understood SDRs who serve the specific purpose to rescue the syndicates governments, banks and corporate. SDRs have no purchase power but it is purely high powered money that serves the purpose of leveling balance sheets. There was never a real crisis. Crisis was only a call to the syndicate for SDRs in order for them pay themselves bonuses.

Those apocalyptical writers have not understood that all nation states have been created by 'Global Governance' to establish a law that gives them monetary control over us. Money is monopolized anonymous debt and servers only the purpose for them to have power over us. We all work for their worthless confetti and if the system would tomorrow collapse we would all be free and they had no longer control over us. But since all have somewhere a little extra confetti stuffed away - all lemmings worry about the system. I hear them say: 'please let it only crash after I spend all my cash for consumerism'.

Let me try a garden hose analogy to make this make sense. Consciousness is the water that squirts out the end.

i am starting to get more and more irritated with the presenter of the Richmond NJ wrir program Edge of Americana. The advice he gives the band 'newfound road' is of course, as is rule with schizoID sufferers (mental[[ly but not physically]] jews), a hidden insighdoubted self admonition, advice perfectly applicable to himself, and, to my sensibility, definitely and emphatically not to them. These people look for the limelight to distract themselves from the fact they are soli- and ventriloquizing. Will he self administer it? Will he even ever get to read these lines?

I realize that my worldclass collection/collation of pertinent knowledge (so so far surpassing standard, minimal AND maximal reqs i am aware of) remaining in storage (hidden for all practical purposes .. with a bloodrelative who had 4 young boys, whos mental formation i fancied and felt perfectly justified and deserving to play a part in but as it turne out they would rather have lots of empty space on the one hand and all my stuff bunched up to the point of uselessness and inaccesibility). My dad gave me a much above average start in life (steun in de rug = leg up) which i proceeded to sabotage and discard, as he did all i valued highly, bought me off, gave me silencing money, bribed me to shut up. Roles are somewhat reversed now, i have to pay a ransom though i am not sure i will ever be employed to deploy the kidnapped censored, demonized and scapegoated wisdom i gathered. Tis my firm conviction that general, active and passive ignorance (sidelinage, off-limit- and nondistributedness, unavailability, unawareness and unassimilatedness, dormant on holdness and for all practical purposes no better than incarceratedness) of the type of material i am thinking of, or should i say, the degree of transparancy *(promise thereof and appetite for it)*and clarity improving integration they achieved by choosing to swim around in my cranium) of at least a segment thereof (could and should fit that portion in a box that goes with me everywhere at least) is perfectly symptomatic, insider telltale and fair warning ...... of the siftage and selection guiding logicbundles reasonsets that have gained currency and brought 'things' (mine but the 'cheapest' [[practically fee even!]] among them) to the dismal (war addicted) states they are in. The states of truths have direct correlatives in choices ... real ones, not the fake theatrical personalized ones but the fundamental, basic tiny ones that make shit stink or shine, foul or feed. IOW, why things go as the go (wong), run as the run and are going from bad to worse as they are going going gone. Putting it this way is of some comfort to me cause i sure as hell am not going to take the blame all by myself and you are very welcome to at least this snippet the way i feel.

The folks i mentioned, have they failed to enrich the lives of their 4 children with means easily within their reach? Has anybody a right to use the Bible as excuse to not know or thematize life in Palestine (what's left of it) as it is. Would a citizen arrest of Verhagen and Lieberman have been the historical turning point and tip around .... soon to be followed with Bush and Balkenende, Blair, the Goldman Sacks top etetera? Yeah, sure, specially if they would be given place of honour in the compost industry.

Either that or read the life of John Tanner aloud while holding the book upside down. Fails result in withholdings of food till manual grit classification results in a bucket full of 200 mesh they must use to stop stinks and feed the liddulest ones.

4:29 on the 12th Drew mentions reminding himself to tackle (google) the SyMies on a scrap of paper the previous night, by 4:54 (on the same day) he has already done so, quite pithily too: "Personally I'm not into the whole Andy Warhol schtick -- trying to turn pop culture against itself by assimilating it."

I can't be that brief, here's a few samples (from jan/feb, omitted here) added to thusly:

Alienscientist does great piccie compilations, like the pace too ... but in the end his desire /drive / alienation is highly toxic ... you aint fixin culture till you understand demographic a little better than making by making drop in the bucket gestures of defiance.
so ... you were raised by an ojibwe and refuse to visit birch bark?????? Louise Erdrich wrote a book about that canoopaddler who's book stocked lidddul island became a museum ... you moron you have a tec fad to match any of the more sizable ones to be found in the wicked parts of the west (pynchon was an american remember? he says fu#ck all about the beaty of nordic cultures).

i should have posted all these comments at the previous item since i don't care for (gracing this WilfulCockyhead) item with attention.
the fabulation industries which as the 14th century editions of the protocolls of the elders have shown to piggyback, estafette and escalate in tandem tridom and quingunk whatev and are comprised of doctors lawyers mediaters (storytellers, liepeddlers, propaganda repertoattritioners) and bankers (one set getting jealous of the other and upping the ante) are reaching a feverish pitch, as has your idiocy here.
if you are such a hero (despite not being man enough to face ojibway with more than one line as an aside in deluges of remotest speculation) try read Robert Friedman"s Red Mafiya and explain the demographic pressures that cause a soul to be that commited to untruth. The book is outdated, no dirty hands for them lot no more. they do the digital coinshave boogie at goldsacks mean now.

A caveat: judging by a return to normal the plea and counsel contained herein seem to have been effective even without being sent ... nevertheless, yall could do worse than take it to heart.

Not that gang8 group crime hasn't recurred but at least it hasn't peaked anywhere near the degree described in detail below.

on the 28th of may I extracted ... more like painfully extricated the 67K fresh parts from the standard 30 messages, which normally comes to between 300 and 400K but in this case measured a collosal 3.824Mb when using that lovely 'expand messages' function at yahoo groups. Gang8 group users manage to swell burden dilute and make use of it as good as unworkable without succumbing to aggravation, specially for those of us working a windows millenium edition box cause we are so far ahead of the crowd (the name Todd Boyle mean anything to you .... he is a recruiting tactics critic/protester/activist instead of DrillDown Secretary) interlude and postscript: I am sending you too this rant from the end of may only now cause it needed that long to cool off .... i chanced it very little .... which goes to show (i hope even prove) that righteous rather than rash anger has a role in accuracy and deserves a lasting place when it comes to recording history like it should be.

Before that content-dilution scold (hah, much like money itself), a word on seriously substantial content. Rather than on what follows I'd much prefer you wise guys spend time commenting on what little of the late Ulrich von Beckerath and his great, also late, buddy Heinrich Rittershausen (cited by [RGB&GB - Real Goods Bills&GoldBug] Fekete a few years ago) can be found easily, check Thomas Greco's site for them ... but ... even fatter chance of that i guess ... neither TG (nor i) at the late ijccr group nor any of you thus far, managed to generate (as in liberate) time (never mind spending it [[THAT]] well), another reason your discipline isn't and i don't care if you consider yourself the conscience or avant garde of it or not.

> Piet, once again, invoked Birch Bark Books as per my Dutch-targeted Ojibwe post maybe 6 months ago, in line with my 85 year old buddy John Beauchamp. He had been considering stopping in Amsterdam (Piet's home town) for a primitivist art museum that Beauchamp likes, on his way to France for the cave art from 50,000 years ago. Beauchamp, former University art professor in the 1950s, is a big fan of Native indigenous Birch Barks store and Beauchamp had encouraged me to go there. I repeatedly explained to Beauchamp that indeed I had gone to Birch Bark Books and also I had a friend, an Ojibwe activist friend, who worked there. Maybe he had seen her? Although Beauchamp bragged of his friendship with one of the female workers there she, alas, was not the same.
> Still, for Piet's sake I'll give a bit of more background. Piet claims I was "raised by an Ojibwe" which is of course hyperbole on his part. But I had noted I had imprinted on our housecleaning lady and just a few years ago found out her dad was a medicine man up north. Just a few days ago in our local newspaper the story was of a local Indian -- Ojibwe I think -- who was killed when he and his teenage buddy planned to beat, then rob, a person at 1:30 a.m. The person had a knife, stabbing the Indian in the stomach -- thereby cutting short the teenage Native's recent acceptance at college.
> I mention this only because Birch Bark Books is on "Franklin Ave." So when I first went to look for Birch Bark naturally I went to EAST Franklin Ave which is where the urban Indian "reservation" is -- the public housing complexes and Native job training centers, etc. But Birch Bark is on the other side of town, where I grew up, in the posh, upper-middle class yuppie neighborhood, along the lakes -- the ORIGINAL suburbs of Minneapolis! Makes sense of course since on East Franklin the businesses go under fast so if you want to sell books then go to the literati scene. That said I'm ALMOST done with another Minneapolis-based book -- published by a non-profit Minneapolis press -- an excellent book that deals with Native "natural resonance revolution" -- called BEING CARIBOU by this Canadian couple.

what is so difficult about learning to respect mechanics and inertia? don't you know walls are all the rage? the limits of increments achievable through messing with that are staggering enough and perhaps analogous to part of goldstandard's role for splitbrains: a bullshit break. i mean ... say something intelligent about wessel di wesseli instead of betraying your heritage and being disloyal to the earth itself .... though i must admit ... you make up for the umschweifungen on the 24th with that Bob Schmidt quote (which i could not find so easily on his 'webstek') but only a little ... rock and intertia are preconscious. And they fit into the eyeball precome slipper into something more slippery reptile co-optation/bribe a la famous eden pic where fruit sun and manheaded lizard have the same sort and hue halo ..... goodbye

Anarchy is a truly sorry state as i gather from the au-to-psy list, a total headcase is very active there, he 'lives' in NYC (no such thing possible there), stevphen (a greek, runs and/or helps autonomedia out/along ... into the ditch) and his hero Bifo is a pathetic case of ceaselessly circuitous reasoning enlivened with circular varieties of the repetitive kind, with a particular predilection and tolerance for repeats of the word 'crisis' (Promissory Notes - From Crisis to Commons is from last april), mixing psych and economics, just the way they like it in NYC. ... ps: this judgement of Franco Berardi Bifo is tainted by mp3z of him, 18 in 1969, speaking in a huge but judging by the echo, pretty empty lecture theatre in London - what a nasty way of life. He is not entirely wrong though, witness this line from a 155 page pfd that flatttens to 377K .rtf, called:

Did Cernunnos provide 'grounds' for abstraction ... traceless un- and/or noninstitutionizability or did he distribute fresh rockdusts, that subtlest of shape shift shapers ... taking rock through the seven sieves (sieben steine sieben durch sieben sieben sieben) fully and not emptily, hurt or yearningly or angrily or yuuuck, meditatively) musically of course oops, cannot erase November 18, 2009 7:33 AM anymore ... oh well, here is a polished version of it: good one Abe, steer our little syruppy rupturapture filled buybull overtaker away from his routine stirruppy stradd allstrudle bakin strapture cowflappie floppin flapuit (tattletale tattletrailer) muttery puttery, fabulatin along with the best of them (alvin miller comes to mind ... do i need to dig out my notes on him??) towards more wholesome pasture. Really .. forget the make believe side of science (not much of a fringe anymore, just like 'alien lit' displaced native varieties within the space of a few years during the eighties) and focus on being an honest organic dildo producin AND displayin commoner we can take a shine to priding ourselves lucky about counting among us - and you thought financial transparancy was difficult enough ... funny how 'drill down' is a concept found even when approached from such different angles as the work of Todd Boyle and Andrew Lehman - the most magic of these wand are the ones best trusted to be buried along with precious seeds, hopes up for a rise from the dead, space alloted to arms that spread wide and strong enough to bear and drop the wealth and sustenance in perfectly treeripeness lovin loved one's laps. So all ya shamen, stoned hippies and futushapers, forget yar sparklies pressed into rock and yar fetching youtubes, until after a struggle with real/personal embarrasment and shame on this front) funny how Drew never once throws turdtales in in any detail, all that counts for him is having a vagusnerve shitface.

That's why I'm clearing off the buckthorn -- the European Pandemic parasitical invasion of the wild harmonious ecology found here 200 years ago. In the past 20 years since my parents moved here there's been total loss of wild flowers; warbler migration; rufus-sided towhees have disappeared; the scarlet tanagers (deep wood bird) is gone. I did find some wild ginseng (which my parents threw out from the frig since they didn't know what it was -- a huge root gone to waste!) Also I spotted a cougar on our land and we all saw the bear on the tree next to our porch -- while we ate dinner. Now there's just lots of deer and wild turkey, squirrels and crows with chickadees, nuthatches, blue jays, wood peckers, and oak trees and birch and some pine. Lots of oaks mainly. We had a fox on our land earlier in the year though. Then there was that huge black triangle slowing flying over the north end of the yard.

Drew, you diabolic dis- and detractor from the magical enough simplicity of rock turning to soil, using overblown buybullshite of the unkindly detailed kind tactics, you sir, are a laugh, risible in fact. But i am starting to wish for some live footage so i can get disgusted enough to stop wasting time with you. A recent picture in the mail would do as well, it might clinch your male equivalence of spricket24 conclusively. She prolly lives right near you. Depend on me to deride and denounce your distractivist woik for the enemy (who you claim are turning your work inside out, thereby sortof admitting they run close calls and near misses on and by you, iow, the same high but the other way - or the same way but the other high if you like).

But first, a 'prelimberatory' note about your hatred of western music. This website offers a steady stream of pretend snake oil quackery in between claims for cleansy healy conscientiotude ....for instance, we get a link to a black in spain who found a niche in monotonous tone production (to try soothe and quiet drug addled house-, beach- and beachhouse party poseurs down again i guess) but nothing with the type of soul search and scour portent bleugrass singer Donna Hughes has proved capable of (touched me from the get go):

> They were trusting when they taught us how to live here ::+:: ::+:: Then they scattered to the wind ::+:: ::+:: Leaving only tears behind them ::+:: ::+:: And an old forgotten art and all their memories ::+:: ::+:: Dying with a broken heart and you, ... ::+:: ::+:: Can almost hear that sad song, of that old Indian ::+:: ::+:: Crying for his home, along the waters edge ::+:: ::+:: Climbing mountains to escape the laws of white man ::+:: ::+:: Walking softly in the rain & talking to the wind

i am not suprised when a cahokia article in Salon gets quite a few handsful of comments but most of them turn out quite superficial and cold with regard to their own posish as infecter (infection factor/vector) and occupier (that would take a self-awareness of the more sober sorts, not available to folks who like to gaff at oriental choreography [[listen to eastern rhetortricks too]] and imagine that does the trick better than quite similar wishful thought of/by western magic and religion while sweat equity and smarter squeeze torqkey guys and gods like Cernunnos are conveniently forgotten aside from a nod or two in passing). There is no one forcing you all (whities and blackies) to remain under the sway and possesed by the hosts of ghosts of your forefather's victims. No need for Dan Winter to panic and call the police to ask protection for those who want to punish him for sending (spamming) William (Bill) Cooper's conspiracy material to all senators in *(Won't)*Washonthing. No need for me to leave my page at tripod any longer (readers will not understand i mean them to understand Caillois's play varieties as well as mine when confronted with all the flashy 'gamble with us' upper poppers. Perhaps all writing is by definition a recipe for misunderstanding eh??)

Anyway, one of the commenters there# mentions the mormon belief Hebrews came to Turtle Island 600 BC. I think the wave that came during Jesus (neither BC nor AD and god knows, perhaps accounting for a few missing years) was much more significant and perhaps the reason Cabeza de Vaca found such rotten mores in the south. I gather this from a recently found additional piece by Cyclone Covey (all time fave web-trouvaille from way back) called 'poverty point to mississippian' posted on the Midwestern Epigraphic Society page

Hi, is it too much to ask if you have any 'acc'tion' offers from rurally spotted activist sympathizers NEAR Copenhagen? I am slightly cityphobic. Don't mind staying individually.

As for what i have to offer: since the early 80s i have kept up with a strain of climate research once known as hamaker coordination. The most comprehensive source for this is http://www.remineralize.org
I have some breakthrough reasoning to offer on climate change:
during the nineties i was very much afraid of big floods coming to Holland but i have, this week in fact, understood why these types of calamities have moved to the northern UK: earth rotation + easier sliding and rolling of bigger masses of hotter water 'resisting' the rotation easier, hence ending up less far east than the gulf stream used to be.

> Drive through the southern Highlands between Braemar and Pitlochry at this time of year and they look pretty bleak. After thirty miles of bleached heather it comes as a shock to see a splash of colour on the horizon. Drive closer and you come to a couple of acres of luxuriant vegetation on an exposed hillside, 1000 feet above sea level - trees heavy with apples as big as your fist and storybook-sized turnips bursting from the soil.
> For Costing the Earth we've set our new presenter, Dr. Alice Roberts - fresh from TV's 'Coast' - the challenge of tracking down the minerals we've lost from our staple foods in the past seventy years. Perthshire growers, Moira and Cameron Thomson are convinced they've found them again, languishing as waste in their local quarry. By adding rock dust they believe they can mimic the action of ice ages, recharging the soil with the vital minerals that should make their way into the fruit and veg they grow.

Only 3 comments for this excellent rant at masson.us/blog:

> Matt Taibbi's latest pounds on Goldman Sachs international adviser Brian Griffiths speaking at St. Paul's Cathedral in London: "The injunction of Jesus to love others as ourselves is an endorsement of self-interest," Goldman's Griffiths said Oct. 20, his voice echoing around the gold-mosaic walls of St. Paul's Cathedral, whose 365-feet-high dome towers over the City, London's financial district. "We have to tolerate the inequality as a way to achieving greater prosperity and opportunity for all." (via Bloomberg) > Taibbi's rant mostly excoriates a particular kind of rich ideologue raised from birth behind walls built by rich ancestors, surrounded by the like minded, and insulated from consequences so that the person never has to let experience intrude upon theory; usually theory that dresses up greed as love and taking as sharing.

2 of the strangest dutch words are the ones for straynge and steal: 'ontfutselen' is hardly ever used in an active sense, hence a thief is never an ontfutselaar, de ontfutseling is an act one suffers and cannot countenance and difnify with personality trait designation or some such.

Similarly: 'ver- and ontvreemden' = to distance oneself and to be stolen from (referring to the goods stolen more than anything), an active and passive form that cannot be mixed any easier than people manage to choose between the less and more desirable parts cultural infection collections both ancient and fresh, that one carries around in one's breast.
So, for instance a thief is not an ontvremer (nor ontvreemder - check google hit number) though a vreemde is a stranger (and vreemd = strange).

> WatcherThePunk: Wait, who says that only gods can be thanked? Also, a turducken is actually a chicken in a duck in a turkey, rather than a duck in a chicken in a turkey.

- Today i apologize for the sloppy way of putting what i meant, this: 'algorhytmic stratifying aids' ought to be: algorhythmically enhanced social stratification aids like walls to own goods easily and rapidly much beyond owners' own good, more and more securely as walls get more and more streetsmarts ... russian cutthroat [BolszhioKhazarian] mafiya discovering computers and all other tools of the *(t)ra(i)d(e)*, all settlerisms inevitably result in market places, efforts to 'permanenticate', obsession with potency, stockpilage, and power storage .. at the expense of its distribution, causing a total shorting, blacking out and tabooing up of what freshness is all about, namely that which is only good and best 'in season' (nearly everything).

Wealth and shelflife do not mix and match on a 1 to one basis. Expect fringe benefits at best. That brings me to another point i would like to clear up. i said to support and favor patriation yesterday. Also misleading. Rematriation is needed just as much. This denotes apart from and/or rather than moving back in space (undoing the impersonal massiveness, coercion, regimentation, command structure and hierarchy of occupation = being american don't mean being an occupant of america you see). a move in/through time (a mental move) at least just as much as in time. Leave Land occupancy decisions up to a sisterhood of mothers (entitled to fuck with its marketrate rent to their heart's content) in the sense Silvio Gesell described in his last book: Communal ownership (staggered and verschachteld, local weighted and actively defusing threats from sovereignty abuses through openness and fast runners like the Six Nation Federation did - see WJ Sidis). also see Michael Hudson, an admirer and able defender of this rule which a once fairly large and here and there still alive political movement known as Georgism (begun/inspired by Henry George) championed.

I started this rant being sarcastically marxistic. Karl too beheld the world and held everybody up to his own dim bulb equally, in order to accurately size them up and target them for the class category where he by the strength of his one man lights, figured they belonged, with a simple few flicks of his writing wrist. I have an advantage over him though. It did not take me as long as it did him to start studying na*(t)*ivity in order to touch on not just the quikly too touchy, social subjects .. being after a change that will compost well.

I must ask you to stop finding fallacies and phallusies fun and factual, stop filling hi-rises to store ever steeper piles of the sham fake and ill-making cultural product that is as abortive as fruit picked before it is ripe ... instead. leave the hippies alone long enough to decommercialize the art of bubble float-, sail- and flying (bubble sailing, both afloat and aflight) and offer their nemeses in the form of various US agencies known and not a career change too nice to refuse.

Ever bin in a mirror box? I was, north of SF someplace. One is multiplied, diminuted, distanced and delegated to perfect replicas receding to the very edge of visibility. The nearest may be dearest and approachable to nose bustingly closest possible so be careful. Dad wanted a man who could port, slice, sluice, chill, thaw, cook and swallow as much meat as he could. I like to popularize micro population explosions due to great care of compost, heaps of hopes but why stop at hoping for heaps? I need to modestate myself, take the liberties available within my reach' limits to focus on some piles i may point to, show, flaunt, flog and, why not, brand.

Ittybittyness largesse, in which liddulest prove greatest, sustaining their tiny roles through strung out, knotted and scaled up orders of magnitudes all the way to magnanimous universality. Can you see this order playing out as i do, dis- and replace yours with it, place an order for it somewhere? Are thieves of top level 'defense', 'justice' and 'rights' (not to mention the duties and pleasure depts) concepts aware this rant is on to and about them? Are we all politely praying they will see this perspective as not just for a 'common' (nuttin to do with them) but for their own good?

LOCAL PRACTICAL IMPLEMENTATION OF UNIVERSAL SOLUTION: change your micro-climate pretty decent page but very little biographical detail, let alone it would mention how it would enthuse one of the first post usenet pre-blogger website mentions/treatment by a very much dutchman who decided to adopt poetpiet as a penname, specially since he laboured most of the eighties over turning scraps of paper that survived his wanderyears into verse.

please join the discussion about reasons why supporters of John D like poetpiet are ..ehm .. ignored. I will begin: beats me. — Preceding unsigned comment added by 82.204.10.57 (talk) 17:54, 4 December 2009 (UTC)
The discussion page was enhanced with (an only slightly rewritten version of) the first portion on december 5th: first off, kudos to whoever made this page, thanks a bunch, will try contact as i do lots of sibling John D admirers (i even declared him my adopted father) but that was a little exxagerated.

If there is one thing the world as a whole could do worse than learn from John D Hamaker it is twofold*(ed)*ness. The differential effects of climate change. Extremes more extreme, longer wider, etcetera. the moderate median buffering middle narrower shorter, etcetera.
Obvious implications: averaging hides changes. Proof for both and either of mentioned partial truths are readily found and get abstracted to partialities on the double. The most urgent application of this empirical fact is awaited, ironically enough, by politics.
A field of famously bi-polar endeavor, alarmism and denial, stalemate and gridlock, the heehaw seesaw equally empty alternatives of demonization and adulation, pick your poison and grab everybody's attention (if you cannot install a program that shaves everybody nice and close, piecemeal and during bonuswhipped heydays altog.. whoops, no, keep them alive now, all together). They claim the name of diversity but fill it like the proverbial wolk does a sheepskin an monopolize it too. There is no such process as climate change, what we do have is micro climate changeS! Which brings us to local, practical natural to the point of easy, implementably piecemeal universal solutions: change your micro-climate .... change is, as we all know, desirable betterment through barter and trade facilitating hedge buffer divers- and beautifations in all nations and transit stations.

The bookish classes may have no scruples* about climate, ecology, ethnology, ethics etcetera but they sure as hell have worked both sides of political aisle since day wen.

* Plenny scruples about money though, .. since way back when .. Joseph disowned the homesteaders, prolly, besides initiating stockpilage of surplus value, flirting with spoilage and epidemics in the process, in order to deliver labour for the fad: imitate those hippies and build another pyramid ... having specialized in unfeeling, abstract, numerate, in other words, particular neotenous outcomes (manipulate diet, living space, birth-rates and birthing-ages, presto). The old T was already on about dyes and preference for black on white vs white on black having .... wait for it ... .propriety consequences.

I aim at fame for an extension of the syntheses and fusions of and between disciplines that Hamaker already proved himself capable of, reaching incisive and lonesome ways ahead of the pack levels. John D Hamaker was a visionary whistleblowing integrator with rocks rather than axes to grind who can be borrowed from safely and profitably by those who have wars to end.

John (and his partly homesteadily made rock dusts)'s interests were spread across the following fields:

-- nutrition science -- climatology -- tectonics (quarternary research) -- econonomics -- demography
Those last two treated as asides, indicating the directions and needs for further study: credit and population fluxes.

John D claimed biomass levels needed to rise but placed no emphasis on the equal and concommitant need to diversify it. I, however, believe they are inseparable sides of the same coin and cannot be relegated and remoted, like to a status of luxury, say, it deserves pride of (the same) place. In fact i hope to indicate loads more disciplines are commensurate, including a bunch of humanities snugly niched between the cardinal sciences like joints between bones, equally essential for moving as a whole, if it is to move meaningfully at all.

Not only are fields (of study) John focused on adjacent and capable of cappilary communication -- in old fashioned dutch this semio-construct is not only tautological (synonymous) but identical. Figures right? How would dutch people not find communication a wetware by definition (uitstek = par excellence = eminent, as in domain and thus also soil related terminology, earth holding willows, alders, etc.) -- but the humanities are interstitial as the range from nativities throughs habitation, past occupation to a worthy goal like balance of patri- and matrifocal strong points teeter totter st- m- crumbles along and span life's good and bad forms all the way from local birth privilege to human rights .. which seem to be universalizing at prohibitive cost (the earth and all even)., that is, the sprouting of fundage for and sproutage funding it are prohibited by elitisms of all sorts. Lucky few, chosen fewer and cruel to the least of aspirants to that 'all saved up and ready to make off crowd' (controll investors).

Be that as it may (have ever been and still is), all sorts of USnlz entitlements are put in question but the feetvote counter and consequence (as James Bowery calls it, in order to regroup and excercise experimentation freedom to the fullest), is not on the horizon. nor is a much easier version. Ulrich von Beckerath both highly and repeatedly recommended penstrokes (rather than footfalls). He simply wished to see it applied (once again) in the currency emission field, exterritorially as it were.

Dusts and monies can closely parallel or be inversely related to one another. Change is to be counted (on) as dust is to be grown/organized (in the purest sense of the word) with.
One wishes to count on change as one wishes to grow with dust.

LOCAL PRACTICAL IMPLEMENTATION OF UNIVERSAL SOLUTION: artful selfsufficiency attractive enough to slowly pull cities apart and empty them to the point where the only things left growing in them are the parks.

Meanwhile, same old say mold, debt duty and defaults are commited with impunity at the *(f)*rigid top, a cramped space filled to burst with criminals (who practice af- rather than omwenteling, roll over instead of soul-searching) spewing steady streams of edicts and dictates to punish those lower down even while there (near ground levels) warmer ways out and forward get phrased, proposed, buzzed about and formulated ever sharper, aided by maturation of technical means that preflect the intended use of concerted and concerned and coordinated (in a word, responsible) uses thereof, namely, diffusion, dispersion, distribution, diversification, balancing being a single being with being (a) social (being). It is much like weather and a battle of the gods, down from on high vs up from below.

John D practiced homesteady stewardship which the hippies were severely thwarted from developing and sabotaged for rediscovering (whole earth catalog never got very rooted before all sorts of 'trickster' trouble as O'Brien calls turm(in)oil scattered and turnachurned it to shreds)

Nevertheless, i dare declare that it is these teccy stages of homesteading that remain the only native endorsed type of american dreaming whities were as a rule welcome to come do.
The self-build and low impact development movements in the UK are building blocks that can and will macro scale up ... Add permaculture and one can recall all whities from foreign land and revillagize Europe.

John D never spoke of micro-climate at all and climate scientists still do not, usually commited to the overwrought emasculated 'days of delusion dogma, the crossdisciplinary malaise that stretches and rips, skips and betrays meaning (ful autonomy, sovereignty, etcetera) if the PTB (GS as the inheritors of a type mindset which got jews thrown out 109 times since 250BC) do not ignore, override and -rule all that in the first place. Even if they don't it, as i said, gets emptied of all meaning before political and explicit deployment (the preferred thunder stealing ploy, playing on unconscious appeal the semi-literate masses).

John may have underestimated the mass appeal of his own lifestyle choices as much as he overestimated receptivity of other climate cycle student and crowd managers. He adressed and told them to stop military airplanes for any purpose other than dusting places. A measure that had my immediate sympathy although i was to fly to the states another few times.

So though he didn't even so much as imply self-sufficiency, let alone recommend it, he lived it in all its intimate implications, which did not exclude inviting people like me to visit him from 20.000 miles away after i wrote him about translating an Acres, USA article of his to Dutch for my father (wonderful with numbers but alas not ecology).

"She's so Heavy, She's your Mother." ------- 52nd comment: To Drew Hempel and Les Visible: Always thought the delayed maturation and all means magic and otherwise which contribute to matrifocality, webby weirdness and savantica implied a preference for keeping the body still (check, Drew, but you are an extremist, oraliplock gives bacteria a chance to flourish, i flush with teas. How often do you brush and floss?).

An Asperger/Autist tends to be 'not at home' even if he manages to avoid moving. Paul Laffoley is a pretty extreme case too.

The resistance US occupants (Turtle Island occupiers) put up, the projections they send out and so (beam) forth when it comes to natives (part of them simply semitic occupiers since Christ arriving via north Africa - see Cyclone Covey on Alexander) is amazing and offensive to me. Turning an indigenous people into aliens (or away from the former in favor of a turn to the chimerical/tricksteroid latter rather) like all this talk of data theft is too (a spate of it hapnin around climate lately, for predictable off 'globalshowdown must go on' reasons) are insults that should not get the impunity pass anymore than gambles with piles of a 'client's' debts that cause, miscreate, toxify offtarget and thus misplace dustbatches, etcetera, do.

Much of the data theft hype is a last ditch attempt to generate anxiety and distract from taboos about to break. A poleshift reversal for hitherto undislodgable 'fleecage' (squeezing the public and offshore sequesterment of their secretion if not slaughtering privacy altogether) is, if not in the offing an ancient wish for righteousness, encryption as private and and transparancy as public affairs, taxed assets rather than labour will help thousand flours to bloom (though i strain my eyes to spy an uptickdoom [[if i may impose upon you a bit much, 'opdoemen' = loom in dutch]] to no avail so far). Instead, this is what we get just yet, still more prevention efforts that serve status quota that polarize classes into hi-rising and outdowning ones, that sacrifice middle/median (is close to gone so bufferless the fronts are bound to clash) to feed this 'growth', centralization rather, the perrenial monomonstrosity 'fountaition'. GS is betting bullets just in case though, and they have reason to try brace against that not just any but (in fully endorsing name of) all down*(trodden)*turnout event.
ReliRigi Rite Rout Aims to ChurnChugturn away from a way past ditty dictate back into the unfoldiage of time grown cold in real and on time so i don't bash prevention per se.
Aborting comfort potential however, is a war-industry and an adrenal whipnmilk strategy as pervy as the type life Micky Rourke got reduced to specialing a careerlong time in. Wartoys are childabuse.
It aint so tough to fit the Hi-T n Hurt Vet Hobotizen profile so prevalent in the crowd pouring accolades into Les Visible's comment section for me is it? Prolific hero in situ struggles with distaste for conflict yet seems caught in a tangle of routes gone rigid with routine ramifications, like a shadowboxer feinting away (see Bifo, an in NYC much loved italo-anarch), eager for and expectant of realer action.
To train, rail, rudder and plod away soon leaves the trail deeply rutted. Well worn feetvote pathways to freedom (as rightie James Bowery has it) turn to trenches in the blink of a moon (forest service versus those who serve forest = rainbow gatherings come to mind).
It is easy to pretend realer than that, just tender a bit of tenderized time, sprinkle a pinch of pulverized rock in lettershapes the size you can handle and deed your deed to posterity, easier resting easy that way too. Cussing out idiots is a poor subst'ute for lobbing threats every bit as credible and coercive as their phony rule book dictates. Matching intensity does not mean mating means - that would be a mistake, in this case, counterproductively joining proliferation, 'giving' of stimuli to the perditious and diabolic chains of events that lead straight to spikey and pointy ... no .. not minarets, i mean rather, western industrial strength (cough...no i am not cussing, just lamenting their bad name, like i regret and am ashamed that our 'lib(idrool)rule' dutch media, unneighbourly enough, bad mouth germans every chance they get) missiles. I go for good chompost cain gang measures. Peace in Piet's sin.

to integrate all my material (make a range of collections from small ones with the very best to sizes for folks with more time to waste on a finer mesh foundation, not scared of urgent probs ripping holes in such laborious fabrics) will take a bigger screen, a faster processor, a good on board search engine, etcetera. But the time might be approaching, as folks like Anthony make me realize.

Pending all that, as an acquaintance making present for him i could link towards where Geoffrey Gardiner criticizes Zarlenga at the yahoo group gang8, tell him about Sigi (and Zube), ask if he reads German, and if is interested in a reference library to refer those of his readers/audiences who ask about/for more background material.

revisit Nick Szabo (numerate.blogspot) and Mencius Moldbug (unqualified reservations), 2 great minds who nevertheless didn't pull off a conversation on a very very interesting subject all that well. Their treatment of the biggest stumbling block to a lively and diverse field of currencies (such as the Flemish golden age dealt with and thrived upon) was a wash-up with mutual chiding and repetitious bickers. To wit, Nick was playing devil's advocate arguing for factor minimizing preference. A very miscalculated convenience. They strife and skirt the gold

Drew Hempel took some classes in 2005, he has been praising the liddul chinaman instructor eversince, generously lavishing over and above top credentials for all your fabulous needs beyond belief ... i read stuff by Louise Erdrich and i believe her. i read him and i go, pretty sad. Especially after seeing what sorta kolenschoppen van handen the man has on him it seems a terrible waste of heritage to use just the tips of these tools. He ought to become a masseur and go for permaculture.

Wish i could take Drew's flipswitchin between hi-tec conspiracies and no tec healing - both sorta scalable but demand for the latter limited by 'genuine' desire, the ability to ask for it kind, sincere and polite enough after finding the rare source/spout (6 folks is all it takes to serve that market segment in these parts of the goolacksee) - as and in one of the possible ways he may subconsciously indulge it for: to prove that a severely addictive and captivative (no pun intended) flight filled field of investmentigation has no hold on him. synking the back up versions i made this year .. geez, what did i just do? Gut parts of them to make sure i wasn't leaving files behind but in the process doubling (back) and sticking stuff in folders from where they were but have since been moved to other ones more than anything, reversing and doubling them. Falsifying the file location revolvement severely. Not that i expect anybody to try trace the itineraries of the files that interest them as they cycle from place to place much but hey, that thought can be entertained cause i have heaps of space and can play my little private archive.org games all i want for now. Anyway, i decided to not do up the tagged folder and stick with the new set of folders which bear shorter names, if anything i move stuff forward, like Covey, Hudson and Hempel. I am even leaving a tagadd set be otherwise nonfoldered (a transition stage that lasted from half 07 to half08) ....

gnosticliberationfront.com has a file with letters by Einhorn to David Williams and screeds by Eringer, Fitts, Gorightly (93) and Sarfatti (92) on Einhorn, it includes 'A Shapshot of my 70's' from sept 1 02 (message 211 i was after)

... inventaris opmaken has the hugely ambivalent connotation of stockpilage and total expenditure, going for brokeness in it. Have people been trained to flip the switch as fast and unreflectively as possible???

.... i did however add a freshly harvested 182Meg!! file with the Tony Smith site (which has hardly changed the last few years so the material fits the timeframe).

I made a duplicate cosmologger file (as the local preacher cycles by) to cut down on clicks to get there when i am in the currently most activated (Surf indiv) region for instance say, but hesitate to start filling it. I feel unable to make any progress today, best would be that long longed for large table in a warm space with plenny of natural light and betree-ed: trees visible at various distance from it. A world unable to provide such to folks like me does not deserve to live right? Only kidding, no Alvin Miller me.

so far i have the inventor/savants spread across 3 (of the 5 in all) main intersections, via tagged, picced and surf. I tucker myself out remembering squandered chances on a regular basis but have had a spate of particular recurrences lately, the ones with united-peoples.net in particular (uwe somebody) who tried to have his previous webmaster instruct me to use his fave sitebuilder .. which was an awful smart one. It uploaded changed files only. Very handy for spread and sprawly sites with global ambitions, even if there is only one tinkerer behind the keys for the mo. Perfect back up routine.

Cramped denkraam quarters is a very splintering and societywide disaster, given so few even have a denkraam worth mentioning.

prolly best to leave tagged alone completely and even remove all files younger than end of 07 or something as a crisp telltaletoken of completeness ... but it will have to wait till i have a search engine that filters filedates.

Andrew Lehman is definitely one of the few to carry me across the gap/wastes from one hub to the next.

to 'the rest' in 'fave reads' i added 5 files in june 07, one in sept, 16 in nov, 4 in december and 31 in 2008 (peeled from the blobby prints that i did not even bother to type tocs for (did those on paper exclusively) in that period - while in Wageningen). May turn out that the freshest addition there is actually from early 07 (boodleboys - a fascinating 460K read uploaded by Kris Milligan - about the kahal/FehMafiyosi that spread northwards through europe all during the middle ages), possibly beaten by a Dan Winter and Jose Arguelles file at most. Another file nearby is by strega (who has a site called glumpish.com) and wrote a wonderful exegesis on the transgenerational laws that rule avatar a- and descent, the in- and decent up and down tamefuckery of bio-industriality way past the proper scale of compostable industriousness. Last but not least, should not forget to mention LI, he has been a very steady staple all throughout 08, on the last day of which i made a map to stick my 2.65Mb worth of 07 material in.

strega (who has a site called glumpish.com) I got most of the site (318K) and find no mention there of Carnivale, on which this person did a great exegesis.

Drew dreaddraw gonedragon Doogwill memew rootin for gemini kingdom, biggest cult on earth:

> I didn't want my family to think I was in a cult so I just kept researching the science behind the energy transformations.

Gemini particularity claims but/while/cause loses wholesumness, it is THE most schizoid sign don't you know.

Free after the Drew: Time? I won't have it! (tantrum foot stamp) I'd rather be infinitely patient.

Just one huge instance of Drew's ornery contrariness is for me at least, particularly easy to see through and call the bullshit on (i have once already years ago) with the predictably standard response. I get sad mad and angry by turns at/for his pulling people into the navelgazing closet instead of getting onto real social stuff (one on one is the social speedlimit he care to honour [[preferably in riteshite leglock]] no matter what, beyond lie the scary crowds):

Minneapolis has co-ops within the 5 miles he claims to have covered there daily. Drew got irresistably tempted to stoop to junk but I too have been there (a month or two) and searching out such of their fruit (and some beyond, since i had a motorcycle) on offer which began to show softening towards blemish/rot had me leave with the top nutrition at lowest price cause it was easy to scare them about not being able to sell produce in that stage, just past it's peak eatby moment. Just kidding. I told them how highly i valued it and payed gladly enough.

Drew could just say no, but no he says this (over and over and over and over, like a stuck record): " ... following a strict diet is tough in the city since there's so much crappy food being pushed at you in all the displays and sales, etc. Also coworkers, friends and family are constantly pushing bad food."

My advice? If you wanna stop eating crap leave your family until you can. Just count yourself lucky for not having protestant parents. They would certainly not consider computering some type of work. Staying indoors bad, computing double bad dude.

You need to go work on a farm, building compost with dung, manure or clean diapers in a resthome to cure yourself of your food- and homophobia. Kissing a little chinaman's ass metaphorically and repeatedly is easier though right?

The only way you could resume approaching any goals worth reaching for is to ban keyboards from your life and grip the handle of a farmtool. Go prepare so rock to serve the next growing season bare handedly till your hands blister and your mom blushes about your hunger. I ought to do the same but i am not sure we are going to be able or need to share excuses for not doing so.

Meanwhile flakey gang8sters cannot even honour minds like Ulrich von Beckerath. Such a shame tangential mention (via his better known pall Rittershausen) is left up to gold advocates like Fekete. Can't they engage this person at least? Still alive you know. Is it a gamble to expect newly rich chinamen to leave their home and go live in the states (housing aplenty) to taste a little of their hard earned luxury if they have the money to do so?)*.

one of the visitors there is amygdalla where one finds 300 top notch shoppie pics with a mix of abstract symmetric fractal elements with real things such as girls, trees and textures in expertly combined colours. Dear Drew, I sampled a bunch of links surrounding the Einhorn crowds cliques and moochable target audiences. Here is a few conclusions, don't be suprised if you recognize elements of them, having aimed a few in one form or another before, at you too. Dave Lindorff wrote the most incriminating piece in Ira Einhorn (for Salon.com october 18th 2002), I am not slightly more but more than slightly inclined to believe him over say, folks like Cath Fitts, let alone the fabulatrician crowd, Einhorn himself, Sarfatti et al, projecting unapbroachable subjects, nearly incomprehensible, difficult to express, o so promising misterys of culttec and other inversions of reality, none of which (no matter how loftily based .. 'based'? not even placed ... perhaps why they are so hard to dislodge), capable of distracting from the, quite exactly contrary, sordid and as this case illustrates, literal closet-skeletons for long, let alone in perpetuity. This psychomechanism, the desperate, concealed as hopeful turn and resortage to detrimentally strong medicines, reckless and risky flights, all of it, attempts and aims to distract from personal, family and even less outrunnable discorporate history, as far as it is and took part in and must might will could or should be constructed as culpable for a string of genocides and occupations beginning with some very uncomfortably recent ones. A transference that is far from sport- or gentlemenlike, and far from fairing fights, results in fascist fetishes, detracts from intimation of space and rolls out Tory pact factories or plucks them up if an opening in more repressive conditions is not treated like a wound should be but filled with the salt of the earth.

Einhorn by the way blogs his book reviews (here http://iratheunicorn.blogspot.com/ or here: ira-einhorn.com), you ought to get him to look at yours, Robert Eringer (CIA patriot who thinks traitors deserve hanging but succesful double agents [[undetected traitoring, with impunity in my book]] gain the world, soul be damned) hates his guts.

irate verse is not permissible as proof in my book so Ira gets benefit of doubt on that score, more than google does for instance, for not threatening to leave the US unless the boxcar load of crypticity the eveready Feddy freddies stole from Tesla become available on the double.

The sun is a singular enough kind of thing though most differential throughout vastness it can cover, shower and bounce rays off of. Its punishing and severe kind of intensities are not seldom due to buffer removing idiots who then become that, take and pass themselves along as such, for instance to where sun is benign mostly, and punishing through absence if at all. Not sure the earth's tilt can be ascribed to creaturely dumbitude to the same degree.

The only way to incorporate accounting into junk economics is to turn it into junk accounting. ....snip.... It showed that what the vulgar Marxists (Stalinist hacks) thought was the "falling rate of profit" was largely real estate depreciation and debt-pyramiding interest charges, oil depletion and other small print of the tax code. It got them furious and they banned any empirical reference to any actual statistics at all. Not a good career option for economists to suggest more empirical reality to their departments!

posted on Drew's blog the 22nd .... Chunyi Lin is a christian so he buys into a whole once an for all punctuated if not punctured dynamic i am sure. that means an inexhaustible fount store and reserve of healing grace, inextricably entangled with the evolution of banking.

Michael Hudson has the tinge and taint of autism so he can spot those whose evolutionary psychology has been shaped if not warped due to specialization in that field.

Hilarious, this morn Klaas Hendrikse from, preacher of Dutch Christianity ('Puristantism', Protaformed whada you know right?) in Middelburg is on the radio to break open the PKN (a fusion which includes most of them flavors), wrote a book about his covert atheism and started a courtcase to counter the stalling of his peers, proposes drastic measures to stem the tide: PKN loses 1000 members per week, 1 in 5 doubt the existence of god also.

Great and varied Social Centerlike fun in church all week long would be OK

But Biblicoiled slipslapslop has more and more appeal to more and more (more and more splintered/ing) groups due to the graduation to class struggle which siphons off the most persuasive bullshitters orators:

1 - hardships due to dishonest math let loose to wreck political economics into oblivion (as Michael Hudson says), major league supremacism, big bankster aloofygoofiness.

2 - The increasing distance makes that whole era seem mythical if not magical with each passing one (not that semites weren't already fuokin, invadin and migratin in bits and clumps, on the contrary, due to exactly that).

3 - Universalism. Jesus could have easily ridden such a wave and visited the place one of them topdog Romans ended up at, as covey hints at if not exactly contests. Anybody read that piece on Alexander and Burrow's Cave by Covey i mentioned?

4 - the remoteness in time, cumulative investment of all having to and voluntarily wrestling with it.

5 - last but not least Jews themselves use it as callistenics and cabaret, drama and deception, they found it to splinter their enemies even better than slings and spears early on. They are like that gibbon monkey swinging circles around the lethargic tiger pups wondering into his playground. One of my best poems posits they are lots more like sparrows than

quoting a gang8 yahoo group member named Geoffrey Gardiner (will see if he is on avaxhome shortly) ... if you have no time for economics, here's the nub of the passage: "heated to red hot, and pressed against the refuser's forehead.":

> As for 'Greenbacks' and all other products of the printing press, yes, a government can spend them into circulation, but only to the level that the public wants. The public needs an amount of paper currency, and the public, not the government, determines how much is in circulation. Attempts to exceed that limit result in a fall > in the value of the currency, often catastrophic. In mediaeval times severe measures were used to force people to accept the government's token coinage that they did not want. If a person refused a coin, it was heated to red hot, and pressed against the refuser's forehead. (Remember Innes' 1913 paper). But the currency still fell. Greenbacks were not immune from inflation, nor were the 'equivalent 'Bradburies' issued in the UK in 1917. The 1917 issue, however, was successful because the Bank of England had been keeping the note issue well below the level the public needed. Any excess over what was needed was quickly converted into government bonds. Surplus 'Greenbacks' were converted into 6 per cent five year bonds.

How do you like that kundalini coinage eh? How does punishment for a refusal to accept a force-fed -- over and beyond the natural and voluntary acceptance - the famous measure traffic will bear without devaluation ... ceasing up flow, bursting the pipes or cracking up the smoothly conveying 'ashfault' .. flashvault (HFT high frequency trading anybody?), etcetera -- means of payment relate to your energy pathway trackage/wreckage?

Your perv spiel comes to mind. Let us look. Offer/imposition distinction erasure, check. No escape from token binary choice granted (unless you want to count collective punishment through token pollution OR for not letting pushers be pushers but turning them to punishers [peinigers] as such, either way, a coercion you better not refuse), check. I see a fit as a perfect per- ob- and reversion of your transport of and by means of murk to light, EC to EM, base matter transformed to pineal suitability, suffering turned to bliss, sinner to saint.

I have little doubt you will mature and ripen into a great proponent of my pet peeves: rockdust 'durabilitated', rooted and enhanced permaculture (a 'coherized' [coheribalized?] resynthesis of psychology, economy, etcetera, what have you .... whatev you may name as misplacedly and displacingly splintered field of your fancy, notion and 'experiencement'), bycause after all, lotus posish requires most with least effort as far as primary needs go, as long as they still exist.

Or even if you go the other route, Oscar Kiss Maerth rather than ChunYi Lin like sacro sanctimonious circus art (with absurdly painstaking antics like fingerstands... anything to keep warm in the mountains right?) i am confident the end result can be comparable.

However, there are some worries i should mention. Due to your leglock fetish (quite comparable compatible and in every way measuring up to orgasmic fluid rubbery indulgence, certainly a time consuming hobby either way) life runs off of you like water from a duck. When it all bounces off of you and you can feel special your kind (mindsets twisted into fake and autistic forms of integrity and autonomy, like the one Balkenende, Dutch prime minister is displaying into all hours of the night lately - he wishes to remain whole, and not stuck with any blame for rushing into helping Bush invade Iraq)* feels save and your conduct succesful, healing. Healing to you yes, but you are part of very narrowly defined and like the one Balkenende presides, a community to which little admirability and respect is due, nor does it accomodate much more beyond a momentary, instant healing, nothing enduring in my sense of the word.

* The man got a foot infection when visiting the US to make a footfall in front of his boasttart boss. That kept him out of sight a long time. Ironically the Dutch have an expression: 'wit voetje halen' = get a white foot, it means to flatter with a useless cringycrawl puppylike servility.

Now if that implicated and punished him in one instant fell karma swoop, i wonder what the US did wrong besides/when arresting Ira (on Three Mile Island day as you might have noted).

about GG: everything is monetizable and as Craig Hubley used to argue and put up on Canadian green party pages ('six styles of capital'), best constituted as mutually, cross- and countercliclically supportive and complimentary. A German friend of mine has worked on a 92 slot matrix even and Todd Boyle is one of the most outasite (rosehill.net) 'let a thousand regions bloom' kind a guy. Getting out of Oz and the US alone is good for that number and compostartistry ought to help accommodate manifold of that throughout eurasia.

The gang8 list counts few heros and having seen what happened to ijccr they keep their number well low. Squabbles between Stephen Zarlenga and GG are amusing and revealing to me as to how easily specialists get it wrong and on each other's nerves. As i have never seen SZ decoupled from Charles Walter myself i see a gap and a tempting niche to try fit in to. But my e-mails tend to be lots less succesful than yours seem to be Drew.

Walters by the way is aligned with the pioneers of the now clipped if not crippled which champions limiting monetization to 7 times what farmers get for their goods/trouble, which i could go for/with, on the way to the photosynthesis rates and diversities indicating value standard levels.

For now wealth, status and spoils go to the gun enforced lie spoutery.

23rd ..... on the colin wilson item: as per simanek's take on Keely i will call you dreworrell to signify the utter gullibility you aim and scheme and compose sentences for, such as this one:

> "O.K. So as I've stated this technology has gone "black ops" -- via Tesla, Schauberger, Keely, etc. Theo Paijmans says that John Jacob Astor took Keely's technology to the Skull and Bones."

.... also, dwarrelen is a verb meaning the descent of rudderless material, like snow or a leaf from its perch, place of birth and former employment. A person addicted to fruitless distractions *(kkkristianity with a chinese twist anybody? McCarthyism is distasteful, TV-Evangelism is disgusting. The former used the exact same methods their targets (USSR immigrees, commie agents, many jewish) were accused of, suspected of harbouring and practicing, thus a grand test was conducted to see if wasps could adopt jewish methods and take the blame for the lot its usage. The US, a lot otherer _(as in more alien)_ than it cares to find out and start being frank and honest about.

... 'other than'??, not 'besides'? The US is a lot more, not even besides _(much less 'instead of')_ invader and occupier, 'it'* is a lot more 'dictatotalizing' than proper respect for and honouring of borders would call for.

*it is useful to quote Todd Boyle on this points:

> For high income people these two things _(where they "reside" at various points in time, and where their [[quite various]] assets exist, and where their [[quite various]] buying and selling are executed [[and taxable]])_, vary much more than the general public seems to understand. --- For example a company registered in country X, owned by people in country Y, can buy or sell some things in country Z, and it might not be taxable anywhere. That's the whole point.

A border is a barriere, a resistance, a filter, a purifyer, a privatizer .. encryptian anybody? On that score also it would be useful to quote Todd also _(look for ledgerism)_

Vampiric leakage and hemhorrage is what 'crossing the line' is associated with more often than breakdown of artificial barriers and breaking free of limitation and obstruction _(major topic of all my ruminations regarding mineral powders .. reminder to self: get a hold of 'Safe House' by Beal)_. Argueably the folks have benefited most from crossing borders the world over, jews have erected a huge barrier _(part of the reason for loss of a million productive olive trees in the region)_ as if they want to demonstrate their new start, their conversion/repentance, rather than repeat a colonization they once trained to perform forty year for, and blatantly monumentalize the concrete manifestabilty of their double standards.

Borders In a world of and by the rich - tough not only on the rest but on each other which leaves fewer of the few and chosener of the chosen - authority derives from legalized crime hyped by artifice, abstract fi_(b)_re power abused for massively manipulative centralization _(instead of them being eminent showpieces excelling i transparancy)_ resulting in widespread slavery needed to patrol and securitze thus fattened, bloated and resource gobbling BORDERS.

Instead, in a _(voluntarized and 'voluntaraising')_ world where the borders that count and proliferate _(rathe than become more absolute and final, fewer and fatter)_ are gossamer subtle and manifold, they can and will establish and guarantee diversity _(a balanced mix of autonomy and individualism with social intimacy and consensuality)_.

Hybrid forms of these extremes exist along a gradient of voluntarity. Spontaneous and instant love, when left in peace, will proliferate _(pre-, re-, pro- and post)_fractive, profligate frontlines but has been stopped and met, has had to stop and will keep on being stopped to meet _(yet not match and certainly never voluntarily mate with)_ entrenched and institutionalized hate, clash and repression. In fact they are as mutually exclusive and perhaps as regularly sequential as day and night.

Resend _(and replace old version in speech notes with)_: mpr = mystic politics radio _(via Drew)_ has a slick n quick ranter _(named Everett)_, good looking even, who likes reading stuff like Manly P Hall, all sorts of news items, does some of his shows with a female side-kick, grunts alot while he struggles to keep his gazillion webdoohickies in line and co-operating, says Google is evil and on the dec 9th show _(only one up due to funding stagnancy)_ gets outraged by UN sponsored fisting kits foisted on very young human beings _(he says 5 year olds at 1.07.40 get masturbation and fisting instruction)_. He counsels folks to take their kids out of public schools. ... Huh? ... What? ... Does he get his news from the Fema concentration camp credence crowd to the right of submainstreamite Alex Jones???? It sounds equally believable.

He does a more sensible treatment of water pollution issues earlier in that show. He says he is not feeling very well at the beginning of the hour and his voice gets thinner _(and thinner)_ but the he manages to keep the pace incredible. Pretty sure we are dealing with an AJones clone _(1.46-1.47.15 of the 697690 show he plays AJ play-crying the morn of 9/11, certainly not ascribing his despair to any psychic qualities, but mocking and disqualifying - 1.49 he does a little imitation, admits to replaying it*)_, a lilliputian one on the voiceboom front at that. JDSalinger washed and waved victim, a victim of American culture at large. At least he does not favor the US over the US _(over the Vatican, etc, no i mean ad nauseam untill nauseated)_. Still, somebody restrain these idiots, reeducate them, and if they are too mature for masturbation, ok, so much the better, get them straight onto reinventingmoney.com, etcetera. But stop them taking leaf after leaf out of the coll punishment inflicting and impunity entitled MEern SLCunttree calling the wrath of treegods over all of mankind.

* later in that show he says to have merited a comment by AJ who is alledged to have said 'mpr lives in a computer' .... mmm, crossed my mind as well ... and not the fastest one around either, he just found out keeping lots of large file online costs a pretty penny, trying to migrate away from blogtalkradio. I bet he does his reading off the screen instead of cellulose.

Like i said, as of the first of feb 2010, the 9th of the twelfth last year show is the only one up but there are plenny more on blogtalkradio - - other than it, i have 8/17 (has 333 guests at one point), 699151 (1.30 Wiz of Oz [[after an Eminem Rap]]), done down to 697690 so far

He likes to keep his and counsels to keep all conclusions tentative yet also convey he is good at guessing *(g)*aims and offers varations (of archaic and/or foreign names for instance) in rapid succesion, taking care to not include the conventionally acceptable one it seems, emphasizing he is hot on the trail of the big picture .. .which is due to the ends and means confusion, the split condition thereof.

The only way to solve a generalized crime, the type you face at every turn, is to radically turn away from it, allow it to turn you off completely. Break with it.

I might be tempted to offer the fella money to read my work over his radio site cause i am willing to grant him points for effort.

Drew 'so, again..' Hempelmanlein erased his archive this time instead of the complete blog .... sigh...., then he restarted with a Tesla post

Carroll providing a wonderful but exasperating howler sample from his inexhaustible store of them, on the 11th of januari, reminds me why i started ignoring him to cut down his inroads on my get upset budget: . Voluntarism is the greatest current error of leftists: the belief that if you only knew how you could will a movement into existence.

Todd thinks Carroll is right, here:

> >Capitalists can't stop slumps because they are essential to capitalism >as a system, for a number of reasons, but mainly because slumps >discipline the work force. And misery or the fear of misery >individualize and fragment workers rathr than generate resistance. The "Golden Age"of capitalism (1950 to 1975) generated the leisure, the >conficence, and the rising expectations that fueled the worldwide >anti-capitalist era of "The 60s." That won't happen again. >We need to strt thinking and stop echoing the past.

suppose i can grudgingly grant him that ... but that Todd reads him at all worries me a little ... and he can be pretty confused/ing himself, here's his off the cuf idea of what's desirable: .... maintain social systems that enforce equality, bringing externalities into the transactions between private parties.

for instance, your description of that Steve/Kephas thing did not ring a bell at all, even though i have heard that shaudiow .... waidaminnit, can't retrieve it, perhaps it wasn't you.

still more (caching out and) catching up to do: As to your comment about sleep/waking smoking/anxiety (of February 4, 2010 7:33 PM): what about folks who like me have strong aspect to multiple aspects in gemini (rules 4-6 am)? doesn't that count for something? In 2005 he disses Cath Fitts in a thread bearing her name -- tacking 'and aliens' onto it (politely waiting for month before doing so though ... after being accused of trying to bum rush 'her', though the thread started [[quoting Hopsicker]] was just trying to ask her something) as a subheading after a discussion of her turning down an offer for a closer look at/into the latter in Arlington -- and claiming she and Ruppert tread on/into a pyramid scheme .... perhaps true cause after all, Max Keiser whom she is usually admired along with is, if nothing else a great entertainer who tries his damnedest to use not the government like GS does but old fashionedly modest enough, gold as pyramid scheme. Gold sellers are able to pay his way (and advertize with him) cause of bank panics due to criminal abuse of them, waves of distrust (gilded tungsten bar anybody?)

i would instead say: Money is by its nature a choice provider, now or in the future, if in the aggregate choices meanwhile made come out with a value sustaining stabilizing and more firmly standardizing worth for what you may meanwhile park, sponsor something with or invest (all three striking up a harmony in the luckiest/most desirable case).

Money is a prayer, institutions can turn in to white budgets, but the biggest of them violate both market and government by shackling and weaving them together (BIGGEST MISTAKE, on a par with confusing ...) in a way that brings out the worst in each: black budgets. Please search for Catherine Fitts, who discovered how blackwashing is the institutional version of what the Mafiya is really really good at on Wall street meanwhile. Robert Friedman warned about this in 1996 just before dying of some sort of heart poison.

look, if einhorn was used (and or 9/11ed) like laura says, in order to make private secrecy (and so/thereby also the concommitant pump priming opposite charge: public transparancy) look bad, then plant a corpse on him .... makes perfect sense. She actually goes a step farther and claims he was manchurinated (marineuchated) into his dirty deed and zoned the memory to/of it off into a fully automated and unreflectable reflex zone. The bad guys always win cause they stick closest to the solid end of the stick.

anyway, i go back and forth on this. i have all the thunderbirds but none of the supposedly 90 tapes. Vincent bridges and jay weidner, supposedly so knowledgable, wrote repetitive nags about the laura .... any audio of her you have come across???
tomorrow we will dump on laura and ira again. Depending on what we find out regarding cath fitts involvement including her sniffing out (stiffing up) the black budgeteers delivers prevent war industries is what i meant and mean to help her with

takes one to know one? No. takes one to make one? A little better but no. TAKES ONE TO FAKE ONE? That's my kind of correction to an ancient misfake and the next piece says that it does take a true one to point out the fake one in so many (more) words:

Those intent on plagiarism accuse their targets (those they intend to plagiarize) of it. Thus Einhorn commited a crime for which much detail is 'given' while evidence for a similar one Laura is said to have commited herself is withheld. The decent thing would be to grant Einhorn the same protection she applies to herself in exchange for sharing his story line. Her half in half out is dishonest and symptomatic for her split conditioning everything she touches and thinks about. It is definitely not a pleasure to listen to her for me, one senses the calculated need to hold back, playing the maverick diplomat ... Try podcast seven if you want to find the (last of 3) of over 50 with her in the title (from 2005, she does a blog post about one a quarter), where after a nag about hating ironing -- or any physical movement that detracts from her Queen of Divination and Hi-Contact at a D obviously, she was fatherless, hence fat -- and asserting that nowadays, no longer doing this that and the other by hand, "the more clothing one has, the less clothing one has to take care of", her co-presenter goes: shall we say it is irony and she tries a spontaneous laugh, at 12.18 minutes.

Holy books are meant to bind wether by group or pair bond. Commemorate heroes (war and peacemakers alike, with a preference to ascribe both to each in a string of them), instill/stall expectations and entitlement, sing for comfort or celebration. More (and more) often however, we see it abused as a fund/fount of distracting and therefore justifying formulaism. Repeating ancient grudges against circumstances and opponents of ancestors, all of which long gone, nevertheless perpetuates them, thus mere words start the long road to power with as yet powerless but explicit expression of covetousness to sanction, consens and habituate the audience to them (lethally mixing public and private into open secrecy that causes world conflagrations like decade long sanctions, occupations, generations worth of empire serving invasions).

But as better than means to end opression, make earnings more equitable, distribute and share bumper crops and bounty, or decrease looting, all three of the great monotheisms are failures. 24th minute of said podcast she begins trashing islam after having ruled zionism and christianity as an unholy alliance.

originally i meant to weave the Bart Spruyt on about violence of monotheism together with certain fascist facets of my mom's worldviews, one of which involves scolding blackbirds for intolerance and remarking on the opposite tactic of the starling who does not comes alone very much and if so, usuall remains that for very long. I proved her partially wrong by simply distributing the food more widely instead of in one spot. Then hunger will rule and eating happens together apart ... until the first one is full of beans enough to afford and expend the energy to chase the others out. Primitive wars cause smoke dust and decay, in a next stage, ammohunger morphed into inflation, egging everybody on to join 'destroy a little grab a lot' routines for the newly 'acquired' wealth. Whenever the replacement of war with inflation wasn't making things hellish enough for the many and profitable for the few and scrupleless, the industry resorted to turning ammo real poisonous too, and lately the same is managed for the merely economical alternate phase: revving debts digitally, the hypering of inflation (swollen births, swollen numbers).

Doing away with all that has been my refrain, but after i am tired, dead or gone, who will proclaim that dusts used properly would preempt war and provide nourishment for untold numbers of beings?

Chronic equality pretense and deadlock instead of timely and spacious alternation is our status quo despite my efforts.

Debts and deficits are a way to bolster the accountant's prowess and standing. That profession has had the short end of the stick for ages, prime suspects for corruption due to their proximity to wealth pools and their flows another new twist: a show of force and farce abutting, like terrism rehearsals on the same day it actually happens, the cautious justifying their caution, overwhelmed by their own fear which managed to dial up the spectres they not only implicitly but actively prepare not defense against but remedial efficiency after the fact. Since expectations of evil have proved to very easily get accomodated a change of strategy is called for.

To prevent the capital destruction of emptied houses that run the risk of dereliction and vandalization and improve their trade balance, perhaps America should sell them to newly rich chinese people.

Andrew has broken into youtube way before me eh? 3 vids up, with 526, 65 and 97 views, i just put up a post mentioning him he takes quite a risk putting such an intrusive soundtrack under his complex spiel but it works ok for me ... he is too optimistic though. i have been there. Believing 'life after television' was gospel truth. A bunch of lies, divide and rule proceedings i am glad you continue to hammer away at and into your readers ...jesus buzz by the way was, according to Andis Kaulins, originally ascribed to the heir to Antiochus, builder of the largest pyramid in the world but not a blade of grass remains. Squandered chances, migratory and invasive species. Andrew has kids .. so he cannot afford to be realistic?

the splinternet aint facilitating tune and tone up into mint condition, the emission freedom practice i world premiered in digital form for the english speakers after free.de/geld did the same for the original language, it is on the contrary helping the digital coin shavers. Perhaps the reality is at work somewhere in between Andrew's opti- and my pessimistic take.

Here is Drew savaging poor Andrew, specially when he discover Andy lives in Evanston, social darwinist and even more when he finds Andy endorsing Wilbur, racist, ... i think his edgyness really stems from his father harassing him for not fixing the printer fast enough. Drew is more like a tax resister your see (links coming up after he tears into neoteny.org thusly - hi-lites only):

mailto:iona_m@yahoo.com Hi Iona, i am a 51 yo dutchman wondering if you know Christopher A Brown who did the stolen land video. He claims hypnosis played a prominent role in a shamanic revolt amongst the chumash (S Ca tribe) sending lots of people mad, using a lightbeam of a specific time of day, being led through a crystal set up in a medicine wheels many miles away to a particular spot ... all along a stretch of contested space markers to boot. C.A.B has since gone one and spent a huge amount of time arguing the core of WTC was 'mere' concrete (it is not clear to me what that signifies to him other than perhaps lowering explosives cost).

Polvo, poudre, .. the pile of pulverized minerals mixed with powdered poison ... thinking WTC yet? ... from top of the (nonetheless archaically towering) line evildoish toy arrays ... arrays with which to votivation-fraudulently myriadize and mirroply and multirate, in one word, portray themselves ... as the heights of civility and propriety (respectable and legitimate to the point of the occasional surreptitious crowning glory pinnacle worthiness of the real culprits in between a relentless stream of doubles, pawns and stand-ins filling that slottage). waarnemen is quadrupling (4 way split) value as: 1 observe 2 opp seize 3 perceive 4 measure which reflects the heroic attempt to tread, tiptoe, skate and march onto the multifractitious battlefields of meaning (ID, transparancy, etcerera) integration.

A 37 YO firefighter (i heard on the BBC worldservice the latter part of march) who did steady duty at Ground Zero is one of the 17 with thyroid cancer (normal rate is 17 every 100.000 .... how many firefighters sent into the dustpile?). Another number i did not catch right is the amount spent to fight claims but it sounded like billions vs the 6x 200K actually paid to self-sacrificials, overly dutyful, heroic (etcetera) victims.

22nd of march: i think this is the (march 09) post that turned me off of Shag in disgust and the berkeley artist wheelchair mechanic cultural analyst could not keep me at lbo either, slashed along with loads of other regular passtimes due to my severe online rationing - yes, i might as well admit it, despite my admiration for individuality, scatteredness, idiot savant filled tribal parallelism over the coupled chainlinked hierarchy of concerted networked and collective conspiratorial Boobovinoidalism ... or whatever that genius writer but alas drunk, mr Kleps calls it (hindsightly, that is, no sooner than and whenever he managed to quit indulging himself), i am just not that good at covering all fronts myself, preferring to spread myself as much thinner as it leaves me vulnerable and helpless without SUPPORT in these matters - connectivity:

Shag was on her way if not already well into cubicle life and so from her deep in enemy territory penetration pizazPosish, it (gardening), seems a luxury or something, she calls it a 'retreat', ... why not retrench, recallibrate, reinforce, regroup reboot rehumabilize???????????

Thinking of her by the way, i am reminded of my reading last night, page 156 of a book i cannot readily identify without my external hard disc whirring away (another aspect of the time-loss i suffer - not the type of scatterment and laggage of time i prefer):

> The Myth of the Vaginal Orgasm Anne Koedt, a founder of New York Radical Feminists and New York Radical Women wrote a Manifesto, 'written as a paper for the first national women's liberation conference in Chicago in 1968'

after quoting Kleps: All in all, comparing footage of 78 rainbow gatherings with contemporary ones, and comparing Kleps with synchromystic pods (link below), it seems to me we (apart from myself waaayyy out in 'downfield') are not progressing very much.

'het oog van morgen' (dutch radio, last hour of the day) Joris Luyendijk is on mondays - he tackles israel (other than his colleagues) and plays better music too - shooting star by harper simon for instance ... oh shit, spoke too soon, he is allowing that twit, that tut, that twat, that coper prunt lots and lots of leeway to explain her greenleft thingy, wanting a 'tight' gvt body ... a hardbody? One that one can be sure to surely and securely resist flab? the metal and flesh thing i wrote about after seeing a gaga jailbaitbail music vid?? One that, as it did in the presence of my fiery steed, terugdeinst (takes itself aback)? No love lost on her is all i am saying ... again/still.

makes the IMF case well, and helps me visualize the parallels. Imagine a load of me, a squadron, a battalion, a horde, a brandnew class, tinged with the oligarchical enthusiasm for putting money to work, succeeding and trying to put too much, too deeply borrowed money to work, over-achievers as they are. Isn't this like discovering what a great thing fresh rockdust in your compost is and putting so much of it all over the place that is smothers the work initial batches are performing? Great big fu#king dust storms instead of blowing dust into rain and minimizing all nonwetting exposure prudently. A scene from different times but same thing really. We're just grappling with the manuals and cookbooks so far ... and spoiling the ingredients.

comment i posted to Andrew Lehman's latest (third) vid (SLIGHTLY IMPROVED VERSION) and to Drew's: your optimism is unjustifiable ... obama bundled his head off but did that buy him bundled security to stave off the in/outbuyers? Goldman Sachs was his greatest campaign contributor. No change here. They like big numbers, not people and certainly not people after change. Nuff said. You repeat the "life after television" meme. life (up) after television (beat). Great book but pipe dream. Results so far: bubble power up by zillion cpu, siliconhell (poison spreading) plastic waste circling the drain, autism kindling skill in/on demand, offshore, promoted and *(facet)*bundle counteracted, fractination and *(spl)inter(ne)*tment.

Lots of good folks come to the right solution following faulty yarnknit (julius hensel, rebecca hosking) but godarnit them kkkristian are instead right about the diagnosis though as to their cure i am less sure.

.. it shows highrises in candy colour (bullshit lying stylizers of death and destruction righ there) and then one sees number rise from them as a type or smarter reverse snowshow. yuk! data patterns? city by city? the Leopold Kohr Ulrich von Beckerath is in there but very (too) cryptically. city states with each their own flavor constellations in tools, practices products and moneys. let a billion borders bloom!!!!
ok, i will keep my thinkpad ... IF YOU TAKE MY HINT to shag@cleandraws.com hey, i do my surfing in rationed mode, during opening hours of regional library, 12 hours distroed throughout 5 of week's days. Cannot reach your site without driving 7 klicks to exape from christian filterment.

'NA' is what you write on the New Antheism topic and i know there is no love lost for NA as in Native Americans in your case (let alone fake cause white defenders of them or cause he doesn't pretend to objectivity or something ... don't pretend i understand) but somebody speeding by and used to pricking up his ears in the prior meaning of the shortcut is kinda shortcircuited (not to mention shortchanged) with your twist.

You did so well on the Bruno piece just above it too though. Coming to Europe this year? Swing by the ex-Rabo bank building of M (Millbrook ... sorta .... good book that, the original boo hoo ... by Rotterdam), not even 10 year old building in the middle of the village that will be torn down in favour of a 6 apartment block in a year, i am signing a 200 euro a month contract on my dad's birthday today - i promise to violate it and let you stay there -- i will be sorting through what's left of my books after sitting in a cat-mouse battle-ground barn for 8 years (kinda high up on the rafters though .. so ... but .. my clothes were/are there as well, possibly even more tempting for mice than books right?).

I know your are not a stickler for logic (despite your professional professage) bu why not leave NA to its original associations and go NeAt to denote come latelyers? Can't even respect that? Ever heard of the maiden judges of the world's earliest federation as described by WJ Sidis???? And you are a public lefty figure who knows the North-East?? Don't make me cry here.

i am on lbo but will resist posting and certainly not a rant like this.

though somebody should contrast your quote 'They were forbidden to own farmlands' (19:55:06) with Stolypin's (voted third most popular Russian this decade) efforts - to allow jews the roots they were socalled 'forbidden' - refused what they perceived as a lowliness not to be bedeviled by more like - eh? You slant jewviews inversely with respect to those regarding NAs. What's new.

The Dutch sayings 'zo vader, zo zoon' (like father like son) and 'van vader op zoon' apply to balanced individuals and enviro-ethnic fractality, only they breed true to type, any extremity is likely to turn into its opposite. Try understand Andrew Lehman's work on 'two-timin' (hormone constellation flipswitches from one generation to the next - the bio-cultural effect). Thus the old testament God (making only half the beats count and never letting the messiach become a flesh and blood concrete person anymore than the Great Big Father), is demoted by half through (and to only half of) the story by the Christ figure, who gets to get a few licks in here and there, working miracles with mud and all that priestodigitatious hippyshit.

last (bottom) page post from early september, since then there were 11 identical posts (pointing to all sorts of other posting opps with hundreds of comments each) .... turns out these are victims or near victims or folks interested in victims of sexual abuse. Sweet folks, a little too of course, to the point of gullible follower material that sustains these hierarchies. To have to ban only 3 people in 3 years attests to their tameness. Contrast with (Girard Haven's wife):

> "For over three years I have seen Robert Burton allow only two or three members speak at events in a community of over six hundred people in Oregon House."

apparantly the place has been going for 37 years already (about 1600 members, biggest clump of them now in northern California), some sort of vague Gurdieff affiliation and other occult quirks seems to be da thang.

intriguingly enough, they seem to use the daycard system (52 cards - see 7thunders.com) i like so much (though mister Camp at that site is quite simplistic to be sure, he does podcasts that are little more than peptalks to stir women into risking a relationship) ...... gggrrrr, cannot find anything about that much except them giant fof pages (2 of which just about did me really) the yahoo group 'ArkansasBob' (6 posts between 01 and 03) has the most explicit dirt on the scumbag, internationally (20 centers in 40 countries) predatory prick and the group is subtitled Burton's Assram appropriately enough. Still, it would just be SF Castro district (less than a 100 miles from it in fact) but rural and featuring aspects of rigid uniformity (tuxedos) on a 2100 acre winery. I'd say they run close second to the catholic church, what with their religious tax exception and all.

Nige is a driving force at that humongous discussion threads delivering series of sites (files of up to a meg and a half, ... it takes a very sloppy yahoo group to rack up that kind of sizes, and whatever these folks' faults [[gullibility?]], it aint pasting repetitions or over using some sort of quote function - they do not even do the regular forum format), here is Nige:

Jen replies to the 10th comment there, she illustrates beautifully that naive idealism operates on a binary and gambles on the critical mass / hundreth monkey switchflip hypothesis to be and come true and through.

It is the ineluctable and undeniable nature of youthful exuberance to experiment and latch onto a pretty picture, even those with so much dead space and the implied drudgery of janitorial artificiality in 'm, glorified oil platforms are healthy? There will always be a market*(demand)* for this and more and more it will not reach beyond a picture as less and less space is left free and uncommodified, uncontested long enough for squatters to run with the long and toilsome process of legalizing their effort. Most crystallizing charisma is quite skewed (and screwed) from the getgo, eager exploitable participants take leads only to be led around by the nose and other organs, sometimes for decades. In the last 2 days i looked in to the fellowship of friends for instance. Pfiuwii.

No doubt hands-on hippy colonies rapidly become and turn out lovely enough to be overrun by buyer outers and rapidly morph into top dollar resorts and since those top dollars are tied into the protection racket (why 2 genders but only one kind of money, should we not at least have half the money with weapons on 'm and the other with lovely gardens .. as a gesture towards equality?).

young naive idealistic one on one enthusiasm is always matched and held in check by many to one, mass market manipulating medialization, not the least of which is the coin shavery the formerly described are trying to raise a fist against, ... but what is a fist against nearly innumerable tiny hooks in multidimensional and flexabilitating netting Klepsian remark: Marc Cooper writes to Mark on DemocraticLeft - another case of the politician (vote fetishizer, knowing how weighted they can get, sortof analogous to coming out with the weightier tidbits while leaving 10 previous in threads trailing behind, slopsloshing away through server dungeons to which last night's infrastructuremarks apply) though remaining firmly attached) being irresistably attracted to the theolog, to share/spar sharpen baffle-with-waffle skills.

Their bid for higher (which they think is a better) profile involves distracting from such paradoxes with a personalization to help them feel involved. In order to deny and/or curb the temptations they damn well realizable will be dangerous should they succeed, most of their time is spent trying to hurry on the ones up ahead in the line they too are waiting in to wait on. All of which ill prepares them for the posh posish once/should they actually make it and manage to get, try remain, and be there.

All of which again, must be in some way analogous to the cautioning against expressing / investing in negative emotion (a fof thing too apparantly) listening to a month old tekgnosis.typepad.com show right now, with inspirator, (a)*social engineer Jacque Fresco (who claims to promote a linux version of social tec, innovative, voluntary, money-less gift economical) sounds pretty irritated with 'da stupidity' in the world. Well him and his counterpart head honcho youngster Peter (who looks drugged but can rant a pretty ok rote spiel with an eye to lenghtening the chain of meaningfulness like only the energetic and naive can afford and put into play). * see my comment a few PgUp tap away on why i suspect him of the same old asocial uncleanly done separation (message unmixing) attempts.

7th of april: managed to get yesterday's comment on the Venus Project Blog as far as the moderation today (youngsters around an old fogy impatient - to the point of being indignant about the delayed arrival, a public transport and serious delegation problem - where the hell did my underlings get to- of o so badly needed hypermigration ... unless he speaks of plucking criminals masquerading as 'jews' from the middle east and plonkaplugging them into re-education dotdotdot)

2278 - 2307 of 2487 end of last october .. since when i have totally neglected Chris King's 1300 member yahoo group sexualParadox, today i got seven (of them 'expand')* pages. Contentwise the matter is more tricky, he reverses labels regarding the main divisions among semites .. stringing their pinings as if they were pearls, rather than going 'perma'.

april 8: proof Andrew is right. somehow i get the feeling the surf style and restraints i have had this and last year (12 hours spread over 5 of the week's days) leaves with me with a lot of crud to lose once my HD conks, the maker of (rightie/leftie) Jonesite/ZG protest movies (the former focusing on the perps, almost entirely reactionarily, the latter, half on the suffering, half on pipe dreams, like pretty and streamlined floating cities, conveniently leaving all the less cute infrastructures [[aside from the obviously light-less innards - no no, you do not understand us, we will work with mirrors adjusting in a motion as fluid as the swell and current we happen to be tappingtopping at the time]] like, duh ..factories necessary for parts out of the picture).

Andrew should get a kick out of Jacque Fresco's chimpy profile, such obvious proof for his clear intuition*(?)* about reproductive leaps that reach back to not just common ancestors but the FIRST ANCESTOR IN COMMON (dna recog-click necessary to give the 'precedent'!, permission to spark conception and risk a few resources due to chance for up-tick). That leap reaches way further back than average in Jacque's case.

He inspired the VP/ZGMovement, him being 92, a long-tail affair if ever i saw one, and with the masses succumbing to virtual, surrogatory dilutions of life (such as SF) very dangerous, no matter how tried and tested an old ethic and essential shtick of theirs, very cristian in fact is 'what you wish to avoid yourself, may not be imposed, rolled over and passed on to others'. They think that the non-violate and voluntarity principle they wish to uphold in the good old experimenter tradition (from Ulrich von Beckerath, straddling economic history from the middle ages to the WWs, to James Bowery, a man who moves among rightish leaning circles) is today just as easy as way back when nobody's evil deeds went beyond organic and hands-on reach (somewhere between aiming for a brief hold on live treebranches and living vines and the next great late stage, to grab and wield handtools - puzzled wedge-wise, finding grains edgewise, staking claims sledge wise ....)

Yeah, been putting up a good defense of trees lately .. have you noticed? .. ever since finding a link at Drew's last month, to Tree-Crops, the book (with global scope) from the 30s by J Russell Smith that i read in the early 80s. If only that had been the textbook and manuel for the american imperial project. Instead we get Larry Summers savvy about pollution and going from bad to worse ever since.

shaggylayday: 'elephantom' is the word that buzzes at the heart of shag's long post of the week. I suspect she was circumkeytapping away in anticipation of the right moment to drop it, she was just killing time till she thought the time had come to let it go.

Anouk has a song about her mood/moon, her need to let go, get rid of it.

Seems almost like she was hiding something precious, a babe in the reeds, perfect camouflage, applying female wiles and tactics of split second placement and retrieval precision in times of oppression, as opposed to the slash, parry, stab, trash and kill preferred by the testoxticated counterparts

It is easy to polarize, harder to pick suitable poles.

Sure, co-ordinates precede co-ordination but how to make/help them gain precedence and preference over subordination is an entirely different matter. Try do an un-install or reboot on that! Me thinks the likes of Ian Griggs, whom i found via Todd Boyle (but do not pretend to be conversant on), Nick Szabo (ditto), Mencius Moldbug (Mmm), the meta-currency folks that flowed from the companion, community and competitive kinds, etcetera, are perhaps worth a little more attention now and then than they get around here huh? I'd appreciate the occasional well argued dismissal, a little beyond 'not for me', 'too deep', 'too simple'.

Of course a more substantial criticism lever would lift your 3 word sentence into *(viral)*view as the shortest expression of a culturally slash and burn 'demo-hi' (getting [['hi']] on the high demographic - high migration rate race vehicles), a take the money and run (a politician to be left in impunitous peace) meme that has turned routine banking practice .. yet again. (nothing as easy to drop and leave behind as a pile of [[presti]]digitation [[presto!]]). Calling those who lean towards warp through being too clever rather than too violent. All savants, hippy freaks, fake indians, earth, trees and rivers firsters and fronters, indigine sympathizers, autonomy and sovereignty lovers, the ways and means to dress this all up economically in perfectly recursive staggered deep drill fashion, are here*(forth)*with invited to help me celebrate my 52nd birthday by allowing me their ghost-guide through the legacy such as it is, all cellulose samplings saved over time (some go back over 30 years) are sorted into appropriate piles (but much nicer would be to cover the walls if the ex-bank i am renting, as would be a projection of piccies i saved in digital form, 400 Mb worth to help me make my reminisce, sort and connect, also entertaining and instructive). Any active you-tubers nearby who would enjoy recording the whole thing? Specially invited are all those folks i adressed but found my attempt at weaving ties that might grow into genuine community and a revival of the utopian spirit inapplicable, inappropriate and/or not appealing to them. Come help celebrate what i saved living through the time i lost adressing you and make up for it by responding now and convince me you qualify.

Drew, on the 12 of may you quote Philip Regal saying chimps have the bigger balls without any more refutation than "haha". Anyways, no correlation between ballsize and behaviour and were this ever to be discovered the case, it aint necessarily bycause higher ejaculation frequency, much less even, given the energy they need for military excercise and whatnot .. That bigger ball size may instead (but not also) cause and be caused by higher agression/test levels*.

> See I had a nice discussion with Professor Philip Regal who is now retiring. But he just finished a sabbatical and has written a book on his bonobo studies.

We better hope the presently magiced 'safetynet', I'd call it an eruptissue if i might -- change-money to pay for turnarounds or maybe not, just carry on the retirement of a once very green/great civ, quickly following/approaching the former Nimrod environs in degrees of barrenness as is all of southern europe, a little longer --, ... we better hope it will not only, as sure as gems and glitter attract magpie, lure and attract but actually catch and cure speculators, the gambling spirit, a cerebral mindgame route to autism quite as effective as tecnical tinkering with ... cough ... models (both the type tooled away at in backyard sheds and the ones taken to be fed [[rather than taking]] to the rich of cities).

Will the euro-safety take speculators by suprise and in .. rather than the other way around? Better not wait to see .. the absurdity of expecting this super duper hyper central compact miniaturized abstraction to apply a squeeze forcefully enough to make the recipient/subject feel wanted needed and energized about perspectives offered and open.

The tangible non-abstract presymbolicized, crude and vulgar parallel for this mimetic substitution and ritualized guessing at the allpassword is, as always, instructive .... and so terribly tenderizing ... invitatious ... sigh .. how can we allow paralysis, all the stealing from and pre-emption of its/her (i prefer) foolbloom ... of true loveliness??

This equivalent and precursor (making its absence and derivative surrogates look, feel and taste like so many curses) lays down a not merely virtual dimension-poor and lacking drill-down, etcetera (Art Brock) credit as the substrate and basis for growth organization - reduction - distribution - etcetera and appears hot and precipitous (volcanic) as easily as icy and slow (glacial).

Now imagine loads of real dust (instead of heaps of promissory/goodwill/buffer euros that came about bycause of 20 signatures on a single piece of paper [[kinda like the hard work of turning suitable rock into ready dust, quite dangerous unless kept moist and down vigilantly ... but not really]] are representing a vague and vereinzelt, literally verzettelt to the point of a mere virtual attempted put[[ting]] a stop to uncommonly mean-spirited egotism, wonder if that is at all easier than capping and corking the oil geni under a very well weighted and flexing ocean floor - schluchz and othe throat reflexes reflecting apprehension) ...

... where was i ... oh .. right ... Now imagine loads of real dust and the space it can take up ... which just might take too much room away from mentioned process (earth formed by and as temporary waystation [[in a cycling]] of mountain tops on their way to ocean floors and round and round up and down) .. which needs a little elbow room and exposure to turn it into everything else ... just cause you neglected sprinkling freshly crushed handfuls of powder for millenia across your daily 'needs' (euphemism in holland for dump/stool) does not mean that getting that backlog in one humongous helping will not be the equivalent of a Mt St Helen magnitude overdose and disaster ... no matter how sensible the admonitions hopes and pledges expressing intent to henceforth be as good as that and for it daily, are.

Any real estate not inundated and buried by such credit might become prime, peaking of which postpeakage debt charge and interest crud is intolerable and completely unnecessary. Take Greece, add Permaculture candidates, people who understand Wessel di Wesseli, etcetera, to its nearly desertified coastlines and sell a few slivers and chunks here and there. Voila, debtburden evaporated, country in the clear, budget resolved, all on short order, all spoofers poofed and all bubbles travelling upwards in straight and orderly fashion, inexorable but harnessed and disciplined and we don't need Louis van Gaal to train them little Pusteboosters.

But it has been a week since i heard sovereignty and eminent domain mentioned (by way of BBC-WorldService, where someone proffered selling off a few islands as the best and very quick solution) and all such secession type border discussion are taboo so the person responsible is prolly out of a job as we speak. Beauty is easy. Sigh, ... a career in service of tectonics is toning but taxing too, staying a humean humedian course betwen volcano and glacier is pioneering periodically well-charted but on the whole totally fragmented paths. Hope we will share a stretch or two.

2:17 AM ----- 3 guesses who this is about .. hint, i mentioned the source yesterday:

> "She said the plants told them to make compost and how to do that. Soon people in the neighborhood were coming around to ask how they were getting such great gardens in such sandy soil. She said at first they just told people it was the compost because they figured they better not talk about fairies or nature spirits. I liked her."

if you got that, this will one will be easy too - ironic though that with all this blab about green, the Hood River area they are in is well into the arid part of it, or out of reach for ocean moisture (as provider/influence) and looking very close cropped and manicured at that. Nothing like rainbow and using portacabins to show it:

> "... he went on the Johnny Carson show. They asked him to come early, so he sat around for hours with his plants. As the day went on and the plants kept getting moved, the plants got droopier and droopier. Tompkins thought, oh my, I'm going to blow it before 15 million people. To his surprise, when the lights came up and it was time for the show, the plants suddenly revived. "It's showtime!" He talked a bit about Steiner and biodynamics. Quite interesting."

dEAR Drew: Krishnamurti's profundity may have fallen flat, appealing to low level intello failures who pine for the way of the heart, as he does, repertoire stuffed with bon-mots (like the observer is the observed, of which your 'I-thought' riedel is but variant by the way) that have more of a foothold in mundaner context, thusly: the consumer is the consumed (a doomer's pearl in the swineslop - chris hedges in this case).

the consumer becoming the consumed can of course be read as a consumer who tastes good by the occulted divisive factor (C/c the incorporation of a formerly sovereign entity soaked, burst, leached and being supped up by the propaganda/surveillance process) within minutes of writing the above i see a perfect illustration of this humanity vs 'autistity' conundrum (updated terms for a very old process): the cartoon by 'vonk' on page 17 of the podium katern in Trouw of may 31st. > Fat is a slim book on an ever-expanding subject. In under 200 pages, Sander Gilman selects several ways to view the issue – as epidemic, in childhood, as stigmatising condition, as ethnic problem, in Chinese peoples – in each case incorporating evidence from historical and contemporary political, medical and popular culture sources to expose the complexity and multiple contradictions inherent in our past and current dealings with the condition.

No more needy stomachs to fill, supplies and inventory to move, garden-growing agreements to make, act on and out, contracts to sign, currencies to emit ... all in the service of reflecting the institutions that bridge the sparkgap between spirit and matter, to sustain their paralysis they need to subsume infect and control all the helping hands and minds that could menace their little polarization schemes. Ian masters has two young vets on his memorial day show/slot (Background Briefing on kpfa) all the money going to new shiny toys for the absentee boyz, while the soldiers themselves are suiciding at a rate higher than ever before, there are more soldiers right now, in the active duty military who are taking their own lives, than are being killed in combat (in Iraq and Afghanistan), more than doubling the latter's numbers reported in the news, and that's not even counting those who killed themselves after they disenrolled and are separated from service which is expected to be just as high. PTSD, mental scars, hideous physical injuries (over a 100.000 victims).

I always thought his book called 'noise' was quite lacking and here too, he knows where the action is but aint the choice tailor to rise to the rises potential to be gotten *(to be and to be begotten at/)*from this occasion.

For instance, why no attention paid to what (exactly) credit should fund in the first place. Cause the author lost appetite for prying eyes as well as admiration? I sympathize, gives meaning, volume, impetus and momentum to the saying 'beste stuurlui staan aan wal' .. for those who happen to, like me, see us as one and agree that Marten Toonder has more exportable import to holland than all of its culture so far combined ... i (victim of high(ly hypered) and hyped but otherwise or therefore as good as hidden) hope could easily see him work 'us' out but adressed him way too late, half-heartedly and ineffectively, not to call it plain failingly.

A one line history of money: A huge and primary part of the success, raison d' etre and worth of money consist of defining not the (PurPow) freedom it affords but what the owner commited to giving up for it in advance of 'spending' it as his promise (before anybody apart from speculators and gamblers perhaps, traded on this particular skill, substance, location, development and/or outcome), in other words, we all would like to know what this here, that and the other money over there stand and are good for and what's more, keep up with their evolutions over time .. but remembers the gamblers do clockwork too and they can usually afford a faster beater.

Soon as too much of such 'pesky' specs (blessed little factoids really - ad-world antidote, hollywood cure, the real not reel keepers) go without saying (foreshortened by short sighted shortsellers) so the bland (non-descript, one size fits all, monomeaningless megalomusterbluster) money flows, steady as she knows, the whole sorry load of contradictions will continue to provide cover for criminals to remain seated in places they favor, those of highest authority and in plain sight, violations keep on sailing under flags that read: integrity but act out invasion, occupation, extermination, that is the secret of nations ... as is, much more powerful that the security councils of nations where volunteers aren't allowed to voluntarize.

Turmoil and mixage set up a calamity din that favors hi-tec, surveillance and mass- anything or as close to just about anything as possible, characterizing such ventures as distinction maintenance, etcetera, but making life hell on earth. Just saw the word 'predacity' for the first time in a book about Prussia (the title i could not remember the other day is 'the thousand year conspiracy' a must (Req.R) to get the hidden hand - hidden god - holy land complex in perspective). That's not reptilian, that's plain primally gaseous or gasbageous, that's why it will be seriously therapeutic if we let the ambient, fluid, semites, semi-semites and 'semitoidality' friendly folk -- found on the edges of availability, where scarcity ups the price or where it goes without saying so much that marked and marketed erosions are not remarked upon enough to begin motivating remedy -- work on the wesseldiwesseli wonder ... i am a little uneasy about easy power but hey, better than nukey turning, same as i prefer seeing digital credit bombs a churna churnin over the nukey kinds ... still ... i am in fact a little more than uneasy about keepin on mentioning truths like these every time i do and in keeping with my growing misanthropy, but ... hey... now that more people than ever think about depths and pressures this proposal is nothing if not opportune to get a non-monopolizable start, air is more like water than seed and surface to grow it out. It's like giving everybody a key to the federal ... no .. the galactic reserve and (you know) who needs water anything if you can milk all (you know), right?

To maintain distinctions despite contact is of course a sought after merit, but being reliable and consistent is not automatically a guarantee for easily indexed baskets if you set the timespan too low (kinda like an alarmclock with worn and weak spring). After all, a well cared for and carefully loaded gun can last a long time too (the most prudent use being the parade and display, not the use. Hi ho rainbow square tianaman man).

(Perhaps not) Apart from that (reason for as heavy as heady adjustments) there is a panoply of ever growing eco criteria, sprouting fresh term-crops, like diverse (i'll shorten a few here: sust, de-cent) and lately 'resiliant' ..i know it is officially spelt with e but none of the less supine terms i tried to promote like grip instead of hip has made it yet .. and lemme be a grouch for a minnit, the world is punishing itself for not trusting itself to give in to the sort of divine guidance that would be their generously and warm-heartedly 'parted with' (Hah haah!) lot were they to trust themselves instead of suspecting i will smoke illegal substances, disrespect the sanctity of marriage and put entirely dangerous ideas into the tender and receptive little heads of their o so vulnerable children (the ruination of whom they tend to hog, monopolize and perp by their own hands if they can help it)

Instead of ('centralization plans')... or as the perfect opening move along a way towards .. perhaps not overstating the goal but exasperatingly stating (their gross misunderstanding of it) over and over, the govts should practice scalable and/cause principled contractuality .. not take hold of but focus on a select number of worthwile stock*(ed dust)*piles (like nurseries) and simply help these type honorouble businesses move their inventory*, giving credits for the explicit purpose of turning public or way too monoculturally managed (and therefor lawfully disownable) land into replicas of basic necessity *(re)*localization (and therefore temporary supply line) set ups. Gvts must of course also totally punish pollutors out of business, make the detox intense, mandatory and preferably pre-emptive. All this in order to create prize property, planted with planned out, millenia spanning lifetime 'sitchawayshine' for trees, aiming to, in 30 or 40 years have newly grown support limbs beginning to outweigh just as rapidly dwindling (unconverted - converted.org died .. the jewvert killed it) armature and such poisionous projectile gadgets (like fertilizer gizmose, the dutch call 'm artdung spreaders = kunstmest strooiers).

* = holland had lots of deals by way of 'laser' (subsidizing up to 90% of purchasing prices for land and trees) ... but it was tailored to the rich and not those who need to make a living from what was to become semi-public space. At the very least subsistence in the most diverse sense think- and practicable would simply become such a permanent attraction and urban problem *(di)*solver, you'd think concessions towards this way of 'landschapverfraaiing' would be dead easy... if and as long as you forget we are dealing with a bunch of hypocrites suffocated by their own century old bi-culturalism pastureland and bibles .... We all need to forget that for as long a timestretch is we can manage.

Earlier this morn, this next line was the third one i wrote (i should use wiki and keep a succesion of versions). when this long long overstretched lie balloon loses it's air in a weak whisper while toxic shreds of it rain down upon us in mental mayhem#, it's mythical status will just disappear no matter the amounts of proppy money (costs our mother nature and moral hygene in general more than all the wreckage by way of poppies) it has been propped up by all these ages, is climaxing all around us, even now trying to maintain that 'germany agressed' while all the latter did was mirror/join the imperial competition, protecting it's trade routes and trying to lift blockades, unblock stopped and clogged up supply lines (using threats against continuing the squeeze on, not of market freedom ... and this reason 'gets' conveniently ignored in order to assert what this nice size sentence began with ... remember?) # -- recently saw a 'jewvert' turn truth around and worry about the toxic fall-out of ... no not the publishing or financial shinanigan industries ... volcanos ... that's almost as dumb as saying jewry or numeracy is dangerous --

> East Africa & the Sea in Antiquity by Cyclone Covey Introductory My attention has turned towards Africa and its maritime history after some 40 years of looking at that of west Europe (esp. of the western Celts). This article deals with that of east Africa but is twinned with another called "West Africa & the Sea in Antiquity" henceforth to be expressed as "West Af. …" or Part II when cited below.

This here is black-bird territory - even with the lack of hedgery, shrubbery and feed from the appropriate berry-bushes. Unlike the botany paradise Wageningen where i spent most of 2004-2007, botany paradise .. though rapidly dwindling as cargill and monsanto are turning arboreta and other heritage into gmo-labs and other devilish territory. The blackbird crescendos there are NUTS .. just loads of them .. gardens range from none, past very tiny to moderate, ample and certainly plentiful, large for the rich of course .. Here though, the village-plant management doesn't take birdfodder in account at all ... they prefer prickly and dense things to represent their inpenetrable integrity, just atrocious. But it is just their way to defend against the other scourge directed at true diversity and intricate and habitable multi-dimensionality, one must keep the ground weed-free, bare, clean, black .. it is just the way they did veggies here for ever and the faith has sequed from 'select few' to 'the only', which bodes ill if it jumps realm/magnitude from veg to warmblood. Anyway, there is a black-bird sitting quite still in the garden right now, got injured. Paying the toll of having to do all those quick ins and outs this year, chased by a more dominant young male who took over his breeding ground. This injured laddy is much friendlier though and picks his moments well most of the time. But having to fly fast and around hard and sharp corners fleeing from the usurper again and again (as we like to keep up our friendship, he did have nest too) must have got him. Looks like a real bad left flank bruise and possibly broken leg. Maybe the cat got him, attracted by an again so far single follow up to the mouse last year mom has been feeding and of course he started a family so that someone in this 7 house row poisoned them as they started running along a passage over everybody's back doors, an ever so cute and of course rapid tippeti-tap.

read thepeacock.com on his grandma's fight with the corn stealing and stashing rats yesterday. killed them with beer cause they cannot burp he says.

Mark Williams with whom i cut, smoothed, welded, bolted and operated a rock-grinder at the peacock (the reason i went there) is now a ufologist back in la again. strictly raw food, very very little meat on his bones, i guess he is using anonymity. Could not find him last few times i looked.

Mom by the way had a bad case of 'spat-aren' spat = burst - aderen = veins and her skin is unusually thin, she never gets callouses, back has grown crooked and she is real feeble but always uses her hands to navigate and hold on to something so i have little fear of her falling but she has enough of it.

Her legs got way way better since i started living here. Rubbing a little ointment every other day and perhaps her obsession with presentability (though she quit voicing the occasional nag/jab about my long hair for longer than ever ... it's been months!!!!)

On reflection this might have been the sequence of events, a fraternal crime - barring the predator's tooth (one of the neighbourhood's free roaming cats): i am delighted halfway the breeding season, that the former lord of the realm blackbird has found and/or retained his mate (aint observing that closely) and has a brood around the corner (while the present lord left off after the first brood and prefers to spend his time singing, which he does close to my room thankfully enough) but when i see ... let's call him lippy, he looks exactly like the pic on a bb youtube due to the beak being open. Can't remember Lippy happy enough to sing though. So no or little singing is no hinder to breeding .. but then again he might just be a good uncle ... and hasten to get him raisins (mom is of the old dutch stamp and gives out only waste and crumbs, raisins go with the irresponsible extravagance i am in her - and her brother's [[life-time truckdriver]] eyes) i end up scolding the new male whenever he burst onto the scene and tries to chase Leaptolip off, the latter being much tamer, that is a little harder when i am around. Annoyed over his persistent intolerance i stop feeding bb2 and perhaps that is a factor in him blowing up into the rage hot enough to make him plant his very sharp beak in the neck of poor lippie. Most animals will fight/work up appetite if/as long as they cannot feed. ... (posted the 18th)

hi time to connect Ray and Glen: Hey Ray, when i first saw Glen Kealy i thought of you guys immediately, you'll see the reasons are obvious as soon as you see (the [[at the very least]] family likeness) for yourself. There is a load of stuff he (and his audience/ pupils/ plagiarizers/ parroters) did (and redid) on the web (including inspiring all sorts of folks occupying niches on the conspiracy spectrum), a few vids ... some kids did phone conversations that ended up on youtube and post his material (unfortunately a lot of material simply cribbed from wikipedia). Fascinating (hollow or swiss cheese) earther who if 'humanity' has 'tijd van leven' i am afraid might prove projections (of possibilities easily extrapolable from some very nasty facts on the ground) rather than tracings of bygones (derived by hind- and insight). By the same token he projects hi-tec backwards and takes birdheaded egyptians literally, .. genetically manipulated. Never mind i don't know any birds that live underground. He is in his own little dreamworld. Sound familiar? Anyway, i will give you a little taste of his healine genius: TECTONIC TEUTONS ARE ON TOP ... he don't understand rockdust either though but tries to come up with revelatory wordgames:

> "in 962 the German-dominated Holy Roman Empire was founded when Otto I (the third in the line of German kings and a word at the root of Ottoman, Ottawa and cotton) was crowned emperor by the pope."
> CULT OF THE TURKEY VULTURE (CTV) The name t-u-r-key is a phonetic/word combination which means:

on one of your vids i meant to comment about pollution caused by siliconvalley and related areas. Not sure which is worse, that, the autism incidence or the fact that your fancies and projections (similar to those in 'live after television' by Gilder, Bubble Bigger Blowin worrywhore) fall woefully short of the temperment*(ality)* by the likes of Todd Boyle's 'drill down baby, drill down' amendations (if i haven't tried pointing you thataway before it is hi-time), not to mention mine of course .. .but i did in that post plenny.

'siliconhell' is not quite enough to find the site i had in mind though .... now a petplace ... i checked and discovered it is work done 2000 by the sf bay guardian .. I corrected the info 2 items down.

anywho, BETERSCHAP!!!! my dear dazzling darling jew

http://indexterity.blogspot.com/2010/07/at-andys-blog.html

an hour later i had forgotten about this post so far and panicked thinking i just lost another comment ... lostness of which makes me fear the worst about its maker/keeper. I therefore almost sent him this ... but decided to paste it here instead:

hope you survived / are recovering ok ..... if you feel up to it, a retrieval request .... once again (rather than more ... though i did not forget what last one was about - my dad's aneurysm operation - the butcher butchered ... wish the surgeon had indeed 'hated to work on a rupture' like you claimed in september ... it was his own work that ruptured within 24 hours .... i pray to all benevolent powders muds and happy splashes that be - the stein unto sein to spare you that fate)

by the way,.... why is 'invalids in hot climates' by tom robbins not the biggest hit of the last blastingly lasting duocennium pray tell????? i once again got caught in the maelstom of open windows ... eh ... browsage to be saving / pasting what i just tried to post on your blog in time before realizing i had overwritten its memory with another copy someplace else.

this library terminal allows me a type of hands tied access/functionality combo due to all sorts of christian duopolist (cow pasture X bibles) prejudices. just getting mail onto a stick to take home requires 8 clicks so ... not to confuse your tender and sore eyes ..... please send me a copy from your wordpress account at earliest convenience.... thanks .... oh, .. .and before i forget .... you may not find what i am pointing at (due to settings you prefer or left as (annoying) default) so i shall repeat the essential bit ....

i posted about you .(at the indexterity blog / link below).. to contrast with Drew once again and am trying to alert you both.

bonobohandshake (blogspot) now knows about you too (vanessa woods). the comment i posted at your vid (youtube is perhaps too cryptic ... there is no siliconhell.com as i knew it anymore - now a petplace) but searching in combo with sfbg (=san francisco bay guardian) gets you loads closer. ps: found some at cnet and archive.org funny, ... via askbutwhy i find another seattle man who equates the weather with money streams .... hidehoo ... that is the right direction bud!

genius rulegion: conversion by womb ok, something obviously made me mad at jews once again ... what it was? A satire on israeli tv about ken o keefe everybody knows who the world champs of producing irresistable women are, totally uncontested (grin), plain and simply too seductive, quite exactly as tempting and attractive as a blackhole void AND/BYCAUSE/by contrast their male counterparts are scheming repulsive little shits.... like every body working on this program ... i think the inescapable conclusion (or at least feed for deduction, extrapolation in that general direction) is that jews are expert traffickers and unlike others who will, in a pinch at most, trade their own; jews however, prolly look on/at them kinds of times as familiar, homey, top, best, not just cause it is then they manage to drive prices highest, but bycause more likely than not 'it' started amongst themselves and so the closer tides of polarization ricochets towards their doors the more the feel consistent and justified to look on old times as good ... never mind this was the moment a sword came between him and his mate ..... breeding programs with great ups and deep downs could, did and prolly will start more cultural oscillations, set up slave trade, refugee and roust- and routage, desperate and zealotic migration and reckless exploration periods with relatively calm diffusion to punctuate those eras.

ok, i have calmed down now .... maldistribution is a given forever already though (summer thunder storms), therefore constant measurement (try the french pronunciation folks come on) is born from need, necessity and necessarily a drag on radical change of practice.

that's it for showing me as i am by way of regular digivisits ... now it's on towards the cut-in, -off, and -up stylie entries; fack and borths in this quickref, diary, pend*(l)*ingfile for off- and online crush-craziness, cruisecrassness, quotes, notes, loose links, regalure stops and lengthier pondidotes by jesus, the palestinian rumourwarrior, pieptoet formerly known as poetpiet and vadercats.

weird, directly after (same comment even), this extremely sharp focus on what Drew really intuits and tries to express with varying degrees of patience and success, he stumbles into Dan Winter territory heart-first after implying a giant rent (axis of symmetry, dualism) in the world .. a border he is normally wont to deny reality status.

then he scales up to a four step using the yinyan (dp) symbol but does not segue into Walter Russell's 3d version, nor Rodney Collins aeons worth of shutter time*(lapse)*d worm screwing or better traced lumps whirling diagram, let alone do them up as grit crunching, mud *(ad)*ministration on permanent parade, that is, multiplying paradegrounds connected by 'permanated' (pleached and plentiful) culture.

O Drew's denial of actual space (even while constantly pointing at cheats going on with tha timin of spacin of timin ad infinitesimalum) has to do with his occupation status. All whites on turtle island share it, most of those from the entire last millenium share but have trouble helping each other actually bear some degree of responsibility for the hell on earth in Gaza.

O the diff/tension, span, playroom, current and potential between dia- and paramagnetism is where true growth curvature for all of organic life-forms is at, bottom broadness of pyramid, vortex, not the only but best place for appropriate stimulus. Politics however, shirks its duties in this realm and messes up royally with the likes of 'we all win' obama doing the pretty boy fine words on the up and ugly reality on the down side, under the illusion that the starker the contrast, the deeper the cleavage or his pockets or whatev, like, the more he will stand out favorably.

Wether its is jew-mood-mode inspired and financed, terrorism causing drones, or bluegrass picking, or Les Visible's radio harooooooo syllable per minute rate, Dreeeeeew's commenting rates, ever faster is the device, motto and raison d' etre.

Drew seems to think and try argue his posts are about, are like and simply are music. To emphasize the very conventional empty fleetingness thereof (as opposed to my notions) he erases his posts every handful of months or so. His mental omnivoraciousness causes indigestion throught mismatches of info gluttonating together. It's his way of blowing stuff up. --- When the congregation of conjured up mirrorers and conversants have been conjured, cajoled, kindled ad kidded into a critical mass Drew 'comes' forth and goes back undoing. And while i am on about disconcerting Minnesotans, let me mention that i am troubled and sad seeing Karen Alloy spend way too much time teazing her baby barely one year old girl. I gambled my attractively hidden links to glimpses of what Roger Caillois' treatment of the forms of play might mean in the light of medicine wheels informed with teutonic genius by the likes of Arnold Keyserling, would neutralize any such dangers but lost (ik verkeek mij ondanks 'keek op de week foreboding of later sore points - kijk op de prachtwijk, kijk op de krachtwijk), never mind how eternally true the reflections this item started with will remain.

The dutch have a saying: a dime can never become a quarter, which, given it is the antithesis to the american faith/doctrine, makes one wonder how fake friendliness towards it is.

To sum up, i think i know what is preferable, if given the choice between decimeasures like the biblical tithing, the investors' minimal rate of return, etcetera, vs the added specs of space needed to make the gravity and radicality harmonizing 90 degree change whilst properly prepared psychologically to make it wisely.

Although i think all whities need to repatriate (and do yet another gigantic step into a much more fecund and less toxic time and space, in one word, rematriate) back to europe and help usurpers as well as refugees back to their homes too, I tend to tune into bluegrass

In 1980, Russell Means gave his most famous speech, called "For America to Live Europe Must Die." ---- on the contrary, those who fled betrayed and were otherwise cajoled and tempted into a colonist and settler occupation project, the big flex to build up some resistence to having to break off the one presently occupying the few functioning hearts around the world left, must return ... put the usurpers, intrigants and theatrically scheming financial innovators, autism oriented little conniving bastards in their therapeutic place and retake europe which aint a dwarf on a giant's back as Means seems to imply. Fact of the matter is that europe aint got no simian on its back to shake off neither, but a semite - again, this dwarf on the giant's neck needs to be

-a- tied up at the compost heap instead .. to turn (aim, focus, allow, help) their favored proliferation games *(on)*to a manageable and fruitful type scale,

-b- given rock enough to dust the given shit (yeah literally, true sewer saviourism fullfilment and act all outism, beautiful ceramics, polished marble, fresh mud, mad mad revels) up, over and in with or else, suffer the stench ... we will see if that won't get us to a world of 'joy-ants', equal but different, decentral and pleasingly pleached family treehousing project dwellers, ubiquitous but lowly (low concentrations), helpful protectors rather than ridders of diversity). Fuck the obsessions with mixes. help the stucky lumps and sticky limps in the mix go mux and maxiculltoveat themselves instead.

i posted about it: true art no true start makes Steve Willner finds fresh gems like this only to toss them in his old putrid stew which must never quit bubbling too far astray from the held held dear dear staples ... the fella he does poddies with lately is one of the numerate numeriters in the Ivry Dov mold, sortof.

careful planning .... i think it is worth trying to describe a thought i had the 29th just before noon, listening to dutch talk radio .. .but not sure i can pull it off .. bear with me. The reporter was interviewing one of those typical 'charitablextremists' ... take in (and provide basics for) all strays, illegals, demographically incontinents, victims and refugees of wartorn areas, aliens, etcetera, at all cost. If it eats and sleeps and is humanoid, it merits rescuing. BUT!!!!! This one said something i never heard these types say so far, ever. Due to the inhuman treatment of asylum seekers in this country, she opines, it would be advisable to deal the issue a blow*(torchblast)* of paradox: legalize everybody in already AND/BUT ban any from coming in (taking this action as encouragement and invitation, one of the stronger arguments used by the right against it). Only now i see the absurdly mixed messaging and contradictiousness of this edict but at the time i thought this:

gosh, here is a lass who is the counterpart, a genuine denizen from/at/of the gendered extremist spectrum's opposite end, that of the leveragers, financializers. The latter are misjudgers of self/other, gambling with another man's money, those that as- and presume to be, by rights able and willing to own other people's money, to herd savers into bunches patiently led to trust and pool with colleagues -- rival, competitor, tool, intrigant, accomplice or stand in the way, ...part of the mark .. or mark marker ... mark market maker .. as in bookmaker is even more to the point .. since gangsters have seen fit to declare the one on one era over and grabbing as many folks at once fashionable -- these middling means men however, at one remove, with just below top of the line hi-frequency trading speedlimit violations enabling wares can plausibly if not legitimately claim ignorance over duping their clientelle into making the wrong (opposite, less loaded, less victimizing) bet for them.

all in all, a severe de- and downgrade of money-quality in favor of besmirched and dishonoured but greater quantity. As with money, so with humans in the case of the lady. To extend the excercise, imagine a banker calling for a moratorium on or amendment in money lending laws a la Vrabel, since it downgrades and edangers our economies overly much, tipping it from healthy risk to disastrously reckless. To make the equivalence a little more exact, it would have to be a Goldman-Sachs man to come up with that, since folks like Vrabel are obviously not responsible for economic refugee like the GS men are. Almost as laudable as unimaginable, almost inhuman restraint from where you least expect it. More likely all's gonna blow sky hi .. not just float along..

nothing remains the same ... i now have the last version made with communicator from an archive page with all of them ... it seems to bear the same number as the one i used on the TP but his one has a command i never noticed before: tools - then character tools - then rainbow colorize. This features takes a few lines to go through the whole spectrum and not as you write but by applying command to selected txt. This version on the other hand can't seem to remember template prefs.

spent half an hour trying to find the internet radio Qlinks folder full of real player favorites (bookmarks to place directly into the program folder for them) after cleaning my room ... then i moved to my bookstash location and a little after 9.30 (the 20th) i actually hit them. They have been sitting in recently finished files since mid 09. this file is relevant: file:///C|/WINDOWS/Desktop/KinActour/recently finished files/internet radio Qlinks/radio links.html sort the same batch but i did not hyper them.

Mornings my eyes and brain are pretty slow ... those dastardly years spent in A'dam were a big loss when it comes to getting my life a few fixins that will ease me into an older age than i now face and can comfortably enter without such efforts.

Yesterday i dwnldd the last Communicator (all Netscape browsers easily available) and it has a rainbowcolour selected txt function .. it takes about 180 characters to get the full spectrum.

I did a largish post however, but it was mainly on Dan Winter and Callahan. Therein i referred to a 'last post' (or something) but that should be something like 'a post i plan to make alongside/just before this one'. It never went beyond being planned .. even had trouble locating the Cs on my bouyancy related viewing ... sent to eco.tek.innovations@gmail.com the 9th and called it: to the -bouyancy engine- vidmakers.html .. part of the reason i held off was due to expecting a reply and hoping to include it.

Instead, the next little period (around 9/11) ended up being taken up by and spent on visibility issues.

One claims the scheduled Quran burning helps Al Qaida and the other maintains that the core of islam is violence.

This is how i see it though: The (would be) sibling / competitors / opponents / amenders / improvers / healers of judaism, christianity and islam have been 'tegen elkaar uitgespeeld' .. are being played off against each other .. by the former.

Just like statecraft has lost state money and the market its market money (meeting mixing and matching by means clearing of state monies with real bills - "real bills doctrine" gives 11.000 hits on google), the mercy and justice of christians and moslims have both been emasculated and defeminized respectively (in reverse). /////// next posts ... first one here actually ------ the reason i did this is to find out if i can add 'next page' or 'next posts' (and previous ones in appropriate places of course) to my template easily ... but it seems too outdated for an easy tweak into what is kinda standard with the later models. And all the upset of delicate placement askewities that i have spent a little time looking at, from last februari, are making me give up.

I i ever return to the problem .. perhaps this (blogger help forum) list will help.

What is auto pagination? there is a helpful fella (though i hate visibility at his blog, i use select all to block the background there) who wrote (first of 19 comments):
http://blogging.nitecruzr.net/2010/03/auto-pagination-is-not-optional.html from march (when the storm was nearly over and nitecruzr getting irritated with storms of impatience, ineptitude fueled attitude etcetera): :::

> "The term "pagination" literally refers to page numbering. The controversial "Auto Pagination" feature refers to a server stabilisation process, which decreases peak load on the servers by limiting the amount of blog content that is served in one blog page (archive retrieval, label retrieval, or main page). AP segments large display pages, and requires the readers to use "Older Posts" / "Newer Posts" links, to view multiple segments of one logical page. No content is lost, and the viewers simply make one click to traverse segment to segment"

----- this is in fact a subject i have scolded bloggers on frequently... they learn how to blog .. and blog away .. but never navigate as if another come to visit them at THEIR own and wanted, average and most likely speeds. Archiving hygiene is a must and i am glad google sees it that way too, but with much larger than average posts one can still frieze out the unwary visitor ... the file size spec was helpful on that but google nixed that .. and though i want to know why i am starting to resent searching.

did not like how folks here stare at some sort of marginality (eso roots and/or abberations of nazism) and fail to point out the ways they managed to gain landslidelike proportions of popular support, essential to see considerable heights and pinnacles of them reached if you want to start with enough tension to last lifetimes (and continents) of co-option, bribery, window dressing, pawn play, inherent instabilities and other endless intrigue that make massive (but not alas, mass sieving) societies clipperdiclop (spetter spieter spater, rock rock rocking on heaven's floor) speed towards their limit, none wait to erode their own environment which is when (only then, finally) relative quiet (of desertiflapflop) sets in.

the demonization of nazis wholesale (not just their arms race but the common bits) is of course, similar to the fate (which/that) burgeoning but suppressed element in rock music and new age suffered.

a visceral but until thoroughly intellectualized (syncrows doen een gooi but failing) unresolved tension and drag on moods which are nevertheless globalizing .. either way. ...'flair' .. flailing about .. up in the air .. windmill cartwheel spin, purr and strumdrummery BACK TO THE LAND vs weirdness of drugs, the incapacitation overcompensated leading right into the more off the handle OUTER SPACE aspects of new age.

Their*(, again, way fuller than realized)* implications of and ties to rootsie crowdpleasing nazi aspects cannot be got into focus before spiking the weave with yarns from neoteny.org insights which i hope will soon trend and tend to elucidate the aeon spanning flows in play here .. and speaking of indispensible promontories for mental perspective (all sharp and 'sprankelend' a dutch term dedicated to crystal) i might as well throw in a few more whities in red land (shumash land St Barbara), Christopher A Brown and Laurence Rickels, the latter of 'only [[mass]] psychoanalysis won the war') that reflects the culture branding and leading (alpha meme)

screentime is never over-complex always over-complete, it diminishes time spent in touch with reality .... screen to goget green rock (lock block stock), .. ever read that book by Philip Cohane (called 'the key' but not showing tzolkins alphabetized such that that word appears or anything. Rather, it is about hav and oc something soft and feminine and sturdy oaks / ocs), 'rock' is not screened other than in the sense you are trying to sketch here, not in the way i been 'digivocating' since 97, but yes, demonized every way possible and your admirably dispassionate and matter of fact statement lacks pointers to what's lacking here.

SOUL -- solid -- fluid -- flying around buildings, ... canalization, push and pull between gathering and dispersal, the art of metering (mental) elevation differential, breed social strata, daisy chains as innocent model inverted and attacked by command chains, celebration and mourning, in other words, demographics (the airways, often combining SFnBB, from flit-flat, jet-set to migration patterns)

SPIRIT -- solid -- fluid -- blowing about influence of devout goady, traderoute roadie, loyal, clever, idealistic and other cliquable clout (tightly cliqued up blunderabouts known as variously nomered 'forces') on climate and other distributables ...

in case this is the last time i bother to blog here (to busy plotting and limbering for my 109th post at indexterity), similar work and about 60 percent of all that preceded it up to the 40% gap (prolly less actually) can be found through my profile.

22 september 2010 -- virtuevaluator -- Meet Art Brock
http://techcrunch.com/2010/08/25/scvngr-game-mechanics/ .. wherewith he proves able to do without being Art-ful (even when invading territory of the art-ful, car deckery in this case).

nevertheless, he is full of it, and i will pilot you through along a few pointers so as to save you a little time and if i succeed make you feel as if you did all those visit i just made, yourself.

youtube.com/watch?v=YvegNqKcQ-g == 3.14m -- 187Vs money creation -- nittyjee account, who is a twitter pal art makes me realize a little more clearly that currencies are first and foremost group enlargers, hornifyers, clout and soon after fist makers and therefore devilish to begin with. All tec that takes a manuel and special skills (iow language). Mankind must get back to the solitary being stage. This is in fact one my earliest big realizations ... but with me moving among rainbow family, protester crowds and in big cities, plus entertaining hopes co-operation can be realized formalized etcetera, much in the way art brock is trying to, .. made me lose sight of it for far too long!!!!!!!!!

perhaps viewing here lets you tweak stuff a little funny how he stubbornly and myopically chooses to focus on the rosy side of ueberwachhund surfalience tec, he really believes that is what will make honest into a verb. This one gonna be different. Just one more final 'ization' Yall, won't be anything like hospitalization, it will be like sovereignization, just believe 'Art' blue eyes, come on i dare you.

He offers a 'canvas' (is he catholic, simpleminded?). them 55 are facebookers and the wsj has noted these also (saw that earlier):
http://newcurrencyfrontiers.com/ all of which sets the mood to get the little diagram in its proper perspective, no matter how smartly no-ospherical it seems at first site, it is diabolical, shows ascending largesse doled out 'achtereenvolgend' to land, labour, capital, and info*(flow)* ....but it fails to show that money is a perversion of dust and therefor hygiene and healthful weather.

top down diversity is about the best slogan he could come up with ... they did symbionomics but that fails to characterize what they are after, diversity thanks to rather than despite centralization. ... Hope they can bring a big enough mirror to bear on this issue if they are gonna turn 'arount' the count. Quite as Quichotic*(ally chaotic)* as the Arguellan (including semi- and anti-) crowd.

speaking of which, art starts and breaks off an awful lot of stuff ... he must be dragon. if he want to be a trusted banker he ought to lose that 'whatever he takes away from it all in such a short time and runs' image. i look at art and see the way i was, he reminds me of a former and less realistic self ... when i too could look at a bike and go 'cute'.

armed resistance, self defence and gun control are the topics Ward Churchill speaks about during an appearance in the bay area recently, a fresh altercation involving a little police brutality on the freeways while driving there is enough to complete derail him from topics i admire him for (to these which are more like his achilles heel i feel), all of which prompts the thought: feigning humility is best possible practice for, though short of yet indispensible preliminary to the real thing first i hear Les Visible rave about the 9 years it's been since the midget gave the giant some spur, since iz prodded its very own big bro, the more contiguous occupier (but mere newbe by comparison, more like an apprentice slave, still under the wings of the masters) into lunatic action .. only to hear him and the other much more staple guest on this 'ugly truth' podbean spoil the good counsel - to leave the cities and scale down, be more communal and tribal - with an urging to pore over scripture and pray. Well, if 2000 years of deciding which part is evil -- and more so for allowing a wishlist and behavioural guide for their quarries to be tacked on by these very opponents/targets (as a consol- yet humiliation i guess) -- aint enough, maybe another 2000 years will do, djeeeezzcheeze and the wheez wiz.

consider this an email ... no need to publish it .... post a comment on virtuevaluator and i will find it.

also, i have to tell you i am discovering reasons why people started scolding blogger ... it has to do with the care that needs to be taken with archiving/*(over)*posting.

for instance your monetary post from the first month of your blog's existence (found through your prominent piclink) is unreachable other than directly or search or something cause you have a setting of 10 posts per page .. but you posted more and the older blogger templates do not have the 'next page button/link (or 'previous posts' one - in itself confusing until you tell them apart and do not allow misleads by people who insist on switching them in the code)*, as you can see at the blog i mentioned (my 8th or so), the recent (and first) post is on the blogger help forums about these things, though i am only now realizing the problem somewhat explicitly (still sailing on intuition as per default though).

... you will already know (and/or like) free.de i take it???

* = i gave up searching for just that code cause i have an old template as well and would like to (manually) add at least that little improvement .. but i have little patience with coding and codage -- other than being a waaaayyyy deeeper thinker about it than most, surpassing Nick Szabo, Todd Boyle, Mencius Moldbug, Art Brock, Rich Kay, Tom Greco, Matt Taibbi and all those profession deformation suffering cryptographoids i did not find and mention yet. i realize there is work around ... ... if you do not want to install the 'harvest site' software which i know exists ... go to the last post on the only page for any given month about which you suspect there must be more posts (bycause for instance, it is from the latter half of it), ... then check what shows up in 'previous posts'. In my case that was a hell of lot about the landing phoenix ... you remind me of a very intelligent gal in Ca.

back to magpies but .. by contrast now, here is a european one (magpie), tame and in very excellent shape (they seem to generally be more into moving than parlaying, look way more athletic), he gets the libidinal charge of his keepsters remainderless, unreservedly and head on no doubt. hoite pruiksma, crazy friesian with hairbrained ideas about music. the mad christian daily regularly features organs and this is a wild one. The photo i saw in the christian daily me mom subscribes to shows him on a buoy barely peeking out above the ensconcing arrray of quite fat pvc pipe (4 inch i guess) topped by a trumpet valve. He uses wireless and orchestral accompaniment .. but whether that will have to float out there or else get the tone setting beamed in from the 2 soccer field sized area with about 10 of these things i dunno yet ....
The vid is 4 days old and has been watched 63 times. October is the big bash, when winds are expected to have grown enough to shake the buoy to provide the air to power the pvc organ, iow, same old say mold, toxic bullshit from the christian community.

guerrilla psychonautics - tpuc.org paradigmshift.tv -- thecleaver.blogspot.com Neil Kramer .. a worthy followupper of the Topper like meme-skew-spew. we are food for the greys and reptiles, our own shadows, the intertia .. blah blah:

> we are the shadow, .. complicit, .. disavow it, .. projecting and collectivizing 'stuck energy, only by going within, can we disperse the dark patterns that ultimately emanate from us'.

what a load of cunning bull. Let me repeat once again, we sit somewhere along the true and radial axes of being, between radiance and dark, silent inert, stuck 'patterns' (crystallizations, simply that which holds us up patiently), eminently recruitable, but not by 'going within' ourselves but THEM (as part of ourselves, to make them part of and thereby radicalizing ourselves yes). Only by going within them/it, rock do we help lighten and green that up, turn it to soil and the inert, silent long suffering stage can by our doing begin to transform and knit infrastructure in a meet and mix with the radiance coming towards all and it from above. The diabolicism and predation we are according to Neil Kramer and the like susceptible to, lies with giving them credence and is, luckily, limited to exactly that. He likes (us to voluntarily) lock ourselves up within ourselves (don't blame him!!) instead of UNlocking the stuff he so cunningly deflects and steals from in order to turn it into a scary threat instead of the source of trust (object of thrust) and comfort 'it' is.

http://indexterity.blogspot.com/2010/09/money-supplier-pecking-order-snipery-ok.html Money supplier pecking order snipery OK, Max Keiser, Bob Chapman, Mencius Moldbug, Nick Szabo et al (but John Turmel, Richard Kay as well and Geoffrey Gardiner w Dirk Bezemer no less), listen up here, a lesson in recognizing the historical signs of decentral and regional socialisms that meet *(and clear with)*their capitalist (not rivals but) mates halfway in a fine mesh covering (and beautifying) the landscape. These periods show small taken seriously and turning beautiful.

Last night yet another new regional money was launched, this time in holland - the 'gelre', printed in the same country that sent a plane full of similar stuff in much much larger denominations though, to zimbabwe not so long ago.

This (only just slightly botched#, 'button pushearemony') happe*(ne)*d at the edge of a huge urban park, in an old barn remodeled as visitor/souvenir centre next to a tiny but working and organic meal producing watermill, right near the center of Arnhem (fought over so fiercely in WW2), just remodelled with very complicated loop-di-loop verkeer-in-de-knoop*(stunt)*erij i listened to amsterdamgold.nl salesman (one of the 3 oldest bar manufacturers) who of course trots out the scare mongering spiels to panic doubters on the edge of their market into becoming clients, ... (those that do, do so) usually not so much out of pessimism mixed with a lack of the faintest *(mining)*pollution awareness but quite the opposite, bycause of certain redeeming factos, redemption factorings in more ways than one, these people really feeling the urgent need for a brake on the (UNbacked .. and i do not mean the UN) money/debt creation ... specially now that print and virtual ways to add zeros and push them around in untraceably speedy ways a la balletje balletje gone bionic and ballistic in no time at all is leaving the world wide open to across the board grand gesture contenders (very very often covering for and distracting from them) ... speaking of which, it is odd to see Middelkoop link to debka whereas Migchels is about as skeptical of jews as debka supportive.

Yet Middelkoop hints that he would be ready to take over backing the gelre from euro. Hah! Joke? The symbol of distrust and distant (cruel, absentee, .. you name it) power will come and help out its opposite (worthless paper which is nevertheless equally valuable backing and entitlement to a slice of the goodsflow pie since, upon which, valuable complementarities, their rhythms and regularities, the commitees [[hands-on commiters meant here, not thumb twiddling lip-flapping 'vergaderzaal' zionazis]] are all specified including life-like perishable status - differing from gold especially in that last point - validity - houdbaarheidsdatum - 'tot en met de tijd en plaats aan toe' - this is where most most of the unethical aspects of interest are cut off at inception.)

Middelkoop emphasizes the regularity with which unbacked (top down) currencies have gone bust, Migchels claims that (bottom up) regional moneys will never have to contend with interest charges, debt burdens (and all those signs of degeneracy and thanatopic deadlock after which only military approved banks get sovereignty oppointments and opportunity to seep into and at earliest convenience carve up the neighbouring and rival territories beyond), in stead leaving time to do heart-stuff ... but if he had wanted to give Middelkoop tit for tat here he should have made a point of showing a little overlay to check if the expulsion of jews co-incides (or regularly lags if not anticipates, iow precipitates or follows the credit crashes).

I haven't actually done so my self but as for expulsions i have suitable pages with regions and dates .. and if i search my 3 (most easily searchable) boxes besides google i should soon have something to show for it.

- months ago i had visions of Migchels in just the sort of limelight i found him in last nite ... and mailed him about the on-topic reading material i was looking to set up securely and strategically enough to help folks like him enlighten and recruit more easily. I got no answer from him until i mailed again for permission to attend the launch last week .. where i arrived after reading my first fresh print in over a month (folder hygiene preoccupation has totally displaced pulpreading time) ---- Gardiner/Bezemer (on what i would summarize as the militarization of the banker/accountant trade) - "In sum, the BofE defense relies on QE changing ..." and sets out to prove Goodheart's (97) law* ---- by myself in the car next to the Forum in Wageningen where i spent an afternoon checking for recurrence of rockdust related articles in Acres# (still carrried there .. though by now it is the only publication on paper that cheap) where i showed up late but still too early.

> * - This is the html version of the file http://mpra.ub.uni-muenchen.de/23961/1/MPRA_paper_23961.pdf. Google automatically generates html versions of documents as we crawl the web ------ Munich Personal RePEc Archive ::::Innocent frauds meet Goodhart’s Law in monetary policy (“any observed statistical regularity will tend to collapse once pressure is placed upon it for control purposes”):::: Bezemer, Dirk J and Gardiner, Geoffrey Groningen University July 2010 ----

> There is no theoretical limit to what forms of credit the public uses and invents, and no monetary authority can stop these new forms of credit from becoming fungible with ‘real’ money, and thus becoming part of the money supply. Therefore the money supply is in principle not under the discretionary control of the monetary authorities. 7.

Time for my own summary and conclusion:
the golden rule is 'wave aforth and wave aback' ... hard-backing and up-fronting (conditioned by venturisms unfamiliarity and risk ... then slowly as routine/contract eats into the need for gold .. yeah .. aint it incredible ... for trust, as it evolves, gold proves edible!), nuggetry gets nudged to the side and grand misuse of trust begins to take place (and displace all thrust in my favored sense and high air pressure breathing as in the wesselish ideas i bring to the fore often). The snipery with upscalements and all, enabled and exacerbated with stronger and rising penetration of black boxing is nevertheless a vulgar barbarian market phenomenon and whatever Spinoza so mystically loved about the state (cause Knapp and Beckerath had not come and gone yet) isn't trotted out to prove its match .. just yet.

30 years ago i neglected a bad tooth a wwaaaayy too long time and then had it filled by a sloppy overworked fella which added the last 7 percent of amalgam to my collection ... whenever i ate meat i could feel my blood having to contend with the extra clear-out load and i would have a semi-throbby discomfort, quite faint .. but something ... then (about a decade later) i had all amalgam removed and slowly started cleansing that tissue .. but the meat reaction stayed quite a few years ... the overload of e-smog had lots to do with it too cause now that i am finally in the country i can eat meat no problem and with more control over lighting and page tweakage necessary to shield my eyes from taking up and allowing the too fierce to be fun vibes further passage into my head i am finally in some sort of equilibrium... even though totally deracinated compared to my parkside converted bikeshed complete with compost heap. that will change soon i hope. a buddy who is moving to china with his chinese wife to set up a shipping engineer shop .. (instead of doing the work here) will leave me the use of a patch i used to play on (even with) as a child (its clay kneaded around willow whips ... then whoosh/launch) - his dad grew too old to care for it.

it, as usual, is and remains totally fruitlessly abstract, no matter how good the intentions and analysis until and unless but not if not including the various types of continence (demographic, energetic, interhuman, cross-speciate, etcetera) in play and at stake.

Hudson criminalizes the push for privatization personified in the man who claimed he was stretching the envelope ... but i might as well claim that it was a mistaken application of a sound idea. Alas, in the zionist colony/settlement that is america, warmongering and distractring from it - by scapegoating anybody giving evidence or suspected to think sharply and shrink accurately to boot - is no qualification that gets you look, reprimands, let alone a 'criminal record'.

an earlier post on acceleration draws a commenter who quotes D&G (which i find pertinent and makes me think the zionist project as chinese ruthlessness squared and expansionized, as well as weaponized)*:

* - in no small part thanks to the fact that calling critics who call attention to just this (WEAPONIZATION OF DISPUTES CAUSED BY ECOLOGICAL RAPACITY AND DEMOGRAPHIC IMPOSITION) child molesting stalkers and perverts comes off so wonderfully well in a world stuffed with mediated sell-outism.

> [13] Enter ye in at the narrow gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there are who go in thereat. [14] How narrow is the gate, and strait is the way that leadeth to life: and few there are that find it!

easy to keep dodging the path wideners, the trackers, let alone keep a path traced territory and protect its integrity with any success ... against a foe which disappears real men by tearing them into two extreme poles, a muscle bound dumb brute and an autistic tecced up dwarf with fires curtains and push buttons at his disposal.

the quoted lines occur around the 5th minute of 8.47 on spricket24's youtube hi-lite ... which she 'earned' thanks to her compulsive 99% of the time non*(what.so.ever)*conscientializing (content free) happy face shatterchitter (and giving in to what patrist expect out of their women folk which she humours by simulating sex and laughing right after that a lot)

I also learn (at 3 minutes) she was in the military for 8 (yes, EIGHT!!) years starting at 17 (cause she wanted 'to get the hell out of my house'). Oh my, did she say my? Guess my pointers to the indiginous isssues podcast of that maoist mike ely half a year ago did not really phase her a lot eh? Or, upon listening to it she reasoned such things are 'negative' (infectious, to be avoided like the plague), a sympathy trap and so .... most decidedly not to be seen (signaling) and taken as a (significant) warning and caution to be grateful for and go at with great big wallops of EMpathy *(give birth to the demon that your cultural through no wrong doing of your own BUT equally disavowable, bore down upon you with [[seduced you into the least bad of 2 types of unfreedom with]] so you might heal something ... give whatever you think personal care might be ... All it takes (to get some prejudice fueled inflammatory shortcircuitry) is leaving out and off the human half in a 4 second first soundbite call-to-account response, for the impact, charged and sparked by a calamity, to ruin careers and saddle the rest of reportage on it with a mudslide of past grievance, a burden burying fact-finders under an insurmountably rising tide of preliminary and tension building mishaps, the whole mess resulting in 'obscurnalism')

... such as the kind we commemorate this very day of historic flamage in holland (detained asylumseeker center burnt down 5 years ago).

'iron rita' caught hell for saying workers were not to blame ... uttered onsite to comfort survivors, workers who hadn't abandoned the scene and rescue workers ... but taken as too self-exculpatory (to try stop an immigratory flood was and still is - by hard lefty war for [[crazy]] demo[[ni]]cracy liberals) considered too merciless.

prolly close to 50 cars burnt in Haarlem last night and 25 people died on sumatra cause they listened to a cleric saying it wasn't gonna rain rock soup, hot ashes and rock, rather than to the govt which called an evacuation.

i posted that first comment before even reading it once (triggered by remembering Gardiner's piece on QE) ... then introduced the second, more matter of fact one which is almost adjacent, just above the first one found in my september logs with a caveat more or less as follows:

> Notlike [Moderator] 7 months ago in reply to revmjcarlson Is this good insight? What I doubt these kind of discussions ever lead to anything good. When people start to discuss specific stereotypes it usually only ends up perpetuating them. An interesting discussion on how to deal with stereotyping people: pandalous.com/topic/how_to_deal_with

now that i looks lightly (i mean look slightly) closer ... the first comment - to which this (moderator) responds - sports a hilarious jungian slip: it says 'ethic' instead of ethnic origin ... and claims the squid made it to bloodsucker status in russia long before jews. May well be (given that jews are a relatively young ... ehh .. phenomenon, something like last in e- first in devolution), but unless you want to obscure the work and existence of recently voted 3rd most popular russian, stolypin (who went to great lengths and expenditures to settle jews at densities more conform to host comforts) you would not suggest that migration is A ok. ... surely, to make sense of the tentacle tangle, not to mention propagation strategies of other species that can be ascribed mobility, such as through runners, creepers, etcetera, requires arguments beyond ethnicity indeed, .. and where ethics has as much a place at the table as postal services, tabs of tradition ... carved, etched, cut and burnt offerings as installation arts of longings, deferments, missing parts and command chain stretch to mail male meel poof gone.

at S&S i run into an extensive site by a german http://weltisttheater.blogspot.com who refs US crap for the most part, for instance the new atlantis - secret mysteries of america's beginning - a series by antiquities research film - 3 parts on googlevideo, riding the wake of Dan Brown's bestsellery length of part 1: 2.45.55.6!!! it is overly repetitive and cheap with static shot interviews galore, part 1 reaches (up to an episode called 'Riddles in stone' .. but even that does not incline me to look for it).

> Quick Keywords: about ley lines, satanic secretive freemasons (pulled all the way through to the Kennedy vs CIA -Bush family, Reagan), Ben Franklin and Francis Bacon / Shakespeare, Rosslyn temple, templars.

It mentions David Ovason a few times but not the Edwards fellow with his folding tricks doubling the amount of sonnets.

...another one i sampled from the german's place is about the music industry's demonicisms.. it is by that Hollywood and bible addict vigilant citizen with his moronic black and white with nary a peep between mindset of simplicity.

the fucker has an urge to splurge and waste his mind on mind control fairy tale AND has the nerve to disfigure my birthday with his uploads, an article about anne nicole, mike jackson and all them to show they dealt with the devil and lost.

this Michel Bauwens does a serious heap of output ... made by future of money - emergence.cc around the minute 4 mark the assertion in this very smooth and slick theatrical delivery of a snippet (ysnap) read-out, is, that 'money is not tied to anything, hence purely fictitious'. ---- Well, no, it is as good as the collective policy decision chain ... all the way to enactments and prohibitive punishment upon failure to comply .. maintains a predominance of honest dealings, what was known as value standard stability in the old days, which, if and when gold prospection kept pace with demographics while big riskers kept quiet for a while, worked well. Problem is the proliferation of patch and crypt, runaway panoply in abstract fissures (an inversion that reflects lack of crushing fresh rock to help reduce the dearth of 'breathability' - if that sounds weird see seercentre.co.uk) leave the store, even though that much more distributable (your 'radical transparancy' mentioned in connection to 'rexpedition' http://twitter.com/jerrymichalski, whatever that is exactly ... nobody else mentions it apparantly), distributed in highly abstract undigestible and uselessly privatized, one way form (and wrong way form[at], since read-only at the wrong end .. effectively 'hiding' the truth that savings are collective).

So, to recap, command over this vegpatch, foodstore, savings and wealth gets highly centralized, pitched into a GS magnitude heap ... is anything but distributed and so vulnerable to attack from within though eminently armed against skim raid and rob, not to mention real growth feeding it from without.

outer beauty as hollywood obsession has a directly inverted relation to that inner ugliness of the zionist project i mentioned earlier today and psychoanalysis has worsened rather than helped contain it, it empowers individuals period and is powerless to stipulate the use for good or exploitation.

nittyjee has 23 vids up, the 'Dinkey - Tearing Down' one shows moronically close up footage of a crane removing railroad ties (couldn't he not have walked out on the fucking bridge for a pan shot ... place your viewers firmly into the landscape you buggers .. unless you wanna and aim to have embryonic claustrophobic gestatory and other little feminine discomforts write large on your screen) ... then in the last seconds of the 3 minutes some beardman beanstalk goes: 'i had no idea that these ties were decorated, ... poetry, ... leaves. ...

http://www.emergence.cc/2010/10/influences-and-gratitude/

I found this effort original, informative and sparking a speed up of a familiar and (i am proud to confess) willfully practiced process: a crystallization of the whole conun'drum' for me in flash after flash .. as follows:

the hippifying of complex rhythmic sound and movement .. break beats that break up and into not so much as off, only to restart with in real and live conditions impossibly rapid fire succession, invoking a relativity and 'out there' space .. results in disorientation, disjointage and is button push-pusherisms (of which you guys are the absolute self-sacrificial tribute aiming straight for a job (giving yourselves for an undead life) with by then no doubt world dominating ... ehrrr. . uniting Godlman sucks).

Youngsters easily focus on the perks that 'look at me', 'boom boom chest beatings' have in mate potential dance floor get-ups n 'sitchins' but a carefully if diabolically 'guided' 'hot', 'cool', 'lax' making esthetic (the dutch go: 'vet', 'in', etcetera) ends up 'delivering' hordes of sterile and non-automized nerds for yall 'leaders' to 'employ' long before these young 'wuns' figure out what is actually going on.

what does a percushionist (with 'hip' moves and all that) have in common with a man orchestrating a hail of missiles? Aint the former a white superficial too shallow version of the latter's darkmost mercilessly destructive penetration and aren't they yet another aspect of the hand in glove-like hollywood and israel 'complexcope' i mentioned twice yesterday?

They (beater and bomber) both serve to pave (and unpave) where they 'feel' (not! nothing mitmenschlich anyways) appropriate and seek openings, try clear and open ways to further groovy (ultimately selfish and ueberselfish, that is, demographic) goals.

In this film, a young jew practices moves, wholly focused on partying, another great music lover explains how to get prying fingers and dirty minds behind the mechanics of it all in minute details -- discussing the roland drum machine lines, so awfully instrumental in getting folks hooked on bad beats and the sedation necessary to withstand the grimey conditions and inhuman onslaught thereof .. in order to have that wonderful mix -mingle- mate feeling .. at least in surrogate dosage.

The impact is amplified by the location, a white house sitting by itself in snowy surroundings with old fashioned amenities (all the pots and pans action with the rapid reps turning this into yet another of the jerk stop motion to music sorta thing - ee changethethought.com) awfully popular in the art world today and leaving plenty of time to reflect on the vacuity of it all, the uprootery implicit ... the house is empty and clean ... disused, no drying harvest ... nothing. Sigh ... context vs obsession are like perspective vs myopia and yin vs yang i guess.

Remember those intricate ivory carvings of balls within balls? The atmosphere has as many layers and then some, all forming and reforming like multiple teams in a pick up game with a plethora of goals but each quite steadily moving in a single direction for whole spells at a time.

Planes fly in one of these predominantly, one after another, conveying their trails into stripey and many of them into crosswise patterns. Problem solved. Yall got phobia about blanketing patterns? Canvassing tactics. Mainstreamage?

Read what John Hamaker said 30 years ago about planes if you wanna be up to speed on vapor and human effort. Fill'm with rockdust and go feed some fishes and forests. Ban for humans. Are the marines helping yet. Yes John, one of them is!!! His name is Ken, i think you will like him. --

deb frisch update (posted) deb Frisch has been put in jail for 90 days witches are manufactured by witchhunts following the exact same breeding mistaken for discovery procedure used to scare up what was a mere one in a billion real terrorists before hand, same kind of mechanism is used by jews to produce anti-semites. at proteinwisdom there is this 680 comment thread (what's new right)

I wrote a long long screed in dutch touching on many issues relating to demonization, scapegoating ... and the solution of course. Not a final one but finally, one that will work .. FINALLY!!

high time for a deb frisch support group didn't find a deborah frisch fan club either

Deb has a 'test' level too hi for her own good. She allows it to fuel her 'braving compulsion'. it is quite innocent really, noble even, considering she is aiming it at war mongers who don't think twice about being disruptive if it concerns a class of people sufficiently demonized by a media monstrosity they adore, are part of and accept unconditionally, with all that entails, like job security in defense related industries, 'defense' being a noble word they gag, strip, choke and place in front of their positively thanatopical products. Still not realizing this hurts all and everything including themselves in multiple multiple ways, they get busy incarcerating a lewd and lascivious lady making obscene type noises loudly.

People like Deb are trying to make these aggressors think and shift positions for but a moment, mentally. Hoping to help them relate to bad news for folks far away, which the wars supporters, her targets, caused directly but just as absolutely and instantly disown as if the connection can be broken by sheer force of self-righteousness, -confidence and -assurance.

Division of labour has leaked and bled into a kind of regionalisation of sentiment, feelings of superiority kindled on all sides of collidoscapist divides, the gaps between rich and poor growing steeper and unfriendlier, more uncrossable .. worshippage slipping into warshipping.

All of that makes a 'what if it were you' proposition highly offensive and worthy of prosecution, especially when done with any consistency and perseveringly even. worse still, done in the name of something they own and is perceived as besmirched by these actions. The simply cannot take note of Deb as comedienne but feel justified in pestering the fuck out and the drink into her cause they see her as an abductress of what is precious to them (a freedom, but fail to see that hers cannot and is not, like theirs, spread per bomb, no matter how hurt they feel when told a scold), a hi-jacker (to put/think/place themselves into the position of devilbrood is to them a useless excercise at best, it's what they pay taxes for) and god knows what else.

second part of second Deb post in a row: Look, it is very simple really. Take me. An odd mix of masculine and feminine aspects constellated in such a way that agression has too be as smooth, slick and sounding as pure water itself (in other words, mars in pisces), i think it is the result of my parents being born in one world ward and maturing in another, plus the fact that they had the prehistorically speaking valid but modernistically speaking outdated attitude that substances are by nature digestible, break down ok and chucking anything is never a problem. Enter paints, soaps and lots of 'chemiabolic' materials. Poisons which we now now, totally change the gender balance.

i have an eye for the pacifist aspects of Deb Frisch and they are easy to spot unless you actively resist that.

you, me, like anyone else, can only recognize and admire in others what we realize and like about ourselves also. Any behaviour we consider ill, depraved and to be avoided -- starved, suppressed, tabood, routed out) -- is reason enough to condemn and punish (hunted down, locked up, tortured and last but not least, supposed and suspected (most often 'merely' projected though) clusters and clumps, bombed, forthwith) in others.

In the interest of world tension release, i would invite folks like 'oregonmuse' (proteinwisdom commenter - that place is as pro-war as the lgf crowd, about half of which derive job-security from defense industries and derivatives by definition) to put calling folks like DB 'vile and threatening' on pause (can't be as much fun anymore with her in jail now anyway) and go camp out at Fallujah with a delegation of documentationers (i will give them 100.000$ if they will put themselves under the command of Ken O'Keefe [[ex-marine activist and arid region policy critic]] to record their impressions and promote them on Arab stations around the world). --

De lire per format - perv rate - abundance tempts to storage, at risk to robbery and spoilage ... abundance becomes abuse before you know it, plain and direct marketing, slides and glides along like any surf, lots of water and people but the ideal lines narrow and very few get a good ride it The rush to market aura is nevertheless fed by famed and very divine king, saviour, Hofjude and movie star, the celebrated exception in yet (springing - splash! i ring rang wrung) from the logo spermatozoid lottery package ... wow, just rethinking about it a minute and my mind flushes with meldings of je maintendrai (worstel en kom boven) connoting to my own uniqueness. ... but i shall abdicate from key figuredom since you lot don't deserve it and would (continue just the same to) not know how to do anything nice with it.

http://howtosavetheworld.ca/2010/11/21/dave-gets-interviewed
-for-a-podcast-on-complexity-and-transition/

a few minutes beyond the halfway mark on that pod with Dave Pollard he gets really absurd*(ly simpleminded, alledgedly about complexity)* and implicitly imagines he might be the dominano (dominant domino) that starts all the others falling by facing the absurdity that we 'live beyond our means' better than all of us (who 'never can earn enough to repay the debt' yadayada, which he calculates to be about 2 miljan per tax-payer) and pointing to a naked emperor in a way that starts the pieces keeling.

well, no douche, we just spend a lot more time counting and ONLY SEEM TO count further and further (whereas in reality we merely count finer and finer. from clay to ledger to bit, see? Yeah, we get niglier and niglier), cause it is THE trick to rake it in these days (small margins huge volume, close to the temple ('ghettorinth') and the clank of gold like the coin shavers of old). I'll forgive him since he is depressed and knows not how simple generating energy is.

Ps: Les Visible on the other hand got on a chirpy roll a few hours after i wrote the above ... i looked into some stuff the other week and found out it's a small world. The Hatonn crowd has ties with the station Les is at 'speaking to you from a saucerpod, hovering somewhere over europe' ... as his *(T)*rusty opening formula turns out to be tradition since the 70s. What do you know. Music industy raiding the archive, sweeping the cutting floor and packaging. Good thing to mention in an item about bundlers. This time it is Sandy Denny. 19cdbox at 120 Quid.

keyfigure-bid kid dumps data (PUBLISHED MINUS INTERLUDE): We used to have regular crops of socalled fascists. That willwell didn't just dry up, people indoctrinated and simustimulated to make certain hormone, enzyme, etcetera imbalances permanent, make inner and outer flora conform and conducive to shooting off mouths, guns and SUVs are now simply sailing under the new, and for the unsuspecting, perfectly acceptable nomen 'bundlers', so far with that same perfect impunity .. Thus, in my eyes (and those of a veritable folkhost whose democratic hygiene is up to snuff but who typically get to represent nothing, but scolded even, spoiled and failed utopians, etcetera) there is only one Latin word still really relevant today, and it means bundler: fascist ... duuuuuuhhhhh.

I wish the earthenware waterways of them days would have remained and retained the standing (lying?) they lost to plastic sewers.

Ironically, all the attempts to boost and bolster machismo is having the very reverse of effects, gender indeterminacy and odd mixes thereof will become more and more prevalent. With that prolly also the chance to see what the illustrator of the little 1917 book Das Deutsche Volk in schwere Zeiten .. in direkt relation to seercentre.co.uk and remineralize.org

Allow me to henceforth call fascists bundlers, if only to grant me a little validation for the above, .. for the moment.

These types of *(NOT)*socialized men (too much single sidedness and wall mentality) are notorious for raising armies. allow me another neologist coinage: remotation = growth (=aggravation) of behind the scenesness. Referring to movers and shakers who gamble with and sacrifice them (i am not going to get into what gets squirted around visibly or into women's faces but a few points can be made in that dire action). I like to speak of the abstraction of horniness gone mechanical and ballistic which Shakespeare identified as usury (going securitized these daze)..

That which europeans call subsidies are looked down on and scolded in its rebel amokookyluxclonolies. That is not to say Americans ('Stayterse') refrain from the practice but over there ..

.. (in 'their' illegal settlements .. the ones izzies directed and rode from the get-go [[bundle some billgrims into bibled boats]], rode'm like dumbed n dutched down drink addled djiants [[genant gynend DjinnAnt!!]] and model their own on besides after making socalled nazis do so .. remember them? - those who accepted their bundles of money to betray, sell-out and bundle their kinfolk into arms manufactury, same as before and after them) ..

.. they prefer to call all subsidy, matters of either debt and philantropy but never the twain shall meet, thus tearing 'lefty laziness and cozy cottage craft industries capable of re- and dissolving supply and demand into a self-sufficiency bolster and buffer yielding autonomy that gives meaning and lends substance to a word like sovereignity, hollowed out to script writer cabal 'teary touring' into 2 diametrical opposites .. causing the rift of pure and unmournable loss between them to open up ... instead of opening up rock - a focused and bundled blow by blow celebration of making a fist and calling the rhythm that builds the compost that grows the ludilube .. making that fist good enough to match meet and mates mineral togetherness, bust it up and open, so that 'plotsklaps, hey presto, attractive ... of water for instance and starters. All 'rapitition' (mono invariability) turns back to well tended treecrops one more.

uniform = recognizable, tradable, dependable, reproducible, routinizable and if it is handiwork of an artist (ID boast boost bloat) we have the very best guarantee against inflation .. (borderliners like Warhol and worse excepted) .. however for all other mass pro repro (random and algorhythmic too) we have a different set of rules (though equally uninformative about real value): after a steady climb and rise that seems sheer interminable, there is a top, an over the top and time for a rough cut and tumble .. interchange- and expendability all the way back down to the levelest level of basics and pretentiouslessness. That is where Dave Pollard and the like might be handy, .. if they are, as i suspect, members of ('telgen' van) Tilth, Abundant Harvest (the first directory i purchased and really really treasured .... fantasized about engaging ... though never ACTUALLY engaged .. oh horrible thought, did the monsantoans jump into the gap, fissure, lacuna i left 'versmaalde' - though fresh grind never far from my mind, neither coming nor going though, like a stuck record).. my charity work is not even malfunctioning it is dismally disfunctional and defunct!!! /full confession, fully confessed about never making the earmark pending. It is a bio-taboo curse and cross i bore.
To sum up: Bundlers (formerly known as fascists) raise and sacrifice armies. Bundlers bind stack and these days datadump pages (and pages..etc). Bundlers tie securities into neat little packets based on and to build more illegal settlements.

apropo datadump: really wish Steve Willner would do a full rap on wikileaks rather than the hollywood scenarists, for a change ... at this point i wish he'd show up at all, i am worried. /end post.

. the 7th at one of Les Visible's blogs: my go again: I'll elaborate on an ok line, this passage (for instance): '..from clay to ledger to bit..'.

It has already taken me 20Mb meticulously pixeled texts within texts and 20 years ... and i have not even begun trying to do aud versions ... though always hoping to ... (hint: piggyback offers would not be refused .. and perhaps my take could enhance yours ... me mr latence, you mr immanence ??)

that line refers to our 'gravi-tally' (or footprint) lightening up and/or losing touch Once upon a forgotten time making a (1000s of years old treefilled) parkmark involved 'engraving' solid stone but this action -- where the blessed dust taken away from the rock is the actual content, not the concept the symbol shape of the carving stands 'for' (really aside [[aloof, afar]] from of course) -- was emptied and abstracted by the slipshoddy raiders of the first ever raiding hours. Thus, wresting a blessing from the dark and dense became a flourish which with the aid of a hierarchy (invested in and shackled to such a simple and theatrical gesture at a command structure's pinnacle). And just to describe this inversion a third time, mustering force to make the mark (pull the sword from the stone)* that frees the blessing .. .becomes the caresslike light touch (with feathers for gods ache) which unleashes enormous curses.. .

i was about 20 when i putputted by Esalen on my xl500 (bought in daytona half a year previously) and had already seen enough hippy lit (not much till i got to the states, even though i socialized with Cannabisiasts and had been to india and back by that time) to stop after taking note of the roadside sign that rang a bell. So, i remember thinking how little it was, wavered between road and driveway a few times and, not seeing a soul, leaving me time to psychoread the place, buzzed off. Same sort of thing happened to me later at crestone, no Strong, no Trombley (i had expected the latter, having picked up on him at Dan Winter's house). > nolocontendere said... This is another "stall until they die" tragedy like agent orange and gulf war sickness, and now the gulf of mexico pure white americanism is unassimilated americanism. a tool and toy of imperial forces that were excercising before there even the first road was put upon europe. That type of american doesn't deserve the name and don't really exist. What we do have is europeans stranded on turtle island, exiles, misguided and abducted, descendants of the europeans, or those whose adventurism and freedomfighterhood stagnated, failed and/or became chronic, then diseased, ... stray and banished europeans, etcetera. Is that what will be reflected in your Ghost people?

i hope so. i have been thinking about of the properly detached, calm and levelheaded interaction with sustenance (including but not exclusively the ones you like to slap some sino-signification on).

Normally (economically, normatively and hygenically) speaking, one would be inclinced to squeeze every last drop of goodness from food that grew good, feels good and tasted good, and loving every last bit of it lasts for sure since it cycles well.

Now, that means it (internal biomass, chyle, whatev) gets loving squeezes all the way, bird song gushes over it while growing, spices pour and diffuse throughout it while cooking, and so do glandular juices while digesting, you name it ... rocks get specially tight ones of course (BSM grippies to the rescue! Lift a load off many!), since it improves their intimacy with the most terrestrial, numerous and democratic communities on earth, soil organisms -- including night-soil, wonder where that name came from by the way, was shitting safe only at night for a long enough period to influence vocab? That only takes one life, i know - and am i fancy -- and not just on the double. No, such upgrade lags, which minerals, released from a a tight dry cramp not so much need as really respond to, 'jumpstarted' with a crunchy opener, begin reaching: worm dropping status, phenomenally fast (geologically speaking - their regular and most familiar environment before and after all that breachy hi[[-point, fly]]-lite - that approach jumps by factors reminiscent of astronomical ones .. if rocks reminisce as far as all that, that is - chances are the 'been there done that' is a great big hinder even within a species, and surely aggregations are similar barriers).

Got that so far, here comes the final squeeze directive: just as a treeplanting holes digging tool feels better than getting your excercize exclusively from clenching your fists and throwing them at punch bags with bad people drawn on them, it is preferable to ..... flex your sphincter around a turd ... think of it as squeezing dry waste into it and wet waste out of it, for which your kidneys are much better suited and happier to deal with.

come to think of it, i think you and all of those like you might profitably take a break from flexing your pineals and go for it's nether equivalent, concommitant, complement, ... dare i say say better or true aim, the non-dislocated and nondisplaced version even? Yeah, .. just did, .. just don't hold me to it.

dualistic mating mode, flowery and colourful but finding nothing within them (certainly not reason, and not for no reason) with which they can imagine and begin to do and integrate darkness and become it well as/with/for ... like .. being floury, flurries of flour administers making sport and jolly good fun of chasing and fructifying storms. Oh the fun we make do without in order to try destroy the possibilty and cut off the paths to follow, should we change our minds. That's what dualism does, it tries to be as final and absolute as it can tempt us into making it, be.

http://lesvisible.blogspot.com/2010/12/testing-of-chaos-before-opening-of.html ---- You les, have a rare bloodgroup, .. but a quite common and fundamental case of dualism which you should do something about. Not for profit break: i have a site designed just for that, a cure for a very lamentable and pandemic condition.

> " ...stoking the boiler of the demon ship, which they seek to sail through the heart of humanity in the hopes that it will be divided and convinced that its other half is its enemy."

Beautiful. Yes. Internalized and even universalized polarity. But the trick is to choose a calibur of polarities you are fit to lift and none of them are in the category of ingestibles or strange and fabled stuff steaming through any vitals.

In other words you want something not only pronouncible but fit with a handle of that exact guage which fits your hand perfectly (that's what the invisible hands of god set in motion), gears allowed when feasible of course.

There most always is a way to pick up MiNNerals, all but the outermost of their breatHren and sorOxides (hey, clever that) cloaked in darkness by their brethren, scratch a tiny little dust off and drip in into a puddle or a watering can, or a pond, creek ... what have your. The tiniest prayer possible is still a unit of prayer, they have no upper or lower bounds, isn't that the point you hammer out and rub in all the time?

your very next alinea drops the ball though, going for an either or absolutism (breaking it off abruptly to fill the rest with personal intimate cute little details). I could use your acumen to spread the dark meet light epistle as it plays out and not these days, prevented from optimum comfort and succour spending engagement, wet meet dry (dust flung into water from the sky, powdered over every turd ... you get the peaksure don't ya?) and given time springing off green (green of spring). .

posted the comment i sent to the parfrey post at Drew's (on Rampage) here and also that vid comment about dualism ok, if we're scrabbling here, the blogger wv, is giving me this round: knizzliz yes we are all chosen to choose the right thing, choice everything!!! none are chosen to deprive, poison or somehow pollute that choice, not even for and to themselves (no matter how fine the walls and edifices, icons and real or token zcapegoatzz).

nobody who commits that crime can be left alone but forfeits free choice (wether to choose plain or imagine being chosen to choose .. to be left alone, apart, a different class rank or count [[count or number in or out plus permutish conjugations thereof]] or plain). .

http://piglipstick.blogspot.com/2010/11/let-woman.html a post to give pause and wonder about dualism as reflected in the new vs old testament ... though maker of the visually ugly (black on white mostly) vid posted at this item, GIIvideo (+ godisimaginary.com) does not make that point.

one of 3 commenters -- Jeff ("JRed") Look Up Fellowship Right Now Radio Kingdom Bound Radio I Want To Believe Radio - - makes the 'bible is a calendar' type argument. Sigh, so is the torah, so is the quran ... so is the dreamspell, but all neglect to emphasize and place micro All*(love)*armaturism kloekediclock cluck luck in paramount positions whichever way the Welt/Bild bends and wends ... which .... which proves to me that making dualism and rhythm an entirely moral shellgame is diabolic reason tripped into vicious tailspin. .

wherein Les proves he likes to dole out advice no end but that never seems to free up enough space to take any in let alone on .... therein lies praps the reason he focuses on and castigates those who do this too but on scales vastly more harmful than his Babylearnachearn street cred (/intro from a day before the 2200th since me mom crossed out and over):

> Despite your not making much sense I could still intuit the parts where you are telling me how you know how to live my life better than me and that you know what is good and what is bad. It's a big world and there are audiences for everything and everyone. You say you have a place where you deliver your product to whoever shows up for the occasion. I don't know what that is but hopefully it's something people can be improved by contact with. There is one thing for sure. Anyone who makes sweeping generalizations about another persons way through this world, without having had any contact with them or any knowledge or experience of them, besides assumption and whatever secondary sources may exist is almost always wrong. For some reason, a lot of people consider themselves in competition with me. I don't understand this because I am mostly unaware of them at all. I'm not in competition with them. I say what I have to say and then I go and do whatever is next. Because I'm not in the general relationships that most people have with most people it sometimes takes me a little while to pick up on what's happening. People are welcome to feel as they wish and invited to understand that it makes no difference to me and has no influence.

you show you both confirm and misunderstand me (but entertain some wishes of your own .. the usual ...):
i say solo you say 'makes no difference to me and has no influence.'
that's pretty much synonymous or am i being obscure still? Anyway, like i said, peace out, nice howling widthtsja wv: repurgyr (yeah, back for more punishment ...)

Now, spricket, besides being a good deal taller and heavier (more substantial in all sorts of ways obviously) does 'not feel caged', cause, though she busts out every bit as naughty, she employs a DIY fashion, having been saturated with throngs and hierarchies during her service years quite thoroughly and more than most, due to her being irresistably attractive. So i am not suprised that she can do without and seems to even have become phobic about line ups as innocent as those in front of cash registers. So she indulges in flogless flippant flaunts from the comfort of her home, but as i wrote her earlier this nearly finished week (she did not respond by the way), she isn't all that free and independent as she makes believe.

this is how miscommunications arise: too many mistakes left in, not enough proof reading, i will give an example (adding a missing word in caps):
Magical Beings in an Infinite Multiverse -- Rampage (who posted it and whom i first and last visited on halloween) being a dualist HERE*(IN)*, ... a new alinea to indicate the lapse would have been better than just a comma ... undoubtedly won't be able to sell him a green meeting of black and white extremes

Rampage is in eastern Oz and uses 5 *(blogpost)*labels, but make no mistake, i checked 'forest survey' and it is just as relentlessly and stand out sterile about fuKing and more fuKing as the one called 'making love'. his 300 piece photoshoppery pic digitally dresses and/or obscures portraits, scenery, nudity and so on.

. on JVentura: At one point he has the balls? hmmm nahh, temerity, to basically assert oilmen planned and plotted to stop the gulfstream and thus make more money off sales to europe!!!

. What he neglects to conclude though, after reading off the Corexit ingredients, is the much more obvious, direct, less wild betty, less batty and straightforward, just plain lunatic effect, the 'clean-up' being its direct opposite in reality, namely, simply a way to disperse the toxic waste cocktail it is (never mind whatever else it is supposed to 'help' disperse), certainly not the first poison that gets glorified as 'cleaning agent'.

Corexit, bankrolled and bombarded (transliteration of dutch idiom for 'pronounced' in the sence of promotion as degradation) by syco- and hierophants, to magic potion .... is a perfect example of how (i think) the devil works. I have dispersed a number of comments over the year that play on the word correct (usually giving it a 'core act' type twist).

If i find any more evidence that all piousness, good intention and meditation - all attempts to formulate wishes along the lines of universal rule auf[- as in hervor]hebung - never ever succeed to be and/or remain of one piece and whole cloth, etcetera, in other words that they are as likely as not to turn (crack, fissure, fold, reverse) into and fuel their opposite, .. then the conclusion that the fairly common caution 'be careful what you wish for' has a prolly far less common concommitant, complement and double meaning, .. perhaps even a mean doubling (the covert division of the overt one). .

1192 Views since sept 07?? that don't seem right .. CNN features the Patriot dames (Barbara gordon-bell is the name of one of the sisters, the other used to be a street-cop [[much cloth requiring wide load variety]] but got reassigned to deskjob after this .. their vids are linked but not up at their site, not on youtube i guess).

Lesson, don't ever say 'jews' in the course of being critical if you want people to preclude you're attacking the defenseless (don't mention it, not even in the tiniest part of it). It simply is, no matter how mistakenly, taken to mean a race, period. Not a genetico-cultural complex, not a means and manners, heritage-entitlement, training/attitude or what combo have you one.

'Old Women on YouTube Are The Problem' is how the uploader puts/heads it by the way.
which reminds me of the misogyny that speaks from the Rwandan Gvt actions of late: 'it' put a native Rwandan who spent 16 years in Holland in jail when she went there earlier this year to compete in the elections with an enlightened program. they tore up her water purification pond/mini-plantation on suspicions of harboring a bunker (w.h.a.t was on their mind, for devils ache?), suspicions illegal weapon trade being a logical accusation of top of that right? Think they can't top that? Think again and if you do don't be suprised if you find yourself entertaining thoughts of going underground and joining a freedomfight here or there, Just keep asking the general public and authorities where the terrorists are and you will find them.

Rwanda has not only asked the dutch gvt to raid and abduct all means and media of communication from her dutch home (where her dutch hubby lives i gather) but got them, mysteriously and magically, to actually go in there with 12 coppers AND COMPLY WITH SAID REQUEST!!!!!!!!!!! I usually laugh when i read 'the end is nigh' but now i really wonder.

comment at norb -- i see that i failed to mention Ulrich von Beckerath (on free.de/geld which i did) in my first long comment on your site - last september, here: http://miscellaneous-sonstiges.blogspot.com/2010/09/meeting-geld-drucken-aktion.html - but Beckerath is also on Greco's site ... and i think he is immensely important though i fail time and time again to make that clear enough ... and a mere mention is not enough i know ... but i also know you are intelligent, interested in the subject and if i cannot convince you to have a look and get back to me about it with your impressions i might as well give up ... hmmmm, .. not that i have managed to engage greco to any extent at all with regard to beckerath .. come to think of it.

just to try entice you i will grant you the world premiere of my very latest thought/breakthrough: coins, metals, swords vs words of trust, why does the tarot assign swords the element air? cause it costs a hell of a lot of oxygen to remint, to forge, etcetera. To account for the air groaned rather than breathed out due to oppression. .. parallel flows: blood and money, bloodmoney for short, a variety that poisons all other kinds like the jewish mindset and yes, AS the jewish mindset, this is not a racial, racist or racialist observation but a syc soc hist culturally complex one and even then it is not complete and true, AND certainly cannot lead to the solution if geological precursors, components and consequences are left out.
he last posted at the end of 2011

follow up to the world premiere i granted Norb (but which he declined so far and Drew is not letting my comments through either at the mo ... or should i say 'anymore?).

anyways, thoughts bubbling up aplenty upon listening to the echo and already while viewing the zdf episode of 'philosophisches Quartett'' with a female economist and a novelist (Kirchhoff) from somewhere in 09.

Memory of which triggered today by the (few) commenters to a MHudson Counterp. article at Thom Hartmann's forum (got that at the end of nov, when it was already 16 days old), one of which went: Bernanke flies over Wall St not Main St.

the in- and pervasion by the sterile abstract residue and precipitate of nontempered nondilute nasty sentiments (greed sandwich anybody?) subjects memory to a type of occupation, not that it forces anything out or displaces anything quite so painfully as the famously delusional clause 'terra nullius' managed to on Turtle Isle, in Oz and Palestine at the tail end of that sweepst ache.

No, keeping count (n records) of all the masses of bail money hoards and stashes is not a bloody affair, . bits fashioned into barriers to discourage its sibling dough at liberty to fashion itself into scoops and windmills to try blow up, tradecarry and spirit away anything not secure for global circulation effectively install and establish privilege, causes perfectly distributed suffering and therefore serves the centralizers best. Haliburton's profits rose 80% in the Katrina crisis ... most likely caused by the Iraqi pre-Obombanation which to them was helpful either way.

dumb douches like spricket24 must have been very oppressed in her parental home to see the army as a liberation after quitting, raising kids, i doubt she even saw the video game massacre made public via wikileaks.

Derivatives and the securitizations that have a few gears and boostersprockets on top of that, are haywire escalation pur sang, destructive whirl of bits tearing slower (more cautious, more servicalbe, servicing, intimate, on, not out of time .. etcetera) versions up and right through them.

It's pre-emptive financialized warfare. Runaway numeracy displacing and preventing recordings of what is needful, like agro-forestry, permaculture, etcetera.

i wasted time looking for maps i thought missing ... since last time i did a straightening breeze through my Dutch folders .... turned out i did not have a separate one for the real estate ads and belgian files. Took hooking the old WD up to realize that i had pretty much consolidated a bunch of stuff. ... Still loads of consistencies though .. S and GS are the largest collections and still there is lots of material from those sources dispersed in the semitism subfolders. i don't care i guess. worth remarking/remembering is that 0407 contains 3 Toonder files and 2 fat Vader Cats (the real) one ..

'war comes home' = Aaron Glantz follow up to my wildly succesful post on the 19th of november: http://indexterity.blogspot.com/2010/11/amy-goodman-is-double-agent.html

ON the second of november i dwnldd the oct 18 Democracy Now program which served up a report by Aaron Glantz, the author of 'war comes home, washington's battle against american vets' that day, claiming 3 times as many veteran take their lives once they are back in the US as lose it on active duty.

Thus, many 'frontline' returnees have survived it in vain as it were, came home only to not prove it aint really survivable.

I think all can agree that imperial *(ad!)*venturists ARE instead of, as they claim FIGHT invasive species and won't under all, specially not under ideal circumstances, find willing and eager takers to go do the doing and to take to taking with that easily, so they put the squeeze on. Austerity anybody? oh the recruiting tricks .. no mere tricks them .., it takes more than just a trickle down culture! you need to really pour out adversity to raise kids up to dupe and dope standards hight enough to pitch 'm into hell en mass.

to go do the do and take with no mere trickle to go do the do and/or take away with let alone what doing it takes to those to be done away with and (generaly same those to be) taken away from, .. never mind the generations of suffering we are now capable of inflicting.

An old argument (mulled it over before meself): are money people hi-jacked and coerced by arms people? or are money people sticking to, coming up with and commited to the kinds and flavors of money that are so 'mean' they might as well be called militant monies?

The latter ... unless you prefer to -- leave the nasties well enough alone (senti-mental boycott), quit resisting=feeding them (which provokes them into smear campaigns of all such name-calllers) and simply focus on outgrowing them -- instead specify the alternative kinds (non-militant monies), start calling them consensual kinds 'state monies' for instance. Might be easier bycause after all, at least there is real precedent for that kind, .. for the 1000th time: read me alongside Knapp and Beckerath. A full integration as happy medium between our ideas is essential, imperative, pressing, urgent and really needed. Yes, i am getting impatient and arrogant about it, patience and humility hasn't worked as it should have, or perhaps i mistook distraction and laziness for them.

Imperialism is not a higher form of socialization (which ravishes and ultimately miniaturizes and rations everything with it's telltale token SCARCITY). In holland we had a hit-song that went 'bus will be by any minute' using only 4 not six syllables and one of them diminutizing and cutifying the affair: 'busje komt zo'. Well, ... how long till along comes the next iteration of 'role calling' slave and dupe, state-terrorism and human trafficking by/per state, 'toxicitification' cloaked in and veneered with a pretense to go fight in defense of a threatened freedom (triple mendacity hazard on that trice noble score of course so be cautious)?

This could be a great selling/recruiting point: if you die on foreign soil (forget the argument about being born on some or any in the first place for a moment), rest assured 2 of your buddies will wonder why you and not them ... .and if that does not get them - i mean, which in itself, apart from - all the rapid-fire hindsight (sim-, im-, sex-, ex- and) plexplosions lighting up imperial aspects of and obstructions to chances for conscience clarity building will .... collide, churnaturn and collocate the adjust, regret, mourn and remain upstanding imperative into an unworkable mayhem of machine rigged strawman drawery.

'Defense', 'duty' and 'honour' are terms that spring from induced crisis situations. Respect and prestige are much more voluntary terminology. If you fall victim and/or give in to hype, dissocialization and epidemic of the former, do not hop to be spared the collision with self-delusion and self-deception, TRIGGERED by horror echoing even or perhaps especially upon going and coming home.

The first time i tried to listen to this file i got so frustrated with Amy Goodman that i wrote a note about that and turned away in disgust.

Why the fuck does she not get little kids to read the endless list of outrageous and incriminating factoids like money spent on (superficial soundbite vote-bait) campaigns, in the background while making a concise statement that these costs are really fines imposed by private interests who {sarcasm on} nobly take the task of protecting the masses from their own mass-sentiments very seriously. They subvert and empty common clout and amassment sign, symbol and tool, go mum on others or simply do not dole them out without smearing these 'dangerous' and 'tendentious' words with an ugly charge beforehand. It's hard work, soul-destroying, no, really soul-aborting even, hard enough to cause all kinds of casualties, cause counter-intuitive, dishonest, hypocritical, schizophrenic and psychopathic, bloatedness of money sums to this type of propaganda reflect that and only that.

talk about dupe and dope contests. If this report confirms anything it is that what people began calling America never was and certainly cannot soon become a country, let alone one that liberates others from imperialism country. This report confirms 'America' is just another word for warzoning, and zonings that are not peacemeal personal matters are always in service of extractive sports, like transports and transpositionings, egged on by the hiero- and sycophantic preachers hollering about some not just themselves but worlds betraying transcendencies.

All supralocal zoning is fishy .. netting .. geometry, wrongful filtering, braindead meterment, manipulation. /end post

The former is a tweaked and pacifist libertarian version of latter, the better known though poisonouos and perverted form, occupying and making it's life miserable if not preventing it altogether.

Assessinotion is of course not a google whack, which takes 2 words but it IS not only not to be found on google but neither does it appear in the dictionary as you might have guessed, at least, it has not been added as yet, and won't until and unless i am not as alone as now, but yall stop being lame asses and set up echo chimers, tastiest words in prosey poetry written around the turn of the second millenium post jesus caught between nemrud and rome .... go ahead, try to ridicule it, give my neologism score a shave before i trip up on a corner of this glorycloud i spend daze and daze in already and start stumbling even worse than i already do.

AP+ = certain anarchist propositions that crossed my reading path in the flow of news that ensued after Seattle 99 known as indymedia newswires, and for which the 'early' promotor Jim Bell did time. AP- = present highest bidder gets to kill all he can, assassination politics, fueled by, running on and, fortunately, impossible without very dirty money. in other words, yet another ugly result of the wrong kind of money, doing the money thing wrong. Mediations that actually break, breach and separate instead of staying as close to immediation as possible (step throughs, wether up or down with steady in- and excremental graduation, no outrageous and sudden drop offs, barriers or ceilings, like in the land of bad money, of largest, most majestically unbudgeable - and hopelessly unhippy, let alone grippy and never mind nitty gritty - high throne, high prestige, high piles n pilings, hot bonus topple tiptop(per)s).

Steve Willner and the like ... sigh, .. if i ever and in as much as i set out consciously to head these guys of and give them some serious competition i should not have spent any juvenile, infantile even, time to outdo and outwow on the pixelcombo front ... they go for conventional black on white textwise but are extremely sparing with that, .. no doubt to leave more space for the killer colour nuance. Then they do pathetic podcasts over them, complaining over being starved for content over their good money, in heavy grown up voices that belie their neglect, overcooked in fantasy land ... no orchard and forest nor treehouse and permaculture available to save them from their own minds. It's a given. It's a culture (culture of occupation is perhaps better callled occulture). Tragic.

> "Music is used by the male bonobos in order to show dominance -- rattling sticks rhythmically -- WITHOUT VIOLENCE-" music as knowledge of resonance is used by smart males to break wood without having to blunt saws and ultimately to construct and wear out rock grinders but the same applies. making firewood out of longer pieces can be done with smart 'breaks', knowing the breaking points, and concentrating the vibration there instead of in the end you happen to be holding (ouchie) .. or allow (inadvertently of course) the momentum direction change (integrithy 'assault', the lift and swing to break wood on rock, the more sizable the better) through contract ('contaction') and pinpoint collision to mistranslate (misangling, the you wish fish face) into kinetic hazards, pieces of wood jumping at unaware bystanders.
